Foreign Policy

The largest single issue in the November elections, President Eisenhower's comments not withstanding, is foreign policy.

It was the same issue that should have been the election issue in 1956, but wasn't - due to the determination of many people and the press to make the issue something else.

The only chance the people have to manifest their dissatisaction with what the President and his administration has done is through the ballot, and through the election of persons whose point of view reflects ideas incongruent with the philosophy that is being expounded in Washington.

The largest single place of divergence should be foreign policy, where the activities of the government have been most reprehen-a sible, and have led the United States not only to the brink of war but to the brink of annihilation.

The chance of reoreinting foreign policy lies in that being made an issue and of having pro-administration candidates soundly trounced. This may be in the offing.

On Nixon

Vice President Nixon is campaigning around the country, like the Nixon of old - the Nixon which will compromise anything for the sake of

He is debutking and defaming as he did six and eight years ago, and people are beginning to recogpize the true colors of Mr. Nixon, who more recently has been placed in the public eyes as something

It is a peculiarly happy occurence that Mr. Nixon is showing his colors, for it may awaken the people of the United States before the 1960 election, that Mr. Nixon represents interests inimical

The contest for governor in New York bears watching, for if Nelson Rockefeller beats Averill Harriman in New York, Mr. Rockefeller becomes a presidential potential candidate in 1960.

The Republicans may well realize that Nixon can be a liability in the presidential campaign in 1960, and so may lean to Rockefeller.

Rockefeller has been treated with kid gloves in New York. The Liberal Party of that state which has usually been able to cause trouble for any person who represents interests differing from their own, has been unable to campaign vigorously against him. He may well win by default, and be almost as untouchable a presidential candidate in 1960

The liberals of New York in their distate for Carmine DeSapio and the lack of overt Harriman rebellion against him in the Democratic Convention this year, may well be crowning a president of the opposite party, a party, whose interests if given another chance at national power, would be destructive to the United States. A look to the future at this time would be wise. Later may well he too late.

In California

Congressman Clair Engle's campaign for senator is having a great deal more difficulty than is that of Pat Brown in his opposition to William Knowland for governor.

At least part of this is due to Congressman Engle's willingness to be open in expressing his views and his alignment with the liberals.

Pat Brown has tried to cut himself out in the image of Earl Warren as a moderate progressive and has apparently succeeded

Both men are liberals, and it is only the fact that California is not as responsive to ideas as are some other states in the Union that is causing Brown to be less open, and Engle to have difficulty in a year where the errors of the Eisenhower administration have been more than obvious.

Ronnie Dugger, editor of The Texas Observer, wrote a series of articles explaining the situation in California in The New Republic, Clearly from Dugger's series of articles came the idea that the failure in California is the failure of the press as an educational force,

It is the error of commission in suppression of ideas, and the error of omission in not presenting these ideas that has led the state to be somewhat unreceptive to new approaches.

Clair Engle may win due to the present dissatisfaction with Eisenhower, but the problem of the not-so-free press in California and indeed the entire West Coast still remains.

The Daily Tar Heel

Board of the University of North Carolina, where it ts published dails except Monday and examination periods and sammer terms. Entered as second class matter in the post office in Chapel Hill. N. C., under the act of March ? 1870. Subscription rates: $4.50 per se mester, $8.50 per

FARTHER TO STATE OF THE PARTY O	CONTIS GANS
Managing Editors	CHARLIE SLOAN, CLARKE JONES
News Editor	. ANN FRYF
Assistant News Editor	ED RINER
Business Manager	WALKER BLANTON
Advertising Manager	FRED KATZIN
Asst. Anv. Manager	JOHN MINTER
Associate Editor	ED ROWLAND
Assistant Sports Editor	ELLIOTT COOPER
Night Editor	NANCY COMBES

The World News In Review

Ed Rowland

Events this week were not as dramatic as those of weeks past, fortunately, but as always, news

In the Far East, Red China decided to extend its one-week old ceasefire on Quemoy and Matsu for two more weeks. In the prevailing quiet Chiang Kai-Shek will continue to remove civilians from the off-shore islands and strengthen his garrisons there.

In Washington President Eisenhower told his news conference he would not press the Nationalists to reduce their 85,000-man force on the islands, but that he felt keeping so many was illogical. The remarks re-echoed those of Sec. of State Dulles who had said Chiang Kai Shek would decide for himself what to do.

The possibility that Chiang, with U. S. approval and perhaps some persuasion, might voluntarily decide to cut back his troop strength as a means of easing the Formosa crisis was open. But Eisenhower made clear such action would not be a concession to Red Dulles will fly to Taipti next Tuesday for talks with Chiang Kai-Shek. The meeting is expected to clear up rumors that the two allies are at odds on policy. Dulles is also expected to seek some agreement from the Nationalists to induce them to agree with Red China on some measure that will arrange for a permanent ceasefire instead of the temporary one.

RITES FOR PIUS XII In Rome, with awesome ceremony Pope Pius XII was laid to eternal rest Tuesday near the tomb of St. Peter. The location selected by the assembled College of Cardinals, was a sign of their vast esteem for Pius XII. He him-

Pringle Pipkin

rold Orne, University Librarian,

have been inexcusable. The antics used in this campaign of discord

It is fortunate that this campaign is not a mass movement on the part of the graduate students.

It may well be that there are legitimate complaints concerning the operation of the Library, However, the methods used to draw attention to these real and imagined

It is obvious that the "O.G.H."

committe€ wanted to get publicity

-this they have gotten in full measure - but their cause could grievances were not henorable.

do credit to a high schooler.

Methods used to attack Dr. Jer-

"Boy, If You Think That One's Complicated -"

self had announced in 1950 the finding of the burial place of St.

The recent campaign is especially immature in that the petitioners

The giant bells of St. Peter's basilica tolled a dirge as body of the Pope, encased in three coffins, was lowered into the massive stone foundations of the basi-

of extreme sadness. By the end of the week, all but a handful of the Cardinals who will elect a new Pope were in Rome. And as they gathered, Communists were attempting to cast popular suspicion on the forthcoming conclave.

lica. The ceremony itself was one

The Reds have charged that Americans, French, Germans and Italians would negotiate over the candidate to be chosen, and that the American Cardinals were trying to organize the outcome.

The traditional nine days of the church's mourning will end today, and with the arrival of Sec. of State Dulles in Rome to attend the final requiem mass may herald Red efforts to introduce political overtones into the balloting, 50 of the 54 Cardinals are expected to attend the election.

In the meantime, a predominately Protestant group in the United States contended to the State Department that three Roman Catholic Cardinals would violate American law in voting on the election of a new Pope.

Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State urged Dulles to advise the Cardinals they may be subject to loss of nationality if they vote in the secret conclave. The whole contention is based on a section of the 1952 Immigration Act which says a citizen 'shall lose his nationality by . . . voting in a political election in a foreign state or participating in an election or plebiscite to determine the sovereignity over foreign ter-

It cited a number of precedents in its argument that the Vatican City is a sovereign state.

The State Department declined comment. The three U.S. prelates are Cardinals Francis Spellman of New York, John Francis

McIntyre of Los Angeles and Edward Mooney of Detroit.

CHURCH BOMBINGS

threats and window breakings in print to condemn such practices? five states, brought calls for a state, and local authorities.

twice for a bomb, a Jehovah's Witnesses meeting place in Boston was shaken from a hand grenade blast, a Brooklyn synagogue out, and a search was made of eight churches in Keyport, N. J. after calls said bombs had been planted.

Meanwhile, in the most vicious of the bombings. Atlanta police were confident they were close to cracking into a ring of terrorists the suspects have been arrested ing; that's going too far"? and police expect to take in more.

White Camellia, a Florida outfit; giving the South a bad name." the source of dynamite.

signals to the U. S. about cosmic quickly it becomes convenient or necessary to break rays, density of atmosphere, and

And the Air Force disclosed that the vehicle was also used as a radio repeater station to transmit signals almost halfway around the earth. Tracking stations in Hawaii, Manchester, England and Cape Canaveral were in direct contact with one another during the historic flight

Three days after the moon rocket returned to a fiery death in the earth's atmosphere, the unified space command of the U.S. asked missile scientists and facilities.

Army officials were preparing a protest to President Eisenhower on the matter. The proposal would about 2,100 space scientists and Army's space program.

Seeds Of Hate

I sometimes fear we wear our virtues or religi ous tolerance more on our sleeves than in our hearts. It's a wonder that no bones were broken as politicians scrambled to denounce the dastardly bombings of synogogues in Atlanta and Peoria. And Also in the United States mount- denounce them they should, but how much less ing terrorist bombings of churches evil is the respectable anti-semitism of restricted and synagogues, coupled with neighborhoods and how many politicians rush itno

War, as someone said, is an extension of politics, sweeping investigation by Federal the exploision of a church, obviously, is the violent climax of prejudice. Everybody hates war, but we On the heels of bombings of take less care in activating our antipathy to dirty Jewish synagogues in Atlanta and politics or to reckless politics that may sweep us Peoria, Ill., St. Patrick's Cathe- to the brink of catastrophe. And yet we are surdral in New York was searched prised, stunned outraged when a crisis breaks. "Who is to blame for this?", we cry, looking hastily around for a scapegoat, while trying to suppress guilt pangs for our own irresponsibility. Isn't there a valid parallel here with our reaction to religious found three of its windows stoned and/or racial prejudice and persecution?

"For shame!" we shout with righteous inidgnation as a temple is desecrated. (Human refuse, incidentally was used to defile the synogogue in Peoria.) But how righteous really is our wrath? The beastliness of the crime shocks us into a commitment. Even the most virulent anti-Semite would scarcely dare publicly to condone violence. Society would close in on him. And yet, how often have the most proper social circles echoed with the comment, responsible for the deed. Three of "Well. I don't like the Jews, but after all - bomb-

There is another aspect to the issue. The mayor A signed statement of a man in of Atlanta has already been widely quoted but custody provided the initial break what he said is worth committing to memory. "Whether they like it or not," observed Mayor Wil-Police said the ring may have liam B. Hartsfied after the Atlanta Temple blast. been connected with three other "every rabble-rousing politician is the godfather, organizations: The Knight of of the cross-burners and the dynamiters who are

The National States Rights Coun- The extremist should not be surprised at these cil and the Anniston, Ala., Klu recent incidents. The school bombings and the Klux Klan, which may have been synogogue bombings may or may not be linked. It really doesn't matter. The fact is that the extrem-In the backwash of the failure ist have been preaching and attempting to practice of a moon rocket to reach its ob- defiance of the law. This is an invitation to anarchy. jective over the weekend officials. In such an atmosphere no citizen is safe - or can citizens and spokesmen for for be for long. What the small-minded politician have eign nations hailed the United been preaching in their racial tantrums is not real-States achievement as a brilliant ly the sancity of states rights. It is lawlessness. That one. The moon probe soared 79,- is to say, defy the law you don't like. But once one 120 miles into space and sent back law is defied, it is interesting (and frightening) how

> In castigating the synogogue bombers as hoodlums of the Capone ilk, President Eisenhower said with feeling it was an insult to the fair name of the Conferency, to have any of these gangsters refer to themselves as members of a "confederate underground". There is a broader question of whether it isn't a corrosive insult to American decency to give any of these ailing minds, violent or nonviolent, anything more solicitous that a psycholo gist's care for their sickness. Some of the most eloquently scurrilous anti-Semitic tracts have been written by one Joseph Kamp, whose hate-mongering President Eisenhower, who has been one of his victims, also roundly deplored.

Now it has happened that the current target of the Army to turn over to it top Kamps' attack is Walter Reuther. This has made the pamphleteer the dark darling of a number of Republican politicians and party contributiors who don't seem to realize -- or if they do, don't mind - the fact when the acid of hatred is spilled, there require the Army to turn over is no discrimination about what it eats away.

In discussing these matters this morning, Presiengineers at Hunstville, Ala., and dent Eisenhower remarked he thought Americans Los Angeles, Army officials said were "growing up". Let's hope the time will come the plan, which would turn over when we can despise somebody for his cussedness top men like Werhner Von Braun, and not his color or his catechism and a man can, would seriously undermine the unpatronizingly, say, "some of my best friends are human beings." - Edward P. Morgan

On A Funeral

Ronnie Shumate

The time was 4:28 p.m., October 15, 1959. The place was the first block of W. Franklin St., Chapel Hill, N. C. A funeral was passing. You ask what was so momentous about that. Nothing, ordinarily. As a matter of fact, nothing was so momentous about this funeral. It was just another funeral. I noticed first the hearse and then the other cars. Negroes occupied them. Still nothing momentous you say. Read on. Two males, about college age, I'd say, were standing on the sidewalk watching hospital, business colleges and the funeral go by. Now comes the clincher. Those working girls. These girls come boys, both white, were standing there jeering at to the State Union to meet boys, the passing funeral. They called out such remarks not with them. It is easy to meet as "Another 'nigger' gone," and "We want another and to obtain the names of ten one, just like the other one," and "That's where or fifteen girls within one or two the rest of you blacks oughta be." There were more hours under these circumstances, such utterances, but I just wanted to give you the Truthfully, those girls are not general idea, Got it?

Now do you know why anyone would take the Carolina Co-ed. They are more time to sit down and write an editorial about a concerned with getting their man funeral? Actually, this isn't going to be about a Actually, the large dancing area funeral. At least not the funeral that wound its

i.e. where boys bring dates, not Carolina students, were under the effects of some to meet them for the first time), witch's potion. Often such potions are called names Most of the time the "platter such as bourbon, vodka, gin, and the old stand-by. parties" are held in the snack bar beer. I don't believe they were, I didn't bother to where the dancing area is small- smell their breath or give them a "walk the line" er than the Rendezvous room, test, but they showed no outward signs of being under the influence of such beverages.

It puzzles me as to why two college students. supposedly on the brink of maturity, would want to publicly make such fools of themselves. It's a shame, in a way, that they weren't in a state of inebriation. Then they would have had an excuse, of sorts, for such behavior. They may have thought was cute. Believe me, it wasn't cute. Oh, it may have been to them and their buddies, if they have any, but to anyone with any decency at all would not have thought their little "show" to be so cute.

I sincerely hope the boys are reading this. Probably they aren't, because they obviously don't have the mentality to read a newspaper. I've wondered how they even got in college, or for that matter, how they ever got out of high school. Legally, I mean. Now I don't profess to be perfect. I've done my share of things I shouldn't have done. In a talk to the Press Club last week, Mr. Weimar Jones "We must damn the act, not the individual." At the time I fully agreed with him. Now much to my amazement, I am inclined to disagree somewhat with his statement. Here I must about-face and damn the individuals along with the act. I haven't decided yet which was worse: the act or the individuals. It's a pretty close race.

If we allow such vermin to continue to exist I have never said it was the law. Even if the conhere in Chapel Hill, they are going to bring on stitution says that, it is not the law, because the the funeral of our self-respect.

Out Look On Latin America

Why is there some feeling American people, are often companies pay the workers a wage which would be an insult to al-

The juicy details of how Vice President Richard Nixon was spat upon when he toured South America was perhaps interesting but not important. The importance is why. Our feeling of great superiority to these people manifests itself in our relations with them, Communists aren't the only ones who level the charge of imperialism against the United States. Hugo Caicedo Borrero of the National Union of Colombian Students said, "With our youth rests the salvation or the disaster of humanity, depending upon whether we help the imperialist forcescapitalist or communist-that are subjugating the weak peoples of the world."

We are living in a dangerous the public schools." age. Our actions today will decide Therefore, it is important that we broad, intelligent perspective. Our lives depend upon it.

Cities Rights

With the closing of several schools in Arkansas and Virginia, the segregation dispute shifted overnight from the area of demagogic politics to what seems to have been a secondary matter up to now, namely, education. For the first time, white parents are confronted not with Confederate rallying cries, excitement, and verbiage, but with the hard fact that their kids are staying home all day or out on the street instead of being in school.

Perhaps the best comment on this situation was contained in a letter to the editor, signed "Cities Righter," that appeared in the ARKANSAS GA-ZETTE recently:

"For over a century My People have gone to school. They have become accustomed to it. It is a tradition. It is a way of life. The customs and traditions of many years cannot be changed overnight. A new way of life cannot be forced upon a reluctant people. My People are not ready for no schools. They must have time . .

"Fersonally, I am a moderate. I am neither for schools nor against schools. I speak only for My

"By what rights does the legislature of a foreign state (Arkansas) and its Governor say that the citizens of the sovereign city of Little Rock shall not attend school? The constitution of the foreign state of Arkansas does not say that the citizens of Little Rock cannot go to school. That is not the law, and people of the city of Little Rock have never ratified the constitution of the State of Arkansas.

"You must remember that no schools is merely the first step. Next comes no football teams, no dances, no dates. My God, can't you see where this is leading?

"Basically, the problem here is Cities' Rights. My People are solidly behind me and we will never buckle down to the State House . . .

Over in Virginia, Governor Almond reacted furiously to Attorney General Rogers's statement that the Justice Department has received reports "concerning efforts on the part of parents and children to prevail upon responsible state officials to open

"It is the old familiar technique of divide and if we have a world tomorrow. conquer" said the governor. "I would say that would meet the full applause and approbation of look at world situations with a Mr. Khrushchev, whoever he is."

Now, Governor, you surely must know whose side Mr. Khrushchev is on. -From The Reporter ditor	CURTIS GANS	to arrange for boy to meet girl under accepted social conditions seems to be a mental or state of mind problem rather than a lack of physical space at Carolina. To put it bluntly, the average Carolina Co-ed seems to think it is a disgrace to go to a place where she can meet boys unless she already has an escort. Rather than go out and show her fellow students she does not have a date, she seems to prefer to stay in her room and brood. I am not positive that it is in their rooms

fanaging Editors	CLARKE TONES
News Editor
Assistant News Editor	ED RINER
lusiness Manager	WALKER BLANTON
Advertising Manager	FRED KATZIN
Asst. Aliv. Manager	JOHN MINTER
Associate Editor	ED ROWLAND
Assistant Sports Editor	ELLIOTT COOPER
Night Editor	NANCY COMBES	where they stay, but it is obviou

have been advanced more rapidly if they had appealed through the

On A Union

Pip's Quips

proper channels. If direct appeal to an administrator is not successful, the petitioners are justified in trying to use other methods of appeal. Appeal over the head of someone is most uncourteous if no attempt has been made to talk the problem

Sidney Dakar

One hears almost daily the cry that the most important boost to campus social life would come from a new college union building. This might be true, but other changes would also have to come if social conditions are to

The main argument used by the proponents of a new union build ing is to point to the very successful one over at N. C. State, I spent several years at N. C. State and I believe that I can consider both sides of the issue. First of all. State was in desperate need of a union building. Before this union was built there was no place on the campus where students could gather. Such is not the condition here at Carolina, The places for gathering are here; they just

The crux of the problem of how are not being used.

improve.

will not identify themselves. Their crime was no light one Their marking on the walls is small when considered in view of the damage they have attempted to do to the reputation of a man, The librarian could not defend himself because there was no specific attack against his policies until the "O.G.H.'s" committee's recommendations were delivered to him anonymously. Let us hope this form of action will not be imitated in the future. There is a student government here which is at the disposal of If the students have problems, they should work through their representatives. This "O.G.H." campaign manifests an extreme lack of confidence in the ability of the student government.

Who is to place confidence in the ability of the students to govern themselves if they do not?

that they are in hiding somewhere.

the attitude of the Raleigh girls from the three girl's Colleges, Rex

And the complete snack bar room is certainly smaller than the G.

M. reading room. It seems almost sacrilegious to suggest that the historical furnishings of the

moved to make way for "progress," but this could easily be

However, as I stated above, the problem isn't lack of space, but one of mental attitude. Unless the Carolina Co-ed will change her opinion that going out to meet a boy instead of with one is a disgrace, a college union twice the size of the one at State would be waste of this state's limited done if space is the solution.

M. reading room could be re-

This attitude is contrasted by nearly as "aloof" as the average of the State Union is mostly used way up Franklin St. this afternoon.

only for the more formal dances At first I wondered if the two boys, obviously

Russell Eisenman

against the United States in Latin America? It is at least partially due to our narrow outlook. Haven't you heard at least one person say. "Companies can do so well down there because labor is so cheap. The people work for practically nothing." Don't think enlightened Latin Americans like our exploitation of their people. We, the sented because some American most any American.

and works to our detriment.