Armstrong Speaks At Meeting

By DAVIS YOUNG

The Inter-Fraternity Council sponsored a meeting last night in Memorial Hall for all freshman planning to go through rush.

The purpose of this event was to acquaint all prospective rushers with the rules of rush and the advantages of fraternity life. Main speaker for the evening was Roy Armstrong, Director of Admissions. Bill Redding, IFC president, gave a brief explanation of the function of the group that he heads. He said, "we will try and avoid any dry rush. We feel that it has been clean up to this point."

"We are looking forward to a better rushing program than ever before. I sincerely hope that all of those who will be visiting fraternities next week will enjoy themselves tremendously."

At this point Redding brought Mr. Armstrong to the rostrum for his speech. Armstrong stated: "Rush week will be one of the greatest experiences of your college life. Fraternities have been an integral part of UNC life for 100 years."

"Fraternities are highly respected organizations on this campus. They are sound, sensible, and sane. These groups of men are brought together with a desire for lasting friendship."

"There has been no distinction at UNC between a fraternity man and a non fraternity man for over 50 years. Joining one of these organizations is an individual matter."

"I want those of you that join fraternities to carry yourself with dignity at all times. You are to point for positions of leadership in the higher things in life."

"I would like to take this opportunity to wish you all the very best of luck in the adventure you are about to undertake."

After the meeting, Jerry Oppenheimer, Chairman of the IFC Court gave the Daily Tar Heel this statement: "My advice to rushers is to act yourself, be yourself and enjoy yourself."

"I am confident that through the effective leadership of the IFC that this will be an effectively-conducted rush week. In touring the houses, look beyond the physical plans. Seek those things which are of real meaning."

SP Plans Meeting For Monday Night

The Student Party will hold its first regular meeting next Monday evening in the Roland Parker Lounges of Graham Memorial at 7:30 p.m.

Besides a speaker, who will be introduced by President of the Student Body Sonny Evans, there will be a few matters of business to be dealt with.

Announcements of vacancies of legislative seats in the men's dorm districts will be made at this time. All old party members are encouraged to be present to welcome the new. A special invitation is extended to all new students who are interested in campus politics.

Dead Sea Scrolls Will Be Basis For Talk Here

Effects of the Dead Sea Scrolls discovery upon the foundations of Christian faith will be discussed in a public lecture here Sunday night by Princeton Theologian Charles T. Fritsch.

Professor Fritsch will speak at 8 p.m. in Carroll Hall on the University of North Carolina campus, under auspices of the Department of Religion. He is among the world's foremost authorities on the scrolls, having published last year a work on this subject, "The Qumran Community, Its History and Scrolls."

A member of the Princeton Theological Seminary faculty for 20 years, Dr. Fritsch teaches Old Testament. He is a member of the American Oriental Society, American Archaeological Society, and Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis.

During 1954 he spent six months in the Holy Land as visiting lecturer at the American School of

Fraternity Bids Will Be Given Before Noon

Men going through fraternity rush will be able to pick up their initial invitations between the hours of 9-12 noon today in front of Gerard Hall.

Inter-Fraternity Council heard Jerry Oppenheimer yesterday issued a warning to men going through rush that they must visit all houses to which they receive invitations dur-

Books On N.C. Displayed

Eighty-nine "Outstanding Books about North Carolina" are on display now in the University of North Carolina's Wilson Library, arranged in four large cases on the main floor.

The books were drawn from a list of 100 recommended books about the State compiled by Richard Walsler, professor of English at North Carolina State College, and Hugh T. Lefler, professor of history at the University here, and published by the University of North Carolina Press.

This list was prepared primarily for North Carolinians to encourage reading about the State and to act as a guide for the building of a good North Carolina shelf in personal home libraries.

The exhibition is arranged, for the most part, in the categories provided by the book list: History, Biography and Letters, General, Places, Folklore, Fiction and Short Stories, Drama and Poetry. In every instance the exact edition recommended by the compilers for each title has been chosen for the exhibit and each book is described with a label taken from the annotated list.

Gov. Appoints Two Local Men

Governor Luther Hodges has appointed 30 persons as members of the North Carolina Recreation Advisory Committee. This committee meets annually with the North Carolina Recreation Commission, to which it makes reports and recommendations.

Charles Milner of Chapel Hill was appointed as Chairman. Samuel Selden, also of Chapel Hill, was appointed to the committee as dramatics advisor.

The appointees represent many of the varied aspects of recreation interest in North Carolina. The committee also includes members from many of the geographic areas of the state.

Tension Eases At Little Rock

By The Associated Press

Nine Negro students moved smoothly through a second day of integrated classes at Central High School Thursday. They were protected every step of the way by Army paratroopers but tension at the buff brick institution seemed to be easing.

There was no blood-letting and no skirmishes outside the big school, ringed today as it was yesterday with steel-helmeted, bayonet-ready Army regulars. Students coming out of classes reported no disturbances inside.

Gov. Orval Faubus was scheduled to address the nation last night. It was to be his first formal pronouncement since President Eisenhower took away his control of the Arkansas National Guard and put regular Army troops around the beleaguered high school.

The governor's office said many Arkansas legislators have suggested an emergency session to legislate against state financial aid to integrated schools. It was not indicated in advance whether Faubus would touch on this subject in his televised address.

Faubus' only comment on the takeover of Central High by United States troops came yesterday when he spoke of "the naked force being employed by the Federal Government against the people of by state."

At Tallahassee, Fla., Florida's Gov. Leroy Collins wired President Eisenhower that Southern governors who will meet with him next Tuesday would be free to discuss as individual governors any phase of the integration problems.

However, he said that the five-man committee, of which he is a member, was restricted by the Southern Governor's Conference "to seeking the withdrawal of federal troops from Arkansas at the earliest possible moment."

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included: Misses Elizabeth Graham, Frances Cherry, Elizabeth Howell, and John McAllister, William Corbet, Stewart Golann, David Corkey, Donald MacMillon, Robert Peebles, William Savage, Samuel Gaillard, Sydney Bradford, Henry Simpson, John Brooks, Frank Crowther, Jessie Casten, Bill Jones, Jerome Brown, Randolph Morrisett, James Gardner, Samuel Hollingsworth, Thomas Vost, Alvin Secrest.

Meiggs was reviewed at the time as "thoroughly exciting, . . . exuberant."

Also from the cast of "Peer Gynt" is Al Gordon, who played the "Button-Moulder" in that play. In "The Lark," he takes the role of Captain La Hire, a French soldier who rises and follows Joan against the English.

Ken Callender, best remembered for his work with Fee Wee Batten in last year's "Sound and Fury," will play Robert de Beaudricourt, the knight from whom Joan secures her first assistance toward her goal.

Vets' Requirements Altered Legislature Minus Quorum

Whitfield, Brown, Ray Resign

PRINGLE PIPKIN

With only twenty representatives present the Student Legislature was short of the quorum by six and so did not meet last night.

Although all members were sent notices of the meeting through the campus mail service, only three fifths of the representatives at the meeting had received any notice.

Nine of the women representatives at the meeting had received any notice.

Nine of the women representatives were detained by sorority rush.

Three representatives have given their resignations to Speaker Don Furtado. They are Student Party members, Frank Brown, Whit Whitfield, and John Ray.

Tom Long will replace Whitfield as the floorleader of the SP. Whitfield moved from his district and had to resign.

In both the University Party and the Student Party more resignations are expected to be submitted as several representatives have changed their residence from their district.

Speaker Furtado charged Al Goldsmith, acting floorleader for the UP, and Long with the responsibility of getting written resignations from the members of their respective parties.

The vacated seats will be filled by the party which was holding the seat when the representative resigns.

No meeting will be held next week during fraternity rushing. The omission of this meeting is provided for in the by-laws. The next meeting will be Oct. 10.

There were several representatives with bills for introduction, but the nature of the measures was not disclosed at this time.

Members who missed the meeting of May 9 will have to have excuses by the next meeting.

CAR PAINT

The University Club will have a representative at Y Court today from 1:2 p.m. who will be giving away water soluble paint.

The paint is to be collected in small containers by students who wish to paint their cars for tonight's pep rally.

Solar System Is Theme For Show

A program about the well-known elements that make up our solar system opened at the Morehead Planetarium Tuesday night. The title of the program is "Children of the Sun." It will run through Oct. 21.

In both the school and public programs, our sun and its family of planets are colorfully explained as to their origin, characteristics and composition.

The public programs will be presented nightly at 8:30 o'clock and at matinees Saturdays at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m., and Sundays at 3 and 4 p.m.

Overall Enrollment Up; Freshmen Decline 241

By ANN FRYE

Overall enrollment at the University has increased by 67 students over the fall semester of 1956 despite a noticeable decrease of 87 in the freshmen class.

In a statistical report issued by the UNC Records Office, 7,033 is listed as the total enrollment in the 14 schools and colleges for the current semester. This is an increase of 67 over last fall's enrollment of 6,971.

Significant in the report is the declining enrollment in General College, which handles the majority of incoming freshmen in the University. (This year 1,090 freshmen are enrolled in the General College, while 142 freshmen are enrolled in the Schools of Dentistry, Nursing and Pharmacy.)

Roy Armstrong, director of admissions, was contacted by the Daily Tar Heel to issue a statement as to why the freshman enrollment at the University has declined.

Armstrong said that while the decrease in the General College cannot be attributed to one or two major factors, it could partially be explained by the increase in the cost of living, increase of interest in technological training and the eligibility rules.

Concerning the higher cost of living, Armstrong said that a partial failure of tobacco crops in the eastern part of North Carolina might have accounted for the absence of some students who might otherwise be here. The statistical report indicates that of the total enrollment at UNC this semester, 5,444 came from North Carolina.

Armstrong added that the total freshman enrollment is down 87. The total enrollment, shown to be considerably higher than it has been for the past five years, has not reached the highest enrollment recorded here, which was 7,600 after World War II.

To accommodate an ever increasing enrollment, building projects are underway either in actuality or on paper. Notable among the projects now underway are three new boys dormitories and the addition to Spencer dormitory at a cost of two million dollars.

These are expected to be ready by next September for 652 boys in the three new dorms, and 75 girls in the Spencer addition.

Refreshments were served in the Morehead dining room. (See ENROLLMENT, Page 3)

Aycock Hosts New Faculty

One hundred new members of the UNC faculty were guests of Chancellor William B. Aycock last night at a reception in the Morehead Building.

President William C. Friday and Chancellor Aycock greeted the new faculty members as they arrived.

Former Chancellor Robert B. House, present at the reception, spoke on the history of the University.

Chancellor Aycock expects to hold additional meetings of the kind last night to help new faculty members in making their orientation to the University.

Faculty members were accompanied to last night's reception by their deans and department heads. Refreshments were served in the Morehead dining room.

Clymer, as Cauchon; James Potter as Joan's father; Bill Larsen as the Archbishop; Carl Hinrichs as Ladvenu; Jack Jackson as Tremouille; Bob Aldrich as the Executioner; Dan Linney as an English soldier; and Darwin Solomon as Joan's brother.

Dorothy Blitzer will be seen as Joan's mother; George Manasse, Larry Anderson, John Wilson, Dave Smith, Dave Gore, and Bill Pfeifferson are judges and soldiers; Margaret Starnes, Donna Potter, Lore Schuller, and Anne Riggins play the women of the village.

Margaret Starnes, one of the women, is a newcomer to Carolina and the Playmakers who shows extraordinary promise.

'Good Reasons' To Excuse Men From Phys. Ed.

Officials today announced a new program exempting veterans from physical education if they have valid reasons for not taking the course.

Such veterans could, under application to and subsequent approval of the Dept. of Physical Education, be excused from all physical education courses.

The change—approved by Dean Johnson and the General College Administrative Board—grew out of a petition submitted to General College authorities last spring.

The petition asked that physical education requirements for veterans be placed on a "voluntary" basis, and resulted in following changes in the administration's requirements:

1. Any veteran who feels that he has a valid reason for not taking physical education may submit a request for exemption to the Dept. of Physical Education.

2. Valid reasons will include such things as excessive age and family responsibilities.

3. Every such request will be considered on its own merits.

Commenting on the action taken on the petition, Student Body President Sonny Evans expressed his appreciation for the "clarification and understanding of the veterans' problems" demonstrated by Dean Johnson and the Administrative Board of the General College.

"There are reasons which have been outlined by the Administrative Board which are considered valid," Evans said, "and individuals who qualify should take advantage of the opportunity if they so desire."

Pep Rally Set At 7 Tonight

"Your spirit is the team's spirit" is the motto for the 1957 football season. Head Cheerleader Frank Black reminded Thursday as he announced a big pep rally tonight at Woollen Gym.

The rally will begin at 7 p.m. and will consist of an automobile parade starting at the gym. The caravan will move on to the Chi Phi house, past the Carolina Inn, along Raleigh St. to Raleigh Rd. and return to the gym.

The rally will begin at 7 p.m. and will consist of an automobile parade starting at the gym. The caravan will move on to the Chi Phi house, past the Carolina Inn, along Raleigh St. to Raleigh Rd. and return to the gym.

Coach Tatum and his team, cheerleaders and the university band will participate in the rally.

"The team will be there, so let's show them that we are all behind them by being at the pep rally at 7 o'clock, for the student body's spirit at these rallies and at the games affect, to a great extent, the spirit and calibre of ball the team shows on Saturday afternoons," Black said.

Black said that the "first pep rally was good! It showed a reawakening of the old Carolina spirit. I hope it will continue to grow throughout the season."

YACK PICTURES

Seniors and fourth-year Med students are again reminded to have their Yack pictures taken. Today is the last day. Yack Editor Gene Whitehead calls attention to the fact that neither last year's Yack pictures nor any picture not taken by the Yack photographer can be used in the publication.
