Appeals For Support

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—President Eisenhower, appealing for nationwide support of his foreign aid program, described it tonight as "not a maneuver carried out by a dictator" but an expression of good-will and common sense.

Eisenhower climaxed a day-long conference organized by the Administration in behalf of the $3,900,000,000 aid program. The President said that under present conditions the urgency of both mutual security and reciprocal trade agreements legislation "leaves no margin for error."

Put To The Test

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—Russia's proclaimed intention of boycotting the United Nations Disarmament Commission may be put to the test next month.

The United States and its NATO allies were reported near agreement today on calling a March meeting of the 25-nation commission.

Then, if Russia sticks by its refusal to attend, the whole issue of breaking the deadlock which has blocked disarmament negotiations since last fall may be handed over to the U.N. Security Council.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25. (AP)—Five boys were reported named by the Cook County Grand Jury today in true bills charging them with slaying and raping a 13-year-old girl Scout.

All five were reported charged with assault to kill and two of them with rape. The boys are Negroes. The girl is white.

The boys were seized yesterday and confessed, police said, after the victim, Carol Foss, identified them as the gang that set upon her around 6 p.m. Feb. 4 as she ran an errand a block from her home in a racially mixed neighborhood.

Statement May Be Released Soon In State Board-UNC Trustees Fray

Byrd Changes Mind; Will Seek Re-Election

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 25. (AP)—Sen. Harry Flood Byrd (D-Va) reversed today an announced decision to retire.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a long-time advocate of fiscal conservatism, said he would seek a fifth term. He announced his decision in a message to the General Assembly of Virginia.

It quoted a statement of consent from Mrs. Byrd whose illness was given as the reason in his retirement statement Feb. 12. She has been going to Washington in an ambulance.

Today's message was greeted with applause in the Assembly which had asked him to reconsider retirement. Gov. J. Lindsay Almond hastened to offer unqualified support. Four former Virginia governors who had joined in a request that he run again expressed gratification.

Sen. Frear (D-Del) interrupted a meeting of the Finance Committee in Washington to announce that Byrd would run again. Sens. Martin (R-Pa) and Williams (R-Del) joined Frear in expressing pleasure.

Many Letters and Telegrams
Byrd's statement to the Assembly here indicated he had received hundreds of letters and telegrams from individuals in Virginia and other states asking him to run again.

It is known that many came from those who approve his fiscal policies and also from persons who support his "massive resistance" policy to the supreme court's decree for desegregation in the schools.

Republicans in the Virginia Assembly went along with a resolution of praise for Byrd on Feb. 12 but Sen. Ted Dalton, twice a Republican candidate for governor, said the minority could not vote for an amendment asking him to reconsider. The Republicans may nominate a candidate to oppose him in a convention probably to be held in June.

Curtails Contest
But the announcement calmed Democratic politics in Virginia and abruptly ended a rapidly shaping contest between former Governors John S. Battle and William M. Tuck for the nomination to succeed him. Both issued statements of pleasure at his decision.

Extension Division
Restoration of the Extension Division "to a sound and realistic position in the budget" was asked. The Committee's report also requested that the unit be extended to provide additional services.

Controversy Flares Up Over Student Housing

RALEIGH, Feb. 25. (AP)—A statement from the State Board of Higher Education in its row with trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina is expected within the next few days.

This was indicated today by Dr. J. Harris Furks, the state's Director of Higher Education. He conferred by telephone with members of the higher education board about criticism of the board voiced at a meeting of the UNC trustees yesterday in Greensboro.

Dr. Furks said, "It's very likely" that the board will issue a statement. He declined to make any comment himself and said that "Any statement with respect to these matters will come from the board."

The board's chairman, D. Hiden Ramsey of Asheville, commented similarly. Discontent of the trustees with the new higher education board flared into the open as the result of a dispute over the provision of quarters for married students at North Carolina State College.

The University administration had asked for permission to build a 500-unit housing development for married students, but the Board of Higher Education said it could not approve more than 300 units.

Provision For Housing
It said the state should make provision for housing married graduate students and for veterans but should not at this time undertake to provide quarters for other married undergraduate students.

The University trustees voiced approval of a report by one of its committees which said, "We are strongly of the opinion that this matter (housing) should be left to the discretion of the Board of Trustees of the University."

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that another trustees' subcommittee is at work studying whether the dispute between the higher education board and the trustees is an administrative problem that can be settled through reaching an agreement with the board or one that would prompt a request to the legislature for a change in the laws.

Either One Or The Other
During a discussion of the situation, one of the trustees, State Rep. W. C. Harris Jr. of Raleigh asserted that, "We may have reached the point where either we do not need this board of trustees or the board of higher education."

"The issue is whether we run the University or somebody else runs it," Harris asserted. "I think it is as simple as that."

GMAB Free Film Unit To Show Films Twice
Starting this weekend there will be two showings of each GMAB free film, according to Curtis Gans, chairman of the Free Film Committee.

The showings will be at 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. both Friday and Saturday.

This year there had been only one showing on Saturday evening.

According to Gans, a combination of factors including an increased budget, and the rental of films from different sources enabled the increase to two showings.

Friday's film will be "Panic in the Streets" with Richard Widmark.
