

Roger Wagner Chorale To Appear In Memorial Hall Tonight

The Roger Wagner Chorale, the 24 member chorus of "Desiree," "The Egyptian," and "Day of Triumph," will appear at Memorial Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Students with ID cards will be admitted free to the program.

Library Assn. Will Meet Here Saturday

The spring meeting of the North Carolina Library Association will be held here Saturday, NCLA President O. V. Cook of Chapel Hill has announced.

Some 60 persons, including executive board members, committee chairmen and members and section officers, will take part in the day-long program. A general meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Library Assembly Room, and will be followed by planning sessions for various committees and special groups.

Following lunch at Lenoir Hall, the librarians will reconvene for a second and final general meeting at 2:30 p.m.

Townpeople will be admitted after 7:40 for $1.

The chorists, under the direction of Roger Wagner, are being presented by the Student Entertainment Committee. They are on their first cross country tour and are engaged to appear in a tenth anniversary celebration.

During a six-week period the chorists and their conductor will appear in some 30 cities from coast to coast.

The Chorale originated as a city-sponsored group known as the Los Angeles Concert Chorale. The demands for its services in professional appearances were so many that in 1947 it withdrew from city sponsorship and became a professional group.

Frank Waxman immediately engaged it for performance of Honneger's "Joan of Arc." Additional appearances in other works followed in the Los Angeles Music Festival. The Chorale was engaged for a program commemorating the bi-centennial of Bach's death.

Besides appearing in over twelve motion pictures as a chorus, the Roger Wagner Chorale is now starring in its own technicolor, cinemascope short with stereophonic sound.

Four centuries of music will be presented on the program here. Repertoire for this unique ensemble's program includes Orff's exciting "Catulli Carmina," Debussy Chansons, sixteenth century airs, the Brahms Liebeslieder Waltzes, the Faure Requiem and excerpts from Gershwin's immortal "Porgy and Bess."

Middle East Dispute Is Debated By Di

The Dialectic Senate had a very "interesting" debate Tuesday night concerning the Israel-Arab question, according to Mike Vester, Senate relations chairman.

The bill called for the removal of support from Israel and the return of the land to the Arabs.

The speakers brought out various interpretations of history, the oil question, the arms question, the political influence of American Jews, the hardships of both sides, the possibility of removing the Jewish homeland to a different place and the treachery of the Arabs.

Alpha Epsilon Delta To Show Film Tonight

Alpha Epsilon Delta, UNC's pre-medical and pre-dental society, will show a film tonight at 7:30 in 106 Hanes Hall.

The purpose of the film-meeting is to let the members of this society get acquainted with the pre-medical and pre-dental students in the University, Ferrell Shuford, AED program chairman, said.

It is hoped this film will stimulate interest by showing some of the actual cases that will confront these students in the future, Shuford said.

The film will be over in time for students to go to see the Roger Wagner Chorale, he said.

The meeting is open to all pre-medical and pre-dental students.
