Eisele, Cheshire Added To Staff Of Tar Heel; Will Fill Key Posts

By DALE WHITFIELD

Daily Tar Heel Editor Neil Bass yesterday announced the appointments of Doug Eisele as managing editor and Bill Cheshire as news editor.

Concerning the appointments, Editor Bass said: "I am extremely gratified to have these two responsible men on my staff. It is assuredly a valuable addition. Last spring, I promised the campus the best student publication possible. Now I sincerely feel we are well on the way to achievement of this promise. I look forward to significant contributions from Doug and Bill, as well as an entire, larger and more efficient staff."

Eisele is a sophomore from Statesville. He is a 1954 graduate of the Statesville Senior High School.

Before entering Carolina last fall he worked for two years on his hometown daily, the Statesville Record and Landmark.

While on that paper he did reportorial and photographic work. He was also a "stringer" for the Charlotte Observer, The Greensboro Daily News and The Winston-Salem Journal.

His past newspaper work includes being the representative for the United Press in and around the Statesville area. During the past school year he worked as a reporter and feature writer for the UNC News Bureau.

As managing editor, Eisele will be responsible for the make-up of the front and runover pages. He will write heads for the same and will be in overall charge of the news staff.

Eisele said that in his new job he will "aim for more consistency in The Daily Tar Heel make-up with an eye to increased readability and appeal to the paper's numerous subscribers."

Bill Cheshire is a senior at the University hailing from Hillsboro. He graduated from the Episcopal High School in Alexandria, Va., in 1950. He entered UNC in the fall of the same year. He left the campus in '52 to serve a four-year hitch in the Coast Guard. In 1956 he returned to the University. Last summer Cheshire was managing editor of the Summer School Weekly, the official UNC summer publication. He is majoring in Journalism and plans to work on a newspaper upon graduating.

Cheshire stated that he "will endeavor to provide more efficient coverage of the campus scene, to present this news in both an interesting and objective manner, and to strive for greater unity of purpose among the reportorial staff." Both Cheshire and Eisele are members of the Zeta Psi fraternity.

Other changes in the staff announced by Editor Bass are: Miss Mary Alys Vorhees, coed editor; Paul Rule, wire editor; Ben Taylor, feature editor; Avery Thomas, subscription manager; Sid Shurtard, circulation manager; and Dave Wible, assistant sports editor.

GMAB Begins Reorganization; Chairmen Seek New Members

By MARY MOORE MASON

Excitement reigns supreme at Graham Memorial now as the GM Activities Board begins its committee reorganization and its choosing of this year's committee members.

Each of the fourteen committee chairmen who make up the Activities Board are already looking over student interest cards and scouting the Information Office for applications.

However, there are still so many places to be filled, for GMAB is looking for enthusiastic, original people who are interested in thinking up ideas for the Student Union and leading in carrying them out.

The "Sound and Fury" committee is scouting for people who are interested in writing, acting in, doing publicity for, painting scenery, or working on any other phase of the student-written and produced musicals.

Redding Will Preside Over 8 P.M. Event

Final plans were made here yesterday for a required fraternity rushee meeting set for 8 o'clock tonight in Memorial Hall.

IFC President Bill Redding reminded all potential rushees that failure to attend the meeting would make them ineligible to join any Carolina fraternity this year.

Redding will preside over the Thursday night session which is expected to draw some 600 prospective rushees to Memorial Hall.

Roy Armstrong, director of admissions for the University, will be keynote speaker at the meeting. He is expected to comment on the fraternity's role in University life.

Rush Week, which begins Sunday at 2:30 p.m., along with the fraternity system are expected to be explained. The floor later will be open for discussion.

Jerry Oppenheimer, chairman of the Interfraternity Court, echoed Redding's reminder that all potential rushees are required to be present at tonight's meeting.

"Let me emphasize the fact that this meeting is mandatory for all rushees," Oppenheimer said.

He said anyone unable to attend the meeting should contact either Redding (8-9033), Tom Rand (8-9027), or himself (6031).

Efficiency Courses Offered In Reading

Plans for this semester's Peabody Reading Efficiency courses have been completed. Applications for the courses may be made in room 08 Peabody each day from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

These are three-hour non-credit courses designed to assist students in reading speed and efficiency. All UNC students are eligible to take these courses.

The Peabody courses can be arranged to fit the individual schedules.

Seniors, Med Students' Pix Now Being Made

Seniors and fourth-year medical students are reminded that today and tomorrow are the last days their Yack pictures may be taken.

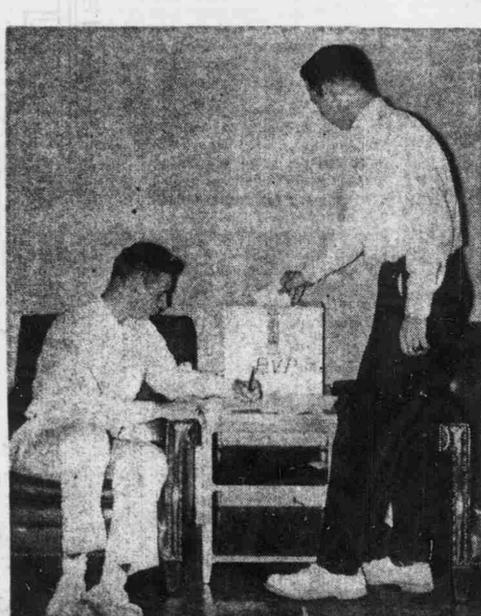

Boys should wear dark coats and ties. Drapes will be furnished senior girls. Other girls should wear dark sweaters.

No Allegiance?

MARSHALL, TEX. (AP)—The Kiwanis club of this Texas-La. border city has refused to pledge allegiance to the U. S. Flag. It termed the stationing of Federal Troops in Little Rock as "the darkest day in Southern history since Reconstruction Days."

Members repeated the pledge of allegiance to the Texas Flag instead.

World In Brief

Queen Threatened

LONDON (AP)—The London Evening Standard says Scotland Yard security officers are investigating a report that an attempt may be made to assassinate Queen Elizabeth II during her American visit next month.

Officials at the Yard declined comment on the story. "We never discuss matters of security," a spokesman said.

The U. S. Embassy here denied any knowledge of the report.

The newspaper said a titled British tourist told Scotland Yard of the plot after overhearing a conversation in Barcelona, Spain.

Witness Testifies

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (AP)—A Japanese scrap collector said a brass cartridge case from William S. Girard's rifle whistled by his leg moments before a second shot killed Mrs. Naka Sakai on the U. S. firing range here last Jan. 30.

Hidetugu Onozeki, testifying in a rain-drenched outdoor session of Girard's Japanese manslaughter trial, said he saw the Illinois soldier stuff a cartridge case in the grenade launcher on his rifle.

Onozeki said he ran away thinking he would be shot.

Four Planes Vanish

LONDON (AP)—Four U. S. Navy planes carrying a total of 10 men have disappeared during giant NATO sea exercises.

Admirals in the giant carriers and cruisers immediately suspended the exercises, which are being carried out with war-like realism, and organized a massive sea and air search for the missing planes and any survivors.

Names of the missing men have not yet been announced.

'Maid Of Cotton' Search Begins

The search is on for the 1958 Maid of Cotton!

Any woman between the ages of 19 and 25, who is at least 5 feet 5 inches tall, and who comes from one of the cotton-producing states may compete for the Maid of Cotton title.

The winner of the contest must have poise, personality, background and intelligence in addition to appearance, as she will represent some 13 million Americans.

She will be good will and fashion ambassador of the American cotton industry and as such she will make a 30,000-mile international tour. This is part of a program sponsored by the National Cotton Council, the Cotton Exchange of Memphis, New Orleans and New York and the Memphis Cotton Carnival Association.

Entry forms and photographs must be mailed before midnight, December 1, to the National Cotton Council, Box 9905, Memphis, Tennessee.

About December 15, a judging board will select 20 finalists from the submitted material. These finalists will be notified by wire to appear in Memphis for personal judging on January 2 and 3, 1958.

All candidates in the Maid of Cotton contest must:

1. Never have been married and be between the ages of 19 and 25, inclusive.

2. Have been born in one of the following cotton-producing states: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia; or have been born in a cotton-producing county in Illinois (Alexander, Jefferson, Massac, Pulaski, Williamson, Madison); or Nevada (Clark, Nye).

3. Be photogenic.

4. Be at least 5 feet, 5 inches tall.

5. Be in excellent health.

6. Be willing and able to meet people.

7. Realize that background, personality and appearance are of equal importance in the selection of the Maid of Cotton.

Unions Must Clean Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO has ordered two more unions—the teamsters and the bakery workers—to eliminate "corrupt influences" and the officers responsible for them.

The ultimatum gave the unions 30 days to report back to the big labor federation on the clean-up.

Its 29-member executive council, top governing body of the merged labor groups, already has issued the same order for reform in the textile workers union.

The AFL-CIO has indicated it stands ready, if necessary, to oust the three groups with more than 1,500,000 members if they fail to take steps to wipe out alleged malpractices.

Dialectic Senate Downs Bill Commending Faubus' Action

By DAVIS YOUNG

Tuesday night the Dialectic Senate, by the narrow margin of seven to six, defeated a bill commending Governor Faubus of Arkansas on his recent actions.

The bill in effect stated: It is the duty of a governor of a state to use his discretion in dealing with impending violence.

Governor Faubus has shown extremely good judgement in handling of the very touchy and explosive Little Rock integration issue, the Di felt.

He is to be commended for his foresight and fine leadership.

The floor was filled with excitement as this highly publicized subject was introduced by Senator William Sabiston, author of the resolution.

Sabiston contended that sending of federal troops into a state was an unprecedented move. He maintained that Faubus had the situation under control and was capable of handling any violence which might occur.

Senator David Mundy immediately took the floor to digress with the first speaker. He cut loose with a sizzling verbal blast at Faubus.

Senator Gary Greer indicated that the Civil War was fought on the issue of civil rights vs. states rights. He went on to closely parallel the existing situation in Little Rock to the eve of the Civil War.

Senator Pat Adams, former Dialectic prexy, summarized the first three speeches in a burst of satire and sarcasm, directing most of his remarks to Senator Sabiston.

With the questions and answers exhausted, the previously mentioned vote was recorded. At the conclusion of the meeting, President Gerry Boudreau asked that all people interested in joining the Dialectic Society attend the next meeting.

District Chairman Of Committee Named

Mrs. Charles H. Crutchfield of Charlotte was appointed today to be a district chairman of the UNC School of Nursing Committee of the Medical Foundation of North Carolina.

Dr. Paul Whitaker of Kinston, president of the Foundation, stated that Mrs. Crutchfield will be in charge of educational programs for nurses activities in five counties: Mecklenburg, Anson, Union, Stanly and Cabarrus.

Mrs. George Carrington of Burlington is statewide chairman of the School of Nursing Committee.

Mrs. Crutchfield, the wife of the president and general manager of the Jefferson Standard Broadcasting Co., is a native of South Carolina, and is active in community affairs in Charlotte, including the United Appeal, Heart Service, Charlotte Symphony, and Women's Auxiliary of the Mint Museum.

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included:

Misses Elizabeth Bain Hinton, Elizabeth Howell and Louis Ann Webb and Edward Harrington Jennings, David D. Olson, James Milton Read, Joseph Skinner, Joseph Pleasant, John Robert Turner, Paxson Biddulph Glenn, Awal Mohamad Hamad, Ronald Clark MacMillian, James McPherson Everitt Sr., John Charles Brooks, Jessie Douglas Canton, Bill Tom Jones, Robert Vernon

Fulk, Robert Graham Peebles, John Jenkins Schroeder, William Gibbs Cable III, John Malcolm McAllister, Frank Hamson Crouther, William MacDonald Savage, Samuel Robert Gaillard, and Sidney Smith Bradford.

Phi Defeats Bill Giving Schools To Religious Units

By FRINGLE PIPKIN

The Philanthropic Literary Society defeated a bill to turn the public schools over to the various religious denominations by a vote of 33-2 Tuesday.

Introducing the bill, Representative Jess Stribbling said that the modern American "knows no moral code save expediency." He blamed this ill and others on the lack of religious training in the American public schools.

By encouraging the Church, he felt, "we can restore purpose and dignity to life."

Representative David Matthews claimed that religious ideals have perverted mind and morals, giving as an example the Israeli-Arab conflict.

He believed that strong religious faiths would cause dissension in the United States and that religion was best in the background.

Guest Clarence Simpson said that the bill was contradictory and was impractical as there are 189 different denominations. He suggested students be given religious training starting in the first grade.

Claiming this bill would put the public schools under federal control, Representative Don Jacobs thought it would be a better alternative, though not the best, for the government to give scholarships to train more top quality leaders.

He felt that religion could take care of itself and that the religions could not work out a plan suitable to all of them. This speech was deemed the best of the evening by the official critic.

Guest Theodore Quast suggested years of study and work to find the appropriate religion and that one should not be forced to accept the religion of his parents.

He proposed this alternative "to do justly and walk humbly with thy God."

Representative Don Gray explained that this bill would present grave distribution difficulties making some people go great distances to find their church's school.

Guest Bobby Scott questioned the ability of the government to run the churches' educational programs as well as the churches are doing.

Treasurer Don Jacobs said the Phi had $37.29 in the bank.

There were people in the hall; many were freshmen who had had debating experience in high school and had been expressly invited by the Phi.

GM's Slate

The only activity listed for Graham Memorial today is a meeting of the Student Entertainment Committee, 5-6:30 p.m., Woodhouse Conference Room.
