New Show Is Open At Planetarium

A "Celestial Preview of 1957" opened appropriately on the first day of the New Year at the Morehead Planetarium on campus.

The presentation is a tailored two-fold demonstration of celestial phenomena which will occur in 1957 and a showing of models which can be made at home by parents or children under supervision, of common and ordinary things about the average house to demonstrate and explain visible happenings in the heavens.

"The demonstration will be especially appealing to children of Cub or Boy Scout age," according to Planetarium Manager A. F. Jenzano. "And it will be appealing to do-it-yourself parents who would like to build similar simple models we will show that can be made from coat hangers, common boxes, flashlights and so on to help children understand the marvels of the universe."

"Celestial Preview of 1957" is actually being presented by the Morehead and other planetaria throughout the nation during January in cooperation with the Boy Scouts of America, whose January theme is "Look Skyward." The BSA has adopted that theme in order that Scouts may study and know better the heavens. Already Scout troops from North and South Carolina and Virginia are writing in for reservations to attend the demonstration at the Morehead Planetarium here, which is their nearest and the only one south of Philadelphia.

With the opening of "Celestial Preview," the Morehead Planetarium will return to its regular schedule of presentations nightly at 8:30 o'clock with matinees Saturdays at 11 a.m. at 3 p.m. and Sundays at 3 and 4 p.m. Special school demonstrations will be presented Wednesdays and Thursdays at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., but the public and other groups are admitted after children with reservations are seated.

Anderson's move to clear the way for a civil rights program—legislation which filibustering southern senators have talked to death in the past.

Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas promptly offered a motion to table Anderson's proposal. A similar parliamentary maneuver four years ago succeeded in killing Anderson's 1953 attempt to change the rules. The vote at the time was 70-21.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California came out flatly against the proposed method of changing the rules, although not necessarily against putting a checkrein on filibusters.

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The White House Thursday refused to confirm or deny a published report that U. S. Marines in the Mediterranean area are armed with "live" atomic artillery weapons.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerly, apparently after consultation with President Eisenhower, did say the President "has given no authority for use of atomic or any other weapons in the Middle East."

LONDON—(AP)— Communist Party Boss N. S. Khrushchev was listed as absent Thursday from two important Moscow functions attended by other top Soviet leaders.

It was considered possible here that Khrushchev, 62, might be ill. But diplomats watching such Soviet manifestations never lose sight of the possibility that the absence of a top leader from an important gathering can have deep political meaning.

MIAMI—(AP)— U. S. District Judge Dmett Choate ruled Thursday that Florida and Miami laws requiring Negroes to sit in the rear of Miami Transit Co. buses are unconstitutional.

The gave the City of Miami 10 days to file a motion in answer to his ruling. The city commission went into a hurried, special session to map future strategy.

The Carolina Playmakers will hold tryouts for the casts of three new one-act plays at 4:00 p.m., Monday, at the Playmakers Theatre. The bill of plays will be produced Jan. 17 and 18 on the Playmakers stage.

Written and directed by UNC graduate students, the plays will be: "Room For Rent" by Marcelline Krachick of Philadelphia, Pa., directed by Nancy Christ of Newark, N. J.; "Portrait of a Dragon" by Josephine Stipe of Chapel Hill, directed by Mary Ruth Johnston of Eupora, Miss.; and "Child of Two Winds" by Peter B. O'Sullivan of Valhalla, N. Since then the Playmakers have produced 176 series of such presentations, serving to stimulate and encourage the writing of plays on the campus.
