

WEATHER

Mostly fair and mild today.
Saturday, mostly fair and rather cool.

The Daily Tar Heel

MYOPIA

Infirmiry sees to the end of its nose says the editor on page two.

VOL. LVII NO. 19

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1957

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

AT UNC-MARYLAND GAME

Royal Spectators To Get Momentos

The Royal spectators at the UNC-Maryland game. Queen Elizabeth II of England and Prince Philip, will be presented momentos of their visit by a delegation of UNC students. Student Body President Sonny Evans announced today.

At this time, the Queen will be presented with a large UNC banner, a copy of the Yackety Yack, and two stuffed "Carolina rams" for the little Prince and Princess. Also, the University Club will sponsor a formal presentation of the state flag to Queen Elizabeth during halftime of the game, it was announced by Vice President Dave Jones.

All participants will be attired in formal cut away dress. A limited number of "Carolina gentleman" will take part at no additional expense to themselves, Jones said.

Any person interested should contact Town and Campus so that they may place the orders for cut-aways as soon as possible.

Plans for the UNC student caravan to the game are well under way. Bus transportation will be available for those students who desire it.

For $10.50 students can obtain round-trip tickets from Chapel Hill to Washington, D. C.

These buses will leave Chapel Hill between 2 and 5 p.m. Friday and will arrive in Washington six hours after their departure.

The buses will be at the passengers' disposal during their stay in Washington and will take them to the game and return them to their hotel. All buses must leave Washington before 5 p.m. Saturday or 4 p.m. Sunday.

Hotel accommodations may be made by contacting the information booth in Graham Memorial.

The main body of the caravan, from 10-14 buses, will leave Chapel Hill from the Morehead Planetarium parking lot at 3 p.m. on Friday.

A dance has been planned for Saturday evening from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m. The North Carolina Society of Washington will sponsor this dance at the National Press Club, which is located at 14th and F streets in the ballroom on the 13th floor.

There will be a small charge for the dance which will be collected at the door. The UNC Glee Club will sing several selections at the intermission.

Student body Secretary Dot Pressly of Raleigh is shown holding the 1957 Yackety Yack and stuffed animals which will be presented to Queen Elizabeth, II at the Carolina-Maryland game Oct. 19, at College Park, Maryland. The animals are gifts for Princess Anne. (Photo by Kantor)

Tar Heels Meet Miami In Night Game

Honorary Society Taps 15 Members

IDC Notes Dorm Men's 'Devotion'

In secret, pre-dawn ceremonies today, the IDC Honorary Society tapped 15 men who have been outstanding in UNC dormitory life.

Tapped were James D. Womble, Rocky Mount; Rudolph L. Edwards, Rutherfordton; Harvey Theodore Jones, Cary; Bennett Allen Thomas, Morven; Franklin R. Brown, Tarboro; Neil C. Bender, Pollocksville; Oliver W. Alpha, Mt. Olive; Michael Kelly Hayes, Greensboro; Patrick Jackson Leonard, Raleigh; Paul "Whit" Whitfield, Durham; Julius E. Banzet, Warrenton; Steven Grant Lyon, Wilkesboro; Donald L. Watkins, Burlington; George Statorov; and Paul Carr, Hillsboro.

The IDC Honorary Society was founded last year by Sonny Hallford and makes its selections from those men who have "shown devotion to the betterment of dormitory life."

According to IDC President Tom Walters, "the society plans to become extremely active and will later furnish a scholarship fund for deserving students."

This morning's tapping was made by charter members Sonny Hallford, Bob Carter, Neil Bass, Charlie Dunn, Bill Hauser and Tom Walters.

Honorary members of the society include Robert Burton House, former UNC Chancellor; Housing Officer James Wadsworth; James Wallace, former GM director; former Student Body President Bob Young; and Ray Jefferies, assistant to the dean of student affairs.

Exams Rescheduled For SSL Delegates

Examinations for candidate-delegates to the 22nd Annual North Carolina State Student Legislature were not held Wednesday night as originally scheduled, according to Tom Long, member of the interim committee.

Long said that these examinations have been rescheduled for Monday from 2-4 p. m. and for Tuesday from 8-9:30 p. m. in Woodhouse conference room.

The exam will include questions on parliamentary procedure and current events.

All UNC students are eligible to serve as delegates to the legislature, and anyone interested in student government has been invited by officials to attend these meetings.

YACK PICTURES

There will be an extension for freshmen and law students through Friday evening, Oct. 11, at 7:30. Sophomores, student nurses, nursing faculty, and pharmacy students are regularly scheduled to have their photographs made from 1 to 7:30 p.m.

SWEARINGIN TO START—Fred Swearingin, left guard for the Tar Heels, is slated to start in tonight's game with Miami in the Orange Bowl. A 216-pound junior from Petersburg, Va., Swearingin is one of Coach Tatum's key linemen and expected to see a lot of State Wolflets in Raleigh. Folckmer was an outstanding ball carrier in tonight's contest.

Carolina Seeking Third Win; Foes Deep On Defense

By BILL KING

MIAMI, Fla.—The Carolina Tar Heels will be out to make it three in a row here tonight as Jim Tatum's warriors test their resistance against the strong Miami Hurricanes in the beautiful Orange Bowl at 8 p.m.

It must seem strange to Tatum to be in the Orange Bowl against a team which isn't coached by Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson. The two coaches have battled here several times in the past while Tatum was at Maryland.

But Sunny Jim's opponent here tonight is almost as formidable as Wilkinson—Andy Gustafson. And his team should prove a tough test for the lately-inspired Tar Heel contingent.

Miami will bring into this contest one of the country's first defenses, and a better than average ground attack that last week carried the Hurricanes to a 13-7 victory over a strong Baylor club. Miami lost its season opener, 7-0 to

Aycock Head Of Symposium

UNC Chancellor William B. Aycock has been announced chairman of the Carolina Symposium as a result of a meeting of the executive committee Monday evening.

Connie Whitaker, vice-chairman of the Symposium, will serve as chairman of the program committee. Student members of the committee are: Sonny Hallford, Herman Godwin, Ed Levy, Hugh Patterson, Lloyd Daugherty, Martha Richardson and Hanna Kirby.

Ex-officer members of program committee by right of their positions on the executive committee are: Mary Jane Fisher, Jerry Oppenheimer, Al Goldsmith and W. M. Geer.

The program committee will serve to select topics of discussion for open forum and to contact speakers to address the Symposium upon these topics.

Faculty members of the Symposium this year are: W. M. Geer; Dr. George E. Nicholson, math department; John Sanders, Institute of Government; Gerah Johnson, history department; Dr. J. E. King, history department; Dr. W. A. Bowers, physics department; and Dr. Shepherd Jones, political science department.

The Carolina Symposium is a group of interested students, laymen and faculty members working together to bring intellectuals to the University to speak on critical problems of the day.

- 1. Ways and Means: Jack Law;
- 2. Finance: Jeff Hare (replacing Ron Belk), Bob Burge, Bennie Baucom;
- 3. Rules: Graham Clayton, Lucy Forsyth.

Pre-game predictions set the crowd which will gather here tonight at 50,000 or better and the Tar Heels can be assured of their best game of the season in this football-hungry area, certainly an outstanding locale in collegiate football.

Carolina's problem tonight will be twofold: To stop the Hurricanes along the ground and to manipulate an offensive attack which will be to move through a defense which held Baylor to a mere 17 yards along the ground.

To do this, Tatum will probably call upon his steady quarterback Dave Reed to take to the air against the Hurricanes. The Miami front wall, while not impenetrable, will probably give the Tar Heels a lot of trouble and the final outcome of this ball game could rest upon the twirling arm of Reed and his number one and two understudies, Curt Hathaway and Jack Cummings.

As for Miami, fans here can expect to see a tight ground game with very few passes. The Hurricanes have completed only one pass this season and are labeled strictly a running ball club.

The man who bears the closest surveillance by the Tar Heels is senior John Varone, the right halfback. Gustafson calls Varone potentially the finest runners ever at Miami and adds that "he hits harder than Doc Blanchard." Varone has gained 171 yards in two games and 131 of them were against Baylor.

The Hurricanes have a couple of outstanding rookie quarterbacks in Fran Curci and Maury Guttman. Both are left-handers and can handle the ball club with equal ability. Curci, who has gained 144 yards on the keeper play in two games, has earned the plaudits of the experts for his amazing ball handling.

Superlatives for the Miami victory over Baylor carry over to the line which limited the Bears to 17 yards on the ground in 19 tries. The Miami first unit now has played nearly 80 minutes without giving up a first down on rushing. Charley

(See TAR HEELS, Page 4)

news brief

"Scandalous"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—(AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today election records of the Teamsters Union convention show James R. Hoffa could not have been elected president except for disregard of the union's constitution.

Hoffa was overwhelmingly elected at the convention at Miami Beach, Fla., last week. McClellan, chairman of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, also said records surrendered by the teamsters "reveal some situations which are just plain scandalous."

Huge Fireball

DENVER, Oct. 10—(AP)—A huge fireball, described by some as being as large as a house, streaked across western skies narrowly missing a Navy transport plane with 20 persons aboard.

An official of the Civil Aeronautics Administration here said the object undoubtedly was a meteor. It was reported to have hit the ground near Myton, Utah.

A spokesman at the Naval Air Station at Alameda, Calif., said a DC6 which left Alameda at 12:33 a.m. (Pacific Standard Time) was near the fireball as he flew en route to Norfolk, Va.

Racial Ham And Eggs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—(AP)—President Eisenhower smoothed over an international incident today with a breakfast of ham and eggs.

Eisenhower's guest at the White House meal was K. A. Gbedemah, who was refused service at a Dover, Del., restaurant Monday evening because he is a Negro.

Gbedemah, who is the finance minister of Ghana, the new African Negro republic, told reporters after having breakfast with Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon: "The President expressed personal apologies over all that was done in Delaware."

Deadlock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 10—(AP)—The Central High School racial integration crisis subsided today.

State College To Host Model United Nations

A United Nations model assembly, in which UNC will represent France, will take place Oct. 17-19 at State College in Raleigh, it was announced yesterday.

UNC has been asked to furnish the president of the assembly and the chairman of the Ad Hoc committee.

Al Lowenstein, graduate student has been selected to serve as president of the assembly.

Chairman of the UNC delegates to the model assembly, Deborah Sink, stated, "We feel that it is a great honor that our school, out of all those participating, was asked to provide the president."

Interviews for delegates to the assembly will be held today, 3-5 p. m., in the Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial. Any student is eligible to apply.

Dorms To Pick 'Sweetheart' At Hop Tonight

A "Sweetheart of UNC Dormitories" will be picked tonight during an IDC dance slated in the basement of Cobb Dormitory between 8 o'clock and midnight.

IDC Council President Tom Walters said some 10 dormitories have nominated contestants as their "Sweetheart." Winner of the contest will be crowned at 9 p. m.

Nominated by press time Thursday were: Lucinda Holderness and Ann Morgan, sponsored by Grimes dormitory; Ruth Hoffman, sponsored by Joyner; Joan Kaylor, sponsored by Winston dormitory.

Also, Carol Tieslau, sponsored by Battle-Vance-Pettigrew; Ann Miller, sponsored by Ruffin; Betty Graves, sponsored by Old West; Claire Pike, sponsored by Alexander dorm; and Martha Fortune and Betty Davis, both sponsored by Everett Dorm.

Walters said refreshments and decorations will be furnished by the IDC, and music will be by the Bobby Haas Quartet.

Walters said that all persons on the campus are invited to attend the event.

THE AYCOCK STORY

UNC's New Chancellor Will 'Go Forward And Keep Moving'

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of articles which will comprise a three-page section to be published this week in "Popular Government," written by Prof. Albert Coates of UNC, it relates to Chancellor Aycock, who will be officially installed here this weekend.)

No one who heard William Aycock acknowledge the authority and leadership of his schoolmate President in the quietly moving statement, "I mean to serve him well," has any doubt that he means to serve the University of North Carolina well.

And those who saw him through the years turn down offer after offer of higher rank and better pay in other universities, almost to the doubling point, and without a hesitating moment, have no doubt about the fact his heart is in this dwelling place.

What comes first in the University in his thinking is clear to those who heard his laughing answer to a neighbor's observation that his lawn would come along faster if his children kept off it for awhile: "Right now I'm raising children. When I get through raising children, I'll start raising grass!"

His father had followed that sort of thinking in raising him; "talking things over" with him as they did the morning and evening chores together; writing him letters from an understanding heart whenever he came to turning points in college days and after; and opening wellsprings in his life that are running deep and strong today.

It was this way of looking at things that brought him to his work in planning projects for employing and developing latent abilities in thousands of youth all over North Carolina, and helping them find jobs which would help them find themselves.

It was this way of looking at things which he put to use in the Plans and Training Section in Fort McClellan Headquarters, where he was charged with administrative responsibilities in utilizing the resources of this great military center in preparing thirty thousand young men from all over the nation for the stresses and strains of combat duty.

In this faith the founders and written into the charter of the University of North Carolina in 1789 the belief that "it is the indispensable duty of every legislature to consult the happiness of a rising generation and endeavor to fit them for an honorable discharge of the social duties of life by paying the strictest attention to their education."

In this faith the leader of the forces of education in North Carolina at the turn of the century had proclaimed the "right of every child born on earth to have the opportunity to burgeon out all that there is within him."

In this faith the incoming Chancellor will lead the University in its historic mission of helping to build here in North Carolina a way of life and living for which generations of men and women have fought and dreamed and died and scarcely dared to hope.

"Go forward and keep moving" were the orders coming to him as he took command of the Third Battalion of the 346th Infantry in 1945. He had heard those words before—coming to him from within him—

Asian Flu Hits At Wake Forest

WINSTON-SALEM, Oct. 10—(AP)—An outbreak of flu, presumably the Asian variety, has confined some 65 Wake Forest students on the campus here.

Dean William C. Archie said today the outbreak began about the middle of last week. The number of afflicted students has increased steadily since. Five new cases were admitted to special infirmary quarters set up in Efrid Hall dormitory. About the same number were released.

While all students have not been tested individually at least one case has been diagnosed as Asian flu, Dean Archie said. All the confined students are presumed to have Asian flu.