Sig Ep Ball

Forty members and dates of N. C. Delta of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity will join representatives from seven other Sig Ep chapters in the two Carolinas for the 29th annual Sig Ep Ball in Charlotte this weekend.

Russell E. Brown of Hickory will be the banquet speaker at the event, which is being held at the Hotel Charlotte.

Brown, a professor of economics at Lenoir Rhyne College in Hickory and chapter counselor of the Sig Ep fraternity there will be introduced by Bedford W. Black of Kannapolis, grand guard of the national organization and attorney in his home town.

The event which an estimated 500 persons will attend will include a formal dance in the hotel ballroom after the banquet.

Sponsors and dates representing the UNC chapter are Miss Brenda Wishon with Bill Akin, both of Raleigh; Miss Sadye Anne Boyd with Bill Robbins, both of Raleigh; and Miss Madie Pollard of Raleigh with Jim Doar of Charlotte.

Undergraduate chapters which will send delegates, beauty queens and sponsors to the ball in addition to UNC are: Duke, Davidson, N. C. State, Wake Forest, Lenoir Rhyne, High Point and South Carolina. Alumni in the area will also attend.

Judging the singing competition at the dance intermission and picking the Ball beauty queen will be Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richardson of Charlotte, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hayes of Hickory and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Yarborough of Winston-Salem.

Also attending the function will be delegates from Sigma Rho Phi Fraternity at Atlantic Christian College in Wilson. This fraternity will be installed as the 147th chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon April 26 and will raise the total number of chapters in the Carolinas to nine.

Sigma Phi Epsilon is the second largest national social fraternity, and it has over 2,500 members in the Carolinas.

Eddie Seteler of Lenoir Rhyne will act as master of ceremonies for the function and will be assisted by Elwood Clinard Jr. of Winston-Salem, who is district governor.

Phi-Kappa Party

Last weekend the Phi Kappa Alphas entertained their dates at a series of parties throughout the entire weekend.

Beginning on Friday afternoon, the Phi Kaps and their dates traveled to Hillsboro where they took advantage of the Spring weather at an informal cabin party. Later in the evening, the group ate supper together and enjoyed dancing to the music of Jack Victor's combo from Durham.

Saturday afternoon featured an informal get-together at the house. Saturday night the Phi Kaps and their dates donned formal attire to attend the annual Rose Ball held at the Chapel Hill Country Club. Music for the formal festivity was provided by Jack Victor's orchestra from Durham. During the evening the officers, with their dates carrying bouquets of red roses, were presented in a figure and Catherine Ann Green, a Duke coed, was crowned queen of the Rose Ball. She was escorted by Clarence Carter of Winston-Salem.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the group wound up the weekend's festivities with a brunch at the house.

Lambda Chi Festivity

Last Saturday night the Lambda Chi partied with the Duke chapter at the American Legion Hut. Approximately 150 brothers and their dates enjoyed dancing to the latest "rock and roll" hits as presented by the Downbeats, a Burlington combo.

The Bermuda party was the first get-together held by the two groups since the Duke chapter beat the local Lambda Chis in the annual Lambda Chi Bowl Game held in December.

UNC-State Kappa Sigs Party

Last Saturday the Kappa Sigs and their dates were entertained by the State College chapter at the Sate Kappa Sig house.

Approximately 20 Kappa Sigs and their dates attended the event from the local chapter.

An afternoon and evening of informal dancing and socializing was enjoyed by all, with Nick Kearns combo, from Chapel Hill, on hand to liven up the affair with appropriate music.

Betas Entertain Chi O's

Last night the Betas entertained the Chi O's at an Italian dinner at the house. During the dinner, accordion music was provided by Jerry Goodman and a local combo added a number of popular tunes to the program.

Sunday afternoon the Chi O's will hold their annual faculty tea at the house. Mrs. Charles Murphy, house mother, will be the official hostess for the affair.

Magazine Runs Story On School Of Medicine

A feature-length article on the UNC School of Medicine appears in the current issue of "The New Physician," a monthly magazine published by the American Medical Association.

The article traces the growth of the school from the time it was opened in 1879 up to the present time. From its early beginning nearly 80 years ago, the UNC School of Medicine and its associated teaching hospital have grown into one of the leading and most modern medical centers in the South today.

The article was written by Robert H. Bartholomew, public information officer of the UNC Division of Health Affairs.

Dr. T. W. Harris headed the first

School of Medicine at the University. The article then covers such well known men in the field of medicine in North Carolina as Drs. Richard H. Whitehead, Issac Hall Manning, Charles Staples Mangum and William de Bornier MacNider, all deans of the school. Dr. W. Reece Berryhill is present dean of the school.

To the lay readers, a little known chapter in the history of the School of Medicine is brought forward. This was when the first two years of the four year course were given in Chapel Hill and the final two years were given in Raleigh. D. Hubert A. Royster was dean of the Raleigh unit.

This system was maintained from 1902 until 1910.

Grad Advisors Needed For Fall

Those people interested in being advisors for new graduate students entering Carolina next year have been asked to get application blanks at the YMCA Information Office before April 26.

Graduate orientation programs will run from September 15-17.

"Some 20 advisors are needed for this program if it is to be successful," said Nola Hatten, one of the co-chairmen.

The main duty of the counselors will be to acquaint the students with the campus and solve as many of their problems as possible.

Discussions Open

MOSCOW — U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson opened discussions yesterday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on preparations for a summit conference. Thompson was summoned to the Foreign Office and talked for 35 minutes with Gromyko. The U. S. envoy was smiling, but noncommittal when he departed.

Ike Tells Nations

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower told the nation yesterday congressional critics are besieging his military reorganization plan with nonsense, untruth and misrepresentation.

The whole purpose of the plan, he said, is "safety with solvency" and "the country is entitled to both."

Launching the battle he has promised for his plans, Eisenhower addressed a luncheon of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the International Press Institute. The speech was broadcast nationally by television and radio.

Aycock Visiting Alums In New York

UNC's new chancellor, Dr. William B. Aycock, who was installed last October as chancellor of the University, will meet with UNC alumni of New York today at the Advertising Club, 23 Park Avenue.

Dr. Aycock's visit here, his first since he was installed as chancellor, is of interest to more than 2,000 "Tar Heels" of the metropolitan area who will have their first opportunity to hear him describe his long-range plans for the academic standards and physical development of the university.

The name of Aycock is not new to higher education. Charles B. Aycock, a former governor of North Carolina (1901-1905), was one of the state's earliest crusaders for free public education. As North Carolina's "educational governor," Aycock campaigned vigorously for the right of women to higher education.
