

Stop Awhile . . . Stop And Think

At Carolina, weekends are known as the time of the exodus. Practically everyone deserts the UNC campus when classes end Friday and migrates eastward toward the balmy shores of Virginia and the two Carolinas.

The cares that infest the day to day existence of a summer school student are forgotten during a few brief moments of sunshine, sea spray and sand dunes. For a golden interlude, there are no books, instructors or humid classrooms. There is only relaxation, contentment and freedom — at least until Monday morning.

But stop and think for a moment. What if you had to spend your weekend away from Chapel Hill lying in a hospital bed, staring blankly at the ceiling, wondering how you got there and when the pain was going to stop? What if those two grisly words "highway accident" entered your life?

Don't scoff. It happens to hundreds of people just like you every day. That next beach trip could be your last, or it could be the beginning of a lifetime of agony and regrets.

It can't happen to you? Visualize the following scene:

You are behind the wheel of your car, breezing toward a weekend of laughter and gaiety at one of the nearby ocean playgrounds. You and your carefree companions are in a hurry; a weekend is such a short time.

You come up behind a ponderous, slow-moving truck. Pull over buddy, and let me by, you say to yourself. You grow impatient. Ah, there's a bit of daylight ahead. Probably nothing coming over that hill. I think I'll take a chance.

So you pull around the truck to pass. As you draw abreast and top the crest of the hill, a speeding bus looms directly in front of you. For one moment, you know absolute panic. Your foot slams the brake pedal in an empty gesture of defiance. But you know it is too late. Too late.

If you are among the lucky, you die. But if not, you live to know the pain, the awful pain of memory that haunts you day and night as you gaze at the whitewashed walls of your hospital room. Physical pain is there too, but overriding all is the memory that will never die.

Stop awhile, dear reader. Stop and think. Think of broken bones, splintered glass, dripping blood and oil slicks: these are the ingredients that make up a highway accident. In their wake they leave uprooted lives and lost weekends. They leave scars that never heal.

Stop awhile . . . Stop and think.

Wonder When....

UNC will start building the new basketball gym officials have been talking about for the past five years?

Coeds will be allowed to wear Bermudas around campus?

The administration will stop talking about a new student union and do something?

It will dawn on someone that it gets hot in Chapel Hill in the summertime and that Carolina needs air-conditioning?

The General Assembly will realize that UNC is losing some of its best instructors due to low salaries?

The Summer School Weekly

The official student publication of the UNC Summer School. Published each Friday during both sessions except examination and holiday periods.

Office Telephone: 9-3361

Editor.....MARY ALYS VOORHEES
 Managing Editor.....BILL CHESHIRE
 Business Manager.....MARY HOUSE
 Associate Editor.....LARRY CHEEK
 Sports Editor.....DICK BURROUGHS
 Chief Photographer.....BILL KING
 News Staff.....LIND EARLE, PAT WATSON,
 JIMMY HARPER, BEVERLY JOHNSON, MARYTOM
 GODBOLD, MARGARET ANN NASH, CLARKE
 JONES AND GARY NICHOLS
 Advisor.....TOM LAMBETH

(Photo By Bill King)

JUDY DAVIS OF PRINCETON, N. J.
 Participates In Many Activities

SUMMER SPOTLIGHT

Girl Without A Country Plans To Settle In Dixie

By BILL CHESHIRE

Judy Davis, to say the least, has been around. Born in Denver, Colo., she has since lived in Fort Worth, Tex., Staten Island, N. Y., Ellis Island, N. Y., Madison, Wis., and Princeton, N. J.

"At home people call me a Rebel; down here they call me a yankee; in the East I am called a cowgirl and out west the folks say I'm a tenderfoot. It looks as though I'm just a girl without a country." So said Judy in a confusing potpourri of regional dialects.

Judy came to UNC in September of 1955 and entered the School of Nursing. After a year and a half she decided that she was "too slow and unorganized to make up three or four beds and bathe three or four people in an hour." Since this seemed an essential part of her nursing curriculum, she transferred to the Dept. of History. She plans to receive her degree in History in 1959.

Judy says that she find the people at Carolina the school's greatest attribute. "I like all the people—just the friendliest place I've ever been," she said. And if anyone has had an opportunity to meet and learn about people at Carolina, Judy should have. Her activities at UNC have included the following: member of the Student Party; social chairman and membership chairman of the SP; member of the Elections Board; Exhibit chairman of the Carolina Symposium on Public Affairs for 1956; and Honoraries editor, co-Beauty editor and co-managing editor of the 1956-'57 Yackety Yack.

Last session she was chairman of the Watermelon Queen contest. She is also a member of the Summer School Student Government Board and is publicity chairman of the Summer Activities Council.

Judy says she plans to settle in Atlanta, Ga. Maybe they can teach Colorado-born Judy to drink pot likker out of a ten gallon hat.

Paging All Cats & Fillies! Dr. Jive Is Coming To Town

Get ready, Carolina cats and fillies, Dr. Jive is coming to town. And not only that, Honeyboy is coming too.

The dynamic Negro disc Jockey duo from WSRC in Durham will visit the Carolina campus Wednesday night, Aug. 7, for a two-and-one-half hour platter spin and request party. And along with them will come a host of live talent from the Joy Recording Company.

The show, scheduled to run from 8 p.m. to 10:30, will feature WSRC radio personality Jimmy Byrd, better known to thousands of Dixie rock and roll fans as "Dr. Jive." Another popular personality, Honeyboy Ford, will come along to handle the engineering duties as well as a little live mike work.

An hour segment of the show will be taped and broadcast over WSRC the next day from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. on the Dr. Jive show.

Included on the entertainment agenda will be student interviews, records by request, live professional talent and a little bit of anything else the students might like to hear.

Final arrangements for the jam session will be made by the Summer Activities Council during the coming week. Complete details will be disclosed in next week's Summer School Weekly.

Socially Speaking

By Mary Alys Voorhees

BEACH COMBING . . . Phi Kaps Jake Maxwell, Al Hildreth and Doug Schachner spotted at Virginia Beach along with Sigma Chi's Don Webster, Buzzy Basinger, Monk Moncure, Berk Dowd and Jim Fox and Sigma Nu Bob Everton . . . Betas Allen Fry, Wes Trotter, Clyde Campbell and Vic Huggins there on a house party given by several St. Mary's girls. . . .

Phi Gam Stewart Hare and Sigma Nu Joe Quigg choosing Wrightsville Beach as their weekend vacation spot . . . several Lambda Chi's off for Myrtle. . . .

ATOs George Johnson, Rivers Upchurch, Frank Malone, Vartan Davidian, and John Harris flying down to Daytona Beach, Fla. to join SAE's Buddy Hill and Jimmy Hill at a water skiing and yachting party for the weekend. . . .

DU Charlie Green vacationing down at Nags Head . . . coed Barbara Bridgers headed toward Atlantic Beach to visit Eva Dumas.

NUPTIAL EVENTS . . . Buddy Payne, Doug Harless, Johnny Haywood, Cornell Johnson, Curtis and Stephanie Hathaway going up to High Point to attend Curtis' brother's wedding . . . several DKEs climbing up the hills to Asheville for a wedding . . . Zetes C. R. Jones, Bill Merriman, Brent Nash and John McKey up at Tarboro for a nuptial event while brothers Cloyd Philpott and Dave Loughlin headed for Lexington for another marriage.

ON THE HOME FRONT . . . Sigma Nus Dave Reid and Don Kemper and their wives at the house Friday night to join the brothers and their dates at a party . . . Beta Archie Joyner back from a trip to New York City . . . the ATOs partying at the house Friday night . . . everything peaceful over at the Phi Gam house . . . the boys still recuperating from their Fourth of July party when they rolled out the welcome mat to several other fraternities on the campus. . . .

STATE-WIDE . . . Betas Jim Legette and Dave Lambeth going up to Greensboro to party . . . Ginny Whitehurst playing hostess at her home in Bethel to Camille Grice . . . Pikas Ed Darden, Bill Irwin, Harry Braxton and Jim Hathaway riding down to Fayetteville to visit Campbell Heigh for the evening . . . coeds Betsy Kline and Diane Van Dyke spending the weekend at Betsy's home in Greenville, S. C. . . . Rosemary Moore and Pat Watkins taking a jaunt to Elizabeth City for the weekend . . . Julia McCaskill in Charlotte for a shower . . . bridal shower, that is . . . Sandra Brown spotted on the Wake Forest campus at a dance.

WORD HAS TRICKLED up from South Carolina (things are trickling up these days instead of trickling down) that "Miss America" of 1957 (Marian McKnight) may come to Chapel Hill this fall to study dramatics with the Carolina Playmakers.

No special "recruitment" effort is being made by the University to get her to come to Chapel Hill, for she's said to be the kind of girl who doesn't want to be pressured. She wants to make up her own mind. She's also said to have brains, a commodity that helps out these days.

ENGAGEMENTS . . . UNC student John Elliott and Jane Beam, both of Shelby . . . UNC student Charles Aycock of Kinston and Margaret Louise Gilbert of Charlotte . . . coed Virginia Ann Gobbel and Noel Sullivan, both of Chapel Hill.

MARRIAGES . . . Chi Psi Fred Widson and Mary Jane Boyles, both of Elkin, June 17 . . . UNC student Dick Holt and Sandra Cox, both of Durham, July 17 . . . Phi Delta Sherwood Smith of Jacksonville, Fla. and Duke ADPi Eva Hargrave of Lexington, July 20 . . . SPE Clarence Smith of Raleigh and Jo Ann Farmer of Raleigh, July 20.