

Davis, Hemric Wreck Carolina's ACC Tourney Hopes, 95-82

N. C. State-Wake, Duke-Virginia Play In Semi-Finals Tonight, 7:30

REYNOLDS COLISEUM, Raleigh — Wake Forest's Lowell "Lefty" Davis and Dickie Hemric, scoring 32 and 33 points, respectively, paved the way for a snappy and aggressive Deacon attack here last night to defeat North Carolina, 95-82, thus eliminating the Tar Heels in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament.

The Deacons will go on to the semi-finals, playing State tonight at 7:30. In the other semi-final game, Duke will meet Virginia at 9:30.

In the first game last night State defeated Clemson, 101-76. The afternoon opening round contests saw Duke defeat South Carolina, 83-67, and Virginia upset Maryland, 68-67, in over-time.

It was a losing cause from early in the first half for Carolina last night. The Deacons had a 10-point margin at intermission and built it up quickly in the opening minutes of the second half.

Although Carolina had defeated the Baptists twice during regular season play, the Tar Heels didn't have to contend with Davis. Very ineffective, though always a threat, in those games, Davis came through in surprising fashion in Wake's win last night. He scored 20 points in the first half and was the big difference which gave Wake the half-time lead and the game. The game marked the last time Carolina would have to contend with Hemric, out Davis, a junior, will be back to plague the Tar Heels next season.

Another big factor in the Carolina loss was the fouling out of Lennie Rosenbluth. He had tallied 29 before coming up with his fifth foul at 7:04 in the second half.

In last night's first game, State's runaway from Clemson was marked by the setting of four new records.

CLEMSON'S BILL Yarborough, in scoring 34 points, set a new field goal mark of 15, breaking Virginia's Buzz Wilkinson's standard of 13. State's 101 points broke Duke's old mark of 96, and the combined total points of both teams, 177, broke the Duke-Virginia record of 164. The Carolina-Wake Forest game last night was also a total of 177 points.

State's number of field goals, 68, set a new mark which the Pack had set against Wake Forest, 62.

All of the old records were the first ones set up in last year's initial ACC Tournament.

State, after the opening minutes, brushed off the Tigers very easily until after half-time. Then the South Carolinians came back to narrow the lead to 12 points at 13:20 left in the game. By 11:00 the margin was down to eight, but the Wolfpack decided it had played around long enough and got down to business. The lead stretched to 20, then 30, but came down shortly before the end of the game when Barry Ryan got hot temporarily.

WAKE FOREST took the early lead, but not by more than four points, until Carolina tied it after three minutes at 8-8. Then Vayda hit on a pair of fouls and Young dropped in a lay-up to put UNC in front momentarily. Wake took a one-point margin at 14:48, but UNC came back and held the lead until Jackie Murdock hit on a push to give the Deacons the advantage, 25-24. They held it from there on, the score at half-time being 48-41.

Frosh Tank Tourny Sat.

Approximately 40 college freshman swimmers are expected to be entered in the first annual Freshman Invitational Swimming Meet scheduled in Bowman Gray Pool here tomorrow afternoon and evening.

University of North Carolina swimming coach Ralph Casey has received a full team entry of 14 from Duke, three entries from Clemson and two from VPI to date in addition to the Tar Heel freshmen. N. C. State will send its freshman sensation Dick Faden to the event. Other entries are expected to be received for the day-long meet before the closing time today.

Preliminary events will be run off tomorrow afternoon with the finals at night. The meet will be run on a dual meet schedule of events, but no team title will be awarded.

Invitations were sent to colleges throughout the South for the first event of its kind here.

U.Va. Upsets Terps, 68-67

Reynolds Coliseum, Raleigh—Virginia's Buzz Wilkinson demonstrated his All-American ability here this afternoon as he tossed in 30 points to lead his Cavaliers to a 68-67 upset victory over nationally-ranked Maryland's Terrapins in over-time.

The game was a close one throughout, but it was Virginia's superiority from the foul line which gave the team a surprise victory. The Cavaliers scored on 18 free throws, Maryland only 13, and the Terps were out front on the field goal score, 27-25.

The score at halftime was Virginia 35-33. At the end of the regulation game it was 59-51.

Three players scored in double figures for the stunned Terps, who certainly missed the services of Frank Fuqua. Bob Dilworth and Bob O'Brien each scored 18, while Bob Everett tallied 16 points. Bob Kessler, expected to be a big scorer in the Maryland tournament efforts, was able only to get seven.

Swedes Make Big Hit Here

Wednesday night Woolen Gym was the scene of one of the greatest exhibitions of strength, balance and grace ever seen on this campus. A near capacity crowd was on hand to watch the performance of the Swedish gymnastics team.

The key note underlying the acts of the woman members of the team was grace and beauty. Their ball routine and synchronized exercises were so well coordinated that it seemed like one continuous fluid motion.

Tumbling, by both men and women, was one of the features of the show. Using the Norwegian spring board, the men would perform some amazing tumbling feats such as doing a forward flip over the high table which is 6½ high.

The audience was very receptive to the acts which displayed the tremendous strength of the Swedes. One of these was the difficult feat of doing a finger stand starting from the prone position.

Bradley, Oklahoma City Enter NCAA Tournament

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—Bradley and Oklahoma City University were added to the National Collegiate basketball championship field today and immediately joined half a dozen other teams in looking around for a used Cinderella outfit to wear in the tournament.

The two "independents" from the midlands area, whose composite record this season shows 16 victories and 36 defeats, were chosen for "at large" berths by Reeves Peters, chairman of the Western selection committee, who pointed out that they're not as bad as they look.

Oklahoma City 9-16 and Bradley 7-19 probably have as good a chance to don the Cinderella garb Bradley wore last year as Williams, Villanova, Miami, Ohio, Penn State, Memphis State or Idaho State, all of whom are in the NCAA tournament.

TAR HEEL veteran distance runner Bobby Barden, heads a list of returning lettermen from last year's team which was second in the conference behind Maryland's Terps. Barden captured third in the two-mile conference race last spring and will be a mainstay for the Tar Heels in the same event this season.

ACC Meet Here In May Heads Tar Heel Outdoor Track Card

By RAY LINKER
The Atlantic Coast Conference outdoor track meet here at the end of the season highlights a 10-meet schedule for Carolina which also includes the Florida Relays, Penn Relays, and seven dual meets.

Tar Heel thinclads have started working out for the opening meet on March 26, right on the heels of their Indoor Games conference win over Maryland, 36-35½. Although not too many have shown up for practice yet, Coach Dale Ranson is anticipating a large turnout, which will include 14 of last year's 20 lettermen.

Six of the ten teams this year are carded for Chapel Hill's Fetzer Field. The schedule is similar to last season's with the addition of Wake Forest being the only difference. This is the first time in many years that the Deacons have fielded a team.

THREE TEAMS which UNC lost to last year, Princeton, Duke, and Maryland, will again furnish top competition. South Carolina, Virginia, and N. C. State will be seeking revenge for losses to the Heels last season.

Ranson will enter a moderate number of men in the Florida Relays March 26, as in the past. Last year eight men paced the Tar Heels to third place.

If any boys in the season's early meets display particularly outstanding ability, Ranson will enter them in the Penn Relays in Philadelphia April 29 and 30. Carolina has entered very few in the meet in the past, but those that

Femme Cagers Lose To Duke Lassies

The UNC women's basketball club went down to defeat at the hands of a powerful Duke team, 62-34, in a game played here Tuesday.

The Carolina coeds led the Duke team in the first quarter of the game, but then the lassies from Durham caught fire, and were never headed from then on. Sara Cashwell, playing her best game of the year, was high scorer with 21 points, seven of them coming on free throws.

Pitching Big Question; Only One Hurler Back

Pitching is the big question mark on the North Carolina baseball squad as the Tar Heels continue daily workouts in preparation for their March 24 opener against Georgia Tech in Winter Park, Fla.

Only one letterman moundman is back in the North Carolina fold and Coaches Bunn Hearn and Walter Rabb are searching high and low for throwing talent.

Righthander Tom Maultsby is the one returning vet and any help he gets will have to come from a crop of sophomores. Maultsby saw service in only five games last year and finished with a 2-2 mark.

Brightest spark beyond Maultsby is sophomore Jim Raugh. He had an outstanding season with the freshmen last year and was impressive for a semi-pro team in Nova Scotia during the summer. Rabb says the hard-throwing righthander may develop into the squad's number one hurler.

Also rated as possible starters at this point are sophs Arthur Stone, Don Hill and Morris Hall. Hall is the only lefty in the group. Billy Joe Johnson and Bob Johnson, non-letterman returnees from last season's club, are also putting in bids for starting assignments.

The only other spot giving Hearn and Rabb any serious trouble is second base where veteran Harry Lee Lloyd has pulled up with a serious injury to the cartilage in his right knee. He'll be out indefinitely and Tar Heel coaches are looking for a replacement for the season opener.

Sophomore Buddy Strausse of Charlotte, who had a good year with last season's frosh, and Campbell College transfer Tom Breake are the top candidates for the double play sack job, with Breake given the edge on his hitting. "But anything can happen at second base, just like on the pitching staff, before that first game," Rabb said.

Sophomore catcher Jimmy Love and veteran Jack Maultsby are battling for the starting nod behind the plate. Love played fine ball for the freshmen last year while Maultsby saw limited action for the varsity.

At least two players are in serious consideration for each of the other starting positions.

Veteran Will Frye, soph Russell Perry and Tom Zachary are all in line for the first base assignment. Zachary subbed at the bag last year behind Frye, who is currently missing baseball drills due to spring football practice. Frye also saw some starting duty behind the plate.

At the other infield positions, Jack Woods and Albert Long are fighting for the job at shortstop and sophs Chuck Hartman and Iva Lee Hill the third base assignment. Woods subbed behind hard-hitting Fred Dale last season. Hill is just out of service where he was impressive with the Randolph Field team.

Lettermen Connie Gravitte, Bobby Paller, Malcolm Harding and Ken Keller and soph Dick Hudson are in the running for outfield berths, as is Long, who saw service there last year.

Deacs End Drills

With Game Saturday

It's football time at Wake Forest and an array of former Deacon stars will take on the varsity in an exhibition game tomorrow afternoon in Groves Stadium.

The preview of the 1955 Wake Forest eleven will get under way at 2:30. The public is invited to attend. Admission will be $1.

Coach Tom Rogers has been readying his crew for the past three weeks in spring training drills and the Deacons will get a strong test against some of the biggest names ever to come from the Baptist Hollow gridiron.

John (Red) Cochran will serve as player-coach for the alumni team which will include some professional stars as Harry Dowda, Red O'Quinn, Jim Staton, Bob Gaona, Joe Koch, Bill George and Ed Kissell.

Mike Sandusky Heads Top Terp Mat Combination

Maryland's defending champion will be heavy favorites to cop their second Atlantic Coast Conference title here tomorrow and Saturday in the first loop wrestling tournament.

The Terps, unbeaten in the conference this year, were declared 1954 champions on the basis of their regular season record. No tournament was held because the conference had only recently been organized.

Maryland has a 5-0 record this year, compared to a 4-1 record for Virginia's Cavaliers, expected to furnish the heaviest opposition to the Terps. Virginia bowed to Maryland, 18-12, during the regular season but has improved considerably and has two men who haven't been beaten this year.

Mike Sandusky, unbeaten Maryland heavyweight, will be favored to take the title in that weight.

Other teams entered are North Carolina, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, Duke, South Carolina and Clemson.

SOCCER PRACTICE

Soccer practice will start Monday on the intramural field at 4 o'clock. All aspirants, with or without experience, are invited to report.
