

First Victory For UNC Since 1949

Duke's 13-0 lead and things were looking bad for the Chapel Hillians. But the Tar Heels, seemingly out of contention until that point, suddenly rose to the occasion and came back like a team possessed to pick up a tally before the first half ended.

The drive started on the Duke 49 after Duke back George Dutrow had kicked to Emil DeCantis there. Cummings hit Daley Goff with a seven-yard pass on the first play and the Tar Heels were rolling.

DeCantis then went for a first down to the 36 on a double reverse and Goff got six more to the 30. Once again Cummings took to the air and this time captain Buddy Payne, who probably played the finest game of his career, was on the receiving end at the 19. It was a low pass but Payne hauled it in.

Goff and DeCantis moved the Tar Heels to the 10 and then Carolina fooled everybody by shifting into the single wing and sending DeCantis off right tackle to the three. Giles Gaca then went up the middle for the score and Phil Blazer booted the point after to make the halftime score read Duke 13, Carolina 7.

Blue Devil dominance was short-lived, however, as the Tar Heels began smelling oranges and came back in the third quarter for another score after only four minutes, 50 seconds.

The Tar Heels gave Duke possession only once before they pushed across the tally. The Blue Devils ran two plays before Dutrow fumbled at his own 43 and Swearingen recovered.

From there, it took the Tar Heels just six plays to go over. After two plays netted but one yard, Cummings pitched to Goff who ran to the left and hit Payne at the 30 for a first down. Cummings then completed a pass to Payne but it was nullified on a Tar Heel penalty.

Cummings threw to Payne again at the 26 and the Tar Heel end was knocked down and pass interference was called giving Carolina a first down at the 26. Once again the Tar Heels went into the single wing and halfback Jim Schuler went to the 18. Cummings then drifted back, spotted Payne and connected at the three and Payne charged over the goal line from there to tie it at 13. Blazer's twelfth extra point in 13 tries put the Tar Heels ahead to stay.

Duke began to play desperation ball and the result was another tumble the second time it got possession. This time quarterback Bob Brodhead bobbled the ball and Stallings was on it at the Duke 28. Four plays was all the Chapel Hillians needed to put the ball game on ice. Cummings promptly hit end Mac Turlington at the 18 and Turlington nudged to the 11. Goff went off left tackle to the 10 and Cummings was ready to go again. On the next play he faded way back and hit Goff at the one yard line.

Smiling Jack then slipped over from the one for the tally with 4:15 left in the third quarter. Blazer's extra point was good and that was the ball game for all intents and purposes.

The Blue Devils fought grimly to battle back and insure themselves a bid to meet Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, Jan. 1, but the Tar Heels wouldn't give an inch. The Tar Heels, however, outplayed the Dooks throughout the fourth period, making several deep penetrations into enemy territory.

Duke threatened only once in the final period as it got inside the Tar Heel 15, but the Tar Heels thwarted the threat and the Blue Devils knew the end was near.

For the Tar Heels it was a great team effort that brought their season's record to six wins and three losses with a game with Virginia left in the regular season.

The Tar Heel effort was equal if not superior to their great game against South Carolina in their last outing. The line performed splendidly and the backfield was magnificent after the first period. The Tar Heel backs turned in a fine defensive effort sparked by Ron Marquette. Center Ron Koes played perhaps his finest game, intercepting two Duke passes.

White Passes

White's touchdown pass was his eighth of the season, equaling a conference record set in 1952 by South Carolina's Johnny Gramling.

Clemson missed three touchdown chances. Once the Tigers had a pass intercepted another time they fumbled the ball away and on a third occasion they were held for downs on the seven.

Wake forest, threatening three times, missed a field goal and was held for downs at the 10, after its early touchdown.

Murray Figures Duke Should Still Get Bid

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 23 —Duke Coach Bill Murray said today that in his opinion Duke is the logical team on the basis of its record to represent the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day.

Prior to making the comment, Murray was asked if Duke would accept a bid. He replied, "I don't know. It would depend on whether the boys want to go."

He said "my personal opinion" is that Carolina is out of the bowl picture since it lost two conference games early in the season.

North Carolina State, which won the ACC title today, had only a 14-14 tie with Duke to blemish its conference record. Duke had that tie and today's loss to Carolina.

State Can't Go Because it is under NCAA suspension, N. C. State is not eligible to make the bowl trip.

Coach Jim Tatam said that the win over Duke by his underdog Tar Heels was "the greatest thrill I have ever had in football." Carolina now has a 6-3 season record, including two conference defeats. The Tar Heels end their season next Saturday against Virginia.

Praises Cummings Murray said, "you have to take off your hat to a team like Carolina. They got behind, but stayed in there and battled their way back. They whipped us by throwing the ball. Quarterback Jack Cummings did a wonderful job with his passing. The receiving especially, was good. Cummings is a great athlete."

Murray told news reporters "we were in a commanding position with a two-touchdown lead and we let them get away. Something like that just shouldn't happen. You have to be self-critical in a situation like that."

The Duke coach said he was alarmed at his team's failure "to play well after gaining a commanding lead."

White Sparks Tigers Over Deacons, 13-6

CLEMSON, S. C., Nov. 23 — Sophomore quarterback Harvey White steered Clemson's football team to two touchdowns in 39 seconds of the final two minutes today for a 13-6 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over Wake Forest.

When Wake Forest, desperate to stave off its 11th consecutive loss, nine this season, tried a fourth down pass, ineligible receivers gave Clemson the ball on the Wake five. Wake Forest moved 71 yards in 15 plays the second time it got the ball in the opening quarter. Sophomore fullback Neil MacLean rumbled over from the five. His conversion try was wide.

Christy Leads 'Pack To Win

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 23 —Halfback Dick Christy broke the ACC scoring record with 29 points today, and scored a field goal after the game had ended, giving North Carolina State a 29-26 victory over South Carolina.

Christy scored his team's four touchdowns and kicked the extra point, in addition to the winning field goal that provided as hectic a finish as was ever seen in an ACC game.

The thrilling come-from-behind victory gave Coach Earl Edwards' Wolfpack the conference football title, with Duke's loss to Carolina.

State had the ball in the closing seconds on its own 47 yard line. Quarterback Tom Katich hurled a long pass which South Carolina halfback Alex Hawkins intercepted on the 20. Hawkins raced back to his own 20 before he was stopped by center Paul Balonick as the clock ran out. Many of the estimated 14,000 spectators crowded onto the playing field.

Officials ruled however, that there had been interference with the State receiver and gave the ball to the Wolfpack for one play after the game had ended officially. It took several minutes to clear the field of spectators, then the Wolfpack lined up for its final effort. Christy kicked the ball from the Gamecock 35 clearly through the uprights to win the game.

ACC Bowl Committee Will Meet Here Today

The bowl committee of the ACC meets here this afternoon to consider its recommendation of an AAC football team to meet Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl game at Miami, Fla., Jan. 1.

Chairman C. P. Erickson, Carolina Athletic Director, called the session for 12:30 p.m. (EST).

Today's games that saw North Carolina State, a bowl ineligible, clinch its first conference title by beating South Carolina and Duke lost to Carolina while resurging Clemson beat Wake Forest left the picture a confusing one.

N. C. State has finished its season with a 5-0-1 conference and 7-1-2 overall record. But the Wolfpack is ineligible for bowl play.

Duke, beaten 21-13 by Carolina, is second in the conference standings at 5-1-1 and is 6-2-2 overall. The game completed Duke's season. Carolina is third at 4-2 in the ACC and 6-3 for all games. It finishes its season with a league game against Virginia next week.

Conference bylaws do not stipulate that the champion get the Orange Bowl bid. The "most representative" team gets the bid, according to the bylaws.

The committee's task tomorrow is to select such a team and recommend to the faculty chairmen of the eight ACC schools that they vote for it to get the bowl invitation.

Duke, after winning its first five games, has won only one of its last five, 7-6 over Clemson last week. Over the last half of the season Duke has been beaten by Georgia Tech and Carolina and tied Navy and State.

Take A Book Home For Thanksgiving

The home folks think you're pretty nice, but sometimes you can catch them right plumb off guard by showing that you think they're nice too.

Like, maybe, bringing home a book.

For instance — there are some beautiful little Dickens volumes in our book section that look like a million dollars, and cost in the neighborhood of three. Or there are those really handsome little Peter Pauper books on the dollar table.

If you really want to splurge, Dad would love THE OLD MAN AND THE BOY, the new Robert Ruark book about North Carolina. But it costs $4.95.

The point is, giving is a two-way street, and the family will really thrill to know you thought of them.

Christmas is coming, pal, and great oaks from little acorns grow.

Take home a book for Thanksgiving.
