

Horn Blasts Budget-Makers For Cutting Book Request

By FRED POWLEDGE

The University's resigning head librarian Tuesday attacked the state's budget-makers for cutting requests for more books.

"If I had not already resigned from my position here I would do so today after reading the recommendations of the budget commission which were published this morning," said Andrew H. Horn.

Dr. Horn has resigned effective June for "personal reasons." Prime among the reasons was his health.

Dr. Horn said "I have failed in what I tried to do these past two years." He has been head librarian since the summer of 1954.

"I was really shocked," he told The Daily Tar Heel yesterday. "This puts us back to the book budget we had in 1953."

He pointed out that increased costs of running a library now make the recommended 1957-59 budget even less than a similar budget five years ago.

The state's budget for the fiscal year 1957-59 shows $250,000 was recommended for library books and journals by the state Advisory Budget Commission. The University had requested $330,000.

During the biennium 1955-57 the library got $250,000.

It requested $320,000.

During the biennium 1953-55 the library got $250,000 also. It requested $250,180 for books and journals.

Dr. Horn delivered part of his comment at a meeting of the Graduate History Club Tuesday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to counsel graduate students on job opportunities in the librarian field.

In an interview later, he said he was "really shocked" at the lack of increase for books and journals. "We're really going backwards," he said.

"I didn't think that (the Advisory Budget Commission) would ignore the recommendations of the State Board of Higher Education," Dr. Horn said. The higher education board last year funneled the University's budget requests, along with those of other institutions of higher learning, to the Advisory Budget Commission. In many cases the commission honored the board's requests.

"North Carolina has a very, very conservative budgeting procedure," Dr. Horn said.

On Jan. 11 it was revealed that Dr. Horn would resign his post here for "personal reasons." Since then it was learned that his health figured in his resignation. After leaving the University, he will direct the library at Occidental College in California.

University Approves Hiring Of New Union Director

Answer From Henry Hoped In Ten Days

The hiring of Howard Henry of the University of Wisconsin as permanent director of Graham Memorial was approved yesterday by the University Administration.

Henry was nominated for the position by the Graham Memorial Board of Directors last Thursday. He is being offered the job at a salary of $8,000 a year.

Henry has informed the board he will announce his decision within the next 10 days.

Dr. William Potest contacted Henry following last Thursday's board meeting, and offered him the position with the endorsement of Chancellor Robert House, Director of Student Activities, Samuel Magill, and William D. Pezy, chairman of the Division of Student Affairs.

Potest's offer stated, "I do not believe there is a more exciting place in America for someone to come in and build a new union program plant."

If Henry accepts the position, he will take over July 1. He is at present assistant director of Wisconsin Union at the University of Wisconsin.

Bob Young, student body president and chairman of the Graham Memorial Board of Directors, expressed gratitude yesterday to University officials responsible for the offer.

Young called the offer to Henry "a major step toward improving the future program and building facilities of a student union."

In a statement issued Tuesday, Young said, "For several years students and administration have worked on the problem of directorship of GM. We have all agreed that it is a most important area of student life."

"Now I feel that we have made a major step towards improving the future program and building facilities of a student union."

"Mr. Henry is most qualified to handle this position. With continued cooperation from the local administration, I feel that a man of his capabilities will bring the program of the student union to its proper level on our campus."

American Communists

NEW YORK — The American Communist Party yesterday declared its independence of Moscow.

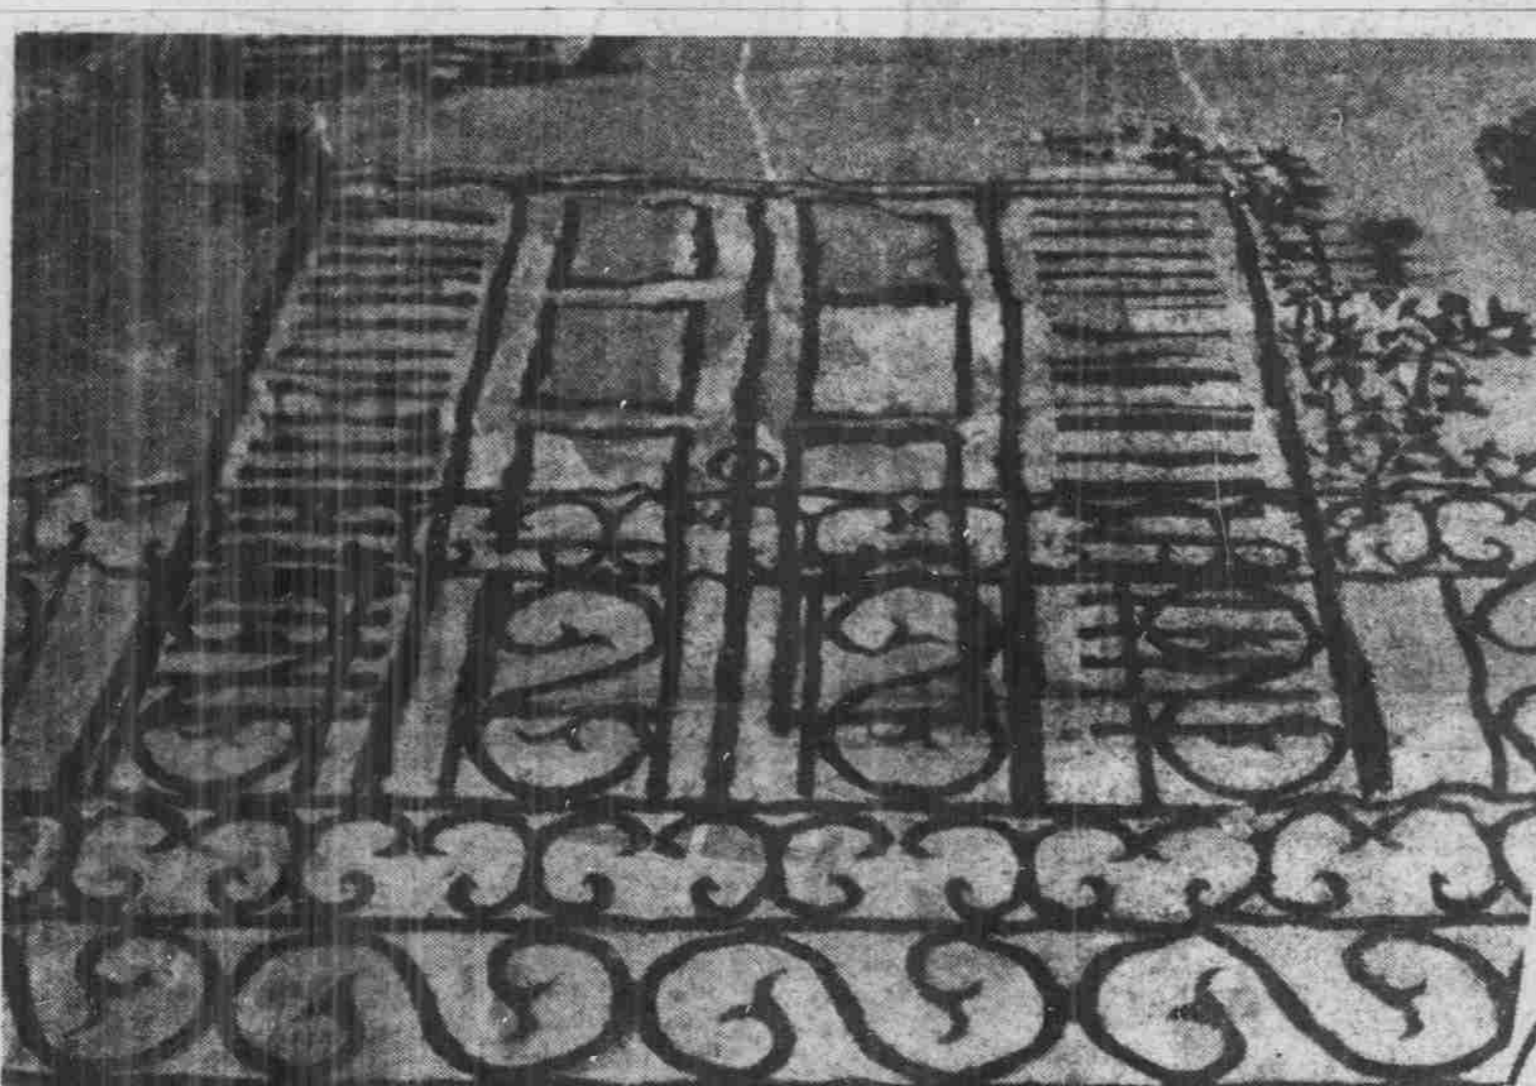

It voted overwhelmingly in the final session of a four-day convention to do its own interpreting of Marxist-Leninist principles.

Such action — following a Communist course along independent and national lines — is commonly called " Titoism," although the American Communists did not use that term.

UN Avoided War: Lodge

NEW YORK — Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations, said last night that if the United Nations had not existed when fighting broke out in the Middle East "we might very well be at war today."

Lodge, in a speech at a Lincoln Day dinner of the National Republican Club, said that in the Middle East "the effectiveness of the United Nations was again demonstrated in a crisis."

University Is Composite Of People, Cultures, As Shown By Statistics

By WALTER SCHRUNTEK

The University of North Carolina is a composite of people, buildings and traditions rolled up into a way of life.

The University is the administration, the faculty and the student. It is the people, the faces and personalities who come to Chapel Hill to join in a common undertaking.

It is a mixture of all these into a campus, many schools and colleges, a variety of departments and activities and a pride in belonging. University life is the education of mind over matter. It is meeting and knowing and getting along with many different people, attitudes and situations.

The University is a great melting pot. It brings together people from different sections and locales of the country and world. It is a potpourri of cultures, backgrounds and attitudes.

Currently, over 7,600 students are registered in the various branches and schools of the University. This number includes representatives from 43 of the 48 states (Kansas, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Vermont and Wyoming are excluded).

This figure further includes representation from 19 foreign countries and U. S. possessions. University rolls boast student delegates of good will from Austria, the Bahamas, Denmark, England, India, Switzerland and Taiwan to name a few.

There are over 1,400 veterans (male and female) who bring with them, in addition to their diverse backgrounds and training, the experiences and fruits of world travel in addition to a knowledge of foreign lands and customs.

These people—the future lawyers, businessmen, doctors, politicians, writers, educators, nurses, journalists, ministers and citizens of this country and the world—give life-blood to the numbers, to the buildings and to the traditions.

They give purpose to the administration, the faculty and the student. They add features to the faces and lend depth to the personalities. They are the University of North Carolina. They are the "Carolina Way of Life."

Dr. John Nelson Selected Main Speaker For Y Spring Meeting

Dr. John O. Nelson, professor of Christian vocation at Yale University Divinity School, has been selected as the main speaker for the YM-YWCA spring conference.

Scheduled for March 1-3, the conference will be held at Bricks, N. C. The Y conference is planned for Carolina students and will deal with the topic "Conscience, and Conformity," with emphasis on particular areas of concern on the campus.

In his work at the Yale Divinity School Dr. Nelson deals with the minister's calling as related to that of laymen. Serving also as field work director, he counsels 400 graduate students in training jobs during their seminary course.

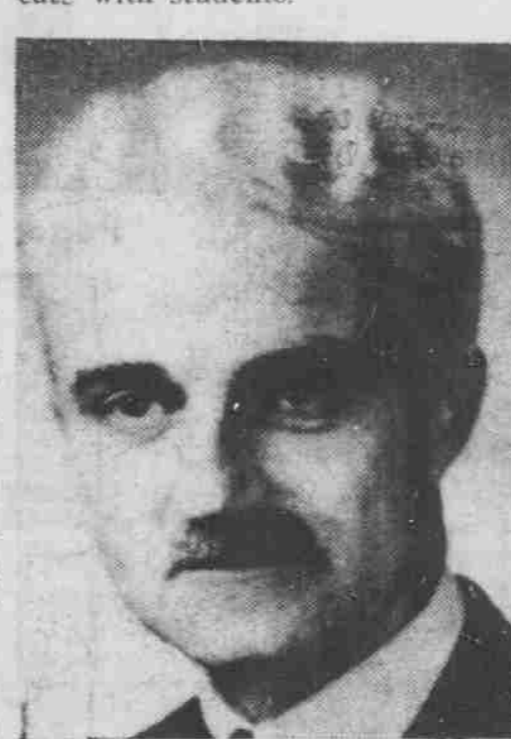

Dr. Nelson is now serving as chairman of Assn. Press (the publishing wing of the YMCA), chairman of the University Christian Mission (the student evangelism program of the National Council of Churches), and chairman of the Church Planning and Strategy Committee of the Connecticut Council of Churches.

A native of Pittsburg, Dr. Nelson graduated magna cum laude from Princeton University. His B. D. degree was from the University of Edinburgh in Scotland and McCormick Seminary in Chicago, followed by a Yale Ph.D. in philosophy of religion and later a Litt.D. from Westminster College in Pennsylvania.

During his career the Yale professor has led hundreds of conferences and gatherings dealing with the religious approach to vocation.

Conference co-chairmen Kathy Legrand and Bob Newton stated that the Y Conference Committee selected Dr. Nelson for his outstanding ability to communicate with students.

The General Assembly will be asked by UNC for self-liquidating funds for married students' housing, it was learned Tuesday.

No further requests for a new student union building will be made during the current legislature session.

Announcement came from Consolidated University President William C. Friday, William D. Carmichael, Consolidated University Vice President and finance officer, said an enabling act would be introduced during the session for construction of selfliquidating housing units both here and at State College in Raleigh.

The amount and number of units to be asked for have not yet been determined, Carmichael said.

The Advisory Budget Commission Monday turned down University requests of $1,740,000 for married students' housing and $1,242,000 for a new student union building.

For several hours Tuesday there appeared to be confusion in South Building as to whether legislation would be sought for new student union building funds.

It was thought Tuesday afternoon President Friday had said there would be a new request for a new building.

Approximately an hour later UNC Chancellor Robert B. House said he knew of "no move that way at this time. If we had a chance to open up anything at all," he said, "it would be on married students' housing."

Friday, having left by that time for an out-of-town trip, could not be reached then. Consolidated University Acting Vice President and Provost William M. Whyburn said he thought legislation would be sought for a new union building.

Friday was later reached and clarified the situation.

The requests for married students' housing received a boost several weeks ago when a heating plant fire in Victory Village caused severe damage from soot to 16 housing units.

Occupants of the units were forced to stay with friends in Victory Village and Chapel Hill until the heating unit boiler plant had been repaired. Some stayed in the Institute of Government Building quarters.

The fire was the fourth in Victory Village in the past three years. The Day Care Center caught fire twice, once last year and once two years ago. A small blaze broke out in a housing unit there last year on Mason Farm Road.

Several of the married students affected by the heating plant fire were indignant and demanded better conditions. It was reported a petition had been started, but no action was taken.

LATE PERMISSION

UNC coeds wishing to attend the Louis Armstrong concert in Raleigh tonight will have late permission until 12 midnight.

The announcement came yesterday from the Dean of Women's Office.

Griffin Says NAACP, Reds Are Aligned

ATLANTA — (AP) — Gov. Margin Griffin Tuesday charged an affiliation between the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and the Communist party and declared that many have known of it for a long time.

Any such connection was vigorously denied by Roy Wilkins, NAACP president. He declared that his organization had never sought or received any assistance from communists and rejects any such suggestion.

In Greensboro Tuesday the executive committee of the local NAACP chapter sent a telegram to the Communist party Daily Worker saying that rather than have "any rotten Red infiltrate to join forces with the NAACP," the Greensboro chapter of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People "would rather give up the fight on integration."

Hallford For Accord In Dorms

By PRINGLE PIPKIN

Close cooperation between the dormitory advisors and managers with the dorm officials was urged at a meeting of these groups Tuesday by Sonny Hallford, president of the Interdormitory Council.

Ray Jefferies, assistant to the dean of student affairs, said while dormitory advisors are not proctors, they are supposed to help student officials quell any disturbances.

Hallford said students in the dorms would have to take more responsibility in enforcing quiet hours and preventing destruction of property. He said many students felt matters of discipline were the sole responsibility of the dorm officials.

The IDC president said it is "not Young's responsibility to break up panty raids." He asked that dormitory officials try to stop the raids from forming.

Hallford went on to say, "the IDC Court is definitely improved over last year, but there is still room for more improvement."

So far the court has tried no firecracker cases, although two are coming before it. Last year students convicted of shooting firecrackers were expelled from all dorms.

In order to aid the dorm officials to maintain quiet IDC Vice President Neil Bass recommended each dorm floor have a counselor. On the question of commercial

Y Leadership Program Starts Here Thursday

The YWCA Leadership and Orientation Program will be initiated Thursday, at 4 p.m. in the Library Assembly Room.

Miss Nola Hatten will be in charge of the first program which will feature the presentation of "Family Tree," an original skit written specifically for the program.

The purpose of the program is to acquaint all girls with the structure, purpose, characteristics and duties of the YWCA so that they can become an integral part of the organization through committee work, and chairmanship, according to Y officials.
