

Mollet Thinks U. S., France Will Cooperate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—French Premier Guy Mollet said today he is "quite confident," on the basis of talks with President Eisenhower, that France and the United States will re-establish cooperation in their Middle East policies.

He made the comment while answering questions after a national press club speech in which he declared that Israel is entitled to guarantees for its borders and for free navigation in the gulf of Aqaba.

Dr. Anderson Receives Grant

Dr. Carl E. Anderson of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine has been granted $15,400.

The grant came from the Life Insurance Medical Research Fund of New York.

Dr. Anderson, associate professor of the Department of Biological Chemistry and Nutrition, will use the money for further support of research on the chemistry of metabolism of acetal phosphates.

The grant will cover a two-year period beginning in July of this year.

Nancy, Metz, and Rouens.

Prof. Wiley Will Begin Study In Paris, Europe

Kenan Prof. W. Lee Wiley will next week begin a seven-month study in Paris and other parts of Europe on "Beginnings of the French Theater."

On leave from UNC under a grant from the Institute for Research in Social Science, Prof. and Mrs. Wiley are now aboard the liner, "United States," and will make their headquarters in Paris.

Dr. Wiley will publish the results of his research of the early period of the French theater, from 1580 to 1630.

His work will take him to the scenes of the original French theater movement, in Strasbourg,

Prior to 1580, the French Government and the Catholic Church discouraged growth of the theater. Catherine de Medici was especially effective in opposing dramatics which featured tragedy in connection with kings. She had a superstition that the death of kings in a play forecast the fall of dynasties.

It was not in Paris, but in the northern provinces of France that the French theater had its first beginnings.

Later, Louis XIV and Cardinal Richelieu favored the theater's growth, and Paris became the center of drama.

Richelieu's view was that "it's better to go to the theater than to engage in dueling and brawls." He felt that the misdirected energies of members of the nobility in brawling and dueling could be channeled into the relatively harmless and beneficial influences of the drama.

'Brigadoon' Cast Has Over Sixty

A cast of more than sixty will perform in the Carolina Playmakers' production tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday of "Brigadoon," at Memorial Hall.

The UNC drama group, directed by Foster Fitz-Simons and Wilton Mason, who teach in the Dept. of Dramatic Art and Music, respectively, will present the full-scale musical supported by an orchestra of local musicians.

Choreography for the dances is being devised by Mrs. Yvonne Parker, who has studied with Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey and Jose Limon, and who was a dance instructor-performer in New England for several years.

Appearing in major roles are Mrs. Adele Lippert, Cincinnati, O.; David Small, Morehead City; James Heldman, Durham; Miss Hope Sparger, Seaside, N. Y.; John Sneden, Tenafly, N. J.; Miss Blynn Durning, Louisville, Ky.; and Gene Strassler, Apollo, Pa.

Others in the cast are Harvey Knox, Greensboro; Miss Louise Fletcher, Birmingham, Ala.; Vinson McNeill, Chapel Hill; Peter B. O'Sullivan, Valhalla, N. Y.; Mrs. Yvonne Parker, New York, N. Y.; Dick Newdick, Augusta, Me.; and Morgan Jackson, Charlotte.

uninspired," he cautioned against excessive timidity and conformity, toleration of the mediocre and inadequate support for the University in its task of "acquiring and extending knowledge to all mankind."

Jim Monteith, in his inauguration address, lamented the passed glory of the University's two debating societies and called upon them to "find their new academic constellation."

"The two debating societies cannot remake the world," he said, "our new place is to teach the students in this university self-expression."

Asking that the societies look to the future rather than the past, he stated that "we must never prostrate ourselves on the altar of tradition. The future is within ourselves."

Installed at the meeting were President Monteith, President Pro-tem John Brooks, Treasurer Jim Tolbert, and Sergeant at Arms Don Jacobs.

National Prexy Here To Speak

Pi Sigma Alpha will present Dr. E. E. Schattschneider, President of the American Political Science Assn., tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the Library Assembly Room.

Dr. Schattschneider, of Wesleyan University, will speak on "The New Politics." His sponsor, Pi Sigma Alpha, is a national political science honorary fraternity.

Dr. Schattschneider is one of the foremost authorities on the American political party system. His topic, "The New Politics" comes from his recent studies in the American political party system.

He will discuss the forces at work in the system and the changes that have already occurred to make the American political system markedly different.
