

SPORTS CLOSE-UP

Cheek to Cheek

BY LARRY CHEEK

SUMMER SCHOOL: A TIME FOR BOOKS

Action on the Carolina sports front reaches a low ebb during the summer months, and picks up only with the beginning of fall football practice on Sept. 1. About all summer school students can look forward to is sports on a participation basis, that is intramural activities.

But the respite from intercollegiate athletics with all the accompanying tension and pressure comes as quite a refresher for a number of Tar Heel athletes. It gives them a chance to worry about the books for a change, and forget about showing up at practice every day. And it gives them an opportunity to make up hours and quality points lost in the flurry of varsity competition.

Pacing the summer school parade of athletes will be several of Coach Frank McGuire's varsity basketball players. Because of varied items such as trips to Philadelphia and Kansas City, the cagers lost valuable academic ground.

Also on hand will be representatives from Jim Tatum's football squad, some of whom will be seeking to regain lost eligibility. Members of various minor sports teams will round out the summer session athletic menagerie.

UNC TRACK TRIO TO TEXAS

A trio of UNC athletes will carry the blue and white colors in NCAA competition this summer. Dave Scurlock, Wayne Bishop and Everett Whatley, outstanding Tar Heel distance men, will run in the NCAA track meet in Texas next week.

Scurlock, the best middle distance runner in University history, will match strides with a crack collegiate field in the 880 yard run; Bishop, sophomore two-miler, will go in that event against the nation's best; and Whatley, next fall's cross-country captain, is slated to go in the mile run.

Jim Beatty, UNC's prime running attraction, will in all probability sit out the meet with an injured instep. Beatty was forced to forego the ACC Championships because of the foot, and it is doubtful if he will compete in the NCAA event.

SUNNY JIM SMILES AGAIN

The Don Coker case has at last been settled, and Sunny Jim Tatum has reason to smile again. Coker, an A-1 schoolboy footballer from Reidsville, was declared ineligible by ACC commissioner Jim Weaver when he matriculated to Carolina. Seems a country club membership constitutes illegal aid to athletes in Weaver's eyes.

Then a couple of weeks ago Commissioner Weaver had a change of heart and declared Coker eligible for two years of varsity competition beginning this fall. Tatum termed the move "the first break we've received since I came here", and prophesied that Coker would be in the starting backfield come football season.

Coker has been called by those who saw him play in high school "the best since Charley Justice", but this remains to be seen. The Reidsville native is big, strong and fast, but it's a long jump from high school to college.

Coker reportedly can play any backfield position, and if Dave Reed runs afoul of scholastic requirements, he may prove to be Tatum's ace in the hole at quarterback. Otherwise he will probably split time with Wally Vale at fullback. Vale was not in school during the spring semester, but should be eligible again by fall.

Speculation concerning Lennie Rosenbluth's replacement in Frank McGuire's starting lineup for the next cage campaign has centered around Lee Shaffer, the magnificent rising sophomore from Pittsburgh, Pa. But for our money it looks like the new fifth man will be Harvey Salz, the New York lad who sat out last season because of scholastic deficiencies. Salz will be back in school come September.

Lennie Wins Patterson Medal

All-America Lennie Rosenbluth, captain of the NCAA Champion North Carolina basketball team, is winner of the Joseph F. Patterson Medal, UNC's top athletic award, it was announced by Athletic Director C. P. Erickson.

Rosenbluth, who led UNC to an undefeated season and was unanimous All-American, was chosen for "general excellence in athletics and other phases of University life."

The award tops a long list of honors Rosenbluth has been accorded for his play this winter. He was named ACC Athlete of the Year, was winner of the Foy Roberson, Jr. Award as player who contributed most to team spirit and morale; Carrington Smith Trophy as the team's most outstanding player; Mrs. Dorothy O'Sullivan Award as the top foul shooter; Jeff Thomas Trophy as the University's Most Outstanding Athlete of the year.

Other annual UNC athletic awards, whose winners were recognized at graduation exercises Monday, have been announced. The group includes:

Dick Jamerson Outstanding Swimming Award for Varsity—Charlie Krepp.

Outstanding Swimming Award for Freshmen—Paul Wachendorfer.

Carrington Smith Trophy for Football—Ed Sutton.

E. J. Evans Award for Varsity Track—Jim Beatty.

E. J. Evans Award for Freshman Track—Ward Sims, Cowles Liipfert and Neal Chappel.

Benjamin Solomon Award for Wrestling—David Lee Wall.

William F. Prouty Award in Football—Ed Sutton.

S. H. Basnight Award in Baseball—Jim Raugh.

A.C.C. Award for Scholarship and Athletic Ability—Ed Sutton.

66 UNC Athletes Receive Monograms For Baseball, Golf, Tennis And Track

Monogram letters have been awarded to 66 Carolina athletes for participation in spring sports, as was announced by Athletic Director C. P. Erickson.

The list includes varsity lettermen in baseball, tennis, track and golf. Also honored was Jim Bynum of Raleigh, head UNC cheerleader this fall.

The winners for baseball were: Charlie Aycock, Washington, D. C.; Charlie Cross, Statesville; Ben Harding, Mocksville; Chuck Hartman, Gastonia; Don Hill, Winston-Salem; Ivalee Hill, Carrboro; Roger Honeycutt, Willow Springs; Dick Hudson, Vandermeer; Jim Legette, Winston-Salem; Don Lewis, Gastonia; Tom Maultsby, Chapel Hill; Joe Morgan, Winston-Salem; Carson Oldham, Sanford; Alton Pons, Valdese; Jim Raugh, Rosemont, Pa.; Dick Reston, Washington, D. C.; Don Saine, Cherryville; Wallie Joe Shook, Hickory; Buddy Strause, Charlotte; manager Oscar Walker, Gastonia.

TENNIS: Steve Bank, Forest Hills, N. Y.; Geoffrey Black, Montreal, Canada; Bob Jacobus, Raleigh; Frank Livingston, Chicago, Ill.; Al Newsome, Winston-Salem; Frank McIver, Greensboro; Stan Peck, manager, Forest Hills, N. Y.; Canie Brown, Asheville; Pawling Steward, Savannah, Ga.; John Walker, Jr., Roanoke, Va.; Fred Van Winkle, Atlanta, Ga.

TRACK: Jim Beatty, Charlotte; Wayne Bishop, Greenville; Jim Bryant, Elkin; Tom Brawley, Durham; Oscar Davis, Atlanta, Ga.; Lyndon DeBorde, Elkin; Emil DeCantis, Scranton, Pa.; John Jones, Richmond, Va.;

Howard Kahn, Baltimore, Md.; Don Kemper, Willow Grove, Pa.; Bill Lyons, Maplewood, N. J.; Dick McFadden, Viola, Del.; Dick McAllister, Elmhurst, Ill.; Dyer Moss, Charlotte.

Cledith Oakley, Smithfield; Buddy Payne, Norfolk, Va.; John Reeves, Charlotte; Ken Rosemond, Hillsboro; Bill Roth, Elkin; Dave Scurlock, Greensboro.

Charlie Sowers, Salisbury; John Sylvester, Washington, D. C.; Jim Varnum, Supply; Everett Whatley, Atlanta, Ga.; Ben Williams, Chicago, Ill.; Marion Griffin, Davidson.

GOLF: Don Adams, Winston-Salem; Willis Henderson, Charlotte; Tom Langley, High Point; Gene Lookabill, Charlotte; Calvin Mitchell, Matthews; Sam Patrick, Gastonia; Lewis Patton, Manager, Chapel Hill; Bob Ruffin, Winston-Salem; Walt Summerville, Chapel Hill.

A Glance at the Majors Go Sox Gone! Phils Surprise

The Chicago White Sox, paced by the superlative hurling of lefty Billy Pierce, who has a record of 9-2, are leading the New York Yankees a merry chase in the American League through games of Tuesday night.

The Chisox enjoy a five-game lead over the Bronx Bombers and a six and one-half game bulge over the third-place Cleveland Indians. The Boston Red Sox are in fourth slot with the Detroit Tigers holding fifth position. Rounding out the standings are the Kansas City Athletics, Baltimore Orioles and the Washington Senators.

The Cincinnati Redlegs hold a game and a half edge over the surprising Philadelphia Phillies in the National League through games of Tuesday night. The Brooklyn Dodgers, defending league champions, are in third place, only two games behind the Cincy club.

The Milwaukee Braves, picked by many to be a shoo-in for the senior circuit's pennant this year, are floundering around in the fourth slot. The rest of the league is balanced in the order of the St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates

Sports Tournaments Set For Summer

Tournaments in softball, tennis, horsehoes and golf will be sponsored both sessions of summer school, according to Walter Rabb of the physical education department.

In addition a bait casting tournament and possibly a fly casting clinic will be sponsored, Mr. Rabb said.

These tournaments are open to everyone, men and women, if they desire to participate. Students may make entries by going by 314 or 315 Woollen Gym. The deadline for entries is June 14.

Student Directories To Go On Sale Soon

Looking for a lost friend? The "Y" informs us that the new Student Directory for the Summer Session will be available "soon."

YM-YWCA officials promised that this project will be the first one on their agenda after students have registered for the first session of the summer school.

These directories will be on sale at the "Y" as soon as they are completed.

VARSAITY

FRIDAY
SATURDAY

Young Man With A Horn

KIRK DOUGLAS — DORIS DAY

Late Show Saturday Night-Sunday-Monday

Monkey On My Back

CAMERON MITCHELL

Tuesday-Wednesday

Loser Takes All

GLYNIS JOHNS — ROSSANO BRAZZI

Thursday

Written On The Wind

ROCK HUDSON — LAUREN BACALL

CAROLINA

Friday-Saturday, June 7-8

The Desk Set

KATHERINE HEPBURN and SPENCER TRACY

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday, June 9-11

The Little Hut

AVA GARDNER — DAVID NIVEN
STEWART GRANGER

Wednesday, June 12

Smiley

RALPH RICHARDSON, with COLIN PETERSEN
as "Smiley"

Thursday-Friday, June 13-14

La Strada

ALL-STAR CAST

Grand Prize Winner at the Venice International Film Festival