Tar Heels Defeat Deacons 14-7 Cummings Spearheads Fourth Win

Suspension For Season Says Tatum

By DAVE WIBLE
WINSTON SALEM — Fifteen thousand football fans shunned the prospect of watching the Duke-State game on TV here yesterday, as they sat through a cold, gray dreary day in horseshoe shaped Bowman-Gray Stadium to watch a hard fought battle between winless Wake Forest and the Carolina Tar Heels which ended with Carolina on top by one touchdown.

PILOT UNC WIN — Sophomore Jack Cummings above, threw one touchdown pass and spearheaded a second scoring rally yesterday to give Carolina a 14-7 victory over Wake Forest in Winston-Salem. The 19-year-old quarterback took over in the absence of Dave Reed, suspended with two other players Thursday.

15,000 See Carolina Hand Wake Forest Her Sixth Loss Of Season

By BILL KING
WINSTON SALEM — The Carolina Tar Heels called on the accurate right arm and field generalship of sophomore quarterback Jack Cummings to lead them to a 14-7 victory over Wake Forest Deacons in Bowman Gray Stadium yesterday.

An estimated crowd of 15,000 fans braved cold, drizzling weather to watch the Tar Heels send the Deacs down to defeat number five, and picked up their fourth win against only two losses.

Cummings, who took over at the helm for the Tar Heels when regular quarterback Dave Reed was suspended on the eve of the game, guided his ball club with the aplomb of a four year veteran, passing for one touchdown and setting up the other with an aerial thrust.

The Tar Heels were apparently not hurt badly by the loss of Reed and tackle Leo Russavage, nor was the absence of injured halfback Jim Schuler too detrimental to Jim Tatum's club.

The contest was not of the "real thriller" caliber, as both teams had numerous drives bog down, especially in the first half.

The suspensions and injuries caused Tatum to draw upon his bench resources to gain this triumph over the Deacs, but Carolina's top 22 once again came through in fine fashion.

Carolina co-captain and left end Buddy Payne must be given a big share of the credit for the Tar Heels' first score. It was the Norfolk, Va., senior who leaped high into the air to snag Cummings' 21-yard pass in the end zone with 4:55 remaining in the first half.

The tally came after the two clubs had battled to no avail through almost two periods, fighting it out inside the 40-yard lines. Neither was able to come up with the big play which would carry deep into enemy territory.

But after the Tar Heels had come up with the second period touchdown, the fireworks began to pop as the Deacs took advantage of a Ron Marquette fumble and marched down field for the tying foot TD with only seven seconds remaining in the first half.

Cummings set up the final touchdown with a fifteen yard pass which carried to the Wake Forest two with 9:45 left in the third period.

Carolina's first drive started on its own 44. The Tar Heels took over when Wake Forest back Bruce Nunnally kicked to Emil DeCantis at the 44. DeCantis called for a fair catch and the Tar Heels drive began.

Daley Goff carried Carolina to the 47 on a drive up the middle. Then Goff took a Cummings pass at the 50 and on the next play went to the Wake 46 for a first down.

Goff again carried the luggage for the Tar Heels and this time he was good for 15 yards around left end to the 31. Fullback Giles Gaca then broke off left tackle to the 21, just short of a first down.

But Cummings had just begun to pitch and on the next play he faded and passed to Payne who out-battled defending halfback Fete Barham for the ball and fell out of the end zone after the catch. Phil Blazer gave Carolina a 7-0 lead with a perfect boot.

Referring to the gang murder of Albert Anastasia, Hardwick telegraphed, "It is believed that mob rule prevails in New York and gang murders are on the loose. Obviously local law enforcement unable to cope with situation."

"Respectfully suggest that you withdraw the troops and pull out the boys from state of Arkansas and the South and move them forthwith to the state of New York where there is a real, not imaginary, job to do," he wired Eisenhower.

Hardwick has been among the severest critics of Eisenhower's use of Federal Troops at Little Rock to enforce a Federal Court school integration order.

Text of the telegram:

"Respectfully invite your attention to total breakdown of the law of the land in New York City. Press releases today indicate Albert (Boom Boom) Anastasia, the cold-blooded executioner of the old Murder Inc., mob, was assassinated yesterday in barber chair in New York City. Further reported he was taking over the mob. Mob will commit other premeditated murders.

"Report further Anastasia had beaten five murder raps through the murder of key witnesses. It is believed that mob rule prevails in New York and gang murderers are on the loose. Obviously local law enforcement unable to cope with situation.

"Respectfully suggest that you withdraw the troops and pull out the bayonets from state of Arkansas and the South and move them forthwith to the state of New York where there is real, not imaginary, job to do.

"Situation in Little Rock and South peaceful."

Zhukov Fired By Presidium

LONDON, Oct. 26 (AP) — Russia's parliament has relieved Marshal Georgi Zhukov of his post as Soviet Minister of Defense, Moscow Radio said tonight.

An announcement by the official Tass News Agency said Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky had been appointed to replace Zhukov.

The Tass announcement said simply:

"The U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet Presidium has relieved Marshal G. K. Zhukov of the post of U.S.S.R. Minister of Defense."

The star of Zhukov, 61-year-old soldier with one of the most brilliant military records of World War II, had been on the rise since the death of Stalin and there even had been speculation that he might be getting ready to seize power from party boss Nikita Khrushchev.

There was no hint of the reason for removal of Zhukov, a wartime personal acquaintance of President Eisenhower, from his top post—wielding vast power and influence throughout the Soviet Union.

It was the second military shift announced from Moscow this week. Only last Wednesday the Russians made it known that Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, deputy Minister of Defense, had been appointed commander of a military area facing the frontiers of Turkey and Iran.

Zhukov, stocky and slab-faced was one of the most decorated men in the world. He came out of the war as a glittering military hero with a fabulous record of victories in such battles as Stalingrad and Berlin.

But he was given no high political office until after Stalin's death in 1953—some said the old dictator was jealous of Zhukov's fame and popularity.

He became deputy defense minister when Georgi K. Malenkov succeeded Stalin as premier in 1953. When Nikolai Bulganin succeeded Malenkov in 1955, Zhukov became defense minister.

The following year he became a member of the Communist party central committee and an alternate member of the Presidium, or Politburo. Only last year he was elevated to full membership in the Presidium and students of Communist affairs thought he stood astride the Communist world practically on equal terms with Khrushchev.

There has been nothing recent in the news to indicate Malinovsky's star was on the rise.

As far as is known, the hemmed-in hero of World War II held no official position beyond that of alternate member of the Soviet Communist Party central committee.

Malinovsky first won fame on the southern battlefield of Russia in the Nazi invasion of 1943, when his armies rolled back the invaders from the Ukraine and the Crimea.

World In Brief

Seeks Compliance

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26 (AP) — The general president of the Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, said tonight he hopes the United Textile Workers of America will comply with an AFL-CIO directive issued Friday to rid themselves thoroughly of corrupt influences.

William Pollock said if the UTW leaders fail to comply and subject their members to expulsion from the AFL-CIO, TWUA will hold open "the door to a clean, honest, labor-run union of textile workers under the banner of the AFL-CIO, so they can remain in the house of labor."

Suit Filed

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP) — The mother of a 9-year-old boy who died in a theater during the showing of two horror films filed suit for $25,000 damages today.

The boy, Stewart Cohan, died Oct. 28, 1956, in the Lake Theater in suburban Oak Park. The movies there at the time were "The Black Sleep" and "Creeping Unknown."

Thomas Talks Monday

Norman Thomas, America's leading advocate of socialism, will speak here Monday night on the subject of civil rights in connection with U. S. foreign policy.

His speech, sponsored by the Carolina Forum, will be held in Carroll Hall at 8 o'clock.

Six times the Socialist Party candidate for President, Thomas declined to run for a seventh because, he said, the Democratic Party had stolen his party's platform.

Thomas has been a socialist since World War I. He has stated that he joined the socialist movement because he believed it to be the only organization "realistically facing the problems of war and the need for economic change."

The mother's attorney, David Reiff, said the youngster slumped unconscious in his seat after seeing a racket ship explode in "Creeping Unknown."

He added that the boy died in the lobby shortly afterward, and that a coroner's physician attributed the death to a ruptured artery in the heart.

Carolina Snow

Snow fell yesterday on the high mountain tops of the Carolinas.

The snow, general in the high places, carried no immediate threat to travel or communication.

The Blue Ridge Parkway remained open and so did highways into the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, which straddles the North Carolina-Tennessee 6,000-foot high border.

Charges Denied

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 26 (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today denied allegations by Rep.

Since joining the movement, he has been a staunch defender of labor's right to organize. During World War II he actively engaged in a campaign for a peace treaty that would reject both "vengeance and imperialism."

Since that time he has been a prominent figure in the campaign for world disarmament and international inspection and control of the means of armament production.

He has stated publicly that he opposes both appeasement of the Soviet Union and "get tough imperialism."

Following his address here, a reception will be held in his honor in Graham Memorial.

Paul Amen is proud of his squad for that reason. He said that it was the best game of the season from the view point of not making mistakes.

Tatum made it clear to the press after the game that the suspension of Dave Reed, Leo Russavage and Bernie Donatelli last Thursday is permanent. He added that he didn't consider what effect the loss of the trio would have on the team. He protected his statement by saying "... but it is a man's privilege to change his mind."

He didn't make any more comments on the subject.

Jack Cummings, who took over the starting quarterback job for the suspended Reed, was showered with praise by Tatum. The accurate-passing sophomore was given the first string signal calling position today and turned in an outstanding performance during the afternoon. He proved to be a passing quarterback by completing 6 of 10 tosses.

The Tar Heel tactics as explained by Tatum were to hit the corners of the Deacon defense with end runs and passes. It was that part of the Deacon defense that he felt he could gain the most ground.

Solon's Intervention Asked In West Search

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C., Oct. 26 (AP) — Melvin West, a man in a boat against the sea, tonight still was missing on—or under—rough waters between here and Bermuda.

As hour after hour passed without word of the young man, his father appealed to his Congressmen for help from the Coast Guard.

"The boy may be drifting out there now with no food and no water," said Barry J. West, the father. "All I ask is that the Coast Guard search the Bermuda area."

West, 28-year-old Jacksonville, N. C. disc jockey, left here the morning of Oct. 17 in a 15-foot, 30-horsepower outboard motorboat and has been sighted only once since then.

He was contacted by a freighter 240 miles east of Cape Lookout, less than halfway to Bermuda, on Monday, took on fresh provisions but no fuel and continued his journey.

The U. S. Coast Guard, which said it spent perhaps $300,000 in a two-day search for West last weekend, has refused since Thursday the request by Melvin's father, Barry West, that it search again.

The Coast Guard told planes on training or weather flights out of Bermuda to keep a lookout, but said it would consider another search only when the situation became more urgent.

West's parents, who run a fishing pier near Morehead City, and the adventurer's wife and three children remained hopeful. The wife said earlier this week that 16-month-old Barry J. West still didn't realize his father was so far away, but kept asking for his daddy whenever anyone came to the house.

Elias J. Mavis, captain of the tanker Aldebaran which contacted West last Monday, said from port in New Jersey that he and his crew had to persuade the outboard motorboatman to take on more food, along with water and matches.

Capt. Mavis said he offered to take West back to the mainland but that he stoutly refused. "I told

Beware, Duke, Is This Moral

MORGANTON, N. C., Oct. 26 (AP) — Mount Airy rammed across a touchdown against Olive Hill early in the football game between the two Negro high schools here last night, and the crowd went wild. Especially so Walter Michaux of Morganton, who police said jumped from the stands and ran onto the field brandishing a shotgun, threatening to shoot the whole Mount Airy team if it scored again.

Michaux was hauled off to jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Final score: Olive Hill 19, Mount Airy 6.

MOST UNUSUAL ENTERTAINMENT

Polgar's Fun With The Mind Show Here Tuesday

Often described as the "world's most unusual entertainment," Dr. Franz Polgar's "Fun With The Mind" show comes to Memorial Hall next Tuesday evening, October 29.

Dr. Polgar, who holds degrees in psychology from the University of Budapest, will present a fast-moving, two-hour program of mental gymnastics that has both delighted and baffled audiences from coast to coast.

His frequent guest appearances on such radio and television shows as Arthur Godfrey, Garry Moore, Dave Garroway, Steve Allen, and Arlene Frances have exhibited his mystifying feats to millions of viewers.

Polgar's personal appearance displays a breathtaking performance of telepathy, memory feats, and hypnosis, thrillingly presented with wit and humor that frequently has the audience rolling in the aisles.

In the telepathy portion he will find any object hidden by the audience, aided only by mental directions given by someone who knows its whereabouts — without uttering a sound.

One of his memory feats is to memorize the contents of a current magazine, ads and all. He'll pass the pages around among the audience and read off the text and descriptions of the photographs of any page number called.

Polgar's exhibition of hypnosis is just as amazing and startling as his maneuvers in telepathy and memory magic, but the hypnology portion of his show, performed with volunteers from the audience, is also hysterically funny.

His subjects fall asleep at his command, shiver at his suggestion that it has suddenly gotten very cold, and just as swiftly perspire profusely when he tells them it has become unbearably hot.

Football heroes are too weak to pick up a book he has dropped on the floor when Polgar says it weighs 500 pounds and, in post-hypnotic suggestion, find it impossible to move a foot after the mental wizard has told them it will be stuck to the floor when they awaken.

Virgil Miess, Dallas Times Herald columnist, wrote about Dr. Polgar: "We would say that the Messrs. Martin & Lewis couldn't manage even one laugh more from the audience in the same time. The show is hilariously funny simply because it makes some of your neighbors do the darndest things."

Other critics have said of Polgar, "You've got to see him to believe it."

Tickets are on sale at Graham Memorial, YMCA, Carolina Inn, Danziger's and at Pace's in Glen Lennox. Student tickets are on sale for $1.00.
