Dr. Cromartie Gets $94,000 Grant

The National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases of the U. S. Public Health Service has granted $94,010 to Dr. William J. Cromartie of the UNC School of Medicine.

The money will be used for a five-year study of bacterial infections of the kidney.

Specific objectives of the proposed studies are the development of precise methods of diagnosing chronic infections of the kidney, determining the relative importance of such infections as a cause of kidney failure and high blood pressure, and determination of the best methods of treating chronic infections of the kidney.

Infections of the kidney are very common, being probably second only to those of the nose and throat in frequency of occurrence. There is reason to believe that they are a cause of certain types of hypertension. Despite the fact that they occur so commonly, completely satisfactory methods of a diagnosis and treatment have not been devised.

The funds granted will be utilized in an effort to develop more effective methods of diagnosing and treating these common infections. Dr. Cromartie is a native of Gar-

news in brief

Mollet Wins Vote

PARIS —(AP)— Premier Guy Mollet won a 221-188 vote of confidence early today in the National Assembly.

The 33-vote majority was higher than the government had expected.

Mollet pleaded before the vote that deputies cast ballots and not abstain on the policies of his 14-month government, which has set a record for longevity in post-war France.

The record was made while Mollet was in Washington last month conferring with President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles. The confidence vote, 33rd in the government's term of office, was the first since his return from Washington.

It followed a two-week debate on the government's general policies, including its dealings in rebellious Algeria.

Suez Crisis

PORT SAID, Egypt — (AP) — The Suez Canal will be opened tomorrow to ships up to 11,000 tons, a spokesman for the Egyptian Canal Authority announced tonight.

He said this meant that vessels of 28½ feet draught and maximum width of 65 feet would be allowed to enter either end of the canal after 5 a. m. local time.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States counseled American ships today to steer clear of the Suez Canal.

This advice, given by the State Department to a shipowners committee, had the appearance of attempted pressure on Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser. It came as the United States and other western users of the canal girded for long range negotiations with Nasser on its future operation.

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector — (AP) — Israel tonight claimed Egyptian Military Police have moved into the Gaza Strip. It said this was "in strictest contrast to assurances given before the Israeli withdrawal."

A government official said the claim was based on reliable information reaching Israel.

Famous Men Die

DUBLIN, Ireland — (AP) — Jack Butler Yeats, the Irish painter, died today in a Dublin nursing home.

Born in Sligo almost 90 years ago, Yeats was regarded as the greatest Irish painter of this generation.

He was a brother of the late William Butler Yeats, poet and writer.

ROSLYN, — (AP) — Author Christopher Morley, 67, died today at his home here after a long illness. Morley was a fertile writer of verse, short stories, plays, essays, novels and children's books for more than 30 years.

He had been ill about five years and suffered a series of minor strokes. He died with members of his family by his side.

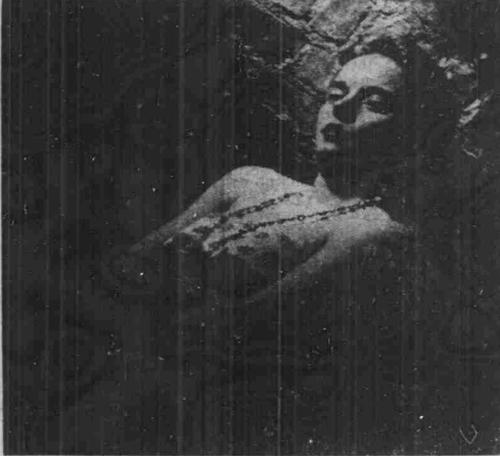

His first formal literary effort to be published was a book of verse, "The Eighth Sin," in 1912. From then on he produced one or more works almost every single year into the 1950's.

One of the best known of his recent works was his 1939 novel, "Kitty Foyle."

Russia Threatens

OSLO, Norway — (AP) — Soviet Russia's new war of nerves against Scandinavia is backed by strong forces close to Norway's Arctic border, Norwegian sources said today.

The informants, who are authoritative but will not permit use of their names, said Russia's far north army buildup is strongly backed by heavy industrial development, railroads reaching almost to the frontier, modern air forces and naval forces.

BY STRINGER SYSTEM:

Sloan Restates System For Better Dorm News

Charlie Sloan, candidate for editorship of The Daily Tar Heel, has restated his outline for a plan for better news coverage of students' living quarters.

"This coverage," he said, "can be given by establishing the 'stringer system' I proposed to the Interdormitory Council last week."

He would not attempt to set up the plan right away, but would start with the men's dorms and add the other living quarters gradually, he said.

"I have no intention of putting the men's dorms above the other areas just because they represent the most votes," emphasized Sloan. He said he has planned the program this way because the men's dorms have always been the weakest spot in Daily Tar Heel coverage.

"Fraternities and sororities have gotten consistently more publicity in the past because their very existence depends on their being well known," he explained.

Sloan pointed out that by coincidence most of the undergraduate women's dorms already have representatives on the paper. He complimented these girls on the job they have done in reporting news of interest happening in their dorms.

One reporter can't possibly cover the remaining area, the men's dorms, Sloan said.

He added that the only way a dorm can be adequately covered is by a resident. "Under my plan this can be done—without adding to the number of full time staffers," he added.

Commenting on the current campus issues Sloan said: "I am in favor of many improvements around the University." He cited such examples as housing for married students, solution of the parking problem, lower prices in Chapel Hill and better working conditions in Lenoir Hall.

"Everybody is in favor of the same things," he observed. Sloan said if he is elected editor he will do everything in his power to carry them out.

"I have proposed a plan I want to see carried out. But I want to be elected editor not just to carry out this plan, but to work constantly toward the improvement of The Daily Tar Heel and the University."

Evans Endorsed By Young For Office Of President

Baum, Evans Bass, Sloan Head Election

Bill Baum, Sonny Evans, Neil Bass, and Charlie Sloan will head the campus slate in the spring elections next Tuesday.

Baum, University Party, and Evans, Student Party, are candidates for student body president.

Bass and Sloan are editorial candidates for The Daily Tar Heel.

Other student body office nominees are Benny Thomas (UP) and Don Furtado (SP) for vice president; Dot Pressly (UP) and Betty Huffman (SP) for secretary; Bob Carter (SP) and Jerry Jones (UP) for treasurer.

Student Body President Bob Young Thursday endorsed Sonny Evans in the coming election for student body president.

Young pointed out that Evans has been vice-president of the student body for the past year and has become most familiar with the problems presently confronting all areas of the campus.

"He has seen how the office of the president could and should be run, and he has observed the shortcomings of this year," stated the president.

KNOWS BOTH

In continuing his reasons for supporting Evans for the president's position Young said he has observed and known both of the persons running for the office. "In their freshman year, both were very active in the Student Party. Baum (University Party nominee Bill Baum) was in the student legislature and Evans was elected president of the freshman class.

"The following year, Baum removed himself from the campus politics and Evans won a seat on the Mens Honor Council. This academic year, Evans served as vice-president of the student body (speaker of the student legislature) while Baum has served the student legislature for the University party, the president said.

DIVERSE
"Thus, Evans has gained a diverse and wide perspective of student government while serving in the judicial, legislative and executive branches," said Young.

Young went on to say that Evans knows how much work has been done on the various problems, fraternity court, book exchange prices, student union plans, married students housing, parking and traffic, student-administration-faculty relations and the honor system.

In making his point on the above statements, Young said, "He will be prepared to step in immediately after the election, without wasting several weeks becoming oriented to the position, problems and the potential accomplishments."

PERSONAL OPINION
Young made it clear that he was expressing his personal opinion only, but that he felt Evans would and is more qualified to handle the work of the office.

"I feel that it will be for the best interests of the entire student body and the best interests for the future of student government, if Sonny Evans is elected," concluded Young.

One sophomore seat is open for Men's Honor Council. Candidates are Walker Lockette (Selections Board), Jack Spain (Selections Board), and Pringle Pipkin.

Women's Honor Council candidates are Misses Cynthia Seagraves, Punkin Coe, Nancy Davis, Hannah Kirby, Pat Dillon, Andrea Stalvey, and Deborah Sink. All have been approved by the Selections Board.

Color TV, New Clerk Highlight Legislature

Color T.V. for G.M., contention over a cravat, and the selection of a new clerk for the body to replace retiring Kathy LeGrande highlighted the student legislature's 11th meeting of the semester.

The meeting was opened with an ovation to the clerk for successful reading of the minutes.

Bills urging the Board of Directors of the Graham Memorial to install color television in the G.M.'s main lounge, establishing of a permanent eleven member foreign exchange student committee, and appropriating $100 to the Carolina Coffee Shop comprised the legislative action for the evening.

Strong backing was given the television bill by Rep. Clem Shankle, who appeared before the body most oddly attired, garbed as a walking advertisement for his cause. His vari-colored costume was the basis for further action by the body as Sonny Hallford placed before it a bill calling for the removal of Shankle's red tie, which Hallford maintained clashed abominably with Shankle's plaid shirt and blue hat. Shankle, by pointing out that the tie was a prized possession of Student Body President Young, and that Hallford's motion was a manifestation of creeping conformity, managed to hold on to his neckpiece by a decisive vote.

Legislators nominated for the office of legislative clerk were Kitty Corr, Paul Leroy Whitfield, Libby Strong, Julie Ann Crater, and Jennie Margaret Meador. Miss Strong was disqualified when it was pointed out to Bill Reading, acting president of campaigning Sonny Evans, that she was not a member of the legislature. Miss Meador, SP nominee for senior class secretary, was the eventual winner of the office.

Women's Files Are Missing

Women's orientation files for 1956 have been removed from their cabinet in the Women's Residence Council Room, it was announced by the council Thursday.

The files were open during the period from Feb. 11-22 for girls interested in trying out for orientation chairman. The council announcement yesterday said the 1956 files, consisting of 7 to 10 manila folders, were probably borrowed during that time and not returned.

Planning for 1957 orientation cannot begin until these files are located, the council said, urging anyone knowing about the files to contact the Dean of Womens Office or Peggy Funk at the Chi Omega house.

Artist's Views Are 'Nonsense' Says Professor

By WALT SCHRUNTEK

In a word, Dr. Eugene Merzbacher, of the UNC Physics Dept., summed up free-lance, self-styled physicist William Ballenger's views yesterday as "nonsense."

Dr. Merzbacher categorically denied the various points introduced by Ballenger in a Daily Tar Heel article Wednesday as "misinformed" and added that such misconceptions are far from unique.

"We receive things like this in the mails every day," he said. The physicist reviewed several instances in connection with the Physics Colloquium on "Gravitation" held here recently and indicated that almost all were completely groundless.

According to Ballenger's statements, the proposed satellite program which the government is working on now won't work because it subscribes to an "error" in Isaac Newton's description of gravity as a natural force.

Dr. Merzbacher smiled at this concept and indicated his disapproval with a negative nod of his head. He followed his previous example several times as he reread Ballenger's views in the article.

"If this story accurately represents his (Ballenger's) views, then I must disagree," the physicist said. Ballenger has indicated to The Daily Tar Heel that his ideas were aptly expressed in the Wednesday article.

"There is one point to which I would subscribe, however," Dr. Merzbacher added smiling. "Girls do attract boys and vice versa. There's no discounting that."

CU Day Plans
Woman's College in Greensboro has formulated plans for an open house and dance on Consolidated University Day, April 6, according to Jim Kimzey, chairman of the Consolidated University Student Council.

Men from Carolina and State have been invited to attend an open house in dorms at Woman's College from 7:30-8:30 p.m. April 6. A dance will follow the open house at 8:30 in Elliott Hall. The dance will be informal and last until midnight.

Kimzey urged all interested men to make plans to attend the open house and dance at W.C.

No Statements After Sunday

No political statements will be published in The Daily Tar Heel after the Sunday morning edition, Managing Editor Clarke Jones said Thursday.

Jones said it would not be fair for one candidate to have a statement printed after this date. His opponent would not have a chance to reply as the election is Tuesday. The paper does not put out a Monday issue.

He also urged all campus organizations who have news articles to have them in by at least 4:30 p.m.

Form Deadline For Orientation Is April 9

Students who are interested in becoming a counselor in the 1957 Orientation program must submit an application form to the YMCA or Graham Memorial by April 9.

Orientation Chairman Jerry Oppenheimer made the announcement earlier this week.

All applicants will be given a test on the material contained in the 1956 manual at 7:30 p.m. on that date in Carroll Hall. The manuals have been placed in the Wilson Library, Graham Memorial and the YMCA, he said.

Director of Student Activities Sam Magill said Thursday he hoped "every segment of the student community will respond" to the announcement.

"It will be an unforgettable experience for those who participate," he said.

Magill said "For many generations the University has looked to devoted and onselfish leadership for assistance in the initiation of new students into University life. This year," he said, "the University again looks to students for this leadership."

Personal interviews will begin April 23. The test score and the result of the interviews will be the most important factors considered in the final selection, said Oppenheimer.
