After Duke Game:

Murray Terms McGuire's Action 'Revolting'

BILL MURRAY
Duke Football Coach

DURHAM, March 1 (AP)—Coach Frank McGuire, who says his campaign for better sportsmanship by basketball fans has backfired, refused to take his North Carolina team off the Duke gymnasium floor last night during a melee until he was assured of police protection. Duke football coach Bill Murray called McGuire's action revolting.

McGuire held his team at its bench for 10 minutes after the game while Duke partisans among the capacity crowd of 8,300 stormed to the floor and carried off coach Harold Bradley and his players in jubilation. Some fans snipped off the nets in token of Duke's 59-46 victory which gave the Blue Devils the regular season crown in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Fight On Floor
During this festivity, Durham police rushed to the court and broke up a fight, later described as between two Duke students punching each other for rights to a victory net. One student was floored, and a doctor was paged over the public address system.

The youth arose, apparently uninjured, and the public address announcer urged: "Everybody go home."
During the closing minutes of the game between the arch rivals, fans repeatedly pushed onto the court. Officials then asked for assistance in maintaining control of the game.

Bradley Comments
Bradley, who didn't learn of McGuire's action until his Duke squad was about ready to leave its dressing room, was asked whether he thought the game was particularly rough. He said athletic contests between the old rivals are "affairs of high emotion."

He added that the game "had contact, but you expect that sort of thing." Duke hasn't been defeated on its home court this season.
Murray, who saw the game, was critical of McGuire. He said: "In all my coaching experience, I have never seen a more obvious exhibition. It is the most revolting act by a coach I've ever witnessed."
"The very idea of McGuire demanding police protection to be escorted to his dressing room is absurd. He has created a monster in his publicity-seeking statements supposedly made to stop such things as this. I once admired him, now I blame him. I've never yet seen the time when police protection was needed for a visiting team to walk to the dressing room at Duke. They could have gone off without trouble."

FRANK MCGUIRE
His Actions 'Revolting'?

McGuire Retorts

McGuire retorted: "I wish Murray had come to me with those remarks. I'd tell him he has enough to worry about in Jim Tatum North Carolina football coach; to keep him occupied. I'd tell him he'll never beat Carolina in football as long as Tatum's around."

McGuire has been critical of fans at Atlantic Coast Conference games. His criticism has centered on the booing of players during pre-game introductions and in foul shooting.
He said after last night's incident, "We're going to have a major calamity if something isn't done."
The game was a typical Duke-North Carolina contest—hard fought and hard played.

Wetzel Faces Second Trial

SANFORD, March 1 (AP)—For the second time, Frank Edward Wetzel will place his life in the scales of a North Carolina court here this week.

The cool and reserved New York State native will be called to trial in Lee County Superior Court for the murder of Highway Patrolman J. T. Brown.

Selection of a jury from a special 100-man venire is expected to begin soon after court convenes at 10 a.m. Monday. Judge George Fountain of Tarboro will be on the bench.

Solicitor W. Jack Hooks of Kenly, who will prosecute the case, has said he will press for "The maximum penalty"—death in the state's gas chamber.

Brown, 33 and father of four children, was fatally wounded near here the night of Nov. 5 when he stopped a speeding car. About an hour earlier and 60 miles away, Patrolman W. L. Reece of Hamlet was shot down near Ellerbe after halting a black car which flashed past a speed watch.

Wetzel, 36, was convicted for Reece's murder in Richmond County Superior court at Rockingham early in January. He received a life sentence when the jury recommended mercy, thus sparing him the death penalty.

John Thomas Page Jr., Rockingham Lawyer and Former FBI agent, will again appear as defense county for Wetzel. Page was appointed to defend Wetzel at the Rockingham trial and, at Wetzel's request, was given the assignment for the trial here.

BAND LEADER RALPH MALTERIE
To Present Charity Concert Here

Ralph Marterie & Orchestra To Present Concert March 10 With Panhel, IFC Sponsoring

Ralph Marterie and his orchestra will be presented in a concert Monday, March 10, by the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils.

Proceeds from this concert will go to support the Negro Recreation Center of Chapel Hill. Each year the two Greek councils sponsor a money-raising project for the benefit of some local charity.

The Marterie concert will be held in Memorial Hall, beginning at 8 p.m. on March 10. Tickets may be secured for $1.25 in Y-Court, Ledbetter-Pickard store or Town and Campus store.

College Favorite

Picked by Down Beat magazine as the top band and orchestra in the country last season, Ralph Marterie has also been voted a top favorite in colleges in a recent poll conducted in colleges throughout the country.

Marterie started his career as a bandleader during his tour in the Navy during World War II. Playing to thousands of servicemen throughout the nation started him on his way. When he was discharged, Marterie's first band became a reality.
His newest single release has been "College Man," but Marterie has also moved to the top of the ladder in well known long-playing albums, such as One Night Stand, Trumpeter's Lullaby, Strictly Instrumental, Dancing on the Downbeat and Marterie Moods.
In a relatively short period of time, Marterie has scaled the top hurdles in the field of popular bands in the nation. Several of his Mercury recordings have exceeded the one million mark.

UNC Glee Club Gives Concert Here Tuesday

The UNC Glee Club under the direction of Dr. Joel Carter, will give a concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 4, in Hill Music Hall. The program will be presented by the UNC Department of Music on the Tuesday Evening Series and is open to the public at no charge.

Guest soloist will be Donna Patton Kelly, soprano. Last summer she was awarded the first scholarship by the Institute of Opera. Mrs. Kelly, student of Walter Golde, has been soloist for numerous University concerts including Mozart's "Requiem" and "The Magic Flute."

Sacred Works

The program will open with three sacred a capella works sung by the Glee Club. The opening number, "To Thee We Sing," was arranged from the Russian Liturgy by Peter Tkach. Two Renaissance compositions, Jacob Arcadelt's "Ave Maria" and "O Come, Ye Servants of the Lord" by Christopher Tye, will follow.

Mrs. Kelly, accompanied by Walter Golde, pianist, will sing a group of three arias from operas by Puccini and Charpentier.

Three serious compositions comprise the next group to be sung by the Glee Club with piano accompaniment by Robert Fulk Jr. Lorraine Waters' "The Man Without a Country" is a setting of the text from Sir Walter Scott's "Lay of the Last Minstrel." Randall Thompson's "The Last Words of David," one of the finer pieces of 20th century choral music, will follow. "Turn Back, O Man" by Gustav Holst, arranged by Lefebvre, will conclude the group.

Folk Songs & Spirituals

After intermission three folk songs and a Negro spiritual will be offered by the Glee Club: "Shenandoah," an American chantey; "Down Among the Dead Men," an arrangement of an English drinking song; "The Foggy, Foggy Dew," an American folk song featuring Donald Nance, bass-baritone, as soloist; and "Ain't That Good News," a Negro spiritual.
Romberg numbers on the program include "Drinking Song," "The Desert Song," "One Alone," "Stout-hearted Men," "Auf Wiederseh'n," "Wanted You," "Gaudeamus Igitur," and "One Kiss."

Coed Room Plan Changed This Year

Room reservations for summer school and next fall for coeds is being conducted in a slightly different way from past methods.

Now through March 12, coeds will sign up for their rooms in their own dormitories instead of at the dean of women's office.

First, the student must make a ten dollar deposit in the basement of South Building and get a receipt. The room reservations are then made with the dormitory hostess or desk girl between the hours of 8 p.m. and closing time.

To cancel a reservation, the student must go to or write the dean of women's office. Room deposits for the summer school sessions are refundable until one week in advance of the day of registration for the term.

Room deposits for the fall term are not refundable after Aug. 15.

Contest Offered Here For Carolina Coeds

Scholarship awards totalling $1050 are being offered coed winners of the "Silver Opinion" contest, sponsored by Reed and Barton Silver Co.

Student Leaders' Viewpoints

Delayed Rush: Scorned, Praised & Condemned

By PRINGLE PIPKIN
Gary Greer's (SP) bill to delay the fraternity rushing program until the second semester introduced last Thursday has evoked much comment from student leaders in the past few days.

Student Body President Sonny Evans, who will veto or sign the bill, said, "The case for deferred rushing is a strong one, and I am hopeful that fraternity men and independents will be able to discuss it objectively and do the thing which is best for the campus."

He explained that under the present system rushers generally knew little about the fraternity pledge or about the members of the pledge class.

"In addition," he continued, "individuals who do not make the fraternities receive the scare of not being wanted long before they are able to adjust to college life and get their feet on the ground."

He claimed that the pledgeship period "is much too long for a healthy situation with both pledges and actives becoming tired and disgruntled."

"However, the problem of finances and the effects of reducing the incomes in both big and little fraternities is something which must be considered as well as the problem of dirty rushing and how it will be combated," he warned.
"Gary Greer has done a courageous thing," he asserted, "and I hope that all of us will look into the problem with as much objectivity as we can."

Good In Principle

"In principle, deferred rushing is good, but there are many things to be considered before such a step is taken."

Greer, a member of the Student Legislature ways and means committee, said this of the introduced bill, "with the full realization that there are many advantages and disadvantages which are inherent in either of the two systems of rushing but also with the full realization that many other schools have made the necessary financial adjustments."

Student Party Plans To Continue Selections

The Student Party will return to Roland Parker Lounges in Graham Memorial to continue its nominating for the spring elections Monday night at 7:30.

Party Chairman Pat Adams said the consideration of whether to endorse a candidate in the race for Editor of The Daily Tar Heel would be the first matter of business.

The SP will choose its Student Legislature standard-bearers from Dorm Men's IV and V, from the Dorm Women's district and from Town Men's III and IV.

There are also nominations to be made for a seat in Dorm Men's I and one in Town Women's district. Adams said that party members who had not paid their $1 dues for the spring semester will have to pay in order to vote.

"We are looking forward to some good fights this time and we hope all interested persons will come to the meeting," he said.
"Everyone will be allowed to speak," he commented.
So far the SP has nominated eight Student Legislators, who were from Dorm Men's I, II, III and from Town Women's district.

Alpha Gams Slate Projects

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority has just got underway its alterities projects for this year for the benefit of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The first of these projects was a bake sale held last week. Subsequent bake sales and other projects, such as rummage sales, will be conducted throughout the spring semester.

The chairman of all the projects is Beverly Cubreth.

Each year Alpha Gam sponsors a series of projects, the proceeds from which go to a designated charity. Last year, the Alpha Gams entertained children from the Homes Day Nursery at an Easter egg hunt.

University Party Will Nominate Candidates

The nominating convention of the University Party will meet to select candidates in the spring election for the Student Legislature Monday night at 7:15 in Gerrard Hall.

Tomorrow at 4 p.m. at Gerrard Hall University Party members will have their last opportunity to verify their membership in the party in order to be eligible to vote at the convention.

Syd Shuford, UP Chairman, said that the executive committee of party planned to recommend that the nominations for student government executive positions be delayed six days until March 10.

Shuford said he was looking "for a large turnout." He continued, "With the nominative system such as we have, I know each of the groups will be able to exercise their prerogative as members of a democratic society."
Monday the UP will begin with the Town Men's districts, then the Town Women's district, next the Dorm Men's districts and finally the Dorm Women's district.
Shuford said any legislature seat not filled Monday would be filled Tuesday when the UP will consider endorsing National Student Association Co-ordinator.
The party will probably nominate Senior Class officers and Student Government executive officers March 10.
