Bonds

RALEIGH, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Council of State today quickly approved the sale of 10 million dollars worth of state school construction bonds to a syndicate headed by the First National City Bank of New York. With Lt. Gov. Luther Barmhart presiding in the absence of Gov. Hodges, the Council approved the recommendation of State Treasurer Edwin Gill.

Disability

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Senate voted for a four-hour time today in favor of creating a joint Senate-House committee to study the question of machinery for determining when a President is disabled he can not carry on the duties of office. The committee would also study problems in the field of succession to the presidency.

The House, on three previous occasions, has refused to go along with the proposal, sponsored over the years by Sen. Green (D-R.I.). Green expressed hope it would approve it without delay this time. The Senate adopted Green's resolution by voice vote.

Mindszentiv

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 16 (AP)—First Deputy Premier Ferenc Muenich declared today Josef Cardinal Mindszentiv can stay in the U. S. legation here as long as he likes—"and then he can go to heaven."

The Cardinal took refuge in the legation after the Russians crushed the Hungarian revolt in November 1956. He had been freed from Communist arrest by rebels only a short time before. He is 85 years old and in good health.

Sputnik

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 16 (AP)—Sputnik II, the Soviet dog-carrying satellite, is due to reappear in the evening sky over the United States starting possibly tomorrow. For the first few days it will be visible only in the far northwestern horizons for most watchers in the northern part of the United States.

Southern views will have to wait until next week for their first sight of the Soviet moon which last was seen over the United States late in December.

Price Supports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower called upon Congress today for authority to reduce price supports and to ease production controls on major crops.

In a special message, the chief executive said in effect that the government must shift its farm policies away from efforts to restrict production to programs designed to move the expanding production into market.

"The scientific revolution in agriculture is irreversible and is continuing," he said. "It cannot be avoided and it need not be feared."

Comes Back

MT. AIRY, N.C., Jan. 16 (AP)—Otto Moody's wallet came back to him after 13 years, carrying a new $100 bill and a blessing.

Moody dropped the wallet 13 years ago in a supermarket here. Inside was about $100 in bills that he planned to use for a vacation trip to following day. A frantic hunt failed to produce it.

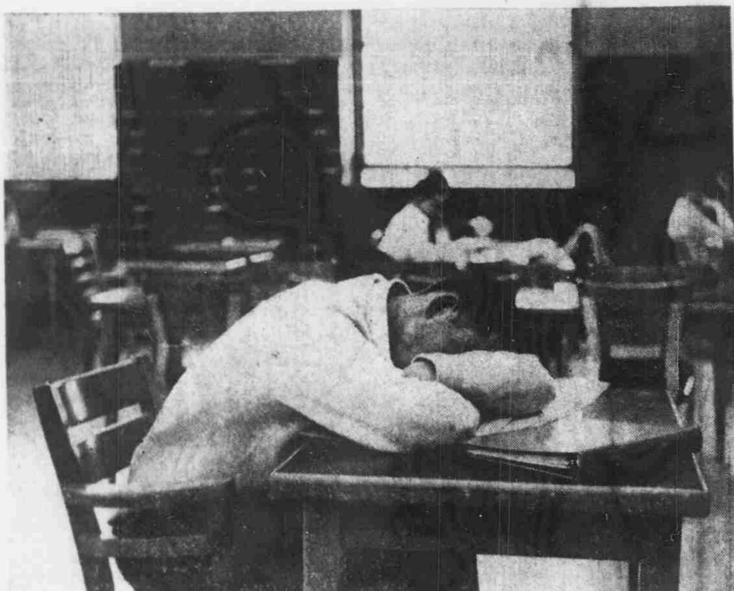

Today, an elderly Negro woman who refused to give her name or address came to his office. She handed him the wallet, saying: "I am returning it with the Lord's blessing." Inside was a $100 bill.

Defense Funds

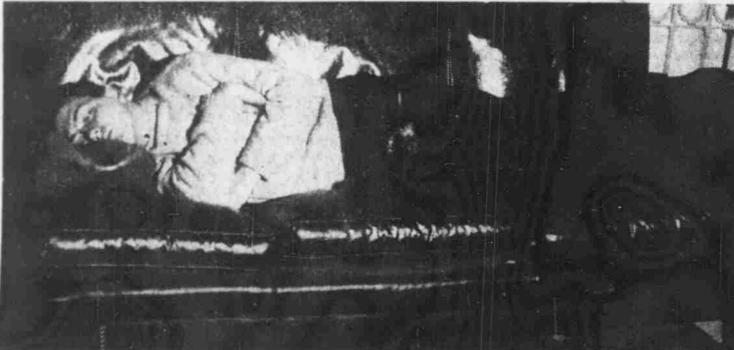

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower's request for authority to spend more than half a billion dollars on new emergency space age defenses this year won quick preliminary approval today in the House Armed Services Committee.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said the committee will vote on the request Monday, after a technical change has been made in the bill to make it more specific.

Vinson said the committee was "in thorough agreement" with the measure as it was outlined at a 2-1/2 hour closed session with Air Force officials.

Science Foundation Awards Grants To UNC Professors

A grant from the National Science Foundation will enable two staff members of the Institute for Research in Social Science here to undertake a study on the use of high speed computers in sociological research and particularly their application in the study of migration.

Dr. Daniel O. Price, director of the Institute for Research in Social Science in Chapel Hill, and Dr. Rupert B. Vance, research professor, will cooperate on the research project. The $9,900 grant from the National Science Foundation will finance the first year of their study.

The first step in the research, according to Dr. Price, will be to develop a theory of internal migration and then to simulate the theory on a high speed computing machine.

The major goal of Dr. Price and Vance is to use a high speed computer which can take data on a large number of variables relating to migration and then show on the machine a picture of the migration pattern.

With this computer, the researchers hope to be able to manipulate many of the variables in migration and show on the machine the effect of any changes on the migration pattern.

On the machine the wage level of a certain group, for instance, can be changed and the effect of such a change on the migration pattern is shown immediately on the high speed computers.

Sociology Implications
Dr. Price commented, "High speed computers can perform ordinary computations at a high rate of speed and thus bring within possibility the carrying out of many computations that are otherwise too complex to be done."

Besides his duties as director of the Institute for Research in Social Science, Dr. Price teaches classes in the department of sociology and anthropology at UNC. His areas of specialization include sociology, statistics, and migration. He has been a member of the UNC faculty since 1947.

Dr. Vance is Kenan Professor of sociology at the University, and he has been connected with UNC since 1929. He is author of several books and articles dealing with many aspects of population and migration. He is interested in sociology theory, population, social structure and demographic theory.

Thieves Pick GM Jukebox

Thieves broke into the jukebox in Graham Memorial Rendezvous Room and took from $10 to $15 between 5 and 8 p.m. Saturday.

The job was done so expertly that the theft was not discovered until Monday when the jukebox was opened to take out receipts for last week.

Rand Bailey, GM building supervisor, said the theft had probably taken two persons, one to do the job and another to keep watch for the "floater" who checks rooms in Graham Memorial every 15 minutes.

The outside lock of the jukebox was not damaged. However, the inside lock was forced, Bailey said. The lock could have been opened with a hairpin or screw driver, he said.

Saturday night's theft of jukebox receipts was the first Bailey recalled as occurring here.

GREENSBORO — Tyrone Power and Faye Emerson will appear in person in "Back to Mehuselah" to be presented on the stage of Aycock Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. on Feb. 25.

George Bernard Shaw's "Back to Methuselah," as condensed by Arnold Moss, is a Theatre Guild-Arnold Moss production and will be given in Greensboro under the auspices of the Theatre of Woman's College.

The production is not to be a "staged reading," but will be a fully acted play, complete with scenery and effects designed by Marvin Reiss. Costumes are designed by Patricia Zippodt. The play is directed by Margaret Webster.

Co-starring with Power and Miss Emerson will be Arthur Treacher. Also in the cast will be Moss, Valerie Bettis and Roger Boxill.

"Back to Mehuselah" will be the first of several fine arts events on the WC campus culminating in the 15th annual Arts Festival on March 13, 14 and 15.

The presentation here will be part of a 42-city tour which began Jan. 6 in Orlando, Fla., prior to the opening in New York on March 17.

Miss Churchill Fined

Malibu, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Sarah Churchill, actress daughter of Britain's Sir Winston Churchill, apologized today for causing "any inconvenience to the public and those I love," and pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk in public. She was fined $50.

Miss Churchill, 44, stood straight and resolute before Judge Charles H. Woodmansee in Malibu Justice Court and said she would like to make a statement in regard to her arrest last Monday at her beach home.

"I would like to say that I was more ill than drunk," she was red-haired actress said. "I was alone in my house and learning my lines for television."

"I have been under some strain. I fully realize anyone might have misunderstood my actions. I regret any inconvenience to the public and those I love."

Court Of Appeals Says:

House Committee Can Probe Red Activities In Education

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals, splitting 5-4, today upheld the right of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to investigate Communism in the field of education.

The majority specifically held that the Supreme Court did not strike down last June in its Watkins decision the House resolution setting up the committee.

"We believe that if the court had intended to strike down the resolution, it would have said so in so many words," wrote Judge Walter M. Bastian for the majority.

"It would not have left so vital an issue to inference or interpretation. The far-reaching results of such a holding would be that the committee, established by action of the entire House of Representatives, would be rendered helpless and would not even be able to summon a witness, much less have him testify."

One-Act Plays To Be Given Again Tonight

The final presentation of the three new one-act plays by student authors will be tonight in the Playmakers Theatre at 7:30.

The plays, written by graduate students in the Dramatic Art department, were presented for the first time last night.

The presentation of new plays has become a tradition on the campus. It was begun under the leadership of Frederick Koch in the 1919-20 season.

Included in this year's plays are "Fairy Beauty," by George H. Hill Jr., of Robbinsville; "The Eternal Thread," by Gansum Lee a native of Seoul, Korea; and "A White Butterfly," by Gabriela Roepke of Santiago, Chile.

Admission to the plays is free.

Chemistry Contest Set

The 1958 contest in colloid and surface chemistry among college undergraduates was announced today by the University of Southern California. The contest is sponsored by the Continental Oil Co. of Houston, Texas, and Ponca City, Okla., and is now in its second year.

Students of chemistry and chemical engineering in all accredited colleges and universities in the United States and Canada are eligible if they are full-time undergraduates on April 1.

A 5,000-word report on research conducted by the contestant in the fields of colloid or surface chemistry or an essay on "Radioactive Isotopes in Colloid and Surface Chemistry" may be submitted for a $500 first prize, $200 second prize, $100 third prize, or honorable mention prizes of $50. In addition an excellence prize of $500 may also be awarded to the best entry if it satisfies exceptionally high standards.

Entry blanks may be obtained immediately from Prof. K. J. Mysels at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles 7. Awards will be announced and distributed by anonymous judges by Sept. 2.

As contest chairman, Dr. Mysels is being assisted by an advisory committee composed of P. H. Emmett, John Hopkins University; J. W. Williams, University of Wisconsin; and W. A. Zisman, Naval Research Laboratory.

which Judge David L. Bazelon contended, that he believes the Watkins decision holds the committee "had no authority to compel testimony because it had no definite assignment from Congress."

The decision today was the first interpretation by an appellate court of the June 24 decision of the Supreme Court reversing the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, a labor union official of Rock Island, Ill.

Today's ruling affirmed the contempt of Congress conviction of Lloyd Barenblatt of New York educator.

Barenblatt, who formerly taught at the University of Michigan and Vassar College, refused to tell a Subcommittee on Un-American Activities June 28, 1954 whether he then was or ever had been a member of the Communist Party. He was convicted in U.S. District Court here and sentenced to six months in jail and fined $250.

Another Look

In January last year the Court of Appeals affirmed Barenblatt's conviction, but the Supreme Court, after its Watkins ruling, sent it back for another look.

Bastian said in the majority opinion today that the Supreme Court "in no uncertain terms criticized the resolution creating the committee for lack of specificity, for uncertainty, for vagueness, and for the scope of the construction accorded to the resolution as acted upon by members of the committee and its subcommittees."

But nowhere in the Watkins opinion by Chief Justice Warren, Bastian said, does the court use language supporting Barenblatt's contention that it struck down the resolution creating the committee.

Students Can Add Credits By Mail Courses

A good way for students to add to their total credit, make up entrance deficiencies, or earn quality points is to enroll in the many correspondence courses offered by the Extension Division here in Chapel Hill.

Those students who cannot be in residence have been invited and encouraged to enroll.

The University accepts one full year's work by correspondence for credit toward bachelors' degrees, but requires students to take the last year's work in residence here.

If suitable courses are available, a senior may take by correspondence, with the approval of his dean, the last two courses required for his degree.

Full information can be secured from the office in Abernethy Hall. Office hours are 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday-Friday and 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Saturday.

The Bureau works with about 2000 students each year, including persons in almost every county in North Carolina, in almost all of the 48 states, and in many of the armed forces installations both here and in foreign countries.

Classes Saturday

All classes will be held Saturday, according to an announcement by James L. Godfrey, dean of the faculty.

This date had previously been set aside as the special reading day in preparation for exams. However, because of the added day of Christmas vacation, it was then announced by Chancellor William Aycock that reading day would be abolished.

Will Build New Wing On Church

A $300,000 campaign to build and furnish facilities for Presbyterian student religious activities on five Tar Heel campuses was approved at a meeting of 50 ministers at Chapel Hill Wednesday night.

UNC will receive $265,000 to supplement local funds being raised for the renovation and enlargement of present church facilities. The funds will be used to build a student wing on the new church building. Officials are waiting on final plans from architects to let the bids. They hope to break ground for the new building this spring.

It will be located on a vacant lot facing Henderson St.

Funds from the 300,000 campaign scheduled in March will be used to replace improvised centers and to expand existing quarters at UNC, N.C. State, Duke, East Carolina College and Woman's College.

$200,000 On Hand

It was announced that Dr. John A. Rothhead Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Greensboro, will serve as ministerial chairman of the campaign. The drive will undertake to supplement $200,000 already on hand.

A total of $85,000 will be given to Duke, East Carolina will receive $30,000, State, $80,000 and Woman's College, $50,000.

University Gets $50,000 For Damage

RALEIGH, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Council of State today approved an allocation of $50,000 from the State Property Fire Insurance Fund to the University of North Carolina for damage caused by a fire last week.

The fire resulted in serious damage to Swain Hall which housed the University's communication center, including the studios of its educational television station WUNC-TV.

Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold said the allocation from the fire insurance fund was preliminary because the full extent of the damage to the radio and television equipment in the building has not been finally determined.

He said in all probability it would amount to as much as $50,000 and "it could go as high as $75,000." He added "It's impossible to say yet until we find out the amount of the damage to that equipment."

The fire in Swain Hall was one of six that broke out in University-owned buildings the same night, but the others caused only minor damage. Officials have expressed the opinion the fires were set deliberately.

Aubrey Brooks Scholarship Competition To Begin Soon

Outstanding high school graduates from the old "Imperial Fifth Congressional District" of North Carolina for the third straight year have an opportunity to compete for Aubrey Lee Brooks scholarships.

Mr. Brooks, who died last Friday, saw his scholarship program through two graduation classes. Each year 11 scholarships, valued at $500 each and renewable for the four years of college, are awarded and may be used at any of the three branches of the Consolidated University: UNC, Woman's College and North Carolina State College.

Candidates for the scholarships are first recommended by their high school principals and must appear before a county committee before being sent here for the final selection.

In two weeks, the county committees in the fifth district should begin nominating candidates for the final selection.

Mr. Brooks, who borrowed money to go through Carolina, set up the Aubrey Lee Brooks Foundation for these scholarships in 1955 with a million-dollar gift to the Consolidated University.

The famous North Carolina lawyer benefited the University also through his gifts to the University Press.

Students in the "Imperial Fifth Congressional District" who receive scholarships come from the following counties: Surry, Stokes, Rockingham, Caswell, Person, Granville, Forsyth, Guilford, Alamance, Orange and Durham.

Sororities To Close Saturday

Starting Saturday, the sorority houses here will be closed to all guests and will continue to be closed through exams.

This does not mean, however, that sorority girls will be prevented from dating. But their dates may ring the door bell and then wait for the girl to come out.

This ruling was made at a recent meeting of Panhellenic Council so as to guarantee a quiet atmosphere for the girls during exam time.

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included:

Mrs. Eleanor Barksdale, Miss Maurine Baker and Linda Moore and George Forrest, Frederick Steck, Valentids Ruppels, William Brigman, Roland Ho'ges, William Davis, George Elmore, Robert Bremer, Frank Fables, Joe Quigg, Richard Nichols, Jerry Oppenheimer, Julian Smith and Martin Dear.
