Lewis Wins Top Awards At Annual IDC Banquet

Lewis dorm walked off with most of the IDC awards presented Wednesday night at the annual IDC banquet at Brady's. Besides the award for best dorm on campus, Lewis won an award for the most improved dorm. Paul Woodard, president of Lewis, was chosen best dorm president, and Buddy Cockrell, also of Lewis, was picked best IDC representative. Lewis managed its near sweep by netting 210 points.

Everett Dorm received a trophy for second place in the best dorm contest. Winston was declared the third place winner after the executive committee broke a tie between Winston and Grimes.

Pat Leonard of Ruffin was selected as best member-at-large. Outstanding committee chairmen were Doug Bayliff of Mangum and Frank Berry of Winston. Winston Dorm received a trophy as best dorm in intramurals.

Among other events taking place after the baked ham dinner, which was served to both old and new IDC members and guests, was the installation of the newly elected dorm presidents nad IDC representatives by Bob Carter.

Tom Walters, outgoing president of the IDC, spoke for a short time in review of the past year's problems and achievements. Administration guests Miss Luann Thornton and Ray Jeffeters and numerous student guests were also on hand for the banquet.

New Program Underway At Planetarium

A new program titled "Things That Fall from the Sky" is being given in Morehead Planetarium on the campus of the University of North Carolina every night at 8:30. It will run through May 12.

Explaining the nature of the demonstration, Manager A. F. Jenzano said comets, meteors and cosmic radiation create widespread interest and attention periodically.

"To know in advance the contributing and inherent characteristics of these phenomena enables one to accept their frequent appearance with intelligent understanding and positive identification," Jenzano said.

The school version, which will be presented Wednesdays through Friday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. is recommended for children in grades 4 through 12.

Lunch Program Receives Check From AFROTC

The 590th Detachment of the U. S. Air Force has presented the Northside Elementary School with a check for forty-two dollars and eighty five cents.

The check was for the purpose of buying lunches for the underprivileged children who attend school and can not buy their own lunches.

Cadet Colonel Tom Farrell, Cadet Commander, and Cadet Captain Jim Ray, the cadre comptroller presented the check to Principal Peace of Northside School.

The principal said that this contribution along with similar ones from other sources would certainly make a lot of children happy.

Three One-Act Plays Open Tonight At 7:30

The Carolina Playmakers will present three new one-act plays tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Playmakers Theatre. The plays are products of the play-writing class of Thomas Patterson, of the Department of Dramatic Art.

All work on the production is handled by students, the directors being selected from graduate student in the department. The plays are "The Dangers of Great Literature," by Gabrielle Roepke, directed by Page Williams; "Mossell and Dunlap."

The production of original plays is an annual feature of the Playmakers season. The list of student authors represented since the organization was first founded in 1918 includes such figures as Thomas Wolfe, Paul Green, Betty Smith, Howard Richardson, Frances Gray Patton, Bernice Kelly Harris, Josephine Niggli and Kate Porter Lewis.

The public is invited to attend these performances free of charge. Audience reaction to the scripts will be sought following each performance, with the authors in attendance.

Foreign Student Advisor Posts Open For Fall

Advisors are needed for foreign student orientation. The program will be September 13-15. Some 60 advisors will be needed.

The purpose of this program is to help foreign students to adjust to their new environment, to learn the mechanics of the University, to get some acquaintance with the American way of life and to form a personal relationship with the student community.

There will be two phases in the foreign student orientation program: meetings and social affairs, and informal orientation including correspondence between the arriving foreign student and a designated foreign student advisor on campus. The meeting of the foreign students with advisors will be another part of the informal orientation.

Interested students have been asked to apply at the campus orientation office in Graham Memorial or to contact Sira Rose, foreign student orientation chairman.

Applications Are Available For GMAB Jobs

Benny Thomas, president of GMAB, announced yesterday that positions on the board for next year will soon be filled.

Interested persons may get application blanks at the Information Desk in Graham Memorial. The blanks must be turned in there next week.

Those positions to be filled are president, secretary, and vice-president. Interviews will be held Monday and Tuesday for these executive positions.

Other openings are committee chairman for the thirteen committees which comprise GMAB and around 299 committee members.

GMAB is the programming arm of the Student Union. It is run entirely by students and operates on an annual budget of approximately $11,000.

"Many interested, energetic students are needed to make next year's program a success," stated Thomas.

Upholstered Seats Planned For Memorial Hall In Summer

The interior of Memorial Hall seats will end that difficulty, he said.

Irwin Seating Company of Grand Rapids, Mich., was low bidder for the new seats which will be in use by next September. Between 1,700 people.

This was the announcement Thursday by Chancellor William B. Aycock and Business Manager J. Arthur Branch.

The old heart of pine benches which have served generations of Carolina students since 1885 will be sold to the highest bidder. According to Branch, "The wood from the benches will be valuable to building contractors, especially for those desiring heart of pine, well aged for more than 73 years, for wall paneling and the like."

The new spring-action seats, with upholstery in the backs and in the bottoms, possess sound absorption qualities which will improve the acoustics of Memorial Hall. With the old wooden seats in use, the reverberation of sound in Memorial Hall made hearing difficult at times, with "deaf spots" in the auditorium. The fabric in the new and 1,800 seats will be installed at a cost of $18.90 per seat. The present arrangement seats about 1,750 people.

Seats will be numbered, with aisle room, theater style, and there will be refurnishing of the auditorium with floor covering and painting, and improvements in the stage. An improved public address system has already been installed.

Besides technical assistance from seating experts, the University also received the service of Kenan Professor Glen Haydon, chairman of the Music Department, who advised on the acoustical aspects of the installation, and Professor Sam Seiden, chairman of the Dramatic Arts Department, who also consulted with UNC officials on the change.

Diana Johnson, an Alpha Delta Pi, took office as president. Other officers are Suzanne Ross, vice president, Delta Delta Delta; Martha Williams, corresponding secretary, Pi Beta Phi; Ann Smith, recording secretary, Alpha Gamma Delta; Toy Johnson, treasurer, Kappa Delta; and Mary Ann Keith, project chairman, Chi Omega.

In the business of the evening it was voted to close sorority houses during exam week, as is customary.

The rush problems of sorority girls transferring onto the UNC campus were discussed, and some plan will be presented next week by Katy Stewart on this problem.

The Council decided to send two or three representatives to a Panhellenic fashion show and meeting in Raleigh, Girls from Duke, Carolina, and other colleges in the area will attend.

Activity booths for the Orientation Week Carnival next year and the organization of rush were also discussed.

The nine member council is provided for in the bill concerning the addition of a jury.

The Women's Residence Council has elected five girls to serve with the six members of the Honor Council.

They will act in trials of cases concerning violations of Campus Code, major social rules and appeals from House Councils.

The girls are: Libby McCord, Cynthia Thompson, Jane Moore, Jean Southerland and Bright Abernathy.

The nine member council is provided for in the bill concerning the addition of a jury.

Legislators Vote Against Special Freshman Coed Rules

By DAVE JONES

A resolution putting the Student Legislature on record as being opposed to any rules which apply only to freshman women and not to all Carolina Coeds was passed last night by a vote of 28 to 9.

This resolution, introduced by Gary Greer, voices the legislature's opinion on the new freshman coed regulations, but is not binding on the Women's Residence Council.

Don Furtado, Ralph Cummings, Paddy Sue Wall, and Charlie Gray were sworn in as student body president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer respectively. The ceremony was performed by Jim Long, chairman of the Student Council. Ralph Cummings assumed the chair as Speaker of the Legislature and recognized the new president.

Furtado delivered the traditional inaugural address. In it, he dedicated himself to the solution of several pressing campus problems and the maintenance of "our tradition in truth, student freedom, and responsibility."

The specific areas touched upon by the new president were, the Honor System, a new Student Union, dormitory social rules, self liquidating dorm construction, fraternities and sororities, student parking, parking fees, class cuts, professorial salaries and leaves and freshmen women's rules.

Reorganization of the body brought about the appointment of John Brooks to succeed himself as parliamentarian, and the election of Charles Pittman as speaker pro tempore; Doug Kellum, clerk; David Grigg, Sergeant at arms; Craven Brewer, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; Bob Turner, Chairman of the Finance Committee; and Neil Bowden, chairman of the Rules Committee.

Bills introduced included a resolution to approve the constitution of the UNC Amateur Radio Club. It was given special orders and discussed. The discussion revealed that it needed committee work and upon resolution of John Brooks it was sent to the Rules Committee; A resolution regarding the Freshman Coed rules was introduced by Gary Greer. It passed by special orders 28 to 9.

A resolution to build a paved walk from the corner of Raleigh St. and Raleigh Rd. to Lenoir Hall was introduced by Dennis Rinzel, to be considered next week; and a bill by John Brooks to have two appointees by the speaker serve as delegates to the State Student Legislature selections board. It too will be considered next week.

The legislature will meet at 7:00 next Thursday night.

Yack Staff

Anyone interested in working on the Yack but who failed to attend the organization meeting yesterday has been asked to fill out an information blank which can be gotten at the Information Desk of Graham Memorial.

It is very important that these blanks are filled out so that general staff can be selected," stated Cameron Cooke, editor of the Yack.

Strassler, a graduate music student at UNC from Appollo, Pa., will be accompanied by Walter Golde, Chapel Hill voice teacher and composer with whom Strassler is currently studying.

The program will include four songs by Gabriel Faure and a group of German songs by Hugo Wolf, Brahms, Richard Strauss and Edward Grieg. A piece by Wagner, a group of English songs by Vaughan-Williams, Peter Warlock and E. J. Moeran and works by Yrjo Kilpinen will also be included.

Strassler, who is a graduate of Juilliard School of Music, is known for his solo work with the University Chorus. He has been featured as tenor soloist in the Chorus performances under the direction of Wilton Mason of Schutts' "Christians Story," in Hommer's "King David" and as Hoffman in the "Tales of Hoffman."

As director of the Community Church Choir, Strassler has led performances of Faure's Requiem Mass, Charpentier's Midnight Mass and the recent presentation of Luigi Cherubini's Requiem Mass.
