Tar Heels Number 1; Three Tilts This Week

Tar Heels, Number 1. Last year the sport was basketball and the number referred to the nation and this year it is baseball and number 1 represents the ACC, but the surprise is just as great either way you look at it. Coach Walt Rabb's Carolina baseballers have won seven games in a row, five of them against conference competition. They have knocked off the three teams most in contention and right now sit on the top of the totem pole with a 51 record. Wake Forest, famous upsets in every sport, turned the trick again last Saturday as they put the skids on leagueleading Clemson 5-4 while the Tar Heels were busy whipping South Carolina 2-0. So the Deacs, who have won only two conference clashes all year, helped put-the Heels on top. So far, Clemson's ill-fated journey up Tobacco Road has helped everyone but the Tigers, as they have dropped their last two straight to Big Fourt teams, and still have a long way to go before returning to the com parative peace and quiet of South Carolina. The Bengals visit Duke Thursday and Friday and move over to State on Saturday. They will have to do some fast playing to come out of those three days in god shape.

3 ACC Games This Week

Speaking of grinds in the schedule department, the Tar Heels have three more big ones coming up this week, all ment with State at Raleigh today, Maryland is here Friday, and Virginia visits Chapel Hill Saturday. State should be the roughest of the three. The Pack has a pair of outfielders who are slapping the ball all over the league in gridder Dick Hunter and Russ Casteen, brother of pitcher Danny, Hunter ence slate, compared to runner-up .286. is hitting 422 and Casteen has a .360 average to date. Stowe's Perfect 7-0 Record Spoiled

Clemson's Harold Stowe, ace of the pitching staff with a 71 season mark, said in an interview with the Greensboro Daily News last week, "Of all teams, why Carolina-". He was referring to the fact that the Heels inflicted his first loss of the year last Friday in Chapel Hill and spoiled his perfect 7-0 record. Stowe, a product of Gastonia, stated that the reason for the success of his teammates, who finished last season with a paltry 0 10 record, is the coaching of Bill Wilhelm, acquired this winter. Wilhelm was Walt Rabb's assistant here at Carolina last year and played Carolina sive wins in Sabre (8-1) and Foil League ball with the Greensboro Patriots last summer.

Ben Harding led the Tar Heel's in Dan Casteen and Joe Jones. The pressure at this point is on Carolina. Clemson has to the victory over South Carolina: Jones will probably be on the only four more conference games remaining, while Carolina as he pitched a 7-hit shutout over mound for the Wolfpack today, has eight left. Should Clemson finish without losing another the Birds, never allowing an extra since it was he who shutout the game, Carolina would have to win the rest of its games to base blow.
