Ill-Will Is Seen Between Editor And Merchants

By JIM PURKS
Ill-will between several of the Chapel Hill merchants and the editor of the Chapel Hill Weekly, Louis Graves, is currently making itself evident.

And the controversy which is likely to ensue all stems from a misunderstanding, according to Joe Augustine, chairman of the Trade Promotions Committee of the Assn. The cause of the ill-will was an editorial in the Weekly in which Graves attacked the merchants' idea of constructing 'billboards' outside the city limits in order to promote more trade.

As a result of the editorial, three petitions were sent to Augustine, all of them vigorously opposing the idea of billboards. One petition was signed by 67 University faculty members, and two were signed by local garden clubs.

Joe Augustine stated today that the facts which Graves based his editorial on "actually were rumors from start to finish."

"The thing we've proposed would not be in the nature of billboards, but painted signs. We've had agencies creating up samples for us," Augustine pointed out that there would be no paper used on the signs. He said the signs would be painted and would picture some aspect of University life.

"Our idea wasn't from the commercial view, but with the intention of trying to attract people to see the University and we hope they'll shop while they're here."

"We're not going to put anything up that will be detrimental (See ILL-WILL, page 3)

N.C. State Loses Its Captains

Co-Captains Cliff Hafer and John Maglio Saturday were lost to N. C. State's basketball team because of scholastic difficulties.

State Chancellor Carey H. Bostian, in making the announcement, said the two were placed on probation, effective immediately. This means they may remain in school by paying their own expenses, forfeiting any aid.

Bostian said both were "not eligible to represent the college in any form of intercollegiate competition."

Bostian's action followed reports from the college committee on scholarships and student aid and the faculty athletic committee.

The scholarship committee recommended the athletic grants for Maglio and Hafer "be cancelled because of unsatisfactory grades and class attendance for the first semester."

The faculty athletic committee recommended probation. Maglio and Hafer, both seniors, were not available for comment as to whether they would remain in school.

Maglio, a six-foot guard, is from Havertown, Pa. and Hafer, a six-foot forward, is from Middletown, Ohio.

The loss of the co-captains at this critical time apparently dooms State to finish in the second division of the Atlantic Coast Conference race. If they finish the season still in fifth place where they are now their first round opponent in the ACC tournament will be UNC, currently rated the top team in the country.

ON WUNC RADIO

University radio station WUNC-FM will carry a play-by-play broadcast of the Carolina-Virginia game in Charlottesville tomorrow night. WUNC is located at 91.5 on the FM dial. Larry Saunders will voice the game. Anyone wishing to hear the game must have access to an FM radio.

AFROTC Units Marched Well In Inauguration

The AFROTC Marching Band, Color Guard, and Precision Drill Team from UNC made "excellent showings" at the Inaugural Parade in Raleigh Thursday despite bleak weather conditions and a freezing downpour, according to Major Jack Gabus, Commandant of AFROTC.

The band was led by Cadet Capt. Don Jefferson and the Drill Team by Cadet Capt. Bob Harrington.

"I think the new white helmets supplied the Drill Team helped immeasurably in the performance of my boys, as they not only felt but looked sharper," said Capt. Harrington.

The parade began at 1 p.m. headed by a cavalcade of 20 cars led by Gov. and Mrs. Hodges. Also included in the cavalcade of cars were Gov. and Mrs. Stanley of Virginia and Gov. and Mrs. George B. Timmerman of South Carolina, followed by Mayor and Mrs. Wheeler of Raleigh.

Several Are Planning To Attend UN Seminar

A group of students from UNC is planning a trip to New York City for a United Nations Seminar on March 6-9.

UN Seminar Chairman Wally Satterfield announced Thursday there were approximately 20 seats open for any students interested in going.

The purpose of this seminar is to study the United Nations and its problem of "Disarmament."

Satterfield said, "We plan to visit with ten different delegations to the UN, in addition to meeting with other government officials. At each delegation we want to get first-hand information as to how the particular country it represents feels toward disarmament and what have they done, if anything, to obtain this end."

The group will leave Chapel Hill at 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 6, and will return to UNC no later than 10 p.m. Sunday, March 10.

The headquarters for the group will be in the Hotel Taft, while most of the meetings will take place in either the individual delegate's embassy or in the UN building on the East River.

Norman Gillis, the planning committee chairman, said, "I have received many pamphlets and background material for all those that plan to go. If you want to read some of them over they are available during the day in Anne Queen's YWCA associate director office in the YMCA."

In addition, Monday night Sam Levering of Virginia, will speak in 106 Hanes Hall at 7:30. He, as chairman of the American Friends committee on national legislation, will speak on the UN, and the problems brought about by disarmament.

Levering, an expert in the field of the functions of the UN, has traveled all over the United States giving lectures, discussions. (See SEMINAR, page 3)

New Middle East Crisis

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new crisis over the Middle East sent President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles into a long distance telephone huddle yesterday.

Besides talking to Eisenhower, who is quail-shooting in Georgia, Dulles also conferred urgently with top advisers here.

Officials are intensely worried about the prospect that the President and Dulles will be caught in a bad squeeze some time next week over the issue of sanctions against Israel. This could happen unless Israel pulls its forces immediately out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba region, as demanded by the United Nations.

Moscow Invitation

LONDON—(AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin has invited Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to visit Moscow and has asked the British leader to suggest a convenient date.

The text of letters between the two, broadcast tonight by Moscow Radio, made it evident Bulganin did not intend to take "no" for an answer. Macmillan, is shunting aside an earlier invitation to his predecessor, Sir Anthony Eden, to visit Moscow in May, left open the possibility of some future visit.

Moscow Radio broadcast the letters a day after Washington sources said Macmillan and President Eisenhower were working on plans for a meeting in Bermuda March 21.

McCarthy Speaks Out

CHICAGO—(AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) yesterday said that under a proposed treaty the United States could give away enough atom bomb material to "destroy every major city" in the United States.

McCarthy spoke before a rally of conservative Republican rank-and-file members sponsored by the Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club, an organization which has no official connection with the Republican party.

He said the proposed "atoms for peace" treaty would set up an international agency to distribute uranium 235. The agency, he added, would exchange know-how and atomic material to nations which lack them.

Alliance Ended

AMMAN, Jordan —(AP)—Britain and Jordan have drafted a joint communique fixing March 1 as the date for ending of their mutual defense alliance, Abdulrahman said today. Rimawi, Jordan's state minister for foreign affairs, said in an interview the hope is negotiations over the end of a British subsidy and cancellation of British base rights in Jordan will be completed by the end of February.

U. S. Reds Split

NEW YORK—(AP)—Top American Communists split sharply in the party's national convention today on what policy the party should follow—the Moscow line or a so-called "American Road."

Eugene Dennis, General Secretary of the party, said American Communists would make their own decisions based on their own interpretation of Marxism—despite misgivings expressed by French Communist leader Jacques Duclos.

But William Z. Foster, the party's national chairman, said Duclos was correct in warning against "revisionist tendencies."

McGuire Sweated Through That One; Close Game Bad On Heart

By BILL KING

A warning to people with weak hearts! When the Carolina Tar Heels came to town—move out. If the Tar Heels have many more games like the one last night in Woollen Gym, there's going to be a heart specialist boom in Chapel Hill, and the first patient is going to be the Carolina basketball chief Frank McGuire.

The personable Tar Heel coach walked into the dressing room following last night's fracas with Duke looking like a man who had just had the scare of his life. And rightly so. McGuire had just watched his Tar Heels squeeze out a 75-73 victory over the Duke Blue Devils in a game that sent blood pressures soaring. "I've passed the stage of worrying now," said McGuire, "I'm numb. It happened so fast I didn't know what had happened." He was referring to the last frantic moments of the game in which he saw his team lose a six point lead with less than a minute to play. Tommy Kearns, who probably missed more foul shots than he ever has, dropped in two from the charity line with 16 seconds remaining to clinch it for Carolina.

"Duke is a good ball club," he stated. "We can never seem to catch them on an off night. They were hot out there tonight."

McGuire went for his handkerchief to wipe the perspiration from his face. "This is the longest streak I've ever had and I hope it continues, but I don't want another one after this. It's too hard on the heart."

The smiling Irishman knew that his boys were pressing. "The pressure has really gotten to us," he continued. "If we went into the ACC Tourney like we were tonight we'd get beaten on the first night. The boys look like they need a good rest."

McGuire seemed happy to change the subject for a minute when he was told that his All-American forward Len Rosenbluth had bagged 35 points, he quipped "you know, I believe we're gonna miss Lennie next season."

HAPPENINGS ON THE HILL:

Three Pledge Dances Held

By MARY ALYS VOORHEES

Pink hearts and carnations formed the Valentine setting Friday evening in the Carolina Inn Ballroom for the Annual Chi Omega Pledge formal, at which time the 1856 pledge class was presented.

About the walls of the ballroom were large pink hearts with fluffy edges decorated with the Greek letters Chi and Omega. On the wall of the stage other pink hearts formed a background for Jim Crisp and his orchestra, which provided music for dancing.

Presentation of the 1856 pledge class came at 10:30 p.m. Led by pledge Class President Tog Sanders of Charlotte, who was escorted by Dick Taylor of Oxford, the class was introduced by Ray Jeffries, assistant to the dean of student affairs.

WHITE GOWN

Dressed in billowing white gowns and carrying nosegays of pink carnations on silver dolies and tied with pink ribbon, the pledges stepped through the entrance—which banked with spiral candelabra and greenery—to be presented.

Other pledge class officers to be introduced were Social Chairman Margaret Brunson of Albemarle with Jimmy Hill of Smithfield and Treasurer Jane Johnson of Spindale with Paul Carr of Hillsboro.

SERENADE

When each pledge and her escort had been presented the group formed the sorority's greek letters after which the actives serenaded them with the traditional Chi O song, "My One Chi O Girl."

Fruit punch was served in one corner of the room from the refreshment table which was decorated with silver candelabra holding pink tapers and flanking an arrangement of pink carnations. Prior to the dance a banquet was held at the Inn for the Chi Os and their dates.

Like the dance, the spotlight was also on presentations, although of a different nature.

The most outstanding pledge award was presented by Chi O President Josephine Ruffin to Katherine Coe of Washington, D.C. Scholarship Chairman Virginia Tilly presented the scholarship award to Sarah Hudson of Atlanta, Ga.

A pajama party at Hoenig's Cab-trage got the weekend going for the Kappa Psi's Friday night, but the main item on their pledge weekend program was the banquet and formal last night at the Carolina Inn.

After the banquet—which was attended by faculty, alumni, pledges, actives, dates and wives—the party moved to the Ballroom for dancing and the presentation of the 1956 pledge class.

MUSIC

Music for the occasion was provided by The Embers and featured the vocals of UNC coed Pee Wee Batten.

President Whit Moose of Mount Pleasant, escorting High Point College coed Dot Ridenhour, was the first to be introduced, followed by Secretary-Treasurer Joe Ferrell of Elizabeth City with Lu Ruth Sutton of Raleigh; Chaplain David Cooke of Hildenbrun with Nancy Stillwell of Hildebran; and Social Chairman Ronald Freeman with Betty Davis of WC.

As the names were called by Kappa Psi Social Chairman Bob Cromley, the pledges were presented a fraternity paddle and their dates were given a carnation corsage.

Among the guests at the dance were six Kappa Psi brothers from the chapter at Howard College of Pharmacy in Birmingham, Ala., who are visiting the UNC chapter for the weekend.

Rosy Hits 35 As Tar Heels Win Number 18

By LARRY CHEEK

Guard Tommy Kearns dropped in a pair of free throws with 16 seconds left here last night in Woollen Gym to give the highly favored Carolina Tar Heels a 75-73 victory over an inspired Duke University team that refused to roll over and play dead before the nation's top ranked basketball team.

The closing moments of the rough and tumble slugfest left some 5,500 highly partisan fans breathless. With less than a minute remaining, Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels were riding smoothly along with a 6-point lead, 73-67, but the Blue Devils struck for 3 baskets in 21 seconds to knot the count at 73 all with only 24 seconds left.

Carolina put the ball in play after Bob Vernon had tied the score, and Kearns was fouled by Duke guard Bobby Joe Harris with 16 seconds to go. The stubby Kearns, who had missed 5 in a row from the line up to that point, calmly sank the two big ones to give Carolina the win and keep them atop the Atlantic Coast Conference standings.

Duke brought the ball down the floor and missed a pair of shots at the basket in the final 16 seconds.

Lennie Rosenbluth rolled in 33 points to take high scoring honors for the Tar Heels. Kearns followed with 14 while Pete Brennan had 11. Bucky Allen topped Duke with 16.

Duke grabbed the lead on a Jim Newcome layup at the opening tipoff and held it till the 12:11 mark when Rosenbluth hit a three pointer to put the Tar Heels out front, 18-17. The two teams swapped baskets, then Brennan gave Carolina their biggest lead of the first half at 22-19. Then Duke dropped 6 straight free throws to take a 25-22 lead, and they never trailed in the opening stanza after that.

Duke led 28-27 with a little over 7 minutes to go, but a sudden scoring spurt ran the margin up to 37-29, their biggest lead of the night. Carolina trimmed it to 39-36, but a pair of Blue Devil free throws 2 seconds before halftime made the score 41-36 at intermission.

Rosenbluth and Brennan hit for 7 points at the start of the second half to knot the count at 43-43. Then with 14:18 remaining, Kearns converted a pair of free throws to put Carolina out in front for good, 49-47. The Tar Heels began to run up a comfortable margin, and with 7:50 to go, led by 11 points at 66-55.

Duke hacked slowly away but (See TAR HEELS, page 4)

Cossack Group Completing World Tour

The 1956-57 tour of the Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers, which brings them to Memorial Hall Tuesday at 8 p.m., completes a world-wide tour which has taken the Chorus to a total of 15 countries.

Now in the first month of their U. S. and Canada tour, the Russian troupe has been presented in more than 7,800 concerts, has appeared in movies, radio and television and has been featured in LP albums from three major recording companies.

The Don Cossack Chorus presents a program of music which is primarily Russian in origin, flavored with frequent renditions of original Cossack dances. Selections from Tchaikovsky, Gretchaninoff, Bortniansky, and Shvedoff are often chosen for their concert presentations.

In addition to Russian church music, folk song, and cavalry marching songs, the Don Cossack's feature a special interpretation of the origin and history of the Chorus itself, relating its part in the Russian Revolution, Civil War, and flight from their home country. Beginning their career as cavalry divisions for the Czars of Russia, the group was organized as a chorus in 1922 after their flight from the persecutions of the Revolution.

Sponsored by the Student Entertainment Committee, the Don Cossack concert will be free to students upon presentation of ID cards. A $1 admission is charged to student wives, with a $2 admission for others. Doors will open at 7 p.m.
