Men in the know
know true from false

Men who earn their way through college earn the most money afterward.

TRUE FALSE

False. Statistics prove that men who earn nothing in college are more likely to enter the better-pay occupations.

Proportionately, there are more small-town men at college than city men.

TRUE FALSE

True. Although only 24% of our population grew up in towns of 25,000 or under, this group produces 44% of all college men.

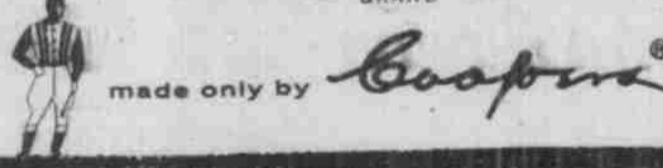

Coopers, maker of Jockey brand underwear, try to make you forget their products.

TRUE FALSE

True. Jockey brand undergarments are famous for comfort. This trim fit with no bind or chafe literally makes you forget you have them on... they're designed to make you comfortably forget them.

HILL HAPPENINGS:

Gangsters, Shipwreck And Informal Parties

By SUE ATCHISON

THE "GANGSTERS" AND "GUN MOLLS" seen on campus last night were the Phi Kappa Sigmas and their dates on their way to the gangster party at the Phi Kappa house. A combo was on hand to add to the atmosphere of the underworld motif.

THE LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE was the scene of the Kappa Sigma's Bermuda party Friday night. The "Tops" were on hand to provide the music for the evening.

Yesterday afternoon following the concert they entertained with an informal cocktail party and buffet supper. Later in the evening they attended the Germans dance.

THE PHI DELTA'S got into the spirit of the weekend with a party Friday night at their house, another party at their house yesterday. Today they are going to bring the weekend to a close with another party at Hogan's.

"A SHIPWRECK" was the theme of the Phi Gamma's party Friday night. Last night, however, the informal style was reversed and everybody went "formal" to Germans. THIS HAS BEEN PROVINCE Convention weekend for the Kappa Psi's. Representatives of chapters from Wash., D. C., West Va., Va., S. C., and Ga. have been meeting here this weekend to discuss fraternity business, but have managed to find a few free minutes for informal parties.

AN INFORMAL PARTY complete with combo was held at the Beta house Friday night. Yesterday they continued to celebrate with a cocktail party, and the "Quarter Notes" were on hand to provide music for those who wanted to dance. Today they will conclude the weekend with an informal party.

THE CASTLE IN DURHAM was the scene of the Chi Psi's dinner party Friday night. Last night after Germans they had a combo at the lodge to provide the music for their party.

LAST MONDAY THE TEP'S had a party and a double celebration. The party was in honor of the initiation of the pledges and the election of Sonny Evans as president of the student body.

Covering The Campus

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club will meet today at 6:30 p.m. in the new Catholic Chapel on Gimgoul Road. There will be a buffet speaker. All members and Catholic students have been urged and invited to attend.

WESTMINSTER FELLOWSHIP

A series of small Bible study groups will discuss the Resurrection at the Westminster Fellowship at 6 p.m. tonight. The study will be led by Mr. Bacon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here. Supper will be served at 6 p.m. and all interested persons have been invited to attend.

WESTINGHOUSE AWARD

Lester Eugene Waters, an accounting major in the School of Business Administration, has been awarded the Westinghouse Achievement Scholarship for 1957. Dean Maurice Lee announced the awarding of the $500 grant to Waters, who has the highest cumulative average for juniors enrolled in the Business School.

Music Program Tomorrow Night

The second program in the Hill-el Foundation's fifth annual festival of Jewish music, scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow night and Tuesday night, is entitled "Jewish Themes by Jewish Composers."

In commenting on this program, Rabbi Efraim Rosenzweig, director of the Hillel Foundation, stated: "There are of course some interesting questions involved in a program of this sort. What is a Jewish theme? Does a composition on a Jewish theme, by a Jewish composer, constitute Jewish music?"

The program will be presented over the University's FM radio station, WUNC, at 8 p.m. both nights. Joel Fleishman, UNC graduate student in law, has made the selections and arranged the annotations for both parts of the programs. Mrs. Marian Rosenzweig will be narrator, according to an announcement.

Literature
And Old Gold

For obvious reasons, your old book-seller would be the last to claim that clothes make the man, nor for all its plumage does he prefer the song of the toucan to that of the plain old mockingbird.

Nevertheless he has a sneaking sympathy for those collectors who like their chosen authors in handsome bindings. There's something about the gleam of gold on old leather that is warming to the heart.

The old book collector, unlike the bird-watcher, can have music and plumage, too. For example, as we write, there is a very handsome volume of Longfellow, gold and leather, and priced at just $2.50. A beautiful leather-bound copy of Roger's The Scottish Minstrel is in a shelf near-by, and the price tag is $6.00.

Old books are here today and gone tomorrow—and you can't order more. Tomorrow these particular books may be discovered by some lucky collector. But tomorrow—ah, tomorrow treasurers undreamed-of may appear!

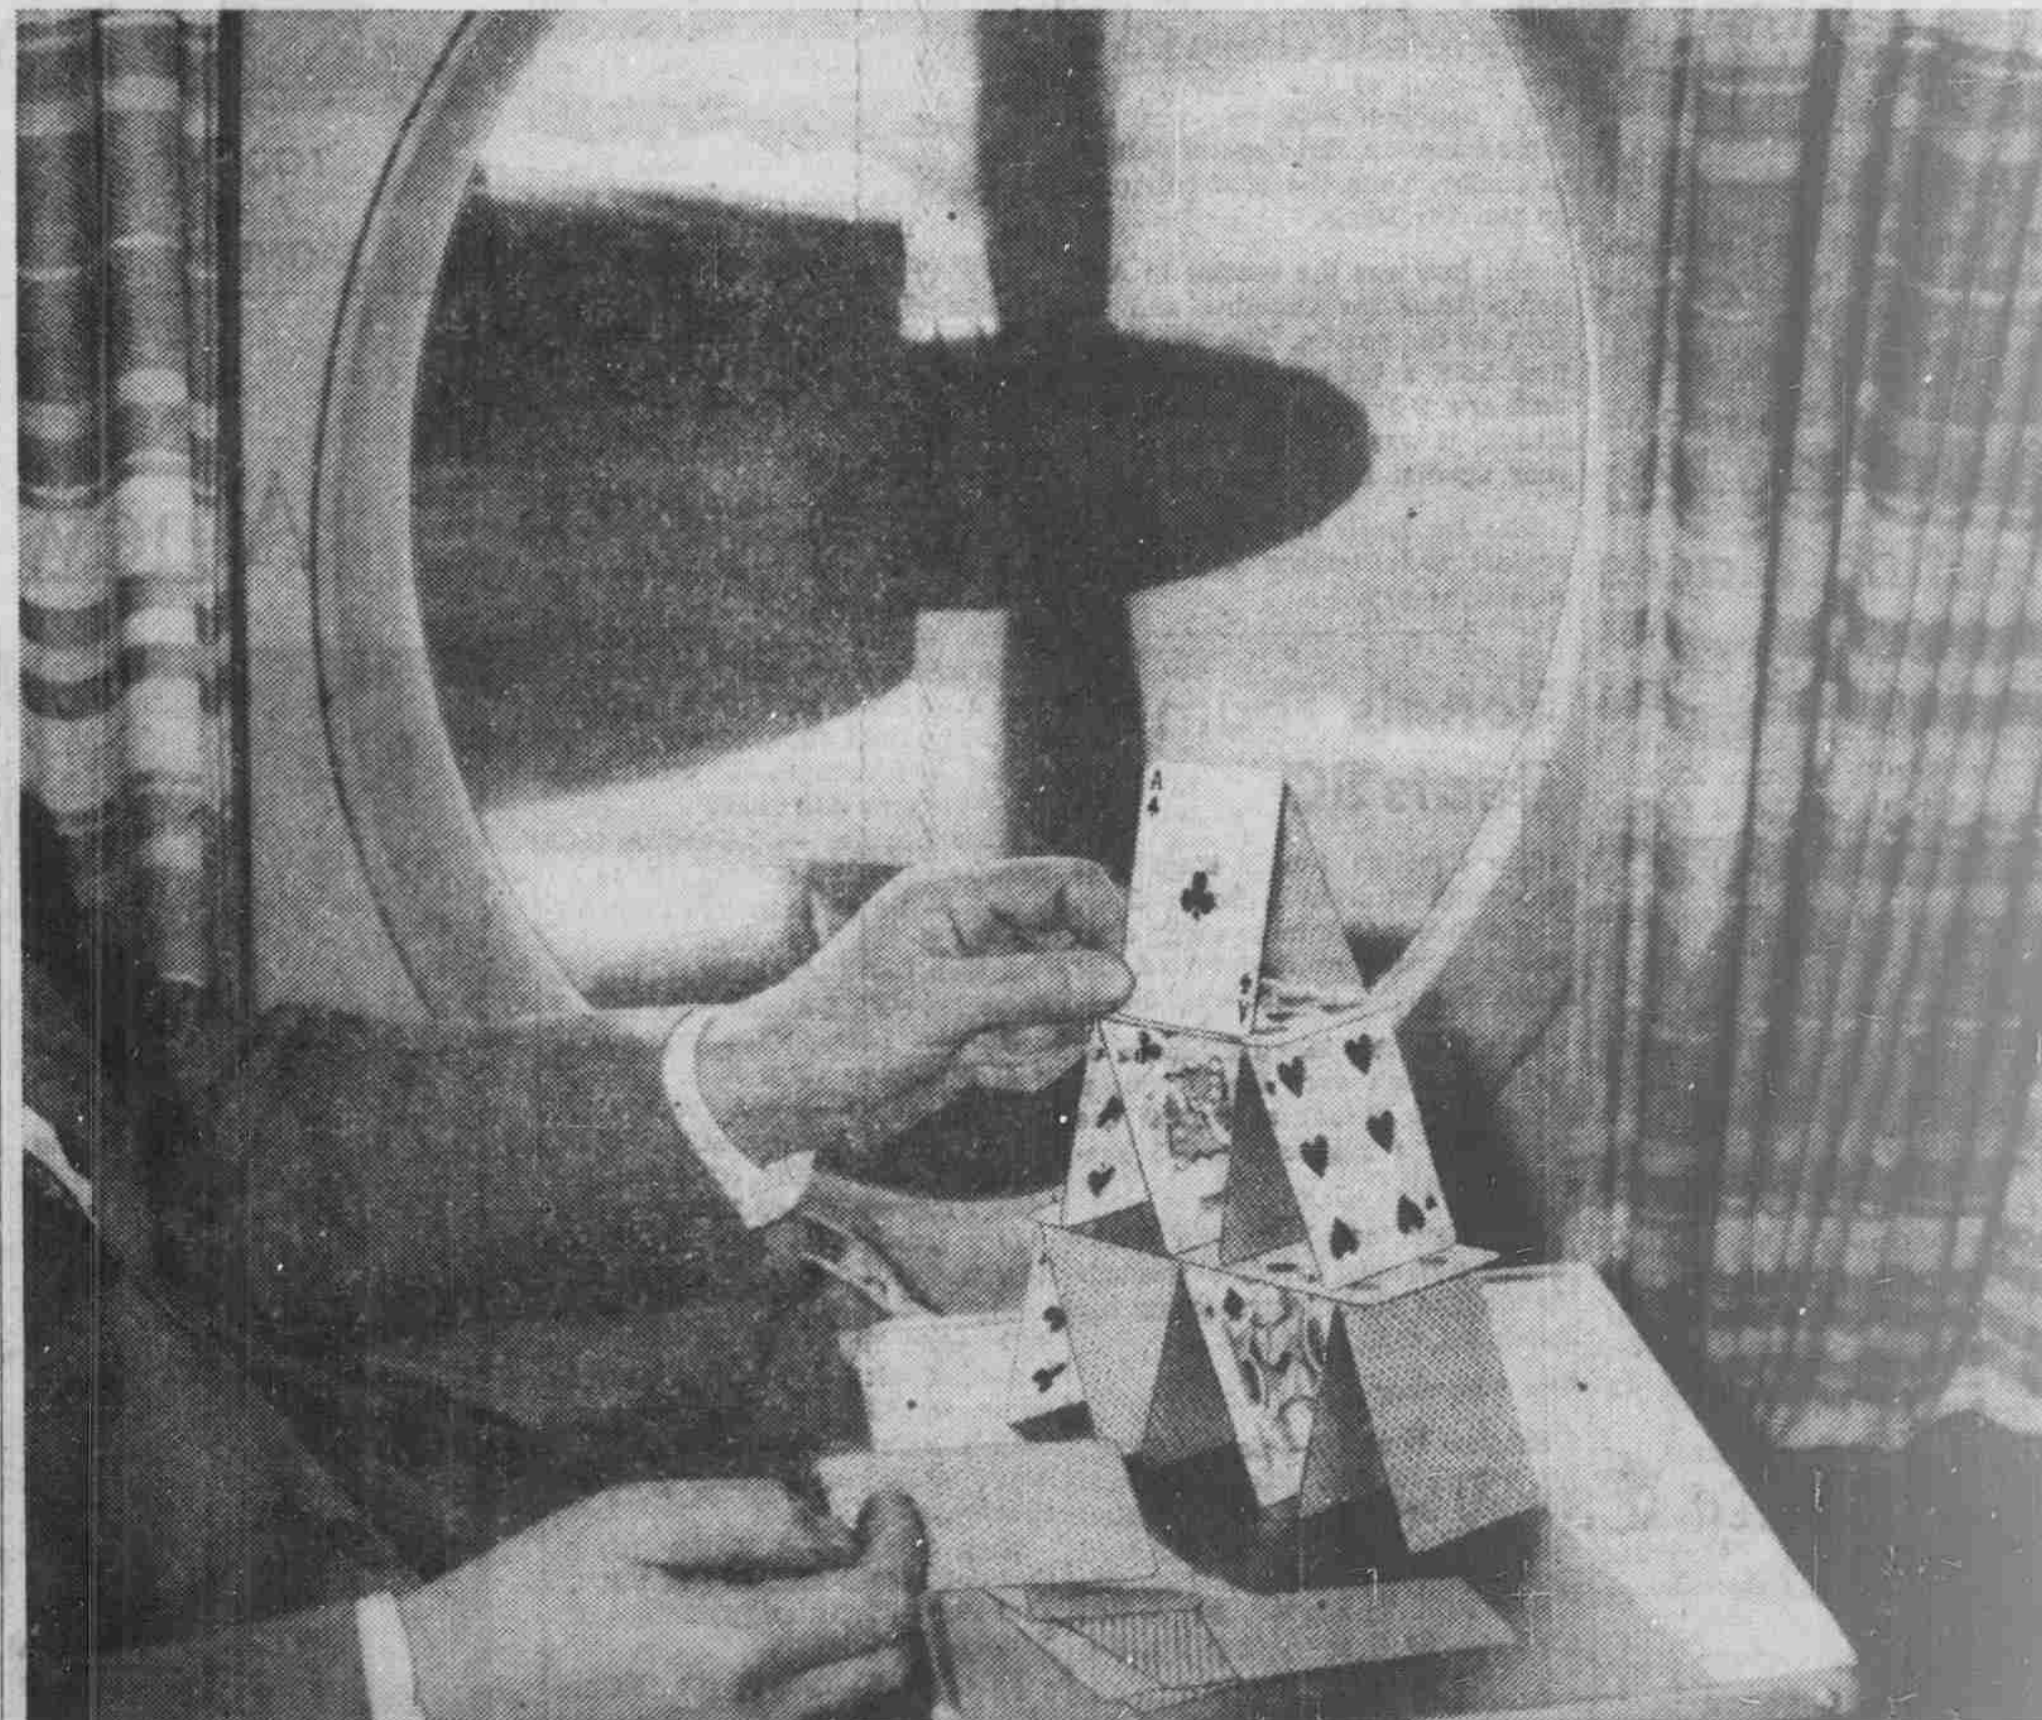

Keep your eye on the Old Book corner, pal. Don't miss your particular prize!
