Queen Sought For Festival

By LIND EARL

Watermelon time is here, and, for Carolina, it's a good excuse for a party. This one will be the Watermelon Festival on July 3, in Polk Place in front of the library.

The crowning of the Watermelon King and Queen and a faculty talent show will highlight the Festival, a special event complete with dancing, fun, and, of course, watermelon.

Fraternities and men's dorms will each be asked to sponsor an entrant for queen. Judy Davis, chairman of the beauty contest, will accept the name and an eight by ten photograph of each contestant after Monday, June 17. Penny votes will be taken in Y-Court to determine the winner.

The chairman announced that if any dorm or fraternity wishing to enter a candidate had not been contacted it should call her at Smith Dorm.

The festival's King will be chosen from the faculty by the Summer School Activities Council.

The Chanticleers, hailed as a "male quartet extraordinary," have parted from tradition, and are a far cry from the standard male ensemble.

Singing arrangements of Schubert, Gilbert and Sullivan, and Kurt Weill, to name but a portion of a repertoire of special Chanticleer offerings, the quartet is staged and directed by two young men in New York.

Donald Smith, arranger and musical director, comes from Oberlin. Musical director at New England's famed Cohasset Music Circus, Smith has been assistant conductor at New York City Center Opera, and pianist for the popular Max Liebman TV "Show of Shows." He also had a musical hand in the Romberg tour.

Gene Bayliss, choreographer and dancer for the Firestone Hour, has credits at the Birmingham Opera Under the Stars, Cohasset Music Circus, Oakdale Theatre at Wallingford, Conn., on Broadway and on numerous TV shows.

Consistently praised for their singing and showmanship, the Chanticleers are William Diard and Richard Wright, Tenors; Raymond Keast, baritone, and James Martindale, bass. Their accompanist is Jerald Stone.
