Fire Ravages Presbyterian Church Here

By PAUL RULE

A fire of undetermined origin broke out in the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church last night at approximately 11:30.

Flames at first appeared to be confined to the roof and the rear portion of the building. Shortly after midnight the blaze spread to the main part of the structure.

At 12:30 a. m. local fireman aided by a unit of the Carrboro Fire Dept. were still battling the blaze which apparently was not as yet under control. No estimate of the possible extent of the damage was available as of press time last nite, but it was considered a total loss.

Body Starts

All a spokesman for the group would says was that problems related both to the houses themselves and the University were discussed by the committee set up by student government and the IFC.

However, Student Body President Sonny Evans said the body will recommend reforms in the fraternity system to the responsible parties concerned." To that end it will study many aspects of fraternity life, he said

Although reasons for the committee's institution have been vague, it was generally believed that recent publicity about an alleged fraternity "pajama party" put emphasis on the need for such a body.
