Violations Rumors Denied By Young

By PHYLLIS MAULTSBY

A number of rumored violations of the Honor System which drifted around campus during the examination period, have been denied by Bob Young, student body president.

One of the widespread reports concerned supposed cheating on the part of members of the freshman basketball team—or of the football team, depending upon the varying versions of the story. The freshman athletes involved were rumored to have been caught together over a language exam in a dormitory room. The freshmen were supposedly tried by the Honor Council and quietly shipped home.

SPANISH EXAM

Another popular rumor was that President Young walked into the Spanish 4 exam, at the request of the professor who reported missing copies of the exam, collected all the quiz books from the students, flipped through the pages, and then did not return all the books when the exam finally resumed.

Concerning the Spanish 4 exam, Young stated that on the basis of a rumor reported to him the night before, he and his roommate collected the blue books of all the students at the exam and went through them to determine whether they could find evidence of cheating. All the books were returned, as nothing suspicious was found in the investigation.

STATEMENT BY YOUNG

As for the first rumor, and others which have been spread during and since the last examination period, but none of which have been proven true, President Young made the following statement to the Daily Tar Heel:

"During the past few days, diverse rumors have circulated around the campus with regard to questionable violations of the Honor System which I witnessed. I will not reveal the names of the persons involved, but I feel that I should clarify the situation and put an end to these malicious rumors.

One night during the examination period my roommate and I were led to a scene where one student was found making notes in a blue quiz book. It was

UNC Azalea Festival Queen Is Selected

Miss Marian Lou Dickens, junior from Thomasville, was recently selected to represent the University at the 1957 Azalea Festival in Wilmington.

The heads of the six major women's organizations selected Miss Dickens from the number of campus queens chosen during the fall semester.

Miss Dickens, an elementary education major, was last fall's 1956 Dukathron Queen. She is also an Air Force ROTC Sponsor and a member of the YACK Beauty Court.

Choral Club Will Perform

Among the events of the 1957 Commencement Week will be a performance by the Chapel Hill Choral Club, accompanied by the University Symphony Orchestra, of Verdi's Requiem Mass.

A chorus of 90 to 100 singers is anticipated for this year's performance.

The Chorus, open to students, staff, and all local residents, begins practice for the spring semester, Feb. 11. Interested persons have been invited to attend rehearsal from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. in Hill Music Hall. There are no tryouts.

Pre-Med And Dental Frat Holds Meeting

Alpha Epsilon Delta, national honorary pre-medical and pre-dental fraternity, is holding its first open meeting of this semester in Hanes Hall at 7:15 tonight.

The speaker will be Dr. J. J. Van Wyk from the Department of Pediatrics at the UNC Medical School. Dr. Van Wyk will talk and show slides illustrating how chemistry is becoming ever more important in the field of medicine.

The meeting is open to all pre-medical and pre-dental students, but AED has welcome sophomores who are now eligible for membership in this society. New members will be taken in within the next few weeks.

UN Keeps V.K. Menon Away

V. K. Krishna Menon, scheduled by the Carolina Forum to speak here Feb. 11, has cancelled his engagement for the third time.

According to a letter from Menon's Private Secretary, the Indian Minister will not be able to make his address in Chapel Hill because of an important session of the UN General Assembly.

The question of Kashmir is now before the Security Council with meetings concerning the question held throughout next week. As India's representative to the Security Council for this question, Menon has been declared essential to the meetings both during and before the debate.

Menon, chief of India's delegation to the United Nations, was originally scheduled to talk Dec. 10, but the Hungarian crisis and the special sessions of the UN forced him to postpone his engagement.

The Indian representative is regarded by some as being second only to Nehru on the Indian political scene.

In announcing the cancellation of Menon's address, Brandon Kincaid, chairman of the Carolina Forum, stated that "the Forum is very disappointed that Mr. Menon is not to be with us. We hope that he will be able to come later on in the year, but we aren't sure whether or not he will be able to come at all."

WORDS OF COMFORT:

Shepard Advises Students Not To Ask For Deferment Until They Receive Notice

By NEIL BASS

Sweating the draft? If so, Gen. F. C. Shepard had comforting words of advice yesterday. Shepard is the University coordinator of military affairs.

The general had two primary points of advice to University students who are wary of Selective Service:

(1) Do not request deferment until you receive notice to report for physical examination. By doing so you may increase your draft eligibility by ten years.

(2) Keep in close contact with your local selective service board. It solely can inform you of your possibility for induction.

REQUIREMENTS Concerning necessary scholastic requirements to enable students to remain in school, Shepard released the following information:

Students may not be drafted during their freshman year. They may not be drafted during their sophomore year if they were in the upper 50% of their freshman class, upper 66% of their sophomore class, upper 75% of their junior class, and upper 25% of their class in graduate school.

An important statement released by Shepard was that Selective

Three Student Leaders State Views On Speech

Several UNC student government officials Wednesday greeted with mixed reactions statements made Tuesday night by Director of Student Affairs Sam Magill.

Magill said there was a "current crisis in student initiative" and students were unwilling to discipline themselves. He mentioned increasing violations of the Honor Code in connection with this.

He made the statements in an address to the University Party in which he spoke of the administration's views on student government.

Magill pointed out two premises upon which the University administration bases its student government policy. They are:

1. The demonstrated ability of students to discipline themselves which is the basis of student self-government.

2. That student government is educationally sound toward preparation of students to accept their role in later life.

Magill then touched briefly on several problem points.

AUTO PROBLEM

Included in these points was a short statement on the automobile problem here. Concerning this, he suggested construction of a "multi-level parking lot north of the University medical area."

He also said limitation of student autos was only a "temporary relief" and more permanent action must be taken soon.

Student Body President Bob Young and Men's Honor Council Chairman Jim Exum both felt there was not a "crisis." University Party Chairman Mike Weinman agreed with Magill.

Young said "I do not feel that there is a 'crisis' in students' initiative." We have made mistakes, certainly. There is more work to be done, undoubtedly. Most student leaders have fallen short of their goals; however, the year is not yet over," he said.

"I think records will prove that the Honor Council, excluding the 'cheating ring case,' has tried considerably fewer cases this year than last year. In my opinion, the Honor Council members have done a most satisfactory job."

"With proper cooperation among students, members of the administration and faculty members, I feel that we can continue a year of beneficial results for the students," he said.

Young said he was not attempting "to defend my own actions as president of student government" but felt he must speak for "students."

YWCA Honors Coed Workers With Coffee

The Hospital Service Committee of the YMCA will give an informal coffee honoring the coeds who worked on this committee last semester this Friday at 4 p.m. in the cabinet room of the Y.

The committee is composed of 75 coeds under the direction of Miss Dottie Wood who visit the hospital 1½ hours each week.

In the past the hospital has depended on the work of these girls in assisting the regular nurses by feeding and reading to patients and helping to transport them.

These women provide valuable service to the hospital and received practical training in the care of the sick.

Coeds interested in working with the committee this semester have been urged to sign up in Miss Elea or Riggins office in the Y this Saturday from 9 to 12 a.m. and attend the orientation program in Memorial Hospital, to be held on the 12th and 13th of February at 1:30 p.m.

Gordon Gray Selected For Government Post

WASHINGTON —(AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday accepted the resignation of Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming and announced the post will go to Gordon Gray, who was Secretary of the Army in the Truman administration.

Flemming will resume the presidency of Ohio Wesleyan University after a leave of almost four years.

Gray, a 47-year-old North Carolina Democrat-for-Eisenhower, has been assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs since mid-1955.

In his Pentagon assignment, Gray worked in a field closely allied with his new post as director of the office of defense mobilization (ODM).

The defense mobilizer is responsible for mustering the resources needed to meet current defense requirements, and to plan for a speedy mobilization of industrial capacity in the event of a war emergency. ODM allocates scarce materials and stockpiles others that would be needed in wartime.

Gray's selection was announced by Eisenhower at his news conference. The nomination could not be submitted to the Senate Wednesday, however, because that body was not in session.
