

Tar Heels Whip Clemson, 86-54 For 13th Straight

By LARRY CHEEK

North Carolina's relentless Tar Heels, second ranked nationally and determined to stay there, captured consecutive victory number 13 last night in Woolen Gym, outclassing the Clemson Tigers, 86-54, in an ACC basketball game.

It was Carolina's fourth win in ACC play and left them safely atop the standings far ahead of the pack.

Lennie Rosenbluth and Bob Cunningham were the heroes of the Tar Heel attack as Rosenbluth hit for 34 points while Cunningham, an unsung playmaker at guard, popped in 18 valuable markers, most of them coming at crucial moments. Joe Quigg had 17.

The game was won from the free throw line and off the backboards.

The Tar Heels pumped in 34 charity tosses to only 18 for Clemson, and Quigg, Brennan, Rosenbluth and Co. cleaned the boards for a whopping 46 rebounds to a mere 17 for the shorter Tigers.

The contest was close only in the game's opening minutes when the Tigers were hitting their shots. With 9:35 remaining in the opening half, Carolina possessed only the slimmest of one point margins, 21-20.

Then Clemson hit a disastrous dry spell, going for nearly 8 minutes without a single point. Carolina took advantage of this golden opportunity and ran up a 33-20 lead before the Tiger's Vince Yocel hit a short jump shot at the 1:41 mark to break the ice.

Joe Quigg sent the Tar Heels to intermission with a 39-24 bulge when he connected on a jump shot just as the horn went off ending the half.

Rosenbluth and Quigg pooled their talents at the beginning of the second stanza to push the margin up to 19 points, 55-36, with 11:35 remaining. At this point the Tigers splurged momentarily to climb within 15 points at 55-40, but the Tar Heels gathered their forces and built their lead up to 20 points, 66-46 with 5:52 remaining.

The game then degenerated into a rout with Rosenbluth and his teammates scoring almost at will to run up the final margin, 86-54.

The Tar Heels return to action tonight when they play host to Virginia in an ACC tilt beginning at 8 p. m. in Woolen Gym.

"Very Happy" With Setup

Hungarian Runner And Coach Arrive At UNC

By LARRY CHEEK

Hungarian distance runner Laszlo Tabori and his trainer-coach Mihaly Igloi, both refugees from the Soviet Russia blood bath in Budapest, arrived in this little college community thousands of miles from their homeland yesterday, and settled down for a long stay in this new world of peace and freedom.

Tabori is one of 38 Hungarian athletes who chose liberty over tyranny after the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, and defected to this country. He first went to Miami, Fla., but moved on to Chapel Hill when conditions in Miami were found to be unsuitable.

The slender Hungarian youth, one of nine men to run a mile in less than four minutes, plans to stay in Chapel Hill for approximately two months during which time he will go through twice a day workouts on Finley Golf Course and the Fetzer Field track in preparation for a number of big indoor meets in which he plans to participate.

Tabori and his coach, neither of whom speak English, will make their headquarters at the University motel, right next to the golf course. Tabori went through a brisk 50 minute workout on the course yesterday, running with UNC distance men Jim Beatty, Wayne Bishop and Everett Whitley.

His training schedule is a rigorous one, at least from the American point of view. Working under the direction of Igloi, he plans to run up to 30 miles a day 7 days a week, with two sessions each day.

According to Igloi, this is the secret that has carried his star pupil to such amazing achievements in the track world.

"Conditioning is the important thing," said Igloi yesterday through his interpreter, Dr. Ransom Taylor of the University Department of Germanic Languages. "A runner must devise the right training methods and then work all the time all year long," he said. And the four minute mile is the result.

Tabori's best time for the mile is 3:58.9 while his best in the two mile is 8:37. He formerly held the world record in the 1,500 meter run, before one of his Hungarian teammates, broke it. In the just completed Olympic games he finished fourth in the 1,500 meters and sixth in the 5,000 meters.

His itinerary for the upcoming American indoor season is still not complete, but he definitely will run in at least eight meets. His debut in this country will come on Jan. 19 when he runs the two mile in the Knights of Columbus games in Boston. On the 25th and 26th of this month, he will compete in the Philadelphia Inquirer meet and the Washington Evening Star games. Later on he will run in the Milrose Games in New York City and the National AAU meet in addition to several others.

The Amateur Athletic Union, or AAU, is sponsoring Tabori's stay in Chapel Hill with the financial backing of Sports Illustrated magazine and the Hungarian freedom fund.

Through his interpreter, Igloi told a group of newsmen yesterday that he was "very happy" with the setup here. And to conclude the interview, he paid tribute to his athletic protoge, calling him "the finest person and all round athlete I have ever coached."

Wrestling: From Rags To Riches

By DAVE WIBLE

Call it the UNC athletic success story of the year: the rise of Carolina wrestling from the depths of a winless season to a pink cloud of what appears to be a threat for the conference crown.

For the past two seasons, the charges of Coach Sam Barnes were able to find only one victory. This year with the season just under way the grappling squad is undefeated and has already scored more points than they did the whole of last season.

The reasons for the sudden change of face? Coach Barnes says, "We have more experience on this years squad, and have gotten unusual mileage from the sophomores. Also the boys are fighting for the close ones."

Wrestling has never been a strong sport at Carolina, Coach Barnes pointed out. "There has been a wrestling team at Carolina for over thirty years, but the good seasons can be counted on the fingers of one hand: '26, '42, '46, and '47.' The '42 and '47 squads were conference champions. There has never been an undefeated team at Carolina. The team with the best record was the '47 squad, which finished the season with seven wins and one loss."

Coach Barnes has been at Carolina since 1951. He is a regular member of the English department here. Before he came to Carolina he was wrestling coach at VMI. It is interesting to note that the two years Carolina was conference champion, the Tar Heels, defeated Coach Barnes' VMI teams in the finals, in '47 by only one point.

Several Tar Heels are strong candidates for conference championships this year.

Captain Bob Wagner, Charles Boyette, seniors, and Perrin Henderson, sophomore, have compiled impressive records this year. All three of these grapplers have a chance of breaking the school scoring record of 26 points.

The Varsity has six more matches. The big ones: VMI and Maryland. The Tar Heels were conference champs last year. The Tar Heels know that match will be their acid test.

Frosh Cagers Defeat Wake Freshmen 87-60

The Tar Babies played a fine second half last night to beat the Baby Deacs of Wake Forest 87-60.

The Carolina frosh leading by only one point at the half came back fired up and sharp the second period. Led by Lee Shaffer and Dick Kepley, the Tar Babies scored 53 points, The Baby Deacs 27.

Shaffer, showing his skill as a rebounder and tap-in artist, again led the Tar Babies in scoring, hitting for 25 points, 6-7 center, Dick Kepley was runner up for the Carolina yearlings with 20.

The first half was played in a slow, easy-going manner, each team playing a possession game. After the intermission, the Tar Babies got hot, getting 20 quick points against the Baby Deacs' 5 in the first five minutes, and ran away with the game.

Last night's win was the fifth for the Tar Babies against one lost. The Baby Deacs left the floor with a 3-3 record.

Tonight the Tar Babies will meet Stallings Air Force Base. The game will start at six in Woolen Gym.

Tabbs, McDonald Deny Signing With Edmonton

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—All American Jerry Tabbs and Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma yesterday denied reports they had signed professional contracts with Edmonton of the Western Interprovincial Football Union in Canada.

Tabbs, center and defensive signal caller for the Sooners, said he had signed to play pro ball with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League.

The Montreal Herald reported that Tabbs and McDonald, a half-back, had signed with the Canadian club and said they probably wouldn't be officially announced as members of the club "for a week to 10 days."

Rosenbluth Hits Free Throw
Lennie Rosenbluth, Carolina's high scoring basketball captain, is shown above as he sinks one from the free throw line in last night's game with Clemson. The Tar Heels, paced by Lennie's 34 points, won an 86-54 decision.

Pro Bowl Not To Be Telecast

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The annual Pro Bowl All-Star football game here Sunday will not be televised nationally or regionally because of inability of networks to get time clearances.

Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League said in Philadelphia: "Every effort was made to get network clearance for the pro bowl game by everyone connected with the game. Until late this week we thought it could be accomplished."

The pro bowl's seventh annual game features 64 picked players from the Eastern and Western conferences of the NFL, 32 to a squad.
