Petitions Backer Says 1,000 Names Obtained

Wally Kuralt yesterday said he already has "over a thousand signatures" to a petition calling for a recall election for editor of the Daily Tar Heel. One thousand and fifty signatures are needed to initiate the recall election.

In addition to the 100 or so petitions originally distributed, 100 more have since been printed and distributed, Kuralt said. He did not say who was responsible for these additional petitions.

Under a compulsory candidates' meeting held Monday night, which all candidates for the Nov. 12 election were required to attend, Kuralt said he did not know if anyone had attended with the intention of running for the Daily Tar Heel editorship.

So far no one has announced his candidacy for this office. This appeared to preclude the possibility that the recall election would be held during the regular fall elections since the deadline for candidates in this election was November 1.

'Free Flicks' Schedule Released For Semester

A schedule of Friday night "free flicks" has been released by Mike Strong, chairman of the GMAA Free Film Committee. "Flicks" have been scheduled every Friday night for this semester. They will be shown in Carroll Hall at 7:30 and 10 p.m.

"I'm hoping," Strong said, "that free flicks will be shown on Saturday nights as they were during September and October. The Free Film Committee is working on still operating within its budget, securing Saturday films, while for the year."

The present confirmed schedule of Friday night "free flicks" is listed below.

- Nov. 8—"King Solomon's Mines" (color) with Deborah Kerr, Stewart Granger and Richard Carlson.
- Nov. 15—"An American in Paris" (color) with Gene Kelly, Leslie Caron and Oscar Levant.
- Nov. 22—"Mrs. Miniver" with Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon and Teresa Wright.
- Dec. 6—"Show Boat" (color) with Kathryn Grayson, Ava Gardner, Howard Keel, Joe E. Brown and Marge and Gower Champion.
- Dec. 13—"East of Eden" (color) with James Dean, Julie Harris, Raymond Massey and Burl Ives.

Tuesday Is Ballot Day On Campus

Campus-wide elections will be held next Tuesday to fill key judicial, legislative and class posts on the UNC campus.

Art Sobel, election board chairman, said all day balloting will fill positions on the Men's and Women's Honor Council, Student Legislature, Student Council, and freshman, sophomore and junior class offices.

He urged that all students "take an active part in the elections," pointing out that winners in the ballot will "represent you for the coming year."

Sobel said ballot boxes will be placed in all dorms with the exceptions of Kenan and Connor. Kenan residents may vote at McEver, and those in Connor, at Winston.

Town women may vote at Gerrard Hall; Town Men's 1, Carolina on; Town Men's 2, Scuttlebutt; Town Men's 3, Graham Memorial; and Town Men's 4, Victory Village.

Town women may at Gerrard Hall, the elections board chairman said.

Any student with a qualified excuse—including confinement to the infirmary, absence from Chapel Hill, or other reasons approved by the elections board—may apply for an absentee ballot, Sobel said.

Applications for these ballots must be made to Sobel by 5 p. m. tomorrow and must be returned to the elections board by 6 p. m. on election day.

Sputniks May Harm Citizens

The furor over satellites in the sky may blind Americans to "the simple and basic tasks" of developing citizens, a Tar Heel educator declared here tonight.

Guy B. Phillips of Chapel Hill, a member of the State Board of Education, gave his warning in a speech prepared for delivery at the banquet session of the North Carolina School Principals Assn.

"We might lose the satellite race and not be ruined, but if we lose the race for a trained and educated citizenship, we will be lost," Phillips asserted.

He also reminded the school principals that "the south is in the throes of prejudice and fear which threaten the very existence of the region and of individual states." He made it plain he referred to the issue of segregation in public schools when he added that "education is in the center of this issue. It is not easy task to stand by and wonder what tomorrow will bring forth."

Phillips is a professor and former dean of the school of education at the University of North Carolina. Until recently, he served as executive secretary of the North Carolina School Boards Assn.

The banquet session concluded a principals association.

Although North Carolina is involved in the southern crisis, Phillips declared that the state "stands at the threshold of a new economic opportunity which can be capitalized upon through wise leadership and an educated and qualified citizenship."

Solens Will Meet Tonight

The Student Legislature will meet tonight at 7:30 on the top floor of New East.

The session will be the last before the fall election.

A resolution "encouraging closer cooperation among colleges of the Atlantic Coast Conference in regard to visiting student seating arrangements at all athletic events," will be discussed by the Ways and Means Committee.

The bill was introduced last week by Dick Sessions (UP).

Student Body President Sonny Evans has not yet formed a list of the members of the students to be on the board of investigate The Daily Tar Heel.

He said he would have "the committee settled in a few days."

DR. J. C. SITTERSON

Sitterson Cites Historians' Lag

"Preoccupation of Southern historians with the period of sectional conflict is a major deficiency in the writing of Southern history," stated Dr. J. Carlyle Sitterson, professor of history at UNC in a Wednesday address at Rice Institute.

Despite the impressive achievements of southern historians in the last half century and the great progress toward a full and objective history of the South, Dr. Sitterson said, "the approaching centennial of the Civil War had already diverted the energies of southern historians to that great conflict to the serious neglect of other significant and unexplored areas of the region's history."

Among these topics needing study, Dr. Sitterson mentioned the growth of Southern industry, the history of the Negro since Reconstruction, political party history in the 20th century, and the role of Southern congressional leadership in the 20th and late 19th centuries.

Also appearing on the panel discussion of the "Present Status of Southern History" were Professors Avery Craven of the University of Chicago, William Hesse of the University of Wisconsin, and Wendell Stephenson of the University of Oregon.

WERE OBJECTS REAL?

'No Evidence' Exists, Says NORAD Official

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 6 (AP)—The North America Air Defense Command reported today it received 46 reports of unidentified objects from throughout the nation last night but only three, including one from Kearney, Neb., "deserved further study."

Capt. Andy Beasley, NORAD public information officer, said two Air Force investigators were sent to Kearney after a Californian, R. O. Schmidt, told of sighting a cigar-shaped object on a Nebraska prairie and chatting with four men and two women in it.

Beasley said the command had not yet decided whether to assign inspectors to the two other reported sightings. He did not say where these reports came from.

Society Rejects Resolution To Remove Tatum

By DON SHAW

A resolution calling for the removal of Tarheel Coach Jim Tatum was rejected at a meeting of the Philanthropic Society Tuesday. The measure was defeated by a vote of 4-11.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. Don Jacobs of the Ways and Means Committee, urged the firing of Tatum "in the interests of peace and harmony and for the preservation of the high academic standards of the University of North Carolina."

Jacobs said that few men have brought more controversy to the campus of UNC than Tatum. He is important, he said, is the way you play the game.

Speaking in opposition to the measure, Rep. David Matthews said, "Mr. Tatum was hired for one purpose—to build a winning team. The removal of other UNC coaches was blamed on their failure to do this."

The statement was made by Steve Moss, an alumnus of the Dialectic Society, that "all great men are controversial" and if we want a winning team, we want Tatum.

The opponents of the bill generally maintained that Tatum would be able to build up the Tarheel team within a year. They could see no "taint" that the Daily Tar Heel may have fanned this controversy.

Americans were accused of being more interested in watching a Saturday football game than launching a "Sputnik" of its own.

Rep. Clarence Simpson furthered these statements by implying that the football scholarships provided by the university could very well rank UNC football as professionalism.

In answer to Tatum's question in the Nov. 2 issue of The Saturday Evening Post, "who can be proud of a losing team?", Rep. Ronnie

Final Plea Is Made By Physician

Threat of an Asian flu epidemic here was emphasized again today as plans were completed for a two-hour vaccine distribution clinic at Gerrard Hall.

University Physician E. M. Hedgpeth said the clinic will be held between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. today. Vaccine will be available at no cost to all UNC students.

Dr. Hedgpeth emphasized that all vaccine not used in today's clinic, and a similar one slated tomorrow, will be "disposed of," presumably for use elsewhere in the state.

Medical authorities have urged all students here to take the Asian flu shots, with an eye to preventing a major outbreak of the disease in the Chapel Hill community.

"Just because a person may have a mild cold is no reason why he shouldn't take advantage of the vaccine," Dr. Hedgpeth said.

He said only those persons sick with a fever, or others allergic to eggs or chicken, should refuse to take the shots.

Clinics today and tomorrow were announced Tuesday after laboratory tests confirmed the presence of the Asian flu virus in earlier cases of influenza here.

At that time, Dr. Hedgpeth said the tests showed that "some of the illnesses recently experienced on our campus were due to the Asian strain of influenza virus."

Officials formerly had planned to conduct only two clinics, both held last week, but disclosed plans for those today and tomorrow after receipt of the laboratory reports.

By Tuesday, only 1,300 students had been inoculated with the Asian flu vaccine, but the infirmary had on hand an additional 4,500 doses for use in the new clinics.

Frat Dorms Have Co-Mural

The dormitories will cooperate with the fraternities in some intramural athletics during the winter Tom Walters, Inter-Dormitory Council President, announced last night.

The plan, originated by Inter-Fraternity Council President Bill Redding, provides for teams of the same composition.

The details of the plan will be worked out by the intramural department of the university.

"It is a very fine idea on the part of Bill Redding, and we have had excellent cooperation from Coach Walter Rabb and his staff," commented Walters.

The IDC unanimously passed Bob Carter's motion to spend $131.50 of its activity fund in order to house one foreign student.

Usually the Student Legislature makes a special provision for this program in the IDC budget, but through an oversight it was left out last year.

Walters said that the dorms may if granted prior approval from the IDC, have open house in the social room for girls from 12-6 on Saturday afternoon.

Rudy Edwards, IDC social chairman, announced that this coming Saturday afternoon the IDC in cooperation with Graham Memorial will have a combo after the football game in Cobb Dorm Basement.

The IDC sold 50 blazers to make a profit of $100. The next blazer sale will be in the spring.

In an effort to stop unauthorized buying for the dorms, Mike Hayes announced that dorm officials have been given authorization cards which the merchants are supposed to ask to see before anything can be charged to a dorm.

Want To Pledge Phi Beta Kappa

The hallowed reputation of the honorary Phi Beta Kappa is in jeopardy.

Somebody has misconstrued the whole purpose and function of Phi Beta.

It seems that a letter was sent this week addressed to the "rushing chairman of Phi Beta Kappa."

This letter was recommending consideration of a certain boy for membership in Phi Beta.

Prueitt said, "we're proud of our team-win or lose." The thing that eased on removing him because he UNC team had not immediately jumped to the top of national ratings.

The proponents of the bill were outspoken in their support of the measure. One speaker said, "I'm in favor of throwing him out in the woods." Others felt that Tatum "harmful to the student body of the University" and "a discredit to this institution."

"Can a crude tyrant gain the respect of his players?" was asked by another. The meeting was held on the top floor of New East building.

Body Takes Other Important Action

By DAVIS YOUNG

The Carolina Symposium, under the direction of Chairman Sonny Hallford, met yesterday afternoon to hear reports from committees, appoint a new vice-chairman, Jerry Oppenheimer, and to announce chairmen for standing committees.

A report was heard from Al Goldsmith, chairman of the finance committee, who stated: "We have raised close to $2,500 at this point. I would like to thank the Interfraternity Council for a grant of $25 and the University Party for a donation of $50. Our anticipated budget is about $6,000."

Jimmy Wallace of the faculty, reporting for the program committee, said: "I come to you with a great sense of urgency, for I can think of nothing at the present time that can exceed the excitement that I have concerning the 1958 Symposium."

"The Symposium of 1941 opened my eyes as a freshman and this year's should open up many eyes too. This year we will discuss how to control the world, but rather how to survive."

"The first part of the program will be an investigation into the present technical and political situations. Secondly, we will look at our chances to recoup the losses we have incurred."

"We will try to map out a short range program to rectify our situation and a long range program. We will look chiefly into the American educational system in this part of the program."

"The third part of our program will be concerned with the spiritual and moral survival of the world. We will try to find an answer to the question: do we have to become like Russia to survive against her?"

At this time Chairman Hallford rose to express regret over the resignation of Connie Whitaker as vice-chairman. He then introduced Bill Geer, who spoke momentarily about the reason for the Executive Committee's recommending Jerry Oppenheimer for the vice-chairmanship.

He stated: "Upon Connie's resignation we felt that in the interest of time that we had to make a recommendation. I am very happy that Jerry has expressed willingness to undertake this responsibility and I hope that he will be able to realign the program committee which he will head immediately."

Oppenheimer was elected by acclamation and spoke briefly to the group stating: "There is very little to add to what has already been said here this afternoon. I would like to thank you all very much for the confidence that you have displayed in me."

"The undertakings of this job are tremendous and if it had not been for the efforts of many people, particularly Connie Whitaker, before my election, I would never have undertaken this job."

"We all owe a large vote of thanks to Connie for her continued interest in the Symposium. I hope to have some concrete reports to give you in a matter of weeks concerning speakers for the spring program."

Chairman Hallford made the following selections for committee chairmen: social and hospitality committee, Lucie Crossland and David Biren; classroom and departmental seminar committee, John Raper.

Also: program committee, Jerry Oppenheimer; organization and administration committee, David Parker; handbook committee, David Sloane; and finance committee, Al Goldsmith.

Also: Physical arrangements committee, Charles Pittman and Pat Adams; and exhibits committee, Evelyn Moore.

Also: office committee, Mary Jane Fisher; and publicity committee, Charlie Huntington general chairman with Dick Robinson handling leaflets and poster and Davis Young in charge of newspaper publicity.

Chairman Hallford issued the following statement to the DTH after the meeting concerning the resignation of Miss Whitaker and the selection of Oppenheimer to replace her.

"I am indeed happy with the choice of Jerry as the new vice-chairman of the Symposium. At the same time I express regret that Connie Whitaker has ever that we are indeed fortunate been forced to resign. I feel how to have Jerry step in at this time considering the circumstances. His main responsibility will be as chairman of the program committee."

"I look forward to the work ahead of us and feel confident that we will be able to continue moving ahead in determining our program for the Spring of '58 under Jerry's leadership."

World In Brief

California Governor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, California's Democratic attorney general, expressed confidence today he'll be elected governor next year. He said the issues will include Russia's Sputnik and what he termed a "deal" among Republican candidates.

Whoever wins could be a big man in 1960 presidential politics, so the pre-election maneuvering is getting more than usual attention.

Brown held a news conference here to follow up one yesterday at which Gov. Goodwin J. Knight announced he was giving up his bid for re-election and would run instead for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Knight's action left the GOP gubernatorial nomination open to Sen. William F. Knowland. Brown is the only Democrat who has announced for governor.
