SEVERAL DOZEN AUTO-GRAPH HUNTERS were waiting for actor Paul Douglas when he emerged from backstage at Memorial Hall Friday evening following his performance in The Caine Mutiny Court Martial. Douglas, who starred as Captain Queeg, obligingly signed playbills for all seekers.

'Mutiny' Reunited Friends

Several old friends were reunited over the weekend during the two-night stand of The Caine Mutiny Court Martial in Memorial Hall.

The occasion gave Paul Douglas, star of the show, an opportunity to renew acquaintances with his former boss, W. D. Carmichael Sr., and with Norman Cordon whom he knew when they were starting out in radio over 20 years ago in New York City. In a sense Carmichael gave Douglas his start in public entertainment. When Carmichael was vice-president of Liggett and Myers in charge of the company's radio programs, he took on Douglas as announcer for their programs, a job he held for 12 years during the Fred Waring and Andre Kostelanetz shows.

Carmichael went to both the Friday and Saturday evening performances and enjoyed both tremendously. On Saturday evening he had supper with Douglas and later they visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Carmichael Jr. also close acquaintances of Mr. Douglas in their New York days.

Cordon and Douglas had a public reunion Friday afternoon in a 10-minute mutual interview State College studios.

Last night the touring company was at Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh and today in Charleston, S. C. Then this Friday and Saturday night show will be given under sponsorship of the Jaycees' at Aycock Auditorium in Greensboro, and later on during the current tour, in Winston-Salem and Charlotte.

Although the company of 24 stayed at the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh, a number of others among them met friends in Chapel Hill before and after the shows. Mrs. Lois Garren went backstage at the end of Friday night's presentation to see Jerry Crews, who made a big hit in playing the part of the foggy signalman Junius Urban on the "Caine." She had played with him in a Broadway production before coming to Chapel Hill last fall. The Kal Jurgens also visited with Stage Manager Robert Hulter who was with the "John Brown's Body" company last year, and Philip Thayer seized the opportunity to check up on a mutual friend with Wendell Corey.

(SG) Steve Maryk, Mr. Cordon, Paul Douglas as Lt. Comdr. Queeg, and Wendell Corey as Lawyer Greenwald. Mr. Cordon and Douglas were good friends a number of years ago when both were radio performers in New York City. News Leader Photo

'Bond Letter' Making Rounds Of Community

Want to make a quick $38,400—or $51,200 if you are to wait 3 years?

A new variation of a chain letter broke into the community last week and is sweeping around town in a government savings bond purchase plan. The whole deal blew into Chapel Hill a few days ago from Virginia, and if it's working as expected, a number of persons in the Cavalier State are receiving a flood of $18.75 savings bonds today. If the chain were to remain unbroken each person on it would get 2,050 savings bonds, to be exact. They'd bring $51,200 if held to the normal 10-year maturity.

Modeled after the plan of the famed "Pyramid Clubs" of eight years ago, the buy-a-bond promotion has had the tellers at both local banks kept busier than ever in selling the "baby" savings bonds.

A $5.00 chain letter that worked on a similar plan hit the campus early last November and netted a few hundred dollars each to several fraternity students. The easy money scheme was titled "Sell Your Way To Wealth Campaign."

as children of God, remembering that we are all brothers, trying to apply the Golden Rule, and having a decent regard for the opinions of others.

(2) That we will carry on our work in areas where we can by concrete proposals and actions, reduce tensions in our community, and create situations in which white and Negro citizens, both children and adults, may share responsibilities on an equal footing.

(3) That we will work through the churches and other organizations insofar as possible, making our group a clearing house for ideas and proposals.

(4) That in our approach we will stress education and factual information, persuasion and consideration, rather than pressure and condemnation.

(5) That we try to secure and make available information on the problem of desegregation of our schools as it will affect our community.

(6) That we try to build up a reservoir of good will and understanding between the races by the contacts made in our organization, and by providing concrete evidence that segregation is neither necessary or desirable.

(7) That we will seek and welcome all other people who would like to participate in one or more of the activities we undertake.

The suggested specific action projects approved were: Provide study shelves in school and church libraries on the desegregation question; encourage study groups for consideration of the problems and how they may be solved; arrange for practical illustrations of voluntary unsegregated community activities, and see that articles and other forms of publicity such as radio forums and panel discussions keep the public informed and prepared for whatever decisions the Supreme Court may make.

COMMUNITY DRAMA GROUP

The Community Drama Group will meet Sunday at 7:45 p. m. in the assembly room of the Library. Ralph Casey will direct a reading of Arthur Miller's Death of A Salesman. Copies of the script may be obtained at the newsstand in the post office.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Alpha Phi Omega will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the APO room in Graham Memorial.

STATISTICS MEET

A symposium on order statistics was held at a meeting of the UNC Statistics Colloquium yesterday in Phillips Hall. Bernard G. Greenberg of the School of Public Health spoke of "application of order statistics to problems in public health." Dr. John T. Chu spoke on "quasi-ranges and their linear combinations."
