UNC Stores Is Topic For SP Talk

The Student Party will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Monday night in Roland Parker 1 and 2. The topic under discussion for this week's meeting will be "The Campus Stores" and will be presented by H. R. Ritchie, general manager of the University Book Store.

Many students have recently expressed an interest in where the profits from the University Stores go. In attempting to provide an answer for this timely question, the Student Party is presenting this meeting.

Interest was recently stirred up with a story by Daily Tar Heel Editor Doug Eisele concerning the charging of a 3 percent tax on the sale of Bibles. However, the Student Party had already planned to provide the campus with this program, according to Chairman Pat Adams. Eisele's discovery though, should heighten student interest.

According to the report of the Campus Stores Committee, under the direction of John Brooks, the University Stores in the year 1955-56 showed a net profit of $63,022.96. A Legislature seat in Town Women's and the position of Sergeant at Arms will be filled at this meeting.

Adams issued the following statement to The Daily Tar Heel concerning the meeting: "We feel that the students will be very interested in the campus stores, and this was the reason for inviting Mr. Ritchie to the meeting. Our main interest is to present the facts to the students."

Attendance Exam Rules Are Upheld

Attendance of students at final examinations will continue to be regulated by provisions adopted by the Faculty Council in 1951, according to the opinion of University deans.

In their judgment, the action of the Faculty Council Feb. 7 in abolishing the cut system does not supersede the University's regulations concerning attendance at examinations.

'Sound & Fury' Positions Open

Committee and chairmanship positions for this year's "Sound and Fury" production are now being filled.

G. C. Pridgen, producer, and Cecil Hartsoe, director, have announced that interviews with prospective workers will be held Monday from 2 to 4 p.m. and Tuesday from 4 to 5 p.m.

Persons desiring an interview should make an appointment as soon as possible at the Graham Memorial Information Office. Positions open are in the technical and production fields, including publicity, promotion, costumes, lighting, music, make-up, sets and box-office manager.

Director Hartsoe, in making the announcement, commented, "If you're bored with running around with the same people all of the time, take a chance on 'Sound and Fury.' Sign up right away."

news in brief

Federation
AMMAN, Jordan, Feb. 14 (AP)—Kings Faisal of Iraq and Hussein of Jordan linked their governments today in a federal union. Their spokesman hailed this swift response to the recently proclaimed Egyptian-Syrian union as a step toward "total Arab unity," but the immediate effect was to spotlight the rivalry between two Arab camps.

The merger — the spokesmen called it an "Arab federation" — left the future of Iraq's participation in the American-supported Baghdad pact in doubt. It is the only Arab nation in the alliance, a target of violent attack by Pan-Arab Nationalists ever since it was formed in 1955.

Tunisia

TUNIS, Feb. 14 (AP)—Tunisia clamped a police blockade on three French consulates today but otherwise applied calming measures to prevent a dangerous explosion.

A government spokesman disclosed that food supplies were being allowed to get through to the 15,000 French soldiers barricaded in their bases. This seemed to ease the greatest immediate danger of clashes.

Scales' Trial

GREENSBORO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Four witnesses testified today of Communist Party teachings and of the activities of Julius Irving Scales its leader in the Carolinas, as the second week of the Greensboro native's re-trial drew to a close.

Two of the four witnesses told of Communist Party training schools held in St. Louis, Mo., Los Angeles, Calif., and Denver, Colo. The other two witnesses gave testimony about Scales.

Police Charge Local Woman With Forgery

BILL KINCAID

A Chapel Hill woman, Fannie Bell Burnett, has been charged by police with forging a check which was taken from a UNC employee Ethel Louise Parrish.

Police say she has admitted forging and cashing a UNC payroll check at Rose's Five-and-Ten-Cent Store on Tuesday, Feb. 4.

She told Police, however, that someone had given the check to her. She reportedly used the Parrish woman's tax withholding statement for identification.

Payment Stopped
UNC officials, when notified of the loss of the check, stopped payment and it was returned to them.

Police apprehended Fannie Bell Burnett and found that the signature on the check compared with her handwriting. She told officers she had paid for house rent with the check.

The check was stolen on Saturday, Feb. 1.

Grand Larceny

She has also been charged with grand larceny in the theft of $400 from another UNC employee, Guy Crump.

She has continued to deny this charge, but Police Chief W. D. Blake said Crump's pocket book was found in the Burnett home.

She has been released under $600 bond. Trial will probably be Tuesday in Recorder's Court. Blake added.

Revision Of Councils Rests On Amendments

Honor Council Bill Unconstitutional?

A question of constitutionality will delay signing of the Honor Council revision bill and may result in an amendment election here.

The bill as passed by the Student Legislature and submitted to Student Body President Sonny Evans provides for a change in the structure and mechanics of the UNC judiciary system.

Evans said Friday a constitutional amendment will be necessary to enactment of the judiciary setup provisions since the constitution now calls explicitly for separate councils for men and women.

The bill now before the legislature would change that system entirely, replacing it with a system which would include a single Honor Council to try both men and women.

The bill provides for a committee composed of Speaker Don Furtado, Attorney General Sonny Hallford, and floor leaders Al Goldsmith and Pat Adams to write the amendments, and submit them to the student body for ratification.

At the legislative session Thursday a discussion on this point and its validity ensued. Representative John Brooks, legislative parliamentarian, ruled that these proposals be brought before the body before submission to the student body.

Evans Questions

The constitutionality of this bill was questioned when it was submitted by the legislature to the Student Body President. The Attorney General recognized the omission of the proper provisions and said they had been discussed but that they were overlooked in the heat of the arguments.

"The legislature is not at fault—this oversight on the part of the executive branch can be corrected simply," said Evans, when asked for comment.

"The Bill, passed by the legislature, last night will not have to be signed until ten days from now, and I am hopeful that the constitutional amendments will be legally inserted into the bill next Thursday evening," Evans added.

Nan Schaeffer To Represent UNC At Fete

Miss Schaeffer was selected this week as the UNC representative by the heads of the six major women's organizations. She was competing with four other coeds who had been queens this year.

The candidates included the Homecoming queen, Dukathon queen, Yack queen, Dorm queen and Beat Duke Float Parade queen. The women's organizations whose heads chose Miss Schaeffer were the women's Residence Council, Women's Honor Council, Panhellenic Council, Independent Women's Council and YMCA.

Bill Asks Change Of Three Councils

Student solons were handed a bill Thursday night proposing abolition of the Student Council as now constituted and replacement of it by two other courts including a new Men's Council to hear only men's Campus Code violations.

The other court would be composed of members of the new Men's Council and the Women's Council and would hear cases of constitutionality and violations of elections laws.

The current Student Council not only has jurisdiction over men's campus code violations, but also hears cases of constitutionality and violations of the elections laws. One woman, appointed by the Student Body President, attends meeting to try the constitutionality of laws and elections law violations.

A separate Woman's Honor Council exists to try women violators of the Honor code, women's campus code, and hear the appeals of House Councils. A Men's Honor Council exists solely for the purpose of trying male violators of the Honor Code.

Those convicted by either the Student Council, Women's Honor Council, or Men's Honor Council, have the right to appeal to the Student-Faculty Council.

Under the proposed system a single Honor Council would exist to try all violators of the honor code. A Men's Council would be created to try violators of the men's campus code; the Women's Council will hear only violations of the Women's campus code social rules violations, and appeals of House Council verdicts.

The new Student Council, created by Foushee's bill, would consist of three women and four men elected from both the Women's and Men's Council. This court would hear cases pertaining to the constitutionality of laws and violations of the election laws.

The Student-Faculty Court would still exist to hear appeals from Women's Council, Men's Council, and the Honor Council.

BILL

The bill reads as follows: WHEREAS: Recent proposals by the Student Legislature have revised the jurisdiction of judicial councils over violations of the Honor Code, and

WHEREAS: These changes, if approved, would create patterns of irregularity in the original jurisdiction of the judicial councils, and

WHEREAS: The recent proposal, if approved, would establish a Women's Council with the exclusive jurisdiction of trying violations of the Campus Code by male students, and

WHEREAS: There should be a similar council with the exclusive jurisdiction of trying violations of the Campus Code by male students, and

WHEREAS: It is to be desired that there be a uniform pattern of jurisdiction for the councils in the student judiciary,

Now, therefore be it enacted by the Student Legislature of the University of North Carolina that: Article I: A new council be formed to have original jurisdiction exclusively over violations of the Campus Code by male students. This council shall be entitled, "Men's Council" and its composition shall be determined by the Student Legislature.

Article II: The original jurisdiction of the currently existing "Student Council" be limited to original jurisdiction in all cases involving the constitutionality of any legislative or executive action and statutory and constitutional interpretation, and shall have appellate jurisdiction, as authorized by the

Daily Tar Heel To Get New Delivery Truck

A bill passed by the Student Legislature Thursday night appropriated $1466.13 to be used to buy The Daily Tar Heel a new delivery truck.

The bill stated that the truck currently used by the Tar Heel to make deliveries was in its sixth year of service and badly in need of extensive repairs totaling approximately $250. It also stated that the present truck is considered unsafe by those using it.

Purchase of a new 1958 sedan panel truck is specified by the bill.

John Whittaker, business manager for The Daily Tar Heel, stated that he thought the authorization of a new truck was a wise move. He added that he thought it false economy to keep pouring money into an old truck that will become obsolete in one or two years.

Money from the sale of the old truck is to be reverted into the general surplus.

Although the bill has been passed, a new truck will not be bought until the bill is signed by Student Body President Sonny Evans.

Tar Heels To Battle Notre Dame's Fighting Irish Tonight

By BILL KING

CHICAGO, ILL.—Frank McGuire's national basketball champions finally get a brief respite from the better-skillet dribble frenzy in the Atlantic Coast Conference tonight at 10:30 p.m., EST when they reach outside the conference for a tilt with a strong Notre Dame team in Chicago Stadium here.

Radio station WRAL and WPTF in Raleigh will broadcast the game.

This one has the same pressure earmarks which the Tar Heels have been carrying around for the past two seasons but this time the question of prestige is purely a national one. That might seem more important than anything Carolina does in the ACC, but Frank McGuire and his group know that they've got to retain that ACC title in order for national prominence to mean anything.

Victory Confused Conference

The Tar Heel's victory over Wake Forest in Winston-Salem last night made them 8-3 in the conference and put them in a good position to add a little more confusion to the constantly altering conference standings. Speculation of a regular season winner is now a testy subject but the Wake Forest win once again labels the Tar Heels the team to knock off the defending champs, especially in a big basketball center

Carolina has a 14-4 overall mark such as Chicago. The Tar Heels for the season. The McGuiremen will be playing the second game of a doubleheader tonight. The first team in two years and that was to game features powerful Kentucky West Virginia in the finals of the against Loyola.

Battle For Prestige

Coach John Jordan of the Irish has one of the finest teams in region. Thus, the fighting Irish of Notre cent years at the South Bend, Ind.

school, Notre Dame had a 20-8 mark last season and could do as well if not better this year.

Hawkins Irish Theme

Big man for Notre Dame is forward and co-captain Tom Hawkins, a Winston-Salem native who hit 33 points in a game against Butler Wednesday night. Otherwise, the Irish will probably go with co-captain John McCarthy at the other forward. Bob Devine and Gene Duffy at guards and big Ed Gleason at center. Hawkins is the man the Tar Heels will have to watch.

He's one of the top scorers in the country and grabs more than his share of rebounds. Hawkins hit 578 points last season.

Notre Dame 17th

The Irish, an independent representative, were ranked as the 17th best team in the country in the latest Associated Press poll, the Tar Heels were rated number 11.

McGuire will go with his usual starting lineup, consisting of three sophomores and two seniors. Lee Shaffer, Dick Kepley and Harvey Salz are the sophomores and All-American candidates Pete Brennan and Tommy Kearns are the seniors,
