Plans Near Complete For Elgart

Plans are well underway for the approaching Germans week end. Mark Cherry, Germans Club President, has announced that the featured attraction for the Germans dance will be Les Elgart and his band. Elgart will appear in concert on the afternoon of November 8, at 3:30, and will play for the dance that night from 9-12 p. m. He will bring 16 orchestral pieces and his vocalist for the concert and dance. Leo de Lyon, humorist, also had been tentatively promised for this date, but he will be unable to return from his European tour until the 16th of this month. The decorations for the dance, which is held in Woolen Gym, will be more extensive and elaborate this year than in former years. This will be part of a new emphasis on the atmosphere of the dance itself. The Germans Club also announced the election of John McKee, Zeta Psi, as vice-president replacing Dave Moge, Sigma Nu.

Foreign Tour To Be Talked

For those who have a yearning to travel, plus a desire for further education, the NSA has a program which combines both interests.

Miss Carrie Smeltzer, assistant director of Educational Travel Inc., a subsidiary of the U. S. National Student Assn., will be on campus Dec. 3 to meet with those interested in foreign travel programs.

For ten years, Educational Travel, Inc. has been providing a low-cost foreign travel program and maintaining a travel information and advisory service for American students.

Since 1948, 4,000 students have participated in ETI tour programs. ETI tour prices range from $785, for 54 days, to $1,045, for 81 days.

ETI is able to offer inexpensive foreign tours because of its close cooperation with similar European Student Union programs, and because it is a non-profit organization.

The European Student Unions make many of the travel arrangements for ETI and provide travel guides.

Each guide is a student representative of his country, familiar with the history, customs and cultural heritages of his native land. In each country a different student guide accompanies ETI tours.

Tour programs include visits to Holland, England, Scotland, France, Germany and Italy, among others.

Those students interested in attending the Dec. 3 meeting should contact Whit Whitfield, NSA Coordinator, as soon as possible. Whitfield has announced that unless there is sufficient response the meeting will be cancelled.

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included: Misses Ann Riggins, Nancy Greene, Emory Burkhardt, Mary Alys Voorhees, Kathryn Walsh, Wadie Mikhall; Faye Dark, Sara Jane Nicholson, and Sue Gilliam.

TO APPEAR FOR GERMANS—Internationally-known Les Elgart and his No. 1 dance band in the United States will appear here next Friday for 1957 Winter Germans. Elgart, above, directs his 16-piece band which also includes a vocalist. The concert is at 3:30 p. m., and the dance will be held from 9 to 12 p. m.

World In Brief

Taylor Withdraws

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, today withdrew by request as principal speaker at an Alabama Veterans Day observance in Birmingham.

Taylor announced his action by releasing an exchange of telegrams with Raymond Weeks, director of the Birmingham committee, which had invited the chief of staff to speak there Nov. 11.

In his message, Weeks said that his committee was "greatly embarrassed" but had reached the regretful decision to "release you from your obligation" to speak in Birmingham.

Since the time of the invitation, Weeks said, there had been "unfortunate procedures" which have "stirred up emotions and prejudices not only in the South but all over the country."

Weeks did not say directly what these "unfortunate procedures" were, but presumably the reference was to dispatch of federal troops to enforce federal court orders for integration of Central High School in Little Rock, Ark.

Nixon-Knowland

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) will step out of the way of Vice President Nixon in the 1960 Republican presidential primaries outside of California, it was reported authoritatively today.

That does not necessarily mean Knowland won't try for the presidential nomination. Presidential primaries do not determine the choice of the national convention, although they can influence that choice. Friends say Knowland hasn't made up his mind about trying for the big prize.

Ike's Speeches

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—President Eisenhower today chose Nov. 13 and Oklahoma City as the time and place for the first of a series of confidence-boosting speeches to the people.

The speech, beginning at 10:30 p. m. EST that Wednesday night and running for half an hour, is to be on "science and security."

The central nature of the whole series was laid down by Eisenhower in a New York speech Oct. 22. He took note of public concern over America's scientific position, national defense, economic strength and foreign policy.

LEGISLATIVE ROUNDUP

Closer Cooperation At Athletic Events Urged

BY PRINGLE PIPKIN

Dick Sessoms (UP) introduced a bill Thursday night "encouraging closer cooperation among colleges of the Atlantic Coast conference in regard to visiting student seating arrangements at all athletic contests."

Kannaiah Konuri, a native of India who has been studying tobacco production, processing and warehousing in the United States, spoke to the Student Legislature about India's present problems.

Contrary to yesterday's report Ed Levy (UP) said that the Tar-nation was not receiving funds from the Student Legislature at the time it went out of business.

The "whereas" clauses of the seating arrangement bill charged ACC schools "have been increasingly guilty of assigning poor

Recallers Report 800 Signatures

Kuralt Fails To Name Candidate

By ANN FRYE

Wally Kuralt, spearheading a recall election for editorship of the Daily Tar Heel, said Friday some 800 persons have signed petitions calling for the vote.

Officials said Thursday that 1,050 names—or one-seventh of the student body—are needed before Student Body President Sonny Evans can order the recall.

At the same time Kuralt said "three or four" persons are being considered as candidates in event the election is affected. He would not elaborate on the statement.

Kuralt initiated the recall Thursday with distribution of 25 petitions across the campus. He charged that current Editor Neil Bass is "incompetent."

Kuralt said the petition did not stem from recent editorial policies of Bass, but from "general incompetence of Bass in managing the paper and staffs."

As to possible candidates in a recall election, Kuralt said that three or four persons are trying to decide on one of themselves to run so as not to split the vote. Kuralt would not comment further on possible candidates.

He said, "I have nothing to do with the candidates. That's out of my line. All I'm doing is to conduct the recall."

As to the petitions now circulating, Kuralt said that the signing of those petitions is moving along as well as he had hoped.

Funeral Plans For Dr. Leary

Funeral services for Dr. Deborah Cushing Leary of the UNC School of Medicine, who died in New Jersey Tuesday, will be conducted Friday at 3:30 p. m. in Boston, Mass.

Her husband, Dr. Welt of the UNC medical faculty, survives, along with her mother, Dr. Ogla Leary of Boston.

In asking that no flowers be sent, in accordance with the wishes expressed by the family, it was suggested that gifts in lieu of flowers be sent to the Deborah Leary Foundation, the UNC School of Medicine, Chapel Hill, for projects Dr. Leary was pursuing in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

SEEKS FIFTH WIN—Tar Heel mentor Jim Tatum, above, will be seeking the fifth win of the current season when his unpredictable Tar Heels meet the Tennessee Volunteers in a 2 p. m. game today. The Vols are a slight favorite over the Carolina eleven.

Miss Gail Willingham Is Homecoming Queen

Pretty Gail Willingham, sponsored by Lewis dormitory, was named Homecoming Queen here last night in a weekend kick-off dance at Woolen Gym.

Miss Willingham and her court of 9 other coeds will reign over homecoming activities here today. The queen was chosen by popular vote.

Her court was selected Friday afternoon from 21 candidates. The judges were Mrs. Bill Aycock, Sam Magill, Dr. Virgil Mann, and Bob Cox.

The nine members of Miss Willingham's court are Jane Brock, sponsored by Zeta Psi; Frances DeArmour, Chi Phi; Martha Fortune, Chi Psi; Patsy Poythress, Mangum; Judy Rock, Alexander; Susan Ross, Phi Gamma Delta; Nancy Royster, Graham; and Josie Ward, Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Last night's dance was the first in a series of events scheduled throughout the weekend to honor alumni of the university and visitors from Tennessee.

Other activities today will include, besides the UNC-Volunteer football game at 2 p. m., a reception at Graham Memorial following the game and the showing and judging of Homecoming displays.

Benny Thomas, president of GMAB, which sponsored the dance, said, "To my knowledge this is the first time a Homecoming dance has been given for the specific purpose of selecting the Homecoming Queen. Up until this year she has been announced and crowned on the football field.

"For a function like this, with the exception of Germans, the crowd tonight is terrific. I am well-pleased with the turnout and with the participation and cooperation of the various fraternities and sororities."

The guest speaker will be Prof. Allan H. Bone of the Music Department at Duke University.

The fraternity was founded 59 years ago at New England Music Conservatory. Membership is open to all persons interested in music.

Officers of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia are: Eddie Bass, president; Harvey Miller, vice president; Dick Willis, corresponding secretary.

Also, Ronald Hamilton, recording secretary; Bill Kellam, treasurer; and Wally Kuralt, pledge-master.

Tennessee Is Favored In Colorful Rivalry; Heels Seek Fifth Win

By BILL KING

It's Homecoming Weekend at Carolina and the highlights of the festivities gets underway this afternoon at two o'clock in Kenan Stadium when the Carolina Tar Heels clash head on with the Tennessee Volunteers.

It's the renewal of an old and colorful rivalry between two state universities whose football history occupies a niche in the archives of great American football annals.

The Vols come into the contest sporting a 4-1 record and holding a slight edge among the oddsmakers to blemish Coach Jim Tatum's 4-2 mark with the Tar Heels of 1957. But this is a familiar role to the surprising Tar Heels. Three times they have been labeled underdog this season, and three times they have retaliated with impressive victories over supposedly powerful teams, namely, Clemson, Navy and Miami.

The Tar Heels would like nothing better than to send the old grads away boasting of "our Carolina team," but to accomplish this feat they'll have to reckon with one of the country's most unique single wing assemblages.

DEFENSIVE BATTLE? Indeed, the single wing formation is the life blood of this vaunted Tennessee attack and the Vols have the horses to shoulder the burden. But the Tar Heels are not without a counter attack as Tatum has an ample supply of hard-running backs and capable passers to match offenses with the rugged Tennessee contingents.

Thus, this could turn into a brilliant defensive struggle with the bouquets going to the team which is most able to make the proverbial cheer of "hold that line" a reality. Weather could play an important part in this tussle. Should the elements cause the ball to be unable, both teams could open up a strong ground attack. Weather permitting, however, there should be a lot of passes thrown today.

If such is the case, Tatum will probably send his number one chunker Jack Cummings to the firing line. The sophomore signal-caller took over for Dave Reed last week at Wake Forest and handled the team like a veteran, completing nine passes, one for a touchdown.

GORDON LEADS VOLS The Vols' attack will be centered around tailback Bobby Gordon. Gordon leads the team in practically every department and has completed over 50 percents of his passes this season. Gordon is the acknowledged master of the devastating "option play" and it's a sure bet the Vols will use this frequently.

With the cool and collected Cummings throwing, it's unlikely the Tar Heels will call upon the run-pass play as much as in the past, but this is a dangerous weapon in case Smiling Jack isn't up to par. Actually, this is a form of the option play, and consequently, could lead to some razzle dazzle football.

Both clubs are possessors of a formidable ground game also. The Tar Heels have boys like halfbacks Daley Goff, Don Coker, Emil DeCantis, Jim Schuler, and Ron Marquette around to move the pigskin.

HALF PRICE President of the Student Body Sonny Evans has announced that date tickets for the South Carolina-UNC game November 9, will be placed on sale at half price.

REPUBLICAN CLUB The Young Republican Club met last night. After a business meeting, a social was held.

The club has elected the following officers for 1957-58: president, Jim Steele; vice-president, Dave Suckow; recording secretary, Alvira Williams; corresponding secretary, Sally English; treasurer, Emily Stafford; editor of club newspaper, F. V. Dunmore; committee chairmen: membership, Rick Wolfer, Jr.; publicity, Dave Suckow; program and speakers, Keith Snyder; social, John Moller.

Ways and means of avoiding violence and promoting good sportsmanship in connection with the UNC-Duke game were discussed in a Thursday night meeting of leaders from both schools.

Student Body President Sonny Evans said yesterday that the captains of both teams and the student body presidents planned send letters to students, alumni and friends in the coming weeks.

The letters will urge cooperation between the two groups in avoiding violence in connection with the game. "We will stress player participation, not fan participation," Evans said.

The joint meetings between UNC and Duke leaders have been held yearly since 1945. In that year an outbreak of violence took place on the Duke campus.

Men's Honor Council Chairman George Ragdale said in connection with the conference: "If the attitude of those people present truly reflects the attitude of the student bodies of Duke, and UNC, I feel that any action will be confined to the football field."

Immunity Is Good 1 Year The 350 students who got the vaccine shot at Gerrard Hall on Friday can expect protection from the virus for 9 months to one year according to Dr. Robert B. Lindsay of the UNC Infirmary. The shots require 10 days to become effective, he said.

Although the current epidemic is temporarily declining there is no assurance that it will not break out anew. Flu runs in waves and another outbreak is a distinct possibility.

The flu-type is still unknown, but tests are being conducted to determine its identity. Former patients of the Infirmary who suffered from respiratory ailments, have been asked to report there to give blood sample. The samples are being analyzed to determine the nature of the outbreak.

Reactions to the vaccine are uncommon, and when they do occur, are mild. They usually take the form of slight headaches or fever. The vaccine, however, should not be taken by persons who have allergies to eggs or who are suffering from respiratory ailments.

The shots were available to the student body, free of charge, on Thursday and Friday. Shots were given between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 p. m., on those days.

Music Lovers Plan Banquet The Carolina chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia music fraternity will hold a Founder's Day banquet tonight at Harvey's Cafeteria in Durham.

The guest speaker will be Prof. Allan H. Bone of the Music Department at Duke University.

The fraternity was founded 59 years ago at New England Music Conservatory. Membership is open to all persons interested in music.

Officers of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia are: Eddie Bass, president; Harvey Miller, vice president; Dick Willis, corresponding secretary.

Also, Ronald Hamilton, recording secretary; Bill Kellam, treasurer; and Wally Kuralt, pledge-master.
