Snow Greets Tar Heels

CHICAGO, Ill.—A two-inch blanket of snow with promise of more to come greeted the Carolina Tar Heels on their arrival at the Chicago Airport yesterday afternoon. It was 20 degrees.

The big Capital Viscount which brought the Tar Heels in to the Windy City from Washington after an hour stop-over there had to stop by the momentum of the propellers since the landing strip was covered with ice and snow.

The team arrived at the Morrison Hotel just off State Street (Chicago's answer to Broadway) about 3:30 EST.

A short meeting and a brief workout was next in order for the Chapel Hillians.

Carolina, of course, is in town to play powerful Notre Dame in the Chicago Stadium tonight. The Tar Heels and Irish will go on about 10:45 (EST) in the nightcap of a doubleheader which sends Kentucky against Loyola in the opener.

Big Game For Tar Heels

This is a big game for Carolina, but it's not half as big as some of the ones the Tar Heels have been playing in the Atlantic Coast Conference and the players are glad to get away from the tough ACC race for a few days.

Pete Brennan about summed up the way the pressure is mounting in the conference when he said: "Sometimes I feel like I want to just get away from it all. I fouled out at Wake Forest with six minutes to go and had to sit on the bench the rest of the game. Believe me, that's the most miserable place in the world to be. You have to sit there and watch it and know you can't do anything about it. There'll be pressure against Notre Dame but not as much as we get in the conference."

Even 16,000 feet up in the air one could sense that the team was feeling a little better after the close Wake Forest game. This trip could be just what the doctor ordered by way of being mentally ready to go again when it resumes conference play against State in Raleigh Tuesday night.

Spoke Harvey Salz: "That Wake Forest game gave us the lift we've been needing. We were a little shaky until then, but now I believe we're ready to roll."

New Lineup

The general feeling is that Frank McGuire might have come up with a new lineup in the Wake Forest game. He started Bob Cunningham and Lee Shaffer at forward. Pete Brennan at center and Salz and Tommy Kearns at guards. Salz, however, went to the corner most of the time with Kearns and Cunningham outside.

This lineup seemed to work better than any one this season and McGuire will probably call upon it again. Cunningham had been in a slump, but now he's shaken it and ought to be in there. With this setup, Dick Kempley can replace either of three men and Dick did a good job against Wake Forest as a substitute.

Kearns thought the tight Wake Forest zone was as good as Duke, State or Maryland "but" declared Tommy "They made it close by just hustling every minute." He too thought the Wake game was one of Carolina's better games this season.

The Tar Heels are ready mentally and physically for this game tonight. They are not as tense as they have been lately, but they don't intend to let up one minute. "Everyone of them counts" remarked someone as the Tar Heels boarded the airplane in Washington.

Notes En Route To Chicago

Frank McGuire just got a telegram from the Barber's Association naming him one of the Ten Best Groomed Men in America . . . It was not a trick either. McGuire is noted for his spick and span appearance all over the country.

The plane ride got a little bumpy when leaving Raleigh-Durham Airport and again descending into Chicago, and some of the passengers were a little anxious . . . But things turned out all right and the pilot guided it in without a hitch, although several people were noted complaining about their stomachs.

Salz and Kempley got a waitress in the Washington airport so confused that she seemed ready to turn in her apron . . . It was early in the morning but the two boys had to have a steak. She searched the menu but couldn't find a steak listed. She was about to make a special order when the boys broke out laughing and order a "coke on the rocks" as Harvey put it.

Brennan doesn't think that finishing in first place in the regular season standings is so important, although he admits his club can still do it. "It gives you a good feeling," says Pete, "but you've got to beat them all to win the tournament."

Bob Cunningham's brother Marty was in Chapel Hill yesterday and just got to say goodbye before the boys headed for the Raleigh-Durham via station wagons.

A few of the non-players on the trip are: Bill Reeves, WRAL, (Raleigh); and Dick Herbert of the Raleigh News and Observer. Ray informs us that air time for tonight's game will be 10:40 EST). It is due to the lateness of the game that The Daily Tar Heel will not be able to give it full coverage.

A capacity crowd of over 16,000 is expected to be on hand for the big doubleheader in the stadium tonight.

Prep Teams Meet Here Today

The Southern Interscholastic Swimming meet will be held in Chapel Hill today at Bowman Gray Memorial Pool. Time trials get underway at 9:30 this morning with the finals scheduled for 3:30 this afternoon.

The meet will feature the best of the high school and prep school swimmers in the south, with 11 teams and 150 swimmers entered.

The defending champions, Greensboro, will be co-favorites with Georgia Military Academy, Westminster High of Atlanta, and Myers Park High of Charlotte.

Several individual records will be in jeopardy today as the meet includes Bill Cass of Georgia Military Academy, recognized as the number one prep school distance swimmer in the nation, along with John Burwell of Greensboro, a high school all-American last year in the 100-yard freestyle.

Tar Heel Swimmers Rout Deacons; Winning Streak Pushed To 10 Meets

By ELLIOTT COOPER

The Carolina varsity swimming team pushed its unbeaten string to 10 last night in Bowman Gray Indoor Pool when the Deacon Deacons of Wake Forest fell victim to the Tar Heel mermen by a 56-30 count. In securing their tenth win of the season, Pat Earey's Tar Heels took all but two events in the meet.

Senior Walt Rose led the Carolina attack by taking first places in the 50 yard freestyle and the 440 yard freestyle. Other Tar Heel firsts were picked up by Mac Mahaffey in the 100 butterfly, Brent Nash in the 200 backstroke, Kelly Maness in the 100 freestyle, and Kit Mercer in the 100 breaststroke. Carolina also won the diving event and the 400 yard medley relay.

In the freshman contest which preceded the varsity event the Tar Babbies won over Georgia Military Academy by a 58-27 score and over Staunton Military Academy by a 66-18 count. Harry Bloom was the individual high scorer for the frosh taking firsts in the 200 yard freestyle and the 150 individual medley.

Carolina's next swimming meet will be against N. C. State in Raleigh on the twenty-first of this month. This coming Saturday the frosh are scheduled to meet Myers Park High School of Charlotte.

Matmen Face Deacs

Carolina's varsity wrestling team, seeking its fifth win of the season, goes against Wake Forest this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the mats in Woolen Gym.

This meet, cancelled early this week when it appeared that the Deacons were not going to be able to field a team, has been called on again. The meet had been cancelled because a number of the Wake wrestlers were forced out of the lineup by scholastic trouble. The rescheduling was made possible by several football players who recently joined the team.

Coach Sam Barnes is looking forward to today's meet since it will mark the return of Tar Heel heavyweight Larry Hayes to the mats. Hayes, burdened by five labs last semester, was a regular last season in the heavyweight slot.

Coach Barnes will shift his lineup for today's match in order to give some of the squad members practice in wrestling heavier opponents. Curt Champlins, Bill Suttle, and Henry Rhyme will all move up a notch from their regular classes.

Sticklers!

WHAT IS A MOVIE STAR WHO GIVES A TESTIMONIAL FOR LUCKY STRIKE?
(SEE PARAGRAPH BELOW)

MOVIE STARS can have the best of everything. The one above (Miss Va Va Voom) drives a limousine so swanky it carries a sports car instead of a spare. Her swimming pool's so large it has tides. When it comes to cigarettes, Miss Voom picks (Surprise! Surprise!) Lucky Strike. Says she, "A Lucky is just as light as they come, dahlings. Its divine taste comes from fine tobacco . . . and simply everyone knows it's toasted to taste even better!" All of which makes her a Quotable Notable! Light up a Lucky yourself. You'll say, "It's the best-tasting cigarette I ever smoked!" End quote.
