Oppenheimer To Be Orientation Head

Young Named Junior From Birmingham

Jerry Oppenheimer, junior from Birmingham, Ala., has been named orientation chairman for 1957-58, President Bob Young announced yesterday.

Oppenheimer is a member of Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity.

Appointments to Oppenheimer's Orientation Committee will be announced within the next two weeks, Young announced.

Concerning his appointment of Oppenheimer, Young said:

"He has expressed a sincere and serious interest in this and he has proven himself to be most capable in positions of responsibility.

BEST WISHES

"As I make this appointment," Young said, "I wish to extend best wishes to Jerry and members of the committee who will plan the orientation program."

Plans for the fall orientation program will be begun in the near future, Young said.

Concerning Oppenheimer's position Young said:

"I have given this particular position very much thought. I have talked with several people and have gotten many opinions about persons who could be named. From the list of eligible junior students, Jerry and one other student were most outstanding. For many reasons, I have finally selected and am now appointing Jerry to the position of orientation chairman."

Invitations Will Be Sold In "Y" Monday

All students, regular seniors or seniors in the professional schools, are urged to purchase graduation invitations at the "Y" next Monday through Thursday, a Grail spokesman said today.

The Order of the Grail is sponsoring the invitation sale in the "Y" lobby from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The invitation sale will be terminated Thursday, the spokesman said.

Rain Expected Daily For Next Five Days

The rainy weather experienced in this area for the past several days shows no sign of letting up for the next five days.

Occasional rain is expected almost daily through Wednesday, according to the Weather Bureau at the Raleigh-Durham airport.

It is expected to be cool today followed by rising temperatures. It will turn colder Tuesday or Wednesday.

IN FOUR YEAR DRIVE:

Student Union Plans Are At Standstill

By EDITH MACKINNON

Continuing in a four year long drive to acquire funds for a new Student Union, the Graham Memorial Student Union committee has arrived at another standstill.

A plan which had been proposed to finance the $2 million project by a program of self-liquidation has been vetoed by a council of the Division of Student Affairs.

It was reported by the Student Union Committee that Consolidated University President William Friday had stated this was "not the time" for such a self-liquidation program.

In a Thursday meeting of the GM Board of Directors, Joel Fleishman, chairman of the new student union committee, announced permission had been denied to borrow the necessary money. At the same time Fleishman stated William D. Carmichael, University vice-president and finance officer, had endorsed the student union program and promised to lend his support in getting a high priority for the issue on the list of Consolidated University requests of the 1959 session of the N. C. advisory budget committee.

Recent discussions among student leaders and administrative officials, particularly Director of Student Affairs Sam Magill and President Friday, have seemed to re-emphasize the fast growing need for a new Student Union building, adequate in size and central in location.

Two alternatives were drawn up by the committee to study needs of new student union to acquire funds for the project.

Plan one proposed an appropriation from the 1957 session of the N. C. General Assembly. This plan failed to be brought up before the 1957 session.

The second alternative was to receive permission to borrow the necessary money. When the plan was vetoed by the council of the Division of Student Affairs, President Friday maintained the new student union was an integral part of the University and should be within the province of the state legislature.

Opposition was also brought up by President Friday to the suggestion the project be financed by a private gift.

It is felt by the Student Union committee the new union should be located in the vicinity of Emerston Field. The $2 million project would be able to accommodate a needs for a new union, and possi-

Bill Introduced Establishing Group To Investigate UNC Constitution

By NEIL BASS

The most far reaching measure introduced at Thursday night's student Legislature session was a bill creating a committee to "examine" the student Constitution.

The bill was introduced by Student Party chairman-floorleader Sonny Hallford upon the suggestion of Attorney General Sam Wells.

According to Wells, it is the committee's intention to make the constitution more "fluid."

Wells said the present Constitution was too specific and entrenched too much red tape for change. "We should have a statement of general principles... with specifics in individual statutes," Wells said.

As for specific changes which Wells and his four-man committee plan to make, the attorney general had no comment.

The committee's composition will consist of Wells, chairmen of the two political parties and two legislators appointed by the student body president.

WELCOME

The Legislature's passage of Special Orders to enable passage of a welcoming resolution to visiting University of Florida student body president Fletcher Fleming was significant.

Fleming told representatives he was honored by the warm "hospitality" which he had been shown during his stay here.

The U. F. student president will return to the campus Mar. 1, to study Carolina student government and the integration situation here.

Financial bills still are the top heavy item on the legislative docket, and Thursday night's session was no exception. $189 was appropriated from student government's general surplus.

Absent from the session were: Frank Farrell (SP), Andy Milnor (SP), Ben Peele (SP), Bill Robbins (University Party), Leo Wardrup (SP).

The Legislature will reconvene next Thursday night at 7:30 on the fourth floor of New East Building.

All representatives, according to Speaker Sonny Evans, are urged to attend.

Talent Show Is To Present Repeat Performance At WC

By GRAHAM SNYDER

A talent show which began as the combination of two ideas and two shows, will travel to Woman's College on Feb. 26 to stage a repeat performance of its original show.

The Carolina Cavalcade of Talent, branching out from its performance here December 13, will present the entire show at 7:30 p.m. in Elliott Hall at WC.

In March the talent show will make a third appearance when it presents an hour-long show here on WUNC-TV.

Initiated from suggestions by G. C. Pridden, the Cavalcade's co-director, the WC show will be held in co-junction with GMAB and Elliott Hall, WC's student union of activities.

JOHN YOUNG

In co-operation with John Young, WUNC-TV assistant Director, the university's educational station will present the hour-long presentation of the show on March 8, from 8:30-9:30 p.m. Young will direct the television performance.

Pridgen said that the Cavalcade will be presented as a complete variety show, instead of its original inception as a collection of talent acts.

The number of acts to be used in the WC show will be a tentative 14 to 16, according to Pridgen. The co-director said that one or two members of the original show may not be able to make the trip.

AUDITION

At the same time Pridgen announced that a single audition will be held Feb. 18 from 7-10 p.m. in the Rendezvous Room of GM. Pridgen said that at that time new talent which failed to audition for the original show may do so at this one opportunity. As a result of this hearing Pridgen said there is a possibility that one or two new acts may be included in the show.

The WC presentation will include such performers as the winners of the show, Miss Mary "PeeWee" Batten, Hoke Simpson, and Bruno's Combo.

The music for the Cavalcade will be provided by Don Jefferson and the Embers. Cecil Hartsoe will be the pianist for the show.

Both the WC and the television shows will be equipped with a new master of ceremonies, Frank Crowther.

In conjunction with the idea of the trip, Pridgen said that "the show will not be presented for the purpose of making money. We hope

Integration At UNC Termed A Success

By CHARLIE SLOAN

Integration at UNC unquestionably has been successful, the president of the University of Florida's student body said yesterday.

The student leader, Fletcher Fleming, and Paul Billings, assoc. student secretary of the Southern Area YMCA, are in Chapel Hill to prepare for a conference intended to find out exactly what incidents and events occurred at the University prior to integration.

Fleming said they hope to adapt the solutions to Carolina's integration problems for use when Negro students are

Seminar To Work Here Feb. 15-17

The United States National Student Association Seminar on International Student Relations will be held here Feb. 15, 16, 17.

Twenty-eight member schools of the Carolinas-Virginia NSA region have been invited to attend, according to seminar Chairman Whit Whitfield.

Discussion and seminar leaders are Allen R. Janger, overseas publicity director of the NSA, Irv Driassin, administrative assistant on international affairs and Miss Helen Jean Rogers.

A book of working papers prepared by the International Commission of the USNSA will furnish background on such matters as student exchange, problems of American students abroad, purposes of the Communist-dominated International Union of Students.

The USNSA is a confederation of student governments at 320 American colleges and universities, representing some 700,000 students.

Students wishing to participate in the seminar may contact Whit Whitfield through the student government office in Graham Memorial, the chairman said.

June, Summer Graduates Must File For Degrees

All students in the College of Arts and Sciences who expect to be graduated in June or in the summer and who have not filed for a degree have been asked to do so immediately in order to get their degree on time.

Those having to file for their degree have been asked to come by the office of the College of Arts and Science, 203 South Building.

admitted at Florida. There is a case being heard in the Florida Supreme Court now on integration.

On Feb. 28 and March 1 and 2 a delegation of six student leaders and two faculty members will visit Chapel Hill to study Carolina's integration problems. The visit this week is mainly for the purpose of setting up a schedule and making appointments for the conference at the end of the month.

This is not a crusade to bring integration to the Florida campus, Fleming emphasized. He said the inquiry at Carolina is not intended to "bring it about any sooner or any later."

"I think it to our advantage to know in advance what to expect," he added.

UNC is the only campus the delegation is visiting. Fleming said it was chosen by the students above other integrated schools because of the success with which it was integrated.

He said he also hopes for an exchange of ideas with Duke and State, but he has not planned to visit their campuses. At Carolina the group will try to contact student leaders, student government leaders, student religious leaders, administrative leaders, students working on publications and as many Negro and white students as possible.

Local government and civic leaders will also be contacted and interviewed by the group. Fleming pointed out the majority of the people of Gainesville, where the University of Florida is located, are opposed to mingling the races, most of them violently so.

Billings, whose organization is helping to pay for the trip, said, "It's their project. I certainly think it's worthwhile." Both he and Fleming expressed their appreciation of the cooperation they have received from the Carolina administration, YM-YWCA and student leaders.

Israeli Sanctions Asked

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(AP)—The leader of the Arab-African group called yesterday for effective measures, including sanctions, to force Israel to withdraw finally and totally from Egypt.

Ambassador Abdul Monem Rifa'i of Jordan, president of the 27-nation group for February, told news men he had expressed to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold at a 40-minute conference the "deep concern" of the group over Israel's defiant stand.

Rifa'i said he had asked Hammarskjold for a report and for a meeting of the General Assembly by next Tuesday to consider what next to do. The Assembly last Saturday asked Israel for the sixth time to get out of Egypt and requested Hammarskjold to report at the appropriate time.

Some members of the group, especially the Arab countries, are pushing for such sanctions as complete economic, financial and military restrictions on Israel. Others are studying moderate steps.

While the United States and other leading delegations here consulted on the next move in the Fraternity Pledge Festivities To Crowd Carolina Social Calender

By MARY ALYS VOORHEES

Exam schedules have found their way to the trash cans, students have found their way home and back again, and now the Carolina social calendar has found itself slightly crowded with more events than students have time to attend.

Perhaps the most noteworthy is the growing number of dances and parties each weekend.

Back in the fall when one stepped out in evening attire, it wasn't hard for others to guess where the party or dance was. But now when evening clothes are the order of the day one cannot merely ask where the party is, but which dance is the friend attending.

Last weekend offered three big events for party-goers plus numerous other socials sufficient enough to leave the dorms and frat houses vacant and put most party attire in use.

TO START OFF their weekend the Kappa Sigs opened the program with a banquet Friday night at the house. Black and white matches and napkins bearing the fraternity letters marked the places.

THE CHI PHIS were responsible for another series of events during the Friday-Saturday period. To open their pledge weekend they entertained the 1956 pledge class and their dates at a banquet and pledge

First Meet To Be Held Tomorrow

The Cosmopolitan Club will hold its first meeting of the new semester Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the Wilson Library.

Members of the club have extended a cordial invitation to interested students and townspeople to attend, according to an announcement.

The meeting will include a social hour at which time old and new members and their friends will become acquainted. Light refreshments will be served, the announcement said.

After the social hour all officers for the current semester will be introduced and business for the new term will be discussed.

The officers, recently elected, are President Pizans Ganevate, Ceylon; Vice President Sira Bose, of India; Secretary Miss Lucie Dearing, Haddonfield, N. J. and Treasurer Ted Youhana, Iraq.

New committee chairman appointments will also be announced at the meeting, the announcement said.

The first plan on the agenda is the international dinner to be prepared by foreign members of the club. It will probably be scheduled in two weeks, the announcement said.

The Cosmopolitan Club is made up of many of the foreign students and exchange professors and their families here. A large group of American students here are also members, the announcement said.

Club members have in common an interest in international relations and the interchange of customs and ideas from all parts of the world.
