Jane Craige Gray Award Goes To Paddy Sue Wall

Miss Paddy Sue Wall, of Winston, Salem, North Carolina, was named recipient of the Jane Craige Gray Award to the outstanding junior woman at UNC in a presentation ceremony Sunday in the Graham Memorial Lounge.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Wall, she was presented the fifth annual award, given by Beta Chi chapter of Kappa Delta sorority.

Her citation, read by Dr. James L. Godfrey, Dean of the Faculty, noted that Miss Wall has in her short time at the University, shown outstanding leadership in many phases of campus life.

It noted further her ability and strength of character which have been an inspiration to her associates. She has maintained a high scholastic average, the citation said, and at the same time has given generously of herself to her activities and to her friends.

A transfer student from Mars Hill College, Miss Wall has served as a member of the UNC Student Legislature and of the Women's Residence Council. She has a seat on the Women's Honor Council and is currently the counselor trainer for Women's Orientation.

In the recent spring elections she was named secretary of the UNC Student Body. She is a member of the GMAA Board of Directors; the Angel Flight, sponsors for the Air Force ROTC; and of the Baptist Student Union executive committee.

Other activities include Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, of which she is vice-president; Student Government Budget Committee; Carolina Symposium, Y-Night and Y-Conference committees.

The Gray Award is given in memory of the late wife of Gordon Gray, president of the University from 1950-1955. Mrs. Gray was initiated as an alumna of the Beta Chi chapter in 1950.

The coed in the junior class who best exemplifies high scholarship, leadership, and character is chosen each year for the award and receives a silver card tray. A plaque bearing the name of the winner is kept permanently in the Kappa Delta house.

Miss Wall was honored at a reception following the presentation Sunday afternoon.

The selection committee for the award was composed of Dr. Katherine Carmichael, Dean of Women; Ray Jefferies, Assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs; Sonny Evans, retiring president of the student body; Mary Jane Fisher, women's orientation representative; and Kit Whitehurst, retiring chairman of Women's Honor Council.

Ernest Mackie, Dean of awards, and Luanne Thornton, personnel adviser to women, served on the committee in ex-officio capacity. Julie Elden, new president of the Kappa Delta Chapter, presided over the awards presentation and reception.

Winners of the award in previous years have been Carol Webster, 1954; Jane Coker of Asheville, 1955; Sylvia Tarantino, 1956; and Dorothy Pressley of Raleigh, 1957.

UNC Orchestra To Play Series' 17th Concert

The 17th concert of the current Tuesday Evening Series will feature the University Symphony Orchestra directed by Earl Soliman and guest piano soloist Majorie Still Farrell tonight at 8 o'clock in Hill Hall.

The program will open with the Prelude to Humperdinck's Opera Hansel and Gretel, which was first performed in 1893. Featured next on the program will be Mrs. Farrell's performance of Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto No. 2 in C Minor.

Mrs. Farrell is well known to Chapel Hill audiences, having given three recitals in Hill Hall as well as a Petite Musicale performance. She began her piano training at the age of seven; among her former teachers are Edwin Hughes of New York City and William S. Newman, Chairman of the UNC Piano Department.

At the present time Mrs. Farrell is studying with Jan P. Sehnman of the UNC Music Department. She received the Percy Craven Weeks Award for 1957 and the Federated Music Club Scholarship for 1957-58.

WITH WOODY HERMAN

Germans To Get Lively Start

Woody Herman will swing the Spring Germans Concert into motion Saturday at 3 p. m., when he brings his jazz orchestra. The Third Herd, to Memorial Hall. Also featured in the concert will be the Al Belletto Sextet, trombonist Bill Harris, and vocalist Jerri Winters.

The Belletto group, one of the top ranking small combos in the music business, will be presented several times during the concert on its own with the special instrumental and vocal arrangements familiar to fans from Belletto's series of phonograph records. Featured with the Sextet will be singer Jerri Winters, formerly with Stan Kenton.

Bill Harris, for ten years winner of the Down Beat poll as top trombonist in jazz, will be one of the featured instrumentalists with the Herman band.

In recent years, Harris has been one of the featured stars with jazz at the Philharmonic and has toured the United States, Europe and the Far East with that group.

Dorm Room Reservations Are Due Today

Men's dormitory room reservations for the fall semester are due today, according to Jim Wadsworth, UNC housing officer.

"We are trying to give old students preference," Wadsworth said, pointing out that present occupants

Political Affiliations Won't Affect Posts

Don Furtado, president of the student body, issued a statement Monday inviting interested persons to apply for Student Government positions.

"Applicants for the various positions may rest assured that they will be considered on the basis of their sincerity, interest, experience and potential, not by any political affiliations which they might have," said Furtado.

He urged persons who would like to be considered for one of the many positions to sign up for interviews in the Student Government office in Graham Memorial. Office hours are 3:30-6 p. m. on Monday and Wednesday, 2-6 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Appointments to be made are: Attorney General and two assistants plus a staff of eight; three members of the Consolidated University Student Council; a seven-member student elections board; and Campus Chest co-chairmen.

Committee appointments include: a six member NSA committee; a seven member library committee; three member campus stores committee; a committee to pick the editor of the campus humor magazine; and a traffic advisory committee and commission.

Memberships also to be appointed are: ten cabinet members; the membership of the dance committee; the audit board; three seats, one year, two year and three year on the Graham Memorial board of directors; a student council member; a campus traffic board; a Victory Village Veteran's Affairs Commission; and the Honor System Commission.

The Carolina Forum, the high school honor system, the summer school student government, the NSA delegation to the national convention in August and the clerks of the Men's and Women's council are also on the list of appointments to be made.

North Carolina Drama Groups To Meet Here

Twenty six drama groups from North Carolina schools and colleges will convene on the campus Thursday, Friday, and Saturday when the Carolina Playmakers sponsor the annual festival of the Carolina Dramatic Association. With headquarters in The Playmakers Theatre, the meeting will feature the presentation of twenty-five one act plays and one full-length original.

The full-length play, entitled "Pate's Siding," is by Bernice Kelly Harris, noted North Carolina author, and is to be presented by the Goldsboro Community Players on Friday evening.

Di And Phi Continue Rivalry In Annual Debate Tonight

Four members of the Dialectic Senate will take the affirmative in a debate tonight, urging the United States to aid the revolutionary efforts of Fidel Castro in Cuba. Taking the negative view in the annual Di-Phi Debate will be four representatives from the Philanthropic Assembly.

Phi President Jess Stribling, who will preside at the debate, said yesterday that although Castro's rebellion had failed in the past week, he expected the debate to be lively and interesting.

The debate will be held in Di Hall on the third floor of New East at 8 p. m.

Judges will be Dr. James Wallace of the political science department, Miss Jo Ann Aldridge of the English department and a member of the history faculty.

Debating on the affirmative side will be Sen. Dave Reid, Sen. Fred Wolfer, Sen. Gary Greer and Sen. Pat Adams.

On the negative side will be Rep. Dave Matthews, Rep. Bill Jackson, Rep. Bill Willis and Rep. Don Jacobs.

At the meeting Claude Teague will be given the Phi-Di Award for outstanding service to the state, nation and its citizens. Mr. Teague is retired business manager of the University and is currently special assistant to Pres. William Friday.

In addition three members of the Phi will be presented awards for service during the year. The outstanding senior, the outstanding freshman and the outstanding debator will be honored.

Proposed Coed Rules To Be Debated Tonight

Women's Residence Council will hold an open discussion on the new freshman rules tonight at 7 o'clock in the Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial.

According to Lillian Shannonhouse, chairman of the WRC, "The council will endeavor to explain the new rules to the student body in the meeting." Rules to be discussed include dorm closing hours, supervised study and lights-out hours. Housing of freshman women in the new wing of Spencer will also be discussed.

The new rules grew out of a concern for all freshman women by the WRC. They were drafted after approval by the WRC, the School of Nursing and the Dean of Women.

In the past freshman women have lived on the University campus, but not in great enough numbers to warrant special rules. With the expected addition of 50 women in the University next fall, the WRC took action toward new rules.

The new rules are presently being reconsidered by the Council and will not be final until after tonight's meeting.

Officials said the discussion will be open to all interested people on campus.

Summer School Weekly Editor's Job Available

Applications are being sought for the position of Summer School Weekly editor for this summer.

Any student may apply for this position, but someone with some newspaper writing experience would be preferred.

Interested persons should apply to 206 South Building by April 26. A committee will review the applications and select the editor. The committee would rather have someone to hold this office for both sessions of summer school.

There is no pay offered, but Sam Magill, Director of Student Affairs, said it is a "good opportunity for experience."

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included:

Misses Mary Hafer, Shirley Hamrick, Karen Haner, Jimmie Racker, Lucy Polgate, Dorothy Hopkins and Jerri Lassiter and Michael Tanner, Richard Allbrook, Lewis Sanders, Joel Snow, Jasper Chesson, Gordon Day and William Lytle.

Holt, Foushee, Farnham, Lamm New SP Heads

Leon Holt, a Junior from Julian, was elected chairman of the Student Party last night. He succeeds Pat Adams. Roger Foushee was elected to succeed Rudy Edwards as party Vice Chairman. Christie Farnham, a Junior coed from Bristol Virginia was elected Secretary. And Bill Lamm of Mt. Airy was chosen Sergeant of Arms.

The most spirited race of the evening came when a slate of thirteen candidates was nominated for four seats on the Party Advisory Board. Voting was done by secret ballot to enable the thirteen candidates to take part in the choice. Elected to the policy making group were, Frank Elkins, Gary Greer, Martha Turner, and Betsy Miller.

Recognition of party members who had served well in recent capacities, or who had been elected in campus elections was given to the following: Student Party President Don Furtado, Daily Tar Heel Editor Curtis Gans, Vice President Ralph Cummings, Secretary Paddy Wall, as well as retiring party officers and campaign workers.

IN NEW YORK

UNC Officials Speak To Alumni

By THOMAS PEACOCK (Peacock, a second year law student at Columbia University, was sports editor of the Daily Tar Heel in 1953 and '54.)

NEW YORK—Chancellor William Aycock predicted a minimum enrollment of 12,200 by 1970 in a speech delivered here Friday night before the New York chapter of the University of North Carolina Alumni Association.

Touching on every subject of interest to alumni, Chancellor Aycock spoke in a vein of high enthusiasm for the future of the University, tempered with the warning that adequate preparation was absolutely necessary to growth and progress.

D. James Godfrey also gave a short talk in which he stressed three areas most important to the University's intellectual growth: graduate fellowships, expansion of the library, and publication of scholarly works.

Alumni Secretary Spike Saunders completed the Chapel Hill contingent at the dinner held at the Advertising Club on Park Avenue.

Some of the subjects commented on by Chancellor Aycock were: Russia competes with this country today because of its extensive educational program.

Though science must be emphasized today, it is "no substitute for our great program in liberal arts."

The salary scale for teachers at other southern universities cannot be used as a guide at Carolina as it is the "eastern and mid-western" schools that are raiding the Carolina faculty.

With 29 members of the faculty over 65 and nearing retirement, the University is faced with an immediate task of training replacements. The graduate housing to be financed by a $2,000,000 loan from the government will help considerably in obtaining talented young men.

Obligation The University has an obligation to the state and must "take advantage of every media available to make our University mean the most to our people."

There "is no monkey business going on in Chapel Hill in respect to our athletic program, and if a mistake is made we will face up to it. The decision has been made to participate in all phases of athletics, and "once that decision is made we do not see any inconsistency in having an excellent University and excellent athletic teams." However, "we will not lower our standards—every athlete is a student first and an athlete second."

Dr. Godfrey was "amazed how New York becomes less and less like Chapel Hill." New York can be conquered, though: "I told my students to look it in the eye, take it by the throat and tell it to stand and deliver."

He pointed out that since one-third of the University's faculty comes from its graduate students, it is a necessity to get and keep the highest calibre of graduate students.

The ideal library, Dr. Godfrey said, would contain thirty million items as compared to the University's 900,000. The rank of a school and the excellence of its library are directly correlated—they go together and are inseparable.

Finally, as one of the primary incentives to write scholarly works is to have them published, facilities must be provided to publish such effort of the faculty, even when expenses will not be realized.

Among the approximately 100 New York alumni at the dinner were Barry Farber '52, former editor of the Daily Tar Heel and Jerry Vayda '56, former captain of the Carolina basketball team. Farber is now producing the "Tex and Jinx" television show. Vayda recently went on active duty with the Air Force.
