Too Many Mistakes To Win—Giese

By STEWART PHINIZY

It wasn't the Gamecocks' day to crow. "We made too many mistakes out there today to win," said a dejected Warren Giese. The youthful South Carolina coach remarked, "Only in little burts did we look like a good team. Fumbles and penalties stopped us from every drive in motion a strong offensive drive."

Birds Never Got Close
This was never more in evidence than in the third quarter. Alex Hawkins, the speedy blond halfback, caught a pass from his running mate, King Dixon, and Hawkins raced to the NC 25 only to have the play called back because of a penalty. Moments later Hawkins moved the ball deep in Carolina territory, only to find the Gamecocks guilty of another infraction.

Someone remarked that he never would have guessed that one touchdown would have won the game.

"North Carolina had us defended very well, this has always been a trademark of any team coached by Tatum," said Giese. "Our quarterback was continually hampered by their fine defensive line."

Praises Kicking

Giese was quick to remark that, "It was their kicking that kept us in a whole all day long."

"Cummings (Jack) and Smith (Wade) are two fine ballplayers. Smith is one of the finest backs we've seen this year," Giese added. Giese paused for a minute and then went on "I don't mean to take anything away from the Carolina team, but when you make as many mistakes as we did, you just don't deserve to win."

"Mistakes, Mistakes," repeated Giese.

It just wasn't the Gamecocks day to crow.

Tatum Happy With Defense

By ELLIOTT COOPER

"You all want some cokes?" That was the way Jim Tatum started off his press conference after his team had just beaten South Carolina 6-0 for its first home victory of the season. No one wanted a drink except Jim himself, and after he had secured said beverage the post mortem got underway.

"Well fellows," Tatum began, "that didn't look much like pro offense. I was quite disappointed again in our offense." The Tar Heel coach qualified this statement by explaining that the defect was partly due to the changing of positions the backfield.

It Won't Happen Often

Commenting on the rather passing display Tatum stated, "I don't believe that you'll see Al Goldstein miss many passes like the one that went through his hands in the end zone." Instead of a touchdown for Al it was just another incomplete pass for quarterback Jack Cummings. "That was about the easiest chance he had had all season," the coach added.

When asked for an opinion of Wade Smith's play, Tatum quickly answered, "I couldn't increase my admiration for the boy if he had scored five touchdowns."

"South Carolina is a team which plays pro football. In playing them the idea is to keep 'em in the hole so they won't open up their offense." This was the reason Tatum gave as to why he chose to kickoff rather than receive after he had won the toss of the coin for the first time this year.

"My Biggest Regret"

"That was my biggest regret of the game," said Sunny Jim to a query concerning the pass play from Clements to Turlington which was good for a touchdown but was nullified by a Carolina holding penalty. "If it had been good, the play would have given him (Clements) a lot of added confidence."

With all the copy in the papers about the lonesome end formation, Tatum was quick to state that his flanker was far from being the lonesome end used by Army. Those who came to the game hoping to see Goldstein or Schroder refusing to go back into the huddle to get the signals, left the contest still hoping that maybe next week... The Carolina coach said that his split end was simply a maneuverer to make Alex Hawkins play a line-backer spot forcing John Saunders to be a defensive halfback.

DeCantis And Koes Hurt

Co-captain Moe DeCantis walked off the field with the game ball under his arms and a broken blood vessel above his ankle. The only other casualty of the contest hit Ron Koes who came down with a hip injury. Both boys, however, should be ready for homecoming next Saturday.

If you are wondering what the tent near the South Carolina bench was, here is the answer. In the tent is Warren Giese's closed circuit television. Would Tatum like to have a similar TV? "You bet," said the coach, "but they cost three thousand dollars you know."

Ever meet a Doubting Thomas?

A college senior once remarked to a Bell System interviewer: "A fabulous career must be a mirage. I hear talk about 'fabulous training, fascinating work, grade-A job security, and rapid advancement in management. Sounds a bit too rosy. What's the real story?'"

The interviewer knew mere talk wouldn't sell a skeptic. So he showed him some "profiles" of recent college graduates who had enjoyed that fabulous training, had worked at intriguing jobs, and had won early management promotions.

Our once-skeptical friend has been with the Bell System 3 years now—and is currently supervising the work of 55 people.

We've converted a host of Doubting Thomases. Whether doubtful or not, you'll learn a lot about rewarding telephone careers by talking with the Bell System interviewer when he visits your campus.
