

WEATHER

Cool and considerable cloudiness with occasional rain.

The Daily Tar Heel

VOL. LXV NO. 49

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1957

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

They're DUKathon Queen Contestants

Shown above are nine contestants for the annual DUKathon Queenship. Seated in front are Lee Jackson (L.) and Hilda Holt. Left to right on second row are Nancy Adams, Louise Crumbley, Eleanor Williamson, Doris Greenfield, Margaret Nealey, Coleman Jenkins and Glenda Fowler. The DUKathon Race will be held Saturday.

(Buddy Spoon Photo)

'Teahouse Of August Moon' Opening In Memorial Today

The Carolina Playmakers turn Okinawans tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial Hall when the curtain rises on the merry "Teahouse of the August Moon."

In this rousing comedy of military occupation, William Smith, Durham, plays Sakini, the native interpreter.

As Capt. Fisby, Joe Dillard, Greer, S. C. will be seen.

Sodani Vani-Vadhana, Bangkok, Thailand, takes the role of Lotus Blossom, beautiful Geisha girl.

Others in the cast include Barbara Battle, Miami, Florida; Edith Hinrichs, New York, N. Y.; Frances Bell, Danville, Va.; Mary Ann Harvey, Sheffield, Ala.; Hope Sparger, Seaside, N. Y.

Also: Kenneth Callendar, Greensboro; James Potter, Goldsboro; Lucy Ann Dunlap, Anne Brooke; Staunton, Va.; Anthony Harvey, Lynchburg, Va.; George Manasse.

Durham; David Smith, Burlington.

And Oliver Bloomer, Whiteaker; George Hill, Robbinsville; William White, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Sam Baker, Greensboro; Gene Parsons, Landis; and Bob Andrews, Durham.

Good seats for the production are still available and will be on sale at the box office, Memorial Hall, which opens at 7:30 on the evenings of performance. "Teahouse" will run through Sunday evening.

Probing Committee To Omit Editor's Viewpoint

By ANN FRYE

The newly-appointed committee to study areas surrounding the office of editor of college newspapers decided to steer clear of any consideration of editorial viewpoint.

The five-man committee, headed by Pat Adams, made this decision at its initial meeting yesterday.

The major business taken up at the meeting included naming the committee and stating its purpose.

This legislative committee, appointed by Student Body President Sonny Evans, will be known as the "Newspaper Research Committee."

Its purpose, as stated by its members, involves a study of methods of selection of editor of the newspaper on other college campuses and internal organization of the paper, in order to obtain recommendations to be reported to Student Legislature.

To implement this purpose, the committee will follow this general procedure: 1) write letters to all college daily papers and certain professional groups; 2) find out about the management policies of

(See Newspaper Page 3)

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included: Misses Sue Donisthorpe, Patricia Jones, Amy Peck, Jean Williams, Dorothy Reaves and Mrs. Joanne Wise.

Messrs. Kenneth Brimmer, George McNeill, Joe Quigg, Curtis Hathaway, George Wrape, Cecil Garrett, Frank Montgomery, Charles Baker, James Dunn, Edward Faulkner, Joseph Rannion, Dana Quade, James Coleman, William Bonner, Allen Post, Robert Peebles, Daniel Connell, Richard McCallister, Oyvind Norstrom, James Crowell and Robert Krain.

Election Gaining Momentum

A move to oust the present editor of the Daily Tar Heel took a new tack today with announcement by Paul Rule of South Norfolk, Va., that he will be a candidate in the recall election slated for November 26.

Rule's announcement put three candidates in the field, including the present editor, Neil Bass.

Previously, Wally Kuralt—whose petitions initiated the movement—announced that only one candidate would oppose the present editor.

Apparently this candidate was Barry Winston of Chapel Hill, whose candidacy was announced late yesterday.

In announcing his intention to run, Rule said he was not connected with the group that circulated the recall petition or with the present administration of the paper.

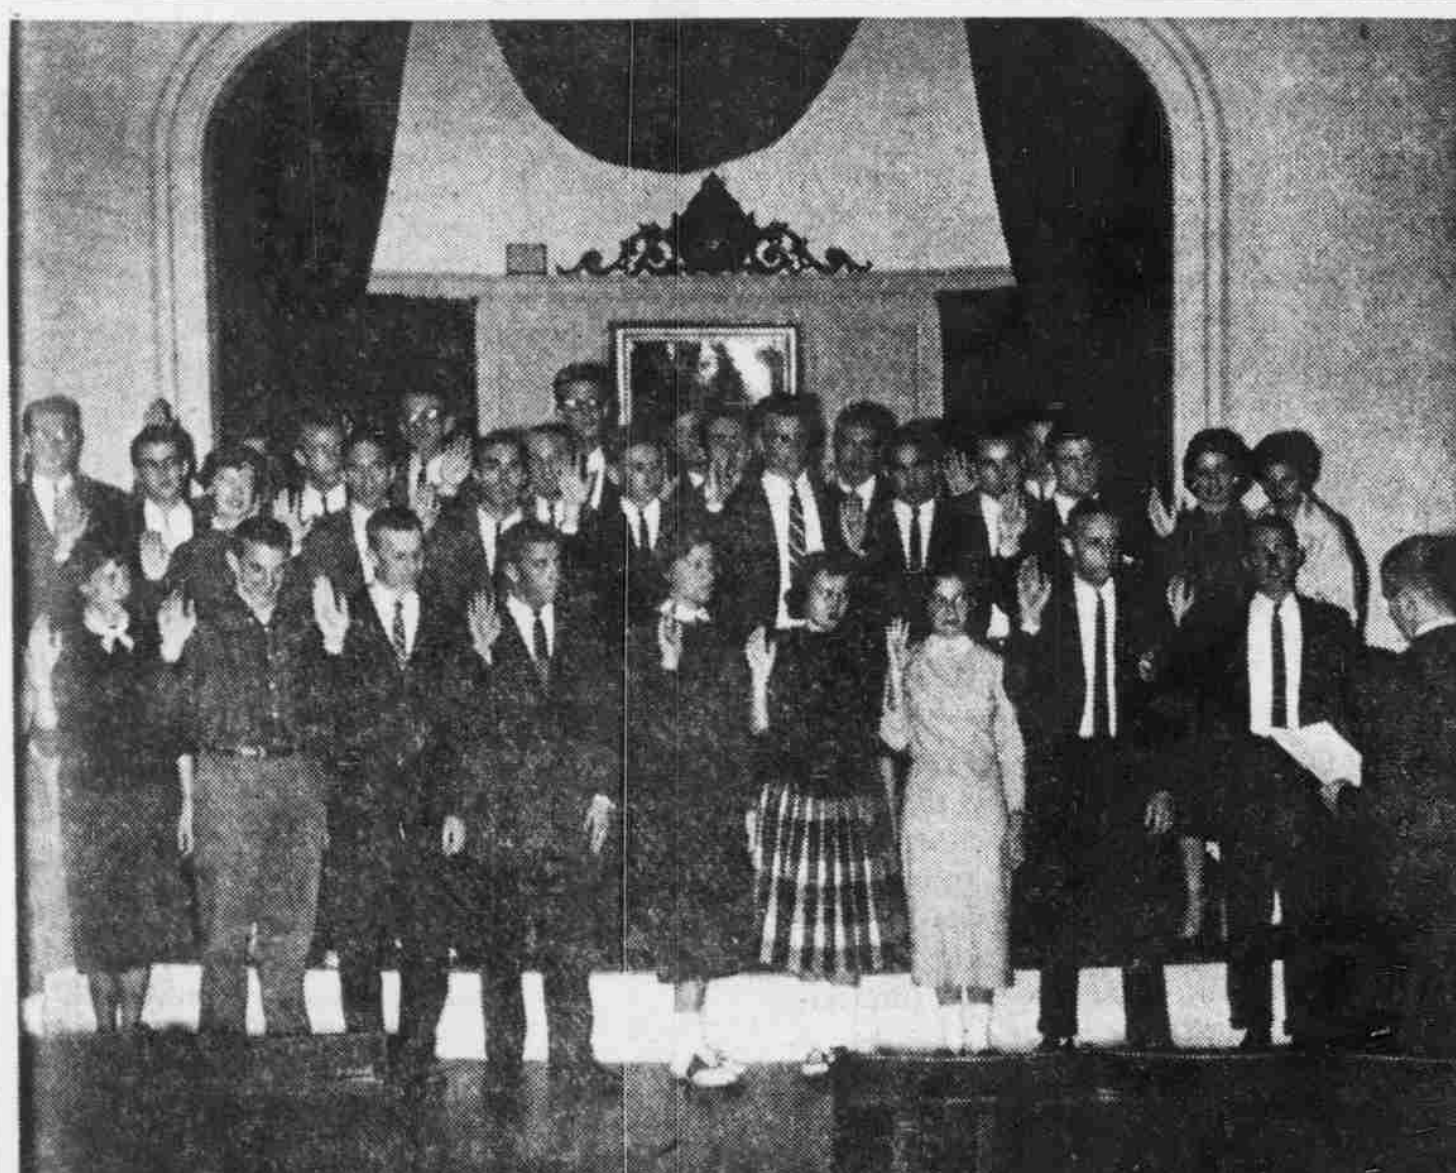

"I am entering this campaign as a completely independent candidate," he said.

He pointed out that his campaign would be based on two major points: economy and neutrality in news coverage.

"However," he added, "my personal editorial policy would be one of moderation with a Southern point of view."

Turning to economy, he pointed out that the Daily Tar Heel represents an investment of several thousand dollars of student funds.

"Through economy measures and

LEGISLATORS SWORN IN—Don Furtado, speaker of the Student Legislature swears in the newly elected legislators during ceremonies last night. There were thirty three new members inducted. (Norm Kantor Photo) expanded coverage I believe a much better paper can be produced for less expense," he said.

A 26-year-old junior and journalism major, Rule has been editor and publisher of the weekly South Norfolk (Va.) News since the spring of this year. In addition, he is United Press correspondent for the South Norfolk area.

Currently he is wire editor of the Daily Tar Heel and in the past has worked for a number of papers in the Norfolk-Portsmouth, Va. area. Rule announced that Grayson Mills, a junior and former Daily Tar Heel staffer, will be his campaign manager.

PAUL RULE

Ackland Art Gallery Is Theme Of Address

Kenneth A. Ness, acting chairman of the UNC Art Dept., spoke on the new Ackland Gallery at yesterday's In-Service Training Program, sponsored by the Dean of Women's office.

Deadline Extended In Recall Election

By PRINGLE PIPKIN

A bill "to postpone the deadline for nominations to be in for The Daily Tar Heel recall election until 6 p.m. Nov. 19, 1957" was passed last night by the Student Legislature.

The bill was introduced jointly by John Brooks (SP) and Al Goldsmith (UP). The bill was passed by special orders with an almost unanimous voice vote.

Goldsmith said the bill was not meant to indicate any particular stand on the recall election but was to give the political parties a chance to back candidates if they desired.

Brooks introduced a bill "to establish the North Carolina State Student Legislature Delegation of the University of North Carolina as an independent organization with its officers and members subject to the approval of the Student Legislature.

The bill will go to the ways and means committee.

Leo Wardrup (UP) was elected speaker pro tem over Harold O'Tuel (SP) by a vote of 25-23; the vote was on party lines.

Tog Sanders (UP) was re-elected clerk over Caleb White (SP) by a vote of 23-20. Neal Boden (UP) won the position of sergeant-at-arms over Tom Kearns (SP) by a vote of 24-23.

By acclamation Jack Lawing (UP) was re-elected chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; Jeff Hare (UP), chairman of the Finance Committee; and Lucy Forsyth (UP), chairman of the Rules Committee.

John Brooks (SP) was appointed parliamentarian. This office was formerly elective, but it was felt

(See Legislators Page 3)

AMERICANISM

Do Americans want TV-its and complacency or freedom asks the editor on page two.

Governor Adds To Controversy Over SSL

Hodges' Comment Praised, Attacked By Political Leaders At Carolina

Inter-Race Marriage Bill Talked

By DOUGLAS EISELE

Gov. Luther Hodges' charges that State Student Legislature action in Raleigh last week was "immature and irresponsible" drew contrasting and fiery comments from political leaders here Thursday.

UP Chairman Harry Braxton, defending the Governor's comments surrounding a resolution on inter-racial marriages, said Hodges "was exactly right in most everything he said."

At the same time, however, SP Chairman Whit Whitfield said Hodges' comments were "quite provincial to say the least," and proposed that SSL in the future could "rent a barn in some other county" for its session.

His remark was in answer to the Governor's proposal that future SSL delegations requesting use of the Capitol Building should be asked "who they (the students) represented."

The Governor said Wednesday he "certainly" did not agree with SSL action adopting a resolution urging repeal of state law which prohibits inter-racial marriage. He said he considered the action "somewhat immature and somewhat irresponsible."

Commenting on the inter-racial marriage bill, Whitfield said he does not condone racial inter-marriages, nor do I think that any student delegation does.

"But the fact is," he added, "that many people would like to exercise their own judgement on the matter."

He said that it is to obtain use of the Capitol Building the SSL delegates must pass resolutions favorable to state political leaders, "then the usefulness of SSL is ended."

"If the students no longer have a place to present their honest opinions in the state Capitol, then it might be a wise idea to rent a barn in some other county," Whitfield added.

Braxton took an almost opposite stand. When asked for comment on Hodges' proposal that students be questioned before using the Capitol again, he said:

(See Leaders Page 3)

Pre-Dawn Rites Tap Seven Carolina Coeds Into Woman's Honorary Society

Seven senior coeds received Carolina's highest honor for women early this morning when they were tapped into the Valkyries, Women's honorary organization.

In the secret pre-dawn ceremonies traditional to Valkyrie tapings, these women were recognized for their development of the Valkyrie ideals of character, scholarship, leadership, sound judgement, creativity, service and inspiration to others.

These recognized were: Misses Katherine Keith Coe, art major from Washington, D. C.; Belle Hamilton Corey, sociology major from Atlanta, Ga.; Elizabeth Lloyd Dougherty, religion major from Cincinnati, Ohio; Phyllis Elliot Krafft, religion major from River Forest, Ill.; Edith Ann Morgan, sociology major from Charleston, W. Va.; Marjorie Carol Staub, nursing student from Westfield, N. J.; and Mildred Hoge Whitehurst, math major from Danville, Va.

Citations read to the tappers were: MISS COE "... one who has shown an unusual capacity to realize the needs of others in her campus activities. As a person, her genuineness, human interest, alertness and tireless energy have made her influence felt on the Honor Council, in her sorority and in her associations with her fellow students. Her outstanding work in these fields has warranted such a recognition."

MISS COREY "... one who has displayed outstanding executive ability in her positions as president of the YWCA and on the campus orientation committee. Her gracious manner and deep concern for the welfare of others has inspired leadership in her fellow students. As a person, her thoughtfulness is a source of comfort to others. Her character and past accomplishment are indicative of the caliber of service which will continue throughout the year."

MISS DOUGHERTY "... one who has a keenly inquiring mind and a sincere devotion to her fellow students. Her influence has been felt through her work in the YWCA, the Symposium and the Episcopal student congregation. Here is the capacity to inspire others and to instill in them a measure of her own faith. Her warmth and friendliness have been recognized and are reflected not only in her campus activities but in her daily living."

MISS KRAFFT "... one who has exhibited an unusual depth of faith and dedication to the spiritual enrichment of student life at Carolina. She possesses a degree of sensitivity that has enabled her to be aware of the many pressures and problems of a college student and has strived unceasingly for the betterment of these conditions. Miss Krafft has inspired many persons with whom she has worked. She has given to others a sense of dedication as program chairman in the Y. has been a source for real among students in Christian student groups, has done much to develop a 'closeness' with her sorority. In all phases of Carolina life she has done much to propagate the high ideals for which she stands."

MISS MORGAN "... who has reflected a sincere interest in her fellow students by her vivacious and efficient leadership in her dormitory. A sincerity of purpose and a genuine spirit of helpfulness are radiated in her active participation in Presbyterian student groups and YWCA activities. Her dedicated spirit and cheerfulness are a source of inspiration to all who come in contact with her.

MISS STAUB "... one who has contributed much to the program for student nurses by her untiring and unselfish concern for others. By her leadership in her dormitory and through the local and state student nurses association, she has exemplified sincerity, courage, and a constant striving for those high ideals in which she believes."

MISS WHITEHURST "... one who has exemplified in her field outstanding leadership in her willingness to serve both the campus and the individual. As chairman of Women's Honor Council, she has shown a basic understanding of the rules and with tact and preservation followed through in their administration. With her deep concern and high sense of judgment, Miss Whitehurst has led exceptionally this very important phase of Carolina life.

LYOUD DOUGHERTY

KIT WHITEHURST

MARJORIE STAUB

KATHERINE COE

BELLE COREY

ANNE MORGAN

PHYLLIS KRAFFT