PAGE TWO

Everybody's Home But Us, And Flu Flows Freely ...

From the Associated Press: Release of the 725 prisoners at City Prison Farm (Atlanta, Ga.) was authorized today in a move to halt threatening flue epidemic . . . About 75 of the 725 prisoners have lever and apparently flu," Everybody's going home but us, And there are approximately a thousand or so carriers on the campus.

After a fatality occurs, it'll be too late, Dr. Hedgpeth.

Heaven Or Hemlock?

muneration system for faculties of its present reputation but also any Cornell Daily Sun:

to Cornell today, to teach under slightly better than any. the present conditions, he would sooner take the hemlock and get it over with.

These are the words used by one of Cornell's prominent faculty members to describe the plight of the teachers in the College of Arts and Sciences before the Cornell Council meeting over the weekend.

The Council, an organization of some 200 alumni who serve as "ambassadors, promoters and advisers" for the University, met to get an idea of "The Liberal Arts at Cornell," and what can be done to improve its status. Much of what they heard during the three-day meeting was pure clap-trap, dull and uninteresting fodder about how important the Council is and how fine Cornell is, but there was one high point at which the sorry state of the liberal arts was made properly evident to the Council members.

Current inadequacies in the re- is on the verge of losing not only American colleges and universities new people that might consider are admirably outlined in the be- coming to Cornell. This means low editorial reprinted from the that, unless something is done soon. Cornell will rank as a university "It Socrates were asked to come slightly worse than most, instead of

> Now, there are things about Cornell which will always attract a certain number of excellent professors. There is the kind of 'individuality in choosing the type of teaching and research you are to do that will forever be an attraction to those men who cannot subscribe to the autonomous orders of a department or a college. There is the kind of freedom that an individual professor has inside the classroom, in teaching what and how he wants, and outside the classroom, in living the way he prefers.

> There is a kind of student at Cornell, non-provincial and generally able, unlike those at the mid-Western school who are generally from one state, or those at the other lyv schools who are generally from one class.

There is a kind of congeniality among academicians, a respect and And that high point was the ut- admiration for others in the teachterance of the statement above, a ing profession, that stretches from statement by Prof. Max Black on entomolgy to engineering, from Friday atternoon. By itself it is agronomy to architecture, from stark and a little ludicrous, but geology to government. There is a Mr. Black succeeded in backing it whole indefinable atmosphere at up. He went on to point out that Cornell which has made it different the great teachers of the past, the from other schools, which attracts men for whom Cornell is known- to it the kind of men who care more people like J. O. Adams, George that they're free than that they're underpaid.

VIEW FROM THE HILL: U.S. Foreign Policy And Its Inconsistencies

By GANS

There exists in American foreign policy two very startling inconsistencies between political expediency and the democratic ideal as couched by those who wrote the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. The first of these can and must be corrected, and the second remains a dilemma that will be impossible to straighten while the game of power politics continues to be played.

It was ostensibly on the issue of representative government that the Thirteen Colonies went to war in 1776; yet, in 1957 the United States has compiled an admirable record in interfering in two important elections abroad, an act specifically prohibited in the regulations on the passport of every American who possesses one.

. .

The most recent case of intervention in elections concerns the recent re-election of Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats in Germany, Here, according to French, German, and British accusations and according to admissions of certain foreign office personel, the U. S. spent money and time in backing the Christain Democrats' successful aspirations to re-election over the Social Democrats.

It was a successful election, but it was not carried out without the wrath and fear of some of the United States' closest allies being brought out. The anger is over the new concept of sovereignty that the U.S. seems to espouse-

"This Happened Without Any Violence At All"

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1957 13000

CAROLINA CARROUSEL: Male Meets Female Teeth Get Cleaned?

Gail Godwin

Of all the boy-girl approaches I have ever witnessed or experienced I have just been eye-witness to the most unusual. While dining out in the friendly atmosphere of the N. C. Cafeteria, I noticed the young man sitting next to me was gyeing me out of the corner of his eye. Finally he spoke: "Would you be interested in having your teeth eleaned?" he asked. Not, "Haven't I seen you someplace before?" or "Where are you from?" but "Would you be interested in having your teeth cleaned?"

I wondered whether I should slap him or inquire further. I did the latter, since nobody likes to create scenes in cafeterias.

Here was a struggling young dental student. hunting for patients in cafeterias in order that he could get enough points to graduate. It runs a point per patient, I suppose. Always ready to answer the plea of a worthy cause, I made an appointment for 2 o'clock the next afternoon.

After winding around the numerous halls, going up and down steps and asking directions from everyone in white coats, I found the School of Dentistry. Picking out my boy among several eager white-clad figures was no trouble at all. We then proceeded downstairs to get me okayed, this being a precautionary measure taken by the school.

The "Operating Room" back upstairs was more like a classroom. But instead of desks, there were rows upon rows of dentist chairs. His was by the window, thus affording some degree of seclusion.

The proceedings took from two to four and I have never had so much attention in my life. My dentist was equipped with a little assistant that handled her job as efficiently as a surgical nurse. Every few minutes an instructor would stroll by and peer into my mouth to make sure everything was all right. One man asked me if I needed a transfusion. I am sure that nobody's teeth have ever been cleaned as thoroughly as mine were on ')'s momentous afternoon,

Besides this, I got a natural bristle toothbrush a "denticator," and first-hand instructions on how to brush my teeth the Steelmen-McCall way.

I urge all coeds with time on their hands and hygiene in their hearts to take the beaten path through the woods to the University Hospital. Here you can do your good deed for the day by helping these worthy young hopefuls make "A" in Lab.

Lincoln Burr, Carl Becker and Robert Cushman-would not be attracted to the University today.

They would not want to have to lecture to a hundred anonymous faces instead of educating a small group first hand, they would not want to have the heavy class load which cats into the time needed for research and learning, they would not want to have the laughably poor research facilities of the present library, they would not not want to, and they would not come to Cornell.

This means that the University

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, where it is published daily except Sunday, Monday and examination and vacation periods and summer terms. Entered as second class matter in the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the Act of March 8, 1870. Subscription rates: mailed, $4 per year, $2.50 a semester; delivered, $6 a year, $3.50 a semester.

Editor	NEIL BASS
Coed Editor	ALYS VOORHEES
Managing Editor	DOUG EISELE
News Editor	BILL CHESHIRE
Assi. News Editor	PATSY MILLER
Sports Editor	BILL KING
Asst. Sports Editor	DAVE WIBLE
Business Manager .	JOHN WHIFTAKER
Advertising Manager	FRED KATZIN
Circulation Manager	SYD SHUFORD
Wire Editor	PAUL RULE
Subscription Mgr.	AVERY THOMAS
Feature Editor	BEN TAYLOR
Librariaņ	GLYNDA FOWLER
FEATURE STAFF Monk Wilson, Ch

EDIT STAFF - Whit Whitfield, Nancy Hill, Gail Godwin, Al Walters.

NEWS STAFF-Davis Young, Ann Fryc, Dale Whitfield, Mary Moore Mason, Stanford Fisher, Edith MacKinnon, Pringle Pipkin.

But with all the advantages that this university has, it is nevertheless true that it will fail to attract a large portion of the able educators that it so badly needs for the perpetuation of greatness, For Mr. Black's arguments are sound, irrevocable ones-th Cornell faculty is under staffed, underpaid, overworked, and without tim or faciliries for research and study. And as long as this is true, no matter what other benefits the University may have, many of the better graduates will turn to the $15,000 lull professor salary at Harvard or the guaranteed free time at Princeton. and Cornell will suffer.

The challenge is therefore clear. The first and most crucial responsibility for all those connected with the University is to insure that the freedoms, the special atmosphere of Cornell academics, will never be compromised or distorted by those in administrative positions. But the second vital responsibility, and one in which the Council members can play a part, is to get enough money -pure, simplé cash - to raise salaries, to get more teachers, to build the research library, to build a new building for the Arts College, etc.

The voice of need has sounded clear to the University. The challenge has been given to the Cornell Council, the group that professes to be the triends and helpers of the University. They have been given a task of major proportions, and they have been asked to show their real spirit and lovalty. They probably will not be faced with a serious a problem as this in the next several decades, for it is the liberal arts, the humanities, and the means to implemnt and teach these, that are going to prove starkly crucial in the years to come.

We hope the Council members can meet the challenge, can answer as they should to the problems that face the University. Frankly, we have our doubts that they will: we think that complacency and shoulder shrugging have taken too much a hold, that the interests of the humanities will never be made clear to those who do not appreci-We would like to be proven ate them to begin with. wrong, of course-in fact, we beg to be. But the challenge is easily forgotten, easily pushed aside in the minds of the Council members. All we can say is that if the problem is pushed aside, eventually so will the Council.

that of U.S. taking a part in the sovereignty of other nations. Their fears are that they may be the next countries in which the U.S. will try to interefere with the electoral processes.

This problem came into bold relief earlier in the year when the U. S. tried unsuccessfully to interfere, with many dollars and much time, in the municipal elections of Manila in the Phillipines. The net result of this diplomatic foray is that the city of Manila has now a Communist mayor, Not only did the people of Manila react violently to interference in their democratic processes, but they pronounced very clearly to the U.S. that the meaning of sovereignty is that the people of a given state choose the repre sentatives whom they want, and not the representatives that another nation wants them to want.

The Phillipines is one of the most important island groups in the Pacific. With it goes one of the keys to control of that vast sea-the Pacific, and one of the natural and most important U. S. bases. Germany, at present, is the strongest nation in Western Europe. The U. S. stands to lose both these nations, but what is more important the U. S. could suffer the breakdown of its entire alliance system through the fear of other nations that their sovereignty is in jeopardy. It is this very alliance system that causes the second inconsi- as a guide,

L'IL ABNER

ADIE

(D)AY

NOV 23

WE'LL BE UNLOST IN A

Sulley.

POGO

AWKINS

position, lately, of consistently backing colonial and imperial interests over the interests of the indigenous population. This is notably apparent in the case of the British squabble in Cyprus, and up the NATO alliance.

security system.

SIGN

ED TO STRIKE

TERROR

NTO MAH

HEART !!

Circulation Stagnates And Readers Search In Vain

A sufficient number of Daily

Tar Heels should be printed each day so that every interested person can have a copy. They should be placed in classroom buildings and in the eating places downtown, as well as at the present points of distribution, and the supply should not run out before the demand for

Of course it costs money to publish a newspaper. We paid our money as part of our registration fee. It takes time and effort to keep enough copies on hand at convenient locations. Students in Poland recently were willing to give more than just time and ef-

All of us should read the Daily

GRADUATE STUDENT

EDWIN A, SMITH

In marrigae the "better half"

is usually the half who can control his or her temper, or continue patience, understanding or love a few seconds longer, and with better grace, than the other half .--- C. U. Wells

fort to their newspaper.

Tar Heel.

them has stopped each day.

DEAR EDITOR: the French-Algerian crisis, If

America backs the British and I wouldn't walk a mile for a French interests, it becomes guilty Daily Tar Heel, but I wouldn't of being faithless to the principles start the day without reading one. the American Revolution was (Not if I could find one, I wouldn't, fought upon-that of self-rule. If but sometimes that isn't easy.) it sides with the Alegrians and You and your staff, who spend Cypriots, it is in a position of many long hours in its preparaalienating two of its most firm tion, surely woll agree that our allies, and conceivably could break student newspaper plays an important role in the life of the University. It tells us what the peo-The dilemma remains, and the tion, surely will agree that our U. S. has chosen again on the own campus community. It side of political expediency over written about us, and it speaks democratic principles in siding for us. And we appreciate it, (alwith the British and French in ways admitting there is room for hopes of preserving the Western improvement, of course.)

Surely you are aware that a great many of us do not read the There may be some doubt as Daily Tar Heel for the simple to which is the right action in reason that it is not made available. It is delivered to dormithis latter case, but in respect tories, sororities and fraternities, to interference in the sovereignty and to various other points, inof existing countries, the U.S. cluding Lenoir Dining Hall, But must now and forever assume the why does the supply at Lenoir run oft-stated policy of laissez-faire. out by about eight o'clock every morning? Where should one look Someone, a long time ago, said, after that? Consider also these "To thine own self be true." The of us who eat downtown, or are U. S. would do well to adopt this married and come from home directly to class.

Air Age Is Of Age, & An Anthem Myth By NICHOLS

With all this talk about rockets and man-made moons it was kind of refreshing to see a crowd gather at the Raleigh-Durham airport to watch a blimp take off.

Many children and parents stood around while the crew prepared the blimp for flight. I strongly suspect that the parents were just as much, if not more, impressed by the proceedings than were the children.

In one little group the pilot was explaining to a young girl why you could call a blimp a "ship". and why this term could not be applied to an airplane.

Finally, the impatient crowd was rewarded for their watchful vigil. Amidst many cries of "Hurrah!" and "There she goes!" (Plus a few comments such as: "It'll never fly") the blimp-started on its amazingly short taxi and rose in the air at approximately a 60 degree angle.

We watched it float out of sight, intrigued by such messages as "Give to the U.F." and "Buy Chrysler, Plymouth, DeSoto, Dodge, Imperial," etc. which flashed on its side.

The air age has finally come into its own-it's sponsored.

In case you haven't noticed (in which case, I suspect, your aesthetic values are dead) the leaves on the campus trees are changing to all sorts of colorful hues. I've always thought, with pride, that our campus here at Chapel Hill must be one of the most beautiful in the world and at this time of year and in the spring I'm convinced of it.

There's a conspiracy on campus. At the risk of being indicted for un-American activity I'd like to say I'm for it, too.

* * :

It seems that some individuals are crusading for the removal and replacement of the National Anthem

It has very patriotic words, and all that, but face it-it's unsingable.

I, for one, am tired of standing before hall games, and at various other times, and listening to the males bellowing out the "Oh say, can you see?" only to turn it over to the females when it comes time to screech "And the rocket's red glare No wonder the trend has been to get a profession ally trained singer to sing the anthem while every one stands silent.

I'm for participation. If we can't do a good job on this one, let's get one on which we can.

I got suckered into plaving straight man in the following routine the other day:

J. C : What is a Chinese chimney? --

+ Devo

G. N.: I'll bite. Pray tell, what is a Chinese chim

SPORTS STAFF-Erwin Fuller, Mac Ma-- haffy, Al Walters, Ed Rowland, Ken Friendman, Donnie Moore, Neil Lehrman, Elliott Cooper, Carl Keller, Jim Purks, Rusty Hammond.

PHOTOGRAPHERS - Norman Kantor, Buddy Spoon.

Night Editor MANLEY SPRINGS MANLEY SPRINGS Proof Reader

BUT, NOW THET AH IS

HOPELESSLY MARRIED,

AH INJOYS TH' MISERY

BACHELORS AS THEY

DESP'RITLY PRACTICES

O'TH'REMAININ'

RUNNIN'!!

I C . An Acian flue, C N . Groant wall that's the way it mas biddies The moral of that story is: Just don't ask questions. * * * For there who are interacted the Press, Fauntry terms wine tomorrow ansines Manufond, this hear informed that "This is the only meat the Tar Head harriers have a chance of Insing " Could it he we're in for another undefeated team on campus?