

Three Zoology Professors At Research Meet

The UNC Dept. of Zoology will be represented by three faculty members at the Atlantic Estuarine Research Society in Solomons, Md. today and tomorrow.

Dr. Melbourne R. Carriker and Dr. Charles E. Jenner, associate professors, and Rudolph Scheltema, graduate assistant, will present papers at the meeting. The event, sponsored by the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory, will center around "problems of the productivity of the tidal stretches of rivers."

Dr. Carriker will deliver papers dealing with the use of narcotics in oyster drilling and with the larvae of the hard clam. Dr. Jenner and Dr. Scheltema will deliver reports concerning the marine snail, Nassarius obsoletus. Dr. Jenner has used specimens from various points on the Eastern Seaboard in his studies.

While at Solomons Dr. Carriker will confer with representatives of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, sponsors of his current research project.

Lambda Chi Banquet Will Honor Love Here

The Lambda Chi Alpha will hold a banquet tonight in the Morehead Planetarium Dining Room at 6 p.m. in honor of J. Spencer Love, chairman of Burlington Industries.

After the conclusion of the banquet, Love will be initiated into the social fraternity as an honorary member. Love's initiation will be, according to Lambda Chi Alpha members, a tribute to his outstanding contributions toward the betterment of education in North Carolina.

A Consolidated University trustee, Love is also a member of the Development Planning Committee, and has been a contributing donor to university facilities, such as WUNC-TV, the Institute of Government, and the football team.

Love, attended the Harvard Business School and left it in 1917

Kattsoff's Book Out

"Logic and the Nature of Reality," a new book by Dr. Louis O. Kattsoff of UNC has been released by Martinus Nijhoff, Publisher, The Hague.

In his book, Dr. Kattsoff, Professor of Philosophy at U.N.C., critically studies linguistic movement and attempts to lay the foundation for a metaphysics. He seeks and finds in the structure of logic a key to the structure of reality.

In the course of development, questions of the nature of universals, negative facts, meaning, events and others are discussed.

Dr. Kattsoff, a U.N.C. faculty member since 1935, completed his A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Pennsylvania.

Another one of his books is, "A Philosophy of Mathematics," a text for courses in logic and the foundation of mathematics published in 1946 by the Iowa State College Press.

Plans Now Underway For New Dormitories

Plans for the building of three new men's dormitories and an additional wing for Spencer Dorm are under way.

Raymond Weeks of Durham, architect for the Spencer addition, died last week. However, according to University Business Manager Claude Teague, "the architectural plans for this wing along with the plans for the men's dorms are practically completed." "The contract has not yet been let," he said. Teague stated, "It is hoped that this building program will be begun before Christmas and will be completed in about a year."

The new wing of Spencer will accommodate 75 additional girls. Also, the dining room will be enlarged.

The men's dorms which will face Navy Field will each accommodate 200 students.

Last fall, the building project was proposed after a request for a 2 million dollar government loan was granted by the Federal Government's Housing and Home Finance Agency. The loan will be paid back from the surplus received from a $30 increase in dorm room rent. The increase went into effect last year.

Duke Univ. Tenor Performs Sunday Night

John Hanks, tenor, will be featured soloist in the second presentation of Les Petites Musicales Sunday at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Assistant professor of music at Duke University, Hanks received undergraduate training at Oklahoma University and Juilliard, and his A.M. degree at Columbia in 1950.

Since that time Hanks has sung in opera, concert, radio, TV, and oratoria in New York and other major cities. His musical career has also included soloist appearances with the Springfield, Oklahoma University and Juilliard, and New Haven Symphony Orchestras, and with the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington, D.C.

This Sunday night's Petites Musicales program will consist of songs in English and Italian for voice with harpsichord, and a group of twentieth-century English songs for voice with piano accompaniment. The soloist's accompanist will be Henry M. Cook.

Sponsored by GMAB, the concert is presented admission-free to the public.

Deadline Is Monday For Sweetheart Candidates

Men's dormitories entering candidates in the Sweetheart of UNC Dorms Contest must turn in 8 by 10 glossy photographs of their entries by Monday, according to Interdormitory Council President Sonny Hallford.

The Sweetheart will be crowned at the Nov. 14 meeting of the IDC. She will receive a loving cup, roses and a ten dollar gift certificate.

In addition, her picture will appear in the 1957 Yackety Yack.

Judges for the contest are Bob Cox of Town and Campus, Mrs. Kay Kyser and Dr. William Potent of the Philosophy Department.

4-Year College Chartered At Fayetteville

RALEIGH—(AP)—A new four-year Methodist college at Fayetteville was issued a charter Thursday and the chairman of the college's board of trustees said, "we are officially in business now."

The charter was issued at a ceremony in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure. On hand were Terry Sanford of Fayetteville, chairman of the new college's board; Rev. Vergil Queen of Durham, trustee and president of the North Carolina Conference Board of Education, and Rev. W. L. Clegg of Raleigh, vice chairman of the college board.

The 24 members of the board of trustees were listed as the incorporators for the institution. The college is one of two authorized last spring by a special session of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church. A charter was issued recently for a similar college to be established at Rocky Mount.

The new Fayetteville college will be erected on a 700-acre site already acquired, three miles north of Fayetteville on the Raleigh highway.

Residents of Cumberland County have pledged to raise some $2 million in the initial capital outlay for the college, and another $2½ million is in the process of being raised among member churches of the conference.

Rev. Queen is chairman of a committee seeking a president for the college. This post is expected to be filled in the near future.

Y-Night Committees Open For Membership

According to Jim Raugh, co-chairman for Y-Night, membership on the following committees is still open: production, talent, publicity, program, reception and arrangements.

Anyone interested in organizing talent and helping to plan the program is urged to fill out an application in the Y office by noon Tuesday.

Church Plans Student Supper

Members of the United Student Fellowship have been invited to be guests of the United Congregational Christian Church at a covered dish supper at the new Parish House at 6 p.m. Sunday.

At the supper meeting the proposed 1957 budget will be offered for the consideration of the members of the church.

The proposed budget has been prepared by the Finance Committee, with Philip P. Green as chairman, in consultation with representatives of each of the boards and committees of the church.

Other members of the finance committee are: Mrs. B. A. Hoft; Hugh Hartshorn; Thomas Peyton; Eugene Stewart; Reid Suggs; and Preston J. Wisker.

One of the major budget items to be considered is the continuation of the Capital Improvements Fund.

Mrs. William D. Basnight is in charge of arrangements for the supper sponsored by the Women's Fellowship of the church. This will be the first church-wide meeting in the new building, now nearing completion.

NEW YORK — Richard James Tuggle, University of North Carolina Student, has been elected a member of the American Institute of Accountants. This is the national professional society of certified public accountants.

Tuggle is a member of the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants.

DR. WARNER WELLS

Lectures Next Week

Last Medical Lectures Set For Next Week

The last in a series of six postgraduate medical lectures will be given at Morganton and Asheville Wednesday and Thursday by Dr. Warner Wells of the UNC School of Medicine.

Dr. Wells will lecture in Morganton Wednesday. At 4 p.m. he will speak on "Radiation Sickness" and at 7:30 p.m. he will talk on "Intestinal Obstruction." The same two talks will be given the following day in Asheville at 5 p.m. and 7:45 p.m.

The two postgraduate medical courses are being sponsored by the UNC School of Medicine, the UNC Extension Division and the Burke and Buncombe County Medical Societies. The two medical courses began in September.

The Morganton lectures will be given at Grace Hospital and at the Mimosa Golf Club. The Asheville lectures will be presented at Memorial Mission Hospital.

Last year Dr. Wells' translation and editing of "Hiroshima Diary" caused a sensation in the literary world. The book was a Japanese physician's account of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima. For several weeks the book remained on the nation's best seller lists. To date the book has been translated into seven foreign languages.

AFROTC Honor Squadron To Select New Members

The Sabre Air Command, a recently formed honor squadron of the Air Force ROTC, is beginning selection of new members, a spokesman for the group said yesterday.

Membership in the squadron is open to freshman and sophomore cadets with an acceptable average.

Pledge chairman for the group urged that all cadets "Look their best and do their best if they want to be accepted into the honor squadron."

Group Studies Press Relations

A study of relationships between the press and the medical profession in North Carolina was described Wednesday, November 1st, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Institute for Research in Social Science at the University of North Carolina.

The audience included guests from the University's Division of Health Affairs.

The report, presented by Dr. Roy E. Carter Jr., of the UNC School of Journalism, dealt with a project aimed at improving relations between doctors and editors by studying the attitudes and experiences of each group with respect to each other.

Hey, everybody! Here's a new stack of Sticklers!

HERE'S A STICKLER! WHAT DO YOU CALL THE MINUTES OF A SMOKERS' CONVENTION? (SEE PARAGRAPH AT RIGHT)

WHEN SMOKE FOLK get together, the chatter matter is fine tobacco. Naturally, that means Lucky Strike. Luckies' taste is worth talking about because it comes from fine tobacco—light, mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. As for the Stickler, you call the minutes of a smokers' convention a Light-up Write-up. Speaking of light-ups, have you tried a Lucky lately? You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

DON'T JUST STAND THERE... STICKLE! MAKE '25

Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (No drawings, please!) We'll shell out $25 for all we use—and for hundreds that never see print. So send stacks of 'em with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N.-Y.
