Don Furtado Urges Students To Think Before Balloting

Don Furtado, Student Party candidate for President, has urged, every student to take time to think and to vote in Tuesday's election.

SP Leaders Praise Furtado And Evans

By DAVE JONES

Interdormitory Council President Rudy Edwards and Attorney General Sonny Hallford have both released statements in support of the candidacy of Don Furtado.

IDC President Edwards enumerated the accomplishments of Student Government under its recent leaders, including Sonny Evans and Don Furtado. In it he refuted the idea that "It is time for a change."

Attorney General Hallford's statement emphasized Furtado's experience and ability and the unity of the Student Party organization behind him.

The text of Edward's statement began, "This year Student Government under the leadership of Sonny Evans and Don Furtado has made great progress. These two Student Party leaders have been instrumental in deriving new gains for the student body."

"Probably the most notable," continued Edwards, "has been the revision of the Honor System. For the past several years there had developed an apathetic and indifferent feeling toward the Honor System. . . . It was something remote and out of the student's reach."

"Hence the Student Party became very concerned and under the leadership of Sonny Evans and Don Furtado has introduced the Jury System."

He touched on the parking problem by saying: "With the completion of the Bell Tower Parking lot, this problem has been greatly alleviated. This too was due to the competent leadership of the executive branch."

"For many years the students have wanted a rebate on their money spent in the Book Ex and in vending machines. Today, through much hard and delicate work, Student Government has been able to channel part of this money into such benefits for the student as television repair funds."

"I feel that the majority of the students know that the Student Party is the party of action and advancements and are not fooled by the false cry of 'It's time for a change.'"

In conclusion the president of the IDC said, "We hope and feel that the students will continue to deney. . . . On Tuesday, the final verdict of the students will be known," began Furtado.

"I urge everyone—undergraduate and graduate—to take the few minutes that will be required to cast his vote in this final election," the candidate continued.

"In this last statement, I do not intend to deliver an exposition on my plans or my background. I believe that one month has given everyone ample opportunity to familiarize himself with the experience and capabilities of the presidential candidates."

"The needs of the campus are obvious—the solutions are not so obvious. I can only pledge to devote my full time and experience in attempting to solve those problems."

"No matter who is elected," continued Furtado, "I hope that the students will grant him their whole support."

place their faith in the Student Party. They can express their faith in continued progress by electing Don Furtado student body president."

Sonny Hallford began by saying "Don Furtado is one of the best qualified candidates for the presidency of the student body appearing on the campus political scene in some years."

"He is a fast, independent thinker who has a thorough understanding of Student Government and campus problems. The Student Party pledges to support Don and his program 100 per cent during the coming year. Don's wisdom has been demonstrated by his proven ability to distinguish between critical campus problems and trivialities in his recent debates with the opposition."

"One of the real problems facing student government next year is that of proving the need for a new Student Union and of helping Mr. Henry become acquainted with the Carolina method of student administered activities. Don Furtado has served on the Board of Directors of Graham Memorial for two years and was a member of a special delegation that visited Mr. Henry, the new director of Graham Memorial, and which recommended him for the directorship. Don is most qualified to lead in solving this all campus challenge."

"Having been a resident of Mangum Dormitory for two years, Don knows the reality of dormitory griefs and forges the problem arising from the annexation of a new dormitory district."

Cooperation Needed Declares Goldsmith

Al Goldsmith, University Party candidate for student body president, cited the need for a vigorous chief executive and a unified administration to solve the pressing problems of the campus in his final statement Saturday before Tuesday's balloting.

"If student government is to keep up with the needs of the students and the rapid growth of this University there must be a change to a more vigorous and realistic administration," began Goldsmith. "To provide the type of leadership needed we need people in office who will devote their unwavering attention not so much to such theoretical and philosophic questions as to whether one honor council is better than two, or whether discrimination is good or bad, but to such down to earth problems as improvement of dorm social facilities, a new student body president, and a new student body president, and a new student body president. . . . (See GOLDSMITH, page 3)

Opposition To New Coed Rules Expressed By Student Leaders

Present President of the Student Body Sonny Evans, candidates for president Don Furtado and Al Goldsmith, and chairman of the University Party Syd Shuford spoke out yesterday against the new rules for Freshman women scheduled to be instituted this fall.

Evans said he doesn't "believe that rules ought to be made unless there is a situation existing which realistically demands restrictions. It is my opinion, according to the information already gathered, that the admission standards for freshman women are such that forced study rules are both unnecessary and inconsistent."

"Since I don't think that freshman women ought to have separate rules, I can see no reason for segregating them since much of their development and maturity depends on their association with the older girls."

Furtado, in disagreeing with the change in rules, said, "My first reaction to the proposed plan is unfavorable. I don't believe in differentiating between college students merely because of their class status. However, I have not yet had an opportunity to discuss the new plan with Lillian Shannonhouse, Julia Ann Crater, or Dean Carmichael. It is possible, though not probable, that my opinion concerning the restrictions of freshman women students may change after talking to those primarily responsible for the measures."

Candidate Goldsmith commented, "I do not like the new freshman women's rules as they now exist. While recognizing the concern of the University over the scholastic performance of freshman women, I do not feel these changes will completely solve the problem but will create more problems."

"Under the new rules freshman women will be able to attend only one campus function a week. This rule alone will make it impossible for most freshmen to attend political party meetings, concerts, and lectures which are so much a part of a Carolina education."

"For example, if the Carolina Symposium were to be held in the fall no freshman women could attend more than one session. In the spring those girls without C averages could not be present more than (See RULES, page 3)

Coed Rules Clarified Statutes Not Final

The new rules for freshmen women have not been finalized as of yet.

Luann Thornton, personnel advisor to women, said that the rules are not yet in final form and will have to have the approval of the Dean of Women's office when they are in final form.

Dean of Women Katherine Carmichael and Miss Thornton clarified two points about the rules.

These rules will take effect for both freshman coeds and freshman nursing students.

Miss Carmichael said that she felt that this would bring about some uniformity on freshman rules throughout the campus.

Sing Follows Fleece

Seventeen campus organizations will perform in the annual Valkyrie Sing Monday night in Memorial Hall. The Sing will immediately follow the tapping of new members into the Golden Fleece honorary society which gets underway at 7 p.m.

Twelve o'clock permission has been extended to Coeds in case the Sing continues beyond regular closing hours.

According to Peggy Funk, chairman of the Valkyrie Sing, this year's number of entries is a considerable increase over previous years. "It is probably due to the change in the make-up of the Sing," she explained.

This year the Sing is divided into two subdivisions: a musical skit division and a sing division. Twelve campus organizations are entering the sing division, whereas only five are entering the musical skit. Another change from previous years is that there are more men's organizations entering than previously.

The Valkyries, senior honorary organization for women, recognizes women students "most outstanding in character and achievement, with the number selected each year not exceeding two per cent of the women enrolled." Outside of their internal activity, this is their big public program of the year.

Those groups entering the competition this year are the Air Force ROTC, Delta Sigma Pi, Delta Upsilon, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Alpha Gamma Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Delta Pi and Kappa Delta.

Dormitories entering are Ruffin, Mangum, Manly and Smith.

Orientation Committee Preparing For 2200

The Orientation Committee under the direction of Herman Godwin and Katie Stewart is currently working towards making arrangements for the 1800 new undergraduates and 400 graduate students who will be coming to Chapel Hill for the first time in the fall.

At the present time, the big job for the Orientation Committee is the selection of the 150 counselors needed to successfully complete the men's program. Monday is the final date for applications to be turned in. The women's counselors have already been selected and are now planning for their phase of the orientation program.

On Tuesday night, a test will be given to all applicants in Room 268 Venable. Study manuals for this exam are now available in Graham Memorial and the Library. Final selection of counselors will be determined by the test scores and the performance in an interview before the Orientation Committee.

One of the big projects of the committee has been sending out letters to all of the new students in which is explained some of the "Carolina way of life" and something of the orientation program presented in the fall.

As in past years, Sam Magill is serving as the Orientation coordinator. Godwin stated that "so far the program has been successful. Our committee, which has been increased in size due to the larger scope of the program, is functioning well."

Godwin is a junior and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He has been active in many campus activities here at Carolina including being a class officer, secretary of the Carolina Symposium and a member of the Order of the Grail.

Miss Stewart is from Norfolk, Va. She is a junior and a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. She is on the Women's Residence Council, a member of the Angel Flight and the Foreign Exchange Committee.

SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI—Miss Coleman Jenkins, a coed from Kinston, was named Sweetheart of Sigma Chi for 1958-59 last night following a banquet at the Cavalier Hotel, Virginia Beach, Va. Miss Jenkins, a Chi Omega, succeeds Miss Nancy Jo Rush, a Tri Delt at Carolina.

Musicales Features Pianist In Series

William Leland, pianist from Jacksonville, Fla., will be the featured artist in the Les Petites Musicales series tonight at 8 in the Graham Memorial Lounge.

Leland, a native of Pennsylvania, is now the organist and choir director of St. John's Cathedral in Jacksonville. He has presented recitals in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Florida.

There are only two other programs scheduled in the current series. Gene Strasser, tenor, will give a recital April 20. The final program will be a concert May 4 by Francis Hopper, organist.

Last Showing Of 'Antigone' Set Tonight

The final performance of "Antigone" by Jean Anouilh will be presented tonight at 8 in Gerrard Hall. "Antigone," the third Petites Dramatiques performance this year, will feature Amanda Meiggs playing the part of Antigone. Amanda has been active in the Carolina Playmakers and was featured as St. Joan in "The Lark."

Also included in the cast are Kenneth Callender, Taylor Williams, Harold Williamson, Lucy Dunlap, John Whitty, John Steed, William Pfefferkorn, Bobbi Dixon, and Michael Okun.

Coeds Get Late Grant For Valkyrie Sing

Lucy Postgate, acting secretary of the Women's Residence Council, has issued the following statement:

"It is a joint decision of Women's Residence Council and the office of the dean of women to extend closing hours on Monday, April 14, till midnight for those attending Valkyrie Sing. Girls wishing to attend Valkyrie Sing must sign out in their dorms for late permission and sign in again as soon as it is over."

BSU Installs New Officers This Evening

New officers of the Carolina Baptist Student Union will assume their duties after the installation service tonight.

Melvin Hipps of Tryon heads the list of new officers elected by the BSU last Sunday. Hipps succeeds Janet Harper as president. He has served as BSU Supper Forum chairman, as a delegate to the N. C. Baptist State Board and is the choir director at the Chapel Hill Baptist Church.

Other officers to be installed are Denton Lotz, vice president; "Toy" Johnson, secretary; Barbara Bush, devotional chairman; Bob Chastain, publicity director; Mary Frances Collins, study groups chairman; Gary Harris, Listen chairman; Jim Scott, center host; Elaine Curtis, arrangements chairman; Dan Brown, social chairman;

Wilbur Boykin, treasurer; Jerry McDaniel, Supper Forum chairman; Erwin Fuller, worship chairman; Hal Collier, applied Christianity chairman; Bob Fugate and Martha Lassiter, enlistment co-chairmen; Shirley Hamrick and Willis Whitehead, food co-chairmen; Ned Gilliam, Sunday School director and John Killian, Weekly Bulletin chairman.

Drew Dean's Address Ends Wesley Event

The first annual Wesley Weekend, featuring discussions on "Why Is Our Generation the 'Silent One?'" the effect of Freud on modern psychology and the problem of depicting love in literature will continue today, highlighted by an address by Dr. Stanley R. Hopper, dean of the graduate school at Drew University, Madison, N. J.

The events scheduled for today include a discussion of "The Condition of Man in the Modern Novel," led by Dr. George Harper at 9:30 a.m. At 11 a.m. Dr. Hopper will talk about the relationship of Christian faith to contemporary literature, stressing Thomas Wolfe.

At 12:30 p.m. Dr. Hopper will answer questions on his sermon topic following a luncheon in Lenoir Hall.

Military Pay Hike Possible

A bill now before Congress to make military careers more attractive by hiking the pay will be, if passed, right in line with the Reserve Officers Training program in colleges.

While ROTC students will not receive any direct benefits from the pay raise, they will be, upon graduation, higher paid. This may eventually increase enrollment in ROTC units, which are looking more and more for career men. At least this seems to be the main objective now for ROTC units at UNC.

At UNC the Air Force unit was established in 1947, about the time the Air Force became a separate branch of the armed forces. "The prime objective then," says Air Science Professor Lt. Col. F. W. Swann, "was to train reserve officers and to provide a source of commissioned personnel if we had a war."
