

Sprays

from the

Showers

BY DICK BURROUGHS

IT OCCURS TO ME . . .

THAT the Yankees are making their usual run away from the rest of the American League and that by seasons end, their margin of victory will be at least ten games . . . THAT it's becoming awfully boring to continually read of the proposed shifts of the Dodgers and Giants to the West Coast. I wish they would decide, one way or the other . . . THAT the Milwaukee Braves must have even more bench strength than the Yankees. They are still on top and have reached that spot without many key players . . . THAT Red Schoendienst is making the Braves look awfully good on their early season trade with the Giants. He is batting way over the .300 mark and fielding with his usual brilliance . . . THAT the Washington Senators have the worst team ever. Already they are 30 games out of first place.

THAT Floyd Patterson has become quite cocky since winning the Heavyweight title. He even runs his own training camp, something rather unique in the boxing world. He speaks of wishing that he could fight Rocky instead of Hurricane. It wasn't long ago that he was just a quiet, humble challenger.

THAT the United States has a good chance of winning back the Davis Cup from the Australians now that Lew Hoad has turned pro . . . THAT Jack Kramer made a mistake by putting Lew Hoad into the pro round-robins before cashing in on the Australian's gate appeal on tour . . . THAT Tony Trabert's name, so quickly forgotten, may once more be on the lips of tennis fans around the country following his TV conquest of Hoad.

THAT Jim Jones is getting a lot of publicity considering he has never played end for Carolina before. Of course he was an All-ACC choice at guard last season . . . THAT Dave Leffler is seldom spoken of around football circles despite the fact that he scored twice in the Blue-White Game last spring . . . THAT Charlie Justice has faded from the national limelight despite die-hard Carolina alumni who refuse to forget Choo-Choo . . . THAT Carolina may not have it so easy with Maryland this year. The Terps return 28 lettermen to the gridiron Sept. 1 . . . THAT the football team may have a better chance for a bowl bid now that all ties have been severed with the Orange Bowl. A winning season could put them in one of the other bowls even if they are not the ACC champs.

DID YOU KNOW . . .

THAT Carolina plays four of the top ten teams in the nation as rated by "Street and Smith's 1957 Football Yearbook" . . . THAT the ten teams the Tar Heels face this season won a total of 53 games while losing 36 and tying 10 last year . . . THAT halfback Dan Droze scored seven touchdowns in one game while playing high school ball in Washington, D. C. . . THAT quarterback Dave Reed can throw a football 35 yards, left-handed . . . THAT guard Jack Lineberger never reads the sports pages and detests having the scribes write anything about him.

THAT Tommy Kearns was the most valuable player in three different basketball tournaments during his high school days. Could he win similar honors before he leaves Chapel Hill.

CAROLINA

Friday-Saturday

Gun Glory

Stewart Granger-Rhonda Fleming

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday

Bernadine

Pat Boone-Jane Gaynor

Wednesday-Thursday

An Affair To Remember

Cary Grant-Deborah Kerr

Virginia Gentleman, Buddy, A Payne To Grid Opponents

Buddy Payne, a rising senior from Norfolk, Va., who co-captains the 1957 edition of the Tar Heel football team is spending his summer here in Chapel Hill.

Payne has been a starter since his sophomore year and last season was the team's second leading pass receiver with six catches for 116 yards. Buddy was chosen to the All-North Carolina team last year and a great deal more is expected of the 6-3, 210 pounder this coming season.

Buddy is an English major but has been taking subjects that will qualify him for entrance into Medical School. The courses this summer merely lighten the load for his senior year.

A member of the Summer School Student Government, Payne has helped plan many of the activities around campus for the summer as well as things for the fall. During the regular sessions, Buddy acts as the Vice-President for the Monogram Club and throws the javelin for the track team in addition to his gridiron feats.

While a Senior at Maury High School in Norfolk, this three-sport All-Stater was one of the most sought-after school-boys in the south.

He chose Carolina over a host of other schools including Notre Dame and arch-rival Duke because of its big college atmosphere in the midst of a small college town which centered its activities around the school.

Marvin Bass, former UNC coach who is now at South Carolina, was a major influence on Buddy's choice also, and Payne has never regretted the choice he has made yet.

Buddy, a loyal Sigma Chi, looks towards the approaching season with a great deal of enthusiasm and has hopes of a winning season after spending his entire career at UNC with losing ball clubs.

Buddy Payne has the finesse of all great ends, a marvelous physique and all the other attributes for this position. Besides the qualifications of a truly great end, Buddy has the qualities of leadership and spirit which accompany all good guys as well as good footballers.

Jim's Charm Wins Hollers

A much sought after school-boy from Durham has been induced by Sunny Jim Tatum to play college football.

Russ Hollers, a remarkable youngster from Durham High School where he was a three-sport man, straight-A student, president of the student body, best male athlete and governor of Boy's State, has cast his lot with UNC.

It was not the problem of getting Hollers to come to Carolina that worried Tatum but rather the problem of getting him to participate in football. Russ, recipient of a Morehead Scholarship, was thinking only of playing basketball, and baseball in his freshman year, but after Big Jim turned on the charm, it was decided that the 5-11, 190-pounder would play three sports instead of two.

Tatum pointed out that he will use Hollers at the quarterback slot, a position that he has played off and on as a schoolboy, although used essentially as a halfback while gaining All-State honors.

Tatum, who has high hopes for the 18-year-old athlete, remarked, "I have never seen a boy who looks more like a football player, both on and off the field." Hollers is considered to be one of Durham's all-time greats.

FOOTBALL CO-CAPTAIN BUDDY PAYNE
From Gridiron To Student Government

Orange Sours On ACC — New Year's Pact Canceled

The Orange Bowl Committee has voted to terminate all ties with the Atlantic Coast Conference following the 1958 New Year's Day game.

Under a five-year arrangement, ACC and Big Eight teams have clashed each New Year's Day in the Orange Bowl. The bowl committee voted to use Big Eight teams in 1959, 1960 and 1961.

Joe Adams, committee president, who announced the committee's unanimous vote of 41 members attending, said the Big Eight conference had agreed to waive its rule that a Big Eight champion can't play in two successive bowl games.

The concession made it likely that the Big Eight's powerful Oklahoma champions will face the ACC choice in the Orange Bowl in 1958 and return the following New Year's Day for the Orange Bowl's silver anniversary game.

Chuch Erickson, athletic director at UNC, when informed of the bowl committee's decision, said "our relations with the committee and the Big Eight have been pleasant. If our conference does not enter into another tieup, we'll look forward to having a team worthy of playing in the Orange Bowl."

VARSITY

Friday-Saturday

Walt Disney's Johnny Tremain

Hals Stalmaster — Luana Patten

Sunday

Baby and the Battleship

John Mills — Richard Attenborough

Monday

Please Murder Me

Tuesday-Wednesday

The Burglar

Jane Mansfield — Dan Duryea

Thursday

Sea Devils

Rock Hudson — Yvonne DeCarlo