

Carter States Stand On Spring Election Issues

Bob Carter, independent candidate in the race for president of the student body, issued yesterday the first in a series of statements concerning his stand on the various issues which will be brought out in the coming election.

Concerning student government, Carter has this to say, "We must never forget that student government from its very beginning has derived its power from privileges given it by the administration and faculty.

"The very strong student government that we have here at Carolina has developed because students before us have taken these privileges and have responsibly carried out the work necessary to keep these privileges and to gain more. This traditional responsibility and the outstanding work that student government has done in the past and the present gives the current administration great faith in student government.

"One of the greatest jobs a student body president has is to work closely with the administration and to see that student government does its job efficiently and well."

Carter feels that the power over student finances and student government employees is a feature which makes our student government unique and strong.

"In the realm of finances we are on our own. This is a great responsibility that we must cherish and protect. This freedom of control over money is very necessary for our current student government and we would be weakened considerably if this privilege were lost. I pledge to see that this privilege is not lost."

"The final great backbone of student government on this campus is our Honor System. I pledge to uphold the Honor System and I shall try to see that its principles are upheld at the University no matter what type of judicial body is responsible for its enforcement."

Soviet Union Diplomats Limited To 25-Mile Radius While At UNC

The two Soviet diplomats on hand for the Carolina Symposium have been limited by the State Department to side trips within a 25 mile radius of Chapel Hill.

These travel limitations were placed on Sergei R. Striganow, number two ranking diplomat in the Russian embassy, and second Secretary Evgeni A. Zaosrovtsvev.

The side trips were restricted to 25 miles because that is the limitation placed on American diplomats in the Soviet Union, according to a department spokesman.

The spokesman said the two Soviets asked for the right to make the round trip to Chapel Hill by automobile. At the same time they asked for permission to make side trips beyond the campus for a distance of 35 to 40 miles. It was not specified in the application where and when they intended to make the side trips.

The State Department is willing to take a more liberal view regarding such trips if the Soviet Foreign office will treat U. S. diplomats in the same way.
