

WEATHER

Fair and warmer. High near 82.

The Daily Tar Heel

COED VISITS

Congratulations are in order. See page 2.

VOLUME LXVI NO. 4

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1958

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

Rhyne Says Law Rule Needed To Maintain World Wide Peace; Bell Proposals Are Endorsed

By CLARKE JONES

The only way to achieve and maintain peace, says a former president of the American Bar Assn., is by rule of law in a worldwide court system.

"Law plus a court system," said Charles S. Rhyne last night, has done this "domestically in nation after nation."

"Law plus a worldwide judiciary can perform the same function between nations if given a chance."

Rhyne delivered the annual Heck Lecture before the UNC Law Students Assn. in Manning Hall's Courtroom. He spoke on "The Functions of Lawyers Today."

Rhyne also:

1. Approved wholeheartedly of the Bell Committee recommendations for improvement of North Carolina's judicial administration.

2. Said the law profession was losing many able young men to better-paying fields.

WORLD PEACE

Rhyne said "Because of the great technological achievements of our era, the survival of mankind requires that disputes between nations be resolved in some way other than by the age-old method of ultimate resort to war."

"Everyone agrees," he said, "that nuclear warfare would be so incredibly destructive as to produce mass extermination."

A community can only remain peaceful as long as law prevails, he said, and people all over the world "understand this function of law in the domestic area."

However, he said, "The regrettable fact is that people do not yet comprehend what law can do for them in the world community."

A "tremendous challenge and a great responsibility" of lawyers are contained in this situation, Rhyne said.

He pointed out that there is only one court set up to serve the world community—the International Court of Justice, consisting of 15 justices.

Rhyne called it the "most unknown" court in the world today, and the "most unused instrument for peace that mankind possesses."

He proposed that this court be enlarged into several courts with a trial court branch in each nation, regional intermediate appellate courts.

One situation the International Court could decide, he said, is the trouble in the Formosa Straits over Quemoy and the Matsus.

In calling for the United Nations to refer this situation to the International Court, Rhyne said he did not take this lightly.

"I agree with President Eisenhower that the Chinese Communist regime should not be allowed to extend its authority over Quemoy and Mastu Matsus islands by naked force."

"... But force against force," he said, "is a dead end street which leads nowhere but to death and destruction."

In pointing out the need to bring law to the forefront in the UN he said:

See RHYNE, Page 3

Carolina Hosts State And WC This Afternoon

By LLOYD LITTLE

An attractive coed will be crowned Queen of Consolidated University Day in an exciting climax to CU day at the Grail Dance tonight.

Three campus beauties, selected Thursday evening as UNC's nominees for the title of CU Queen, will join a like number of nomi-

See CU DAY, Page 3

Tar Heels Open Season Here Today Against State College

By RUSTY HAMMOND

The curtain opens on Carolina football, '58 style, this afternoon when the highly touted Tar Heels take on CU brother N. C. State in Kenan Stadium at 2:00.

Better than 40,000 fans will witness this traditional rivalry, and clear skies with a bright sun are the weather prospects.

Carolina goes into the contest favored by most of the experts.

State has two straight wins over the Heels to talk about, both upsets. Coach Earle Edwards' Wolves should be decidedly weaker than last year's team which beat the Tar Heels 7-0, then went on to the conference championship. Morale, however, is at an all-time high in the State camp.

PACK LOST SEVEN STARTERS

The Pack lost eight of last season's starting eleven. But Edwards freely admits that the Carolina game is the one his boys point to, the one they would like to win more than any other on the schedule.

The Carolina side of the story is one of a revenge-minded squad, featuring depth at every position, experience and ruggedness.

The Probable Starting Lineups:

N. C. State	No.	Pos.	Carolina	No.
Jim Crain	81	LE	Don Kemper	84
Larry Dixon	75	LT	Phil Blazer	70
Joe Rodri	68	LG	Fred Swearingen	51
Bill Hill	50	C	Ronnie Koes	53
Bill Rearick	60	RG	Fred Mueller	61
Kelly Minyard	74	RT	Don Redding	71
Bob Pepe	85	RE	Mac Turlington	86
Frank Cakovic	17	QB	Jack Cummings	14
Ken Trowbridge	24	LHB	Wade Smith	31
Ron Podwika	42	RHB	Sonny Folkhomer	28
Arnold Nelson	32	FB	Don Coker	37

The Tar Heel second unit, rated on a par with the starters by many, is composed of Al Goldstein, 81, and John Schroeder, 88, at ends; Ed Furjanic, 73, and Moose Butler, 75, at tackles; Paul Russell, 62, and Ralph Steele, 65, at guards; Jim Davis, 52, at center; Nelson Lowe, 15, at quarterback; Jim Schuler, 25, and Moe DeCantis, 21, or Danny Droze, 35, at halfbacks; and Ed Lipski, 44, or Don Klochak, 47, at fullback.

State College's starting quarterback, Ernie Driscoll, has been dropped from the lineup in today's game. A conference spokesman announced yesterday afternoon that Driscoll's eligibility expired last July. See story on page 4.

Other Tar Heels likely to see action are: Ends: Detanna, 80, Rice, 82, Greenway, 83, B. Smith, 85, Crist, 87, Hunneycutt, 89. Tackles: McCann, 72, Barty, 74, Stunda, 77, Joy, 79, R. Smith, 78. Guards: Brennan, 60, Eanes, 63, Riggs, 64, Branson, 66, Kordalski, 68, Massey, 69. Centers: Hardison, 54, Talley, 56, Nead, 57, Hawkins, 58. Quarterbacks: Hollers, 10, Clements, 11, Amos, 16, Ellerbe, 18. Halfbacks: M. Smith, 23, Slusser, 27, Sloop, 29, R. Hawkins, 32, Frederick, 33, Walton, 39. Fullbacks: Wall, 40, Shupin, 45.

STATE SQUAD

The following State College players may see action: Quarterbacks: Oaks, 12, Wojcicki, 14, Mancini, 15, Delnegro, 16. Left Halfbacks: Latusick, 20, Seese, 21, Morris, 23, Gibson, 25. Fullbacks: Nye, 30, Harrell, 31, Nelson, 32, Raneri, 33, Hafer, 36. Right Halfbacks: D'Antonio, 40, Wolfer, 43, Garwood, 44, Stanton, 45.

Centers: Fitzgerald, 51, Markham, 52, Savage, 55. Guards: Moore, 61, Bushofsky, 62, Marocco, 63, McClain, 64, McKeithan, 65, Jones, 66, Sherron, 67, Singleton, 69. Tackles: Bodziak, 70, Parks, 71, Avert, 72, Gilleskie, 73, Harriger, 76, Lawrence, 77, Reynolds, 78, Nye, 79. Ends: Vollmar, 80, Harden, 82, J. Gill, 83, Johnson, 84, L. Gill, 86, Tapp, 87, Drexler, 88, Reed, 89.

Tackle Don Stallings and halfback Daley Goff will miss the opener for the Tar Heels. Stallings has a fractured rib and Goff has knee trouble. Co-Captain Curtis Hathaway will also be watching from the sidelines, as he is out for the season with recurring arm trouble resulting from an injury in the South Carolina game last year.

Earle Edwards' original choice for starting center, Paul Baloncik, will not play due to a broken ankle.

Carolina's starting line will weigh in at an average of 208. The entire first two teams average better than 200, including backs.

SAY TEN FRESHMEN

Orientation Necessary, But Waiting Is Tedious

By JAMIE HOLMES

Orientation, by one new student's definition, is a week of slothful inactivity punctuated by meetings which either talk about the Honor System or attempt to "place" him in the proper percentile.

However, not all new freshmen reacted in quite the above matter when the following questions were put to them:

1. What did you get out of Orientation? and
2. How do you think it could be improved?

Of those interviewed, all considered an orientation period an absolute necessity, although some thought the meetings and waiting, waiting, waiting in between a trifle tedious.

For the you-were-there viewpoint, the following ten Carolina gentlemen were typical in their remarks:

Evan Wood: "I couldn't have done without it although I think some of the meetings were a little too long and dry with too much time in between."

And finally, there was that student who refused to give his name but, after long tortuous thought, said it could be improved by cutting out the walking.

These may be some of the impressions freshmen have about Orientation, but upper-classmen, with a hollow laugh, would assure them now that school has started it's fun and joy, that orientation (realistic brand) has begun in earnest.

INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included Julia Sue Ayers, Boyd Ray Barrier, Joseph Victor DiBerardino, David Johnson Goode, Harvey Lake Harris, Brynna Wilson Roberts, William John Schmidt, and Herman Edward Ticker.

Sorority Rush Week Opens With PanHel Tea

Rush Week began informally for the seven sororities last night when a compulsory meeting was held in Graham Memorial.

The Pan-Hellenic Council tea, to which all co-eds were invited, was the opening part of the many parties and other activities which accompany Rush Week.

All co-eds have been encouraged to participate in the first round of parties as a method of meeting many new people, regardless of their plans for sorority membership.

All parties will be held in the sorority houses with the exception of Kappa Kappa Gamma, whose house is being renovated. Kappa parties will be held at 215 Cameron Avenue, the home of Mrs. Jeanette Alling, house director.

Rush Week officially opens Monday with a round of informal parties, with parties of the same type following on Tuesday. Wednesday will bring a day of rest, followed by a continuation of the informal parties on Thursday and Friday.

On Saturday there will be five more formal parties which will last 45 minutes each. Monday the 29th closes the informal parties, with the final festivities taking the form of progressive dinners where party dresses will be the order of the day. Wednesday, on Tuesday Oct. 1, is the all-important Bid Day.

Each girl must attend parties of all seven sororities on the opening day. Each day she may attend one party less than the day before, until she attends not less than three on the final night of Rush.

Each sorority tapers down the number of invitations accordingly until it entertains only three times

UNC Trustees Invite Students To Speak Out

The Visiting Committee of the UNC Board of Trustees will be here the afternoon of October 10 and the morning of October 11, Chancellor William B. Aycock has announced.

Committee Chairman William B. Saunders said the group will be glad to hear from any faculty member, staff member or student who wishes to make a statement about any matter concerning the University.

Aycock urged those interested in appearing before the committee to let him know or get in touch directly with Saunders not later than Oct. 6.

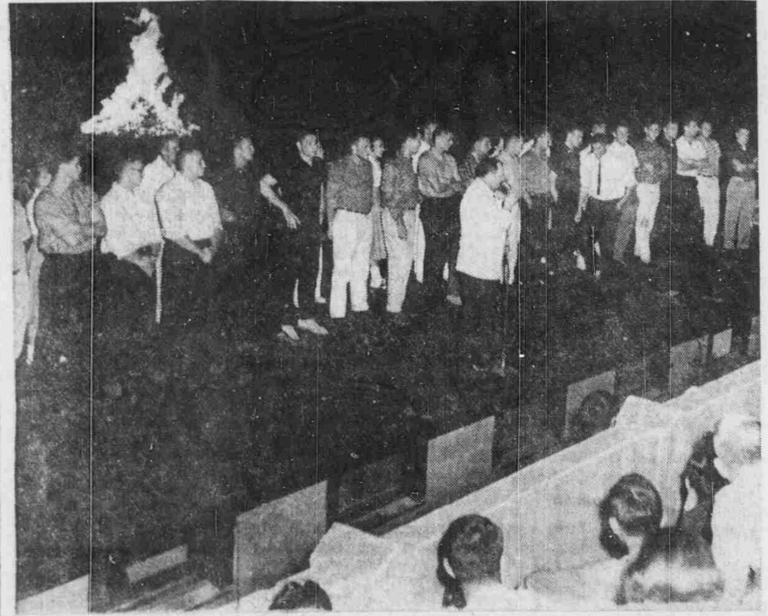

Saunders is director of the State Dept. of Conservation and Development in Raleigh.

"Students may make arrangements through the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs," Aycock said.

"A definite appointment will be made for anyone desiring to appear," he said.

G. M. SLATE

CU day reception at Graham Memorial after the football game. All students are invited to attend.

COACH TATUM INTRODUCES TAR HEELS—Cheering students Friday night gave Coach Tatum and the football team a loud sendoff at the pep rally in Emerson Field. Tatum is shown here introducing the team members, while a bonfire blazes brightly in the background. Staff Photo By Buddy Spoon.

Rearranged Library Is Confusing, Even To Veteran UNC Scholars

Returning students will find that freshmen are not the only ones who need an orientation tour of Wilson Library.

The uses and designation of four rooms were changed during the summer. The Reserve Reading Room was refurbished and new equipment has been installed.

Smoking is no longer permitted in the Reserve Reading Room but is still allowed in the Group Study Room, which was formerly the General College Library.

This area no longer contains books. The General College reserve books will now be found in the Undergraduate Library, the space which formerly housed Business Administration and economics books.

These volumes will now be found in the Social Science Division room in the old Current Affairs Reading Room on the second floor. Other books of the social science division are also located here.

The former Reference Room now houses the Humanities Division. Journals of the division will be found in the center aisles of the room.

"The Undergraduate Library is building up a complete collection of the best and latest of books. The goal is that the room will have a complete college library in it," said Jerrilo Orne, University Librarian.

Seven Recitals Are Scheduled By Music Dept.

Seven programs sponsored by the University of North Carolina Music Department are scheduled for the current Tuesday Evening Series. There will be no charge for these performances.

The first program on Tuesday, Sept. 30, will be a two piano recital given by Dr. William S. Newman, chairman of UNC piano instruction, and Dr. Wilton Mason, associate professor of music and director of the University Chorus.

All programs will be presented at 8 p.m. in Hill Hall. The final musical event of the fall semester will be a presentation of "Carmen" by the University Chorus Jan. 13 in Memorial Hall. Dr. Mason will be in charge.

Dr. Glenn Watkins will make his first public appearance following his recent appointment to the University's Music Department. He will give an organ recital on Oct. 21.

A sonata recital by Arthur Loesser and Joseph Knitzer is planned for Nov. 4. The second program of the month will be held Nov. 13, and will feature members of the University String Quartet. They are Edgar Alden, Jean Heard, Dorothy Alden, and Mary Gray Clarke.

Earl Slocum will direct the University Symphony Orchestra on Dec. 2. The annual Christmas concert, Dec. 16, will be presented by the Chapel Hill Choral Club under Joel Carter's direction.

Other highlights on the fall calendar include events sponsored by the Carolina Playmakers, Graham Memorial Activities Board and other clubs and organizations on the UNC campus.

Staff Meeting At WUNC-FM Planned Mon.

WUNC, the University radio station, will hold a "get acquainted" meeting for prospective staff members in Studio A, Swain Hall, on Monday, September 22, at 4 p.m. Anyone interested in working at WUNC as been urged to attend.

Department heads will be on hand to discuss the various phases of WUNC's operation. Auditions and interviews for staff positions will also be held at the Monday meeting.

At the moment, there are vacancies in all departments of WUNC's staff. Previous experience in radio will be useful, but not essential, to the prospective WUNC staff member. All positions will be granted on the basis of interest and ability. Persons with an interest in announcing, writing, electronics, production and promotion are especially urged to attend the meeting.

Those interested in trying out for WUNC staff positions but unable to meet at the proposed time have been asked to call 9472 or stop by WUNC studios in Swain Hall.

UNC'S QUEEN CONTESTANTS—A highlight of today's halftime show will be the presentation of nine CU Queen contestants from State, Woman's College and Carolina. Pictured above are the Carolina coeds in the running. From left to right they are Misses Diana Johnson of Asheboro, representing Alpha Delta Pi; Anne Robinson of Charlotte, representing Tri Delta; and Betty Finley of Burlington, representing Menley dormitory. Staff Photo By Buddy Spoon