Great Second Half Carries Carolina To 81-69 Win Over State Wolfpack

Brennan's 32 Points Pace Win

By BILL KING

RALEIGH — Carolina's national cage champions looked more like the defending champs than anytime this season last night and the result was a convincing 81-69 victory over N. C. State College in Reynolds Coliseum.

It was perhaps the greatest victory of the year for the Tar Heels who had been in a slump for a long time and it gave the Chapel Hillians a 2-1 advantage in their series with the Wolfpack this season.

The anticipated "deep freeze" never materialized as coaches Frank McGuire and Everett Case decided to run this one out and it was McGuire's Tar Heels who won the race but not without a real struggle by the Wolfpack.

State, sorely missing its recently departed captain Whitey Bell gave Carolina a great game for the first 20 minutes but the Tar Heels came back in the second half more determined than at anytime all year long and gave their consolidated brothers a thorough licking. The score was tied at intermission, 31-31.

All-American candidate Pete Brennan was the man of the hour for the Tar Heels. The Brooklyn, N. Y. senior dropped in 32 points, 18 of them on free throws in 20

Accreditor Unit Visits J-School

The UNC journalism school plans to be on its best behavior today and Thursday when it plays host to a visitation team which will be here to determine whether to accredit the local school.

The team, composed of two newspaper editors and four journalism teachers, will spend the two days sitting in on journalism classes and interviewing faculty members and seniors in the journalism school. Some professor in other fields will also be interviewed.

The team will write a report to a committee of the American Council on Education for Journalism.

The ACEJ will announce the outcome of the survey this summer. If all goes well the UNC journalism school will join the ranks of the elite. Out of 109 schools of journalism in the nation only 45 are accredited.

Cold Wave Blankets Eastern U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The winter's worst cold wave brought arctic misery to the eastern third of the nation again yesterday. Little relief was in sight from temperatures as low as 40 degrees below zero.

In several sections it was the coldest Feb. 18 in history. Ice threatened to close the Ohio, Mississippi and Hudson Rivers, three of the nation's great water arteries.

The death toll from the heavy weekend snow and the cold wave in 26 states neared 200. The afflicted area extended from the East Coast to Missouri and Iowa, and from Maine to Alabama. Some sections haven't had a temperature reading above freezing in 10 days.

CANT BURY DEAD

Millions endured misery and inconvenience. Isolated rural villages ran low on fuel and food. Helicopters fluttered over the bleak countryside with relief for marooned farmers. The bereaved in upstate New York were unable to bury their dead because of six-foot snow drifts in cemeteries.

The National Guard was out in Delaware and New Jersey to open roads and bring feed to farmers. It was Delaware's worst snowstorm of this century and Atlantic City's worst winter in more than 20 years.

Air travel in the East was grievously snarled. Scores of flights were canceled. Others operated up to 18 hours behind schedule.

The New York Central's Commodore Vanderbilt passenger train arrived in Chicago from New York nearly 20 hours late. Long delays were reported on most lines and in New England several trains were completely stalled.

SCHOOLS, INDUSTRIES CLOSE

Shortages of heating gas forced the evacuation of families and closed schools and industries in Kentucky and Georgia.

Mardi Gras Set Next Weekend; Tin Can Chosen As Dance Site

By CHARLIE SLOAN

The Mardi Gras Committee's selection of the Tin Can for this year's big spring weekend gives student Tar Heels a new location for a major social event.

Under the direction of Jim Vance and Mardi Gras Vice Chairman Jim Menzel, the decoration team will convert the old airplane hanger into a giant outdoor ballroom. It's going to take a lot of crepe paper to do it, but Graham Memorial Activities Board has allotted a thousand dollars for the job.

Star entertainer for the event will be Buddy Morrow, famous for his recordings of "One Mint Julep" and "Night Train." Morrow and his group will give two performances.

The concert will be from 3 to 5 on Feb. 28. That night they will go on the bandstand again for the Mardi Gras dance.

SEMI-FORMAL.

The dance will be from 8 to midnight. Dress for the occasion will be dark suits for the men and cocktail dresses for the girls. Mardi Gras Committee Chairman Gerry Boudreau explained that the dance was not made a formal affair in order to keep the expense down for the students.

"The dance is for everybody, and everybody can afford the tickets, but having to rent a tux would run the price up," he explained.

Tickets are $3. Their real value is estimated to be $8, but GMAB is making up the difference to keep the price down.

COMMITTEES

A large committee of students have been working to get the Mardi Gras ready, and more will help put up the decorations. A partial list of committee members includes Boudreau, Menzel, Vance, Miss Joan Wallace, James Smith, William Willis, Ben Scott, Miss Tene Alston, Ben Levy, Bill Kendall, Miss Dee Donnarummo, Miss Barbara Bell, Edgar Woodbury, Miss Marjory Lyon, Miss Kitty Carr, Tom Long, David Veasey, Don Gray and Miss Beth Harris.

William Franklin, Monte de Loisselle, Bruce Berryhill, Miss Mary Alys Voorhees, Olaquebet Lopez-Vera, Charlie Sloan, Don Howard, Andy Vanore, Bud Gardner, Bruce Pearson, Lanny McDonald, John Dalton and Frank Smith.

news in brief

Tunisia
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 18 — The U. N. Security Council today tossed the explosive Tunisian-French dispute into the hands of mediators after hearing the United States and Britain declare they had affirmative proposals for a peaceful solution.

Representatives of the two Western powers, whose good offices have been accepted by France and Tunisia, did not spell out what they had in mind. But there was speculation their efforts would be extended to setting up machinery which could be used in an attempt to resolve the broad issue of the French-Algerian conflict, now in its fourth year.

UP Plans To Organize Group For Nominating

By PRINGLE PIPKIN

"A nominating convention" with delegates from each dorm, fraternity and sorority was accepted by the University Party last night as the machinery to select candidates for the spring elections.

This system, proposed by UP Chairman Syd Shuford, provides for unlimited delegations headed by a chief delegate who will poll the group and announce their vote to the party chairman.

There will no longer be any secret ballots. Nominations can still come from any member of the party, and anyone in the hall can speak for the candidates.

Shuford said the system would "create a bit of convention atmosphere" and would be "more efficient and more exciting." It will also be easier to keep a running tabulation of the votes cast.

At the suggestion of Shuford the UP voted unanimously not to endorse candidates for the positions of editor of The Daily Tar Heel and of the Yackety-Yack.

Shuford explained that these editors "necessarily have to be objective" and would not support the party even if they were endorsed.

The UP will nominate Student Legislators March 3, student government executive officers and any remaining solons March 4 and senior class officers and other remaining positions March 10.

Speaking of the coming election, Shuford said, "The important thing is to get us some contacts down in the dorms." He stated that in the race for student government executive positions the party had "some stiff opposition."

The party chairman chided those UP Legislators who did not attend the party meeting. He asserted that the law-makers should be "the most active and the most informed" members of the party.

The party, he said, needed every one of its members out working "to get the people to vote our way."

RALEIGH, Feb. 18 — A flock of Tar Heel motorists were nabbed by officers today for failure to display their 1958 license plates.

The enforcement deadline on 1957 plates was reached last night, and even today, Miss Foy Ingram, director of registration at the Motor Vehicles Department, said sales were not unusually heavy.

She said her office had "plenty of business," but the long lines of last week remained absent.

chairman of the Student Legislature Ways and Means Committee, told the party that the bill to revise the Student Council had been held in committee and would not come before the Legislature for another week.

Lawing explained that the bill's introducer could not be present Thursday and that the committee had not yet had a chance to talk with the members of the Student Council.

Graham Claytor, a member of the Student Legislature Finance Committee, said that his committee was considering a bill to appropriate money for the student who is here under the foreign leadership p. 1.

To vote in the spring nominations it will be necessary for all UP members to pay their spring dues of 50 cents before the end of the meeting next Tuesday.

Two Senators Top Symposium Slate

By Davis Young

Senator Sparkman

Senator John Sparkman, Democrat from Alabama and candidate for the vice-presidency in 1952, will speak during Symposium Week on March 17. The topic of his address will be "America's Position in Today's Troubled World."

Senator Sparkman has been a leading figure in national politics for a number of years and is well known politically for his work as a member of several influential Senate Committees including: The Senate Banking Committee, Senate Currency Committee, Joint Economic Committee and is the ranking Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He is also Chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee.

As a student, Senator Sparkman compiled an outstanding record at the University of Alabama where he received an A.B., A.A., and L.L.B. He is also the possessor of an Honorary Doctor of Laws from Spring Hill College, Mobile, Alabama.

At the University of Alabama he was editor of the Crimson-White, president of the Student Body and chosen outstanding student during his senior year. Academically, his membership is numbered in Phi Beta Kappa.

In 1936, he made the first of his six successful runs for the House of Representatives. He was elected

Senator Jackson

Senator Henry M. Jackson, Democrat from Washington, will be the second United States Senator appearing during Symposium Week. At the age of forty-five, Jackson has more experience than any legislator his age—twelve years in the House and five in the Senate.

Jackson, a bachelor, was born in 1912 in Everett, Wash. He was educated there in the local public school system and later went on to the University of Washington, where he received a Bachelor of Laws degree in 1935.

He entered private law practice in 1933, but was only to pursue this occupation for three years, for at the age of twenty-six, he was elected Prosecuting Attorney of Snohomish County, Washington. In 1940 he made his first try for the United States House of Representatives and was successful.

IN TOP TEN

He was re-elected to the House for five additional terms, including 1946, when he was the only Democratic winner in the Northwest. In 1952, he was cited by Liberty Magazine as one of the ten top House members on the basis of independence, honesty and leadership.

In 1950, two years prior to his election to the Senate, he turned down the position of Under Secretary of the Interior. He did this because he felt he could "better assist resource development in the West and particularly in the Pacific Northwest, by continuing my service in Congress."

Jackson was elected to the Senate in 1952, defeating Republican incumbent Senator Harry P. Cain by a margin of 135,000 votes to lead the ticket in Washington State, in contrast to the majority of 105,000 compiled by President Eisenhower in that same election.

While in the Senate, Jackson has served on the Armed Services Committee, the Government Operations Committee, the Interior and Insular Committee and the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.
