Daily Tar Heel Closes Up Shop

With this issue The Daily Tar Heel marks the end of another year of service to the students, faculty and alumni of UNC. Since September its staff has endeavored to present as complete and accurate an account of daily happenings at Chapel Hill as possible.

Except in the case of an emergency which would require a special edition, the next isue of The Daily Tar Heel will appear in mid-

On New Rules

By WYNDHAM HEWITT

Women's Residence Council rules for freshmen women have been neither approved nor disapproved by Katherine Carmichael, Dean of

Dean Carmichael said that she would not make a decision on the rules until she had heard from all of the faculty members concerned. Dean Carmichael has sent a letter to members of the faculty explaining the new rules and asking their

She explained that during this busy time of the year many of the faculty members have not been able to answer her letter.

Dean Carmichael said her reason for waiting on the faculty answers is because of the "great amount of controversy on the part of the students which has been stimulated mostly by The Daily

It is her opinion that The Daily Tar Heel has gone too far in its handling of the women's freshmen rules, she added,

In defending her stand for not making an immediate decision Dean Carmichael cites this ruling from the Board of Trustees:

"Among the duties of the faculty and Chancellor in each of the component institutions of the University of North Carolina shall be included the duty to exercise full and final authority in the regulation of student conduct and in all matters of student discipline in that institution; and in the discharge of this duty, delegation of this authority may be made to established agencies of student government and to administrative
