

This Little Friend Needs Your Aid

Just what are you getting out of college?

Here on the Carolina campus we have students of every type and every walk of life. Most would list their reason for being here as working for a degree or perhaps a job in the not-so-distant future. Some have not yet decided what their goals will be but are here to learn the role of responsibility which will be thrown on their shoulders at graduation.

On the other hand, in the midst of these industrious students looms what is classified up at the University of Maryland as the "comfortable student."

One doesn't have to search very much to find this species—he can be located anywhere around campus and is easily distinguished by his most outstanding trait, comfort.

According to the editor of the Maryland University newspaper "our friend is the first one back to the house from summer in order to try out all the beds and find the most comfortable one. The cook and he are the best of buddies and he never lacks for between-meal snacks. Also, the house mother is his special friend and excuses all his absences with bright little notes.

"Although he studies very little his average is in a comfortable zone. He is master in the art of deception. His professors think he is a genius and are all fond of him, for by taking good advantage of his time he has managed to worm his way into their personal esteem.

"He arranges his life well. He never has classes before 11 or after 2. His business is conducted in a large measure from a prone position on his bed. He manages to spend approximately 18 hours a day in this, his favorite position.

"His amorous affairs are conducted admirably. He has plenty of the best quality with no extra effort on his part. His presence seems to be magnetic, and they are drawn to him."

The editor goes on to enumerate another outstanding characteristic of our friend. When the party starts, there in the midst of the merry-making he is found, effervescing in his own inimitable manner. But take a look about when the time comes for clean-up and work. You guessed it, you couldn't even locate him with radar.

This type student is majoring in being comfortable at your expense. While you are slaving away carrying out your responsibility to yourself, your parents and to Carolina, he is making the most of his time loafing around campus.

Not only does he look bad in the eyes of others, but he can bring down the standards of the University.

There is no easy solution to the problem—habits are acquired over a period of years, and chances are our friend began to develop his traits back in grammar school.

However, he can be helped. It may take time, but enough conscientious students let him know how they feel, in no uncertain terms, he'll soon take the hint. It may take years to correct these attitudes, but isn't it better to start now before his characteristics rub off on other students?

It might be contagious.

Oppenheimer Would Love Some More Sack Time; He Needs It

By BILL CHESHIRE

"If I had it to do over again, I'd do the same thing—but I might try to get a little more sleep."

This is what Jerry Oppenheimer had to say about having chosen Carolina in the first place and his subsequent activities here. Perhaps Jerry had scholastics in mind as the greatest sleep robber. But, exclusive of studies, it is easy to see why Jerry may not have spent as much time in the sack as he might have liked. Most of the newcomers to UNC probably know Jerry as the affable young gentleman who welcomed them to the campus as chairman of the Orientation committee. But Jerry will be remembered by the oldtimers for a variety of other activities.

Jerry is currently president of the Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity and in the past has held the offices of Treasurer, Rush Chairman and Historian of that organization. For the past two years he has represented his fraternity on the Inter Fraternity Council. He is now chairman of the IFC Court, a post he has held for about two years.

Jerry has likewise been active in the Student Government for a number of years. He is Assistant Attorney General of the Student Body and has represented the University Party in the Student Legislature for about a year. During his career as student legislator, he has been chairman of the very important Finance Committee.

In addition to these activities, he has been a member of the Orders of the Golden Fleece, the Holy Grail, the Dance Committee, the Audit Board and is president of the Order of the Old Well. Jerry belittles any credit due him for so much work in behalf of the students with the remark that "it is more quantitative than qualitative." But those who know Jerry's contribution to these many organizations are not apt to agree with him on this count. Concerning the Carolina Way of Life, Jerry says: "It's like we tell the freshman: we have the Carolina Way of Life here but you'll have to stay around a few days to know what I mean."

Many students here feel that Jerry Oppenheimer represents the Carolina Way of Life.

Forest Theater To Be Scene For Playmakers Production

By CORT EDWARDS

Elizabethan drama returns to Chapel Hill as the Carolina Playmakers plan to present Thomas Dekker's The Shoemaker's Holiday.

The play is scheduled for the Forest Theater, July 4 and 5, at 8:30 p.m. Kai Jurgenson will direct this pleasant comedy with assistance from Stage Manager George Spence and Set Designer Tommy Rezzuto.

The Shoemaker's Holiday, which was first presented in 1600 before the Queen, is the humorous life of Simon Eyre, a shoemaker, and the Lord Mayor of London; and has a romantic subplot between Rose and Lacy.

Lacy, the son of the Earl of Lincoln, is in love with Rose, the daughter of the Lord Mayor. The Earl believes that Rose is beneath his son's station in life and consequently, ships Lacy off to fight a war against the French.

Sly Lacy, however, is not fobbed by his father's plan and sends his cousin to take his place in the battlefield. Lacy changes his name to Hans and returns to London disguised as a Dutch shoemaker in Simon Eyre's shop, so that he may woo Rose.

As a typical Elizabethan comedy, "it presents no problems, it inspires no pity, and it is free from satiric intentions."

Socially Speaking

By MARY ALYS VOORHEES

SOCIAL LIFE at Carolina never has a vacation—from fall to winter to spring to summer, fun continues its romp over the Tar Heel campus.

Typical are after-exam jaunts which found UNC students scattered all over North and South Carolina beaches, celebrating the end of another semester at the Hill.

Pawley's Island, S.C., residents undoubtedly haven't seen so many men at one time since the Civil War as they did shortly after school was out. As soon as the last finals were over, the Carolina KAs joined KAs from Duke, Wake Forest, State, Davidson and other chapters throughout the Carolinas in "Operation KA" for a few fun-packed days before they headed back to summer school, jobs or just loafing around the hometown.

MYRTLE BEACH was making preparations for its Annual Sun Festival when another contingent of Tar Heels arrived to bask in the sun and enjoy the beach facilities.

After ushering at Lennie Rosenbluth's wedding Sigma Nus Joe Quigg and Pete Brennan journeyed down, only to spend much of their time signing autographs—which has become one of their extra-curricular activities since winning the NCAA basketball championship.

Others spotted at the South Carolina beach were Chi Os Mary Rucker and Joy Brown—down for the Sun Festival—John Ashford—who will soon be working on the Charlotte Observer along with UNC coed Jackie Haithcock for the summer—and a group of Kappa Sigs on a beach party.

Up at Nags Head were another group of Kappa Sigs, in addition to a party of Zetas. And at Wrightsville Sigma Nus Bill Morgan, Jim Exum and Harold Everett were partying, as were Chi O President Punkin Coe and Pi Phi Sarah Van Wyke.

GETTING MARRIED seems to be the thing for Carolina students—with the semester over—and June 1 the most popular date.

Among the middle-aislers were ADPI Martha Osborne of Smithfield and George Crevar, graduate student in pharmacy from Spring Valley, N.Y., June 1 . . . Phi Kap John Cutter of Charlotte and coed Claudia Peeler of Durham, June 1 . . .

Phi Gam Box Exum of Snow Hill and Genny Lou Garrou, Stratford College graduate of Snow Hill, June 2 . . . Grad students Lucy Luffman of Elkins and John Dearing of Chevy Chase, Md., June 1 . . . UNC majorette Carolyn Meredith of Raleigh and Tony Upchurch of Greenville, June 1 . . .

All-American Lennie Rosenbluth of Greenville, Tenn., and former UNC Tri Delt Pat Oliver of Mount Airy, June 1 . . . James Stanley Pierce of Rocky Mount and WC graduate Katherine Friar of Rocky Mount, June 1 . . . coed Betty Bauman of Staten Island, N.Y. and football player Hap Setzer of Lenoir, June 1 . . .

Phi Betes Betsy Lloyd and Herman Taylor of Raleigh, June 4 . . . coed Betty Ivey of Rocky Mount and Pika Skip Knox of Pittsburgh, Pa., June 15 . . . Pi Lam Don Steine of Raleigh and Judy Levi of Raleigh, June 6 . . . Pi Lam Dick Sirkin and Ruth Sindell, both of Miami, Fla., June 13 . . .

KA Larry Williams of Concord and Betty Lou Whitt of Lexington, June 5 . . . Kappa Sig Dick Booth and Carolyn Rawls, both of Raleigh, June 8 . . . Kappa Sig Townsend Holt of Raleigh and Sally Robenson, UNC graduate from Williamston, June 8 . . .

Alpha Gam Frederice Trull of Canton and Delta Sigma Pi Wade Herring, Wofford College graduate from Ft. Jackson, S. C., June 8 . . . coed Kathy Woodard of Scotland Neck and Stan Garriss, UNC student from Portsmouth, Va., June 3 . . .

St. A Dave Bruton of Candor and nursing student Frieda Bryant of Monroe . . . Zete Johnny Littlehales of Chevy Chase, Md., and Mary Clayton of Washington, D. C. . . Zete Grady Putnam and Molly Parker, both of Washington, D.C. . . .

Zete Jimmy Cheatham of Greenville and Brenn Bunch, Salem graduate from Statesville, June 8 . . . SPE Richard Pierce of Raleigh and Dorothy Lee Gattis, Peace graduate, also of Raleigh, June 8 . . . DKE Shelby Miller of Asheville and Pi Phi Marian "Sugar" Dudley of Virginia Beach . . .

Pika Carter Mackie of Point Pleasant, N.Y. and St. Mary's graduate Lemma Baucom of Raleigh, June 8 . . . Kappa Psi Ed Britt and Janice Darlene Rean, both of Concord, June 1 and ADPI Sue Owens of Charleston, S.C. to UNC student Richard Armstrong of LaGrange, June 8.
