

Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra Plays Free Tonight

Director Johnson Is UNC Music Graduate

Thor Johnson, director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra playing here tonight, is a graduate of UNC.

Johnson received his B.A. degree in music here in 1934. The orchestra will be presented by the Student Entertainment Committee tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall. The performance will be free to students. Townspeople will be admitted at a cost of $1 per person to all seats available after 7:40.

Johnson, who was appointed the permanent music director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra in the 1947-48 season, was born in Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin, in 1913. His father, whose forebears were Norwegian seamen, was a minister of the Moravian Church. His mother was a pianist and teacher of music.

While Johnson was still young, his family moved to Winston-Salem, where he attended school. After having graduated from secondary school in 1930, Johnson enrolled here as a music major. Music also claimed his extracurricular time, serving as assistant conductor of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra and the Carolina Ensemble, a student orchestra. In 1934, Johnson left the University of North Carolina with a Phi Beta Kappa key in addition to his Bachelor of Arts degree in Music.

MICHIGAN

The following year he matriculated for his Master's degree at the University. He also was granted the Frank Huntington Beebe scholarship which entitled him to two years of music study abroad, coaching with such eminent conductors as Hans Abendroth, Bruno Walter, Felix Waingartner, Nikolai Malko and Serge Koussevitzky.

—Marshall—

"the brave new world" into which they were about to go," Mrs. Marshall said. She noted that speakers at that time thought only the older people wrestled with trouble and believed that people of college age knew nothing of the problems of evil in the world.

"Now the situation is quite turned around," she said. "Young people have 'no brave new world' to enter—for it is a world vibrating with the challenge of co-existence with brotherhood—or extinction. These days it's the older people who are the safe ones and the young people have far too early an acquaintance with the hard facts of life and must make decisions for which they have neither the intellectual nor spiritual equipment."

Giving some of her experiences since the death of her husband, Mrs. Marshall quoted several Bible verses which she described as a constructive, practical and exciting formula for dealing with problems. These she said were: "Goodness and mercy shall follow you all the days of your life," and "All things work together for good and for those who love God and are called according to His purposes."
