Furtado Calls Charge Of 'Non-Undergraduate' Control Too Trivial For Comment

By ED GOODMAN

Student Party presidential candidate Don Furtado today issued a reply to his opponent's charges of student government control by "non-undergraduates."

Depudiating a statement yesterday by UP candidate Al Goldsmith, he said: "I believe that those people who understand and know the operations of the student government will realize the triviality of such a statement. It doesn't even deserve comment."

Asked his opinion on Goldsmith's statement, Student Body President Sonny Evans had no comment.

Goldsmith had said yesterday that "I think most highly of the present student body president, but at times I have wondered whether he is his own boss. I fear that there has been excessive control of student government in the past by non-undergraduates, and I believe it most essential that student government be undergraduate controlled.

In a separate on the honor system issue, Furtado said:

"A month ago, the Student Legislature approved a bill which provided that

Fine Arts Festival Begins This Evening

A panel discussion on "Fine Arts and Science in Education," to be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Graham Memorial Main Lounge, will begin a series of important art events of UNC's first Fine Arts Festival.

Doctor Noel Houston, Doctor Warner Wells, and Doctor Gregory Ivey will act as the panel with Curtis Gans moderating.

Doctor Houston is currently a visiting professor of Radio, Television and Motion Pictures. He has written a best seller, two Broadway plays and many magazine articles, including Fortune's recent series on Billy Graham.

Doctor Warner Wells, is a surgeon at Memorial Hospital and holder of the O. Max Gardner award for humanitarian service. He was a member of the Atomic Bomb Commission, and while in Japan he translated "Hiroshima Diary."

Doctor Gregory Ivey is the head of the Art Department at Women's College and a member of the staff of WC since 1935. He is the author of "Approach to Design" and has directed fine arts summer sessions. He has paintings exhibited at the Metropolitan Museum and other galleries.

Curtis Gans, a UNC student from Statesville was recently elected editor of The Daily Tar Heel.

This panel is the first in a series of events scheduled for UNC's First Fine Arts Festival. Other events this week include a Beaux Arts Ball, with theme, "A Trip to Outer Space," scheduled for 9 p.m. Friday in Carolina Inn, a sidewalk art exhibit, a performance of "Antigone" by the Petite Dramatique group, a performance by the Naval Air Cadet Choir and a concert by William Leland, pianist, plus a showing of the film "Ten Days that Shook the Earth."

Run-Off Vote Demands 'Careful Thought'—UP

Syd Shuford, chairman of the University Party, and John Kerr, UP official, issued a joint statement Wednesday in support of Al Goldsmith, candidate for president of the student body which said:

"The presidential election Tuesday next will demand careful thought by every voter. We would like to suggest the following ideas which show Al Goldsmith to be the more desirable candidate.

"First, he has assumed leadership in Student Government through the Student Legislature, Orientation Committee, NSA, and other organizations. In other student activities, he has held responsible posts in his dormitory, fraternity, NROTC and the Carolina Symposium. This shows wide and varied experience—a compelling requirement for president of the Student Body.

Secondly, we feel that Al is the natural leader of his party and will therefore coordinate his many duties and responsibilities to best serve the students and their needs. No cliques or extraneous groups will exist to confuse us by promulgating policy in the name of the University party or in the name of Student Government.

"Today, Student Government is facing several crises, not the least of which are student parking, fraternity relations and University expansion. Active forceful leadership is needed to resolve these problems.

We do not feel a multifunctional party is qualified for such a task. Al and the University party are united, they have been united for three years. Give them the chance to show what a united effort can produce and bring student government back to all the students.

Scabbard And Blade Plans Full Weekend

A full round of social events is in store for Carolina midshipmen and cadets this weekend.

Scabbard and Blade has announced final plans for the Military Ball and the appearance of the Naval Air Cadet Choir.

'Spring Swing' Street Dancing Starts Friday

Carolina students will be treated to the second annual "Spring Swing" on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Sponsored by the Chapel Hill merchants, these two days will be a real "swing session" according to Ty Boyd of the WCHL staff.

The merchants have just received permission from the State to rope off Franklin St. on Friday night so students will be able to dance in the street to the sounds of Sam Atwater's rock 'n' roll combo.

All local stores will feature "Spring Swing Special" expressly for the students. Many will be staying open until 9 p. m.

Boyd called Atwater's group the "hottest rock 'n' roll band in the South" and predicted a "real swinging session with the Swinging Shepherds." The combo is known as the Swinging Shepherds and all are students at North Carolina College in Durham.

There is some possibility that either or both of the movie houses will have a free flick for their late show. This is now being considered in their respective regional offices in Charlotte.

Mangum Dorm Leading Way To More Pleasant Living

By DAVIS YOUNG

Mangum Dormitory might aptly be referred to as a "citadel of progressiveness," for the residents of this building have successful undertaken a vast program to improve their dorm.

In the past three years under the leadership of dorm officers, students residing here have brought Mangum near the top in every phase of dorm life.

Art Shields, outgoing secretary-treasurer, talked with great pride about the recent accomplishments of Mangum. He mentioned that Mangum now has an Election's Board similar to the campus Election's Board which interviews all candidates interested in seeking a dorm office and has the power to endorse or not endorse depending on the individual's qualifications.

Each floor at Mangum now has a floor representative who is responsible to the dorm president. These four people, along with the official dorm officers, meet once every week and carry on many of the governmental functions involving dorm life.

During the course of the year, social life is not neglected, as four to six parties are sponsored by the dorm residents. Present plans call for a "blast" to be held at the Elbow Room in conjunction with Manly Dorm and Averett College of Danville, Va.

Perhaps the highlight of a trip to Mangum is a tour of their beautifully decorated social room. Photographs and paintings are liberally hung on the wall about the room. Each window has a set of curtains and in the middle of the room is a well-filled trophy case.

Contained in this case are intramural athletic plaques and trophies.

Alpha Kappa Psi Picks New Officers

The new officers installed were: Laurence G. Wilson, Mt. Olive, president; Gerald D. Suddreth, Granite Falls, vice-president; Robert S. Drye, Oakboro, secretary; Garner R. Smith, Harmony, treasurer; Wilmer H. Wray, Reidsville, house manager and William T. Williams III, Ellerbe, master of rituals.

Grail Taps 13 New Men In Pre-Dawn Ceremonies

Thirteen students were initiated into the Order of the Grail in pre-dawn ceremonies this morning. The number of new members has been set at 13 by tradition.

Admitted to the Grail this morning were Neil Carmichael Bender, Pollockville; Wayne Staton Bishop, Greenville; Ralph Waldo

Cummings, Jr., Raleigh; Rudolph Lee Edwards, Rutherfordton; Douglas George Eisele, Statesville; Albert Lewis Goldsmith Jr., Lincolnton.

Leonidas Causey Holt, Julian; Charles Riddell Huntington, Spartanburg, S. C.; Alvin Larkin Kirkman, High Point; Denton Lotz,

In the selection of its members, Grail Delegate John Kerr said last week, the Grail looks for students who already bear the evidence of leadership and unselfish service.

"To be a Knight is indicative not only of high recognition for achievement and unselfish devotion to altruistic endeavors, but also of the willingness to serve to exhibit these qualities in the interest of the student body," he added.

The Grail was established in 1920 to bring student leaders together in an organization that would serve the entire campus, promoting fellowship throughout the campus community as well as among its members.

According to Kerr the basic tenet of the Grail is that its membership should always be equally divided between the dormitory and fraternity sections of the campus.

The group's present officers are John Kerr, Delegate, Herman Godwin, Scribe; Benny Thomas, Exchequer, and Mac Paton, Vice-Exchequer. Active members are Eddie Bass, Neil Bass, John Brooks, Bob Carter, Sonny Evans, Joel Fleishman, Don Furtado, Tom Halford, Ray Jeffries, Tony Lambeth, Danny Lotz, Jerry Oppenheimer, George Ragsdale, Bill Redding, Sandy Sanders and Tom Walters.

GMAB Cuts Officials From Six To Three

The number of executive officers of the Graham Memorial Activities Board has been reduced from six to three. According to a report from Benny Thomas, president of GMAB, it will have one vice president next year instead of three. The office of treasurer has been eliminated.

The executive organization for the 1958-1959 session will consist of a president, a vice president and a secretary. The Graham Memorial Board of Directors will begin interviewing applicants for these positions next week.

Thomas said that this change greatly reduces the number of officers of GMAB, but the Board feels that it will make the programming of Graham Memorial easier.

"Through experience this past year," Thomas said, "we learned that the responsibilities of the various officers were spread too thin and that there was too much duplication of work. By reducing the number of officers the work load and responsibility of each will be increased; however, we feel that the program will be greatly aided and that, in the long run, the work will be easier and much more exciting."

Applications for executive posts and other GMAB positions are available at the information desk in Graham Memorial. "I encourage each and every interested student who wishes to participate in a very worthwhile and exciting extra-curricular activity next year to fill out one of these applications," Thomas said.

Air ROTC Honor Clubs Will Combine

The Arnold Air Society and the Sabre Air Command of the 590th AFROTC Group (cadet) in accordance with a resolution passed at a recent national convention held in San Francisco, have begun proceedings for a merger of the two Air Force honorary societies.

The name of the Combined unit will be the Arnold Air Society Inc. and it will become a year organization.

Previously, members from the freshmen and sophomore classes who had shown outstanding military characteristics were chosen for membership in the Sabre Air Command. Upon reaching advanced standing in the air science program, cadets became eligible for membership in the Arnold Air Society.

The merger of these two organizations was brought about in an effort to further the objectives of the two units which were to foster leadership training in the crops of cadets and to recognize outstanding military students.

The newly elected officers of the Arnold Air Society will hold the same positions in the new organization. In the UNC unit they are: William S. Godwin, commander, from Erwin; David A. Ellis, executive officer, from Gamboa, Canal Zone; Bogdan M. Zlotnicki, operations officer, from Colon, N. C.; William F. Parker, adjutant-recorder, from Statesville; Phillip T. Williams, comptroller, from Charlotte and Carey W. Daniel, information service officer, from Durham.

All of these officers are juniors and are members of the advanced group in the Air Science Program.

4 Winners Of Awards Announced

Three sons of UNC faculty members and a High Point native have won Woodrow Wilson fellowships for graduate work.

The fellowships, given for first-year graduate work leading to a career in college teaching, are awarded for students to use at the school of their choice.

Kier Nash, son of Professor Arnold S. Nash, of the Department of Religion, will come to UNC from Harvard and will study Southern history.

Allen Williams, son of James A. Williams, UNC director of personnel, will go to Cornell where he will major in sociology.

Eugene Lane was elected to Phi Beta Kappa at Princeton during his junior year.

Kier Nash has studied at Groton and at Harvard.

Allen Williams is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and a member of Delta Psi Fraternity.

Bell Tower Parking Lot Opens Today

Relief is in sight for the parking problem.

It was announced yesterday by J. Arthur Branch, business manager of the University that the new Bell Tower parking lot will be opened today.

The new parking lot will make room for over 500 cars. There are no restrictions as to whose car can be parked there. It will be open to everyone. The lot will be convenient for people with business in the hospital vicinity as well as the regular class buildings and library.

There will be signs in the lot today for the regulation of traffic.

It has been requested that no one park in the drive leading from the entrance to the lot. Signs have been erected to show the no parking areas.

The lot will remain open at night. It has been lighted and the paths leading to and from the lot have also been lighted.

It has been noted that there are over two miles of paved curbing already installed. The lot itself has not yet been paved. The cars parking on it will help to pack the dirt down and prepare the lot for paving.

It was also announced that a traffic light will be put up at the entrance of the lot. There will be a new exit cut from the library lot to come out at the traffic light. The new library exit will be combined with the exit of the chemistry building parking lot, thus making all of the exits come out at the light. This is to relieve the present hazard of coming out of those lots.

Parking in the lot will be observed by a parking committee for the rest of the school year and during summer school. If any regulations are needed for restricting parking they will be made next fall.
