Nancy Jo Rush Named Sigma Chi Sweetheart

Nancy Jo Rush has been hearing the Sigma Chi's famous sweetheart song most of her life, but now she knows the true meaning of the tune.

Last Saturday night this blue-eyed blonde Tri Delt was crowned "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" by the newly-elected Alpha Tau chapter president, Van Woltz of Greensboro.

A junior psychology major from Longmeadow, Mass., Nancy Jo was crowned at the sweetheart banquet held in Greensboro at the Starmount Forest Country Club.

Other members of the sweetheart court include Ina Gee Ridley of Courtland, Va., Marianna Miller of Pineville, Peggy Swar-ingen of Salisbury, Daryl Farrington of Short Hills, N. J.

Lucinda Holderness of Greensboro, Gail Willingham of St. Petersburg, Fla., Anne Shelley of Louisville, Ky., Hannah Kirby of Louisville, Ky. and Carol Campbell of Raleigh.

Linda Chappel of Charlotte, Nancy Davis of Mooresville, Ginny Dawson of Stantonsburg, Mary Lou Brinkerhoff of Louisville, Ky. and Sara Williamson of Darlington, S. C.

The banquet and party which followed were held in conjunction with the Sigma Chi sweetheart weekend in Greensboro. The event was concluded Sunday after a picnic held at one of the brother's cabin.

UNC Extends Welcome Of Campus To Visiting Parents

By WALT SCHRUNK

Parents, Welcome! Today, the University of North Carolina Faculty, Administration and students join in extending you their welcome and the use of Carolina's facilities for this Seventh Annual Parents Day.

A slate of special events and activities has been scheduled for you in the hopes of making your stay here today an enjoyable one in addition to affording you a worthwhile insight into UNC life and tradition.

The sights, landmarks and traditional features on the Carolina campus should be pointed out to all visitors as not only vital aspects of Carolina lore, but significant indications of the history and function of the University.

Outstanding among the features to be noted and pointed out to campus guests include Morehead Planetarium, which houses four exhibit rooms in addition to the projection room. North of the Planetarium the world's largest sundial, a gift of philanthropist John Motley Morehead can be seen.

A stroll along a red-brick walk leading from the Planetarium toward South Building will more than likely lead the wandering visitor to the Old Well, a campus trademark and tradition which actually defies the definition of tradition.

It is one of those landmark features which has no particular history — a feature which nevertheless has an important and prominent place in Carolina lore.

A look east, across the azalea beds surrounding the Old Well, will place the eye on a red-brick, ivy-covered building that is Old East Dormitory. Built in 1793, Old East is the oldest dorm building in America.

Another building steeped in history, and next to Old East in years is Person Hall, now used as an art gallery. The gallery will be open today for guests who want to retire for a few moments of quiet contemplation.

Visitors to the campus should be directed to Kenan Stadium, one of the truly picturesque amphitheaters in the country. Set comfortably in the brush-filled hills and surrounded on three sides by tall pines, Kenan Stadium establishes the quiet, serene beauty of postcard quality, which usually follows most visitors who have observed the scene.

Du Pont Scholarships

W. Huffaker Jr., from Charlotte, and Weldon G. Corbett, from Spring Hope have been selected by the Graduate Committee on Scholarships in the School of Education here to receive 1957-58 Du Pont scholarships. Dean Arnold Perry announced yesterday.

The scholarships pay $1,200 each plus all tuition and fees and are donated by the Du Pont Co. to further the teaching of mathematics and science in the high schools. It is limited to teachers and those planning to teach in the field.

According to Dean Perry yesterday, the scholarship committee considered several dozen applicants for National Science Foundation awards before choosing the two winners.

A primary purpose of the scholarship, Dean Perry said, was to attract outstanding men into the field and to further the training of those already in it in science and/or mathematics.

Huffaker is a graduate of Davidson College and is currently serving with the U. S. Army in Europe. Upon discharge, he will (See DU PONT, Page 3)

Kershaw At Luncheon

The Rev. A. L. Kershaw, well-known theologian and expert on jazz, will speak at a luncheon tomorrow at 1 p.m. upstairs in Lenoir Hall.

The Rev. Kershaw's subject will be "Alone in the Crowd," a subject about which he has written a well-known booklet. The booklet discusses human loneliness and insecurity and how it is transformed in the Christian community.

The public is invited to bring their lunches upstairs from the cafeteria for Kershaw's talk and discussion.

Kershaw, renowned as a $32,000 winner on the $64,000 Question quiz show, is considered by many to be the spokesman for new frontiers in the student Christian movement.

German Scholarship Awarded Dave Davis

Supreme Court Admits Former UNC Director

Two North Carolina men have been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States, according to an announcement from Washington yesterday.

Named to practice before the nation's highest tribunal were North Carolina Attorney General George B. Patton and Assistant Attorney General Robert E. Giles.

The two men were presented to the high court yesterday by one of its best known critics, Sen. Sam Irvin (D-NC).

Giles, a resident of Chapel Hill, was formerly director of the Institute of Government here. Patton is a former resident of Franklin.

Award Entitles Winner Year's Study Abroad

By EDITH MacKINNON

Dave Davis, rising junior, has been named the winner of the Goettingen Exchange Scholarship.

Selection for the honor entitles Davis to transportation to and from Germany, with the Goettingen student body providing room, board, and incidental expenses.

Leaving in July for Germany, Davis plans first to travel in the country before going to the Goethe Institute in Munich for refresher courses in the German language. One and a half months will be spent in language study.

One month of travel is also included in Davis' schedule before he enters the Goettingen University in October. During this month the scholarship winner says that he would like to visit the cities and small towns throughout Germany in an effort to get to know the German people and their culture.

At Goettingen Davis will live in the Student House with approximately 100 other students. A premed student at UNC, he plans to continue this line of study at the German university, with special emphasis on language and local culture.

Davis said that he is "particularly impressed" with the Goettingen department of physics, which has produced four Nobel Prize winners.

At the end of the first semester, Davis will have the opportunity to travel to other parts of Europe. He hopes to spend the six week vacation period in a tour of France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, and Austria.

The recipient of the scholarship provides the expenses for any travel which he undertakes during the school vacations.

In order to qualify for the Goettingen Exchange scholarship, the student must have a satisfactory scholastic record, take an interest in student affairs and have sufficient knowledge of German to profit from class room lectures in Germany.

Davis, who is also a Morehead scholar at UNC, said that he plans to return to Carolina after his year in Germany to continue his medical studies.

May 6: One More Day; Kershaw Heads Y-Nite

By MARY MOORE MASON

One more day till May 6th. And with May the 6th comes Y-Nite in the form of a Bermuda Picnic at 5:30 around the Dave Poplar; the Rev. A. L. Kershaw, with a talk on "Religion and Jazz"; campus jazz bands, other entertainment; and a barbecue supper straight from Griffin.

The picnic, second all-campus Y-Nite picnic, is the highlight of the many activities planned by the YMCA and YWCA.

Mr. Kershaw, dynamic theologian, feels that religion and jazz can be connected as jazz offers "release for the suppressed cry of human identity. It does not look at the world sentimentally or cynically, but the context of deep feeling in jazz in faith and trust, an affirmation that for all life's sorrow and ambiguity, yet life is good."

He will illustrate his speech on "Religion and Jazz" with the music of several popular campus bands which have been brought together for the occasion by campus drummer Ed Crow.

Miss Pee-Wee Batten and Ken Callender will also serve as feature entertainment attractions.

The barbecue supper, complete with hush puppies, will be served by Griffin, famous for its excellent food. The entire meal will cost 75 cents. Tickets for this will be on sale in Y-Court Monday morning.

Numerous sororities and fraternities have already canceled their evening meals in order to come to Y-Nite in mass.

Kershaw will also appear in several classes on Monday and Tuesday, at a luncheon at Lenoir Hall on Monday afternoon at 1:00, and at a faculty luncheon at 12:30 on Tuesday.

His last appearance will be on Tuesday night at 5:45. At this time he will speak on "Challenge to the New Officers" at a banquet at Lenoir Hall. The banquet will be open to the public, and the cost will be $1.25. Installation of the new YM and YW officers and cabinets will follow the banquet.

Kershaw, besides exhibiting an excellent knowledge of jazz, has a long series of theological achievement behind him; he was the writer and host for an 8 weeks series CBS nationwide TV program, "Look Up and Live," a program on religion and the cultural arts; he was platform speaker at the Geneva summer conference; he was a member of the National Student Committee, student YMCA; and he was an instructor in the philosophy department at Miami University in Ohio.

Miss Womack Honored Senior Invites Available Now

SARAH WOMACK Merit award

Miss Sarah Womack, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nathan A. Womack, has received a Merit Scholarship and will enter Wellesley College in Massachusetts next September.

Dr. Womack is head of the Department of Surgery in the UNC School of Medicine.

Miss Womack, a student at St. Catherine's School in Richmond, Va., won the scholarship in nationwide competition. She is rated first in her class at St. Catherine's. She is an honor student in Latin, and an editor of the yearbook. She was a class officer last year and is active in dramatics, singing, tennis and bridge.

Her scholarship is for four years' duration, and she is free to choose any accredited college in the country.

Senior invitations can be picked up tomorrow on the second floor of the YMCA from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., according to an announcement received yesterday.

Seniors have been urged to pick up their graduation invitations during the specified time. The deadline has been extended from last Friday because not everyone has dropped by, the announcement indicated.

The Grail announcement further stated that a limited supply of invitations will be available for those who have not already ordered.

news in brief

Hopkins Services

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Memorial services for the founder of the General Dynamics Corp. will be held here Monday, within sight of the world's first two atomic submarines his firm built.

John J. Hopkins, who was also chairman of the board, died yesterday in Washington. He was 61. The long gray silhouettes of the Nautilus and Seawolf will be visible from the yards of the corporation's electric boat division, where they are moored across the Thames River at the New London submarine base.

Not far from the place in the yards where the service will be held is the third nuclear sub, USS Skate, due for launching later this month. Nearby, work has begun on two more, USS Skipjack and USS Triton.

Truman Blasts Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman accused President Eisenhower tonight of a failure of leadership and said he has "played political bunk with the budget."

And the former president told fellow Democrats that what he called the "tight money policy" and high interest rates "can bring on a depression."

"This," he said, "is a reversion to the trickle down theory that has guided the Republican Party from the time of its interception. It is a means of transferring income from the poor who need it to the rich who don't."
