Heavy-Stepping Heels At UVa.'s Door Today

By RUSTY HAMMOND
Special To The Daily Tar Heel
CHARLOTTEVILLE, VA. — Carolina's red-hot Tar Heels this afternoon take on the host Virginia Cavaliers here at 2 o'clock in an important Atlantic Coast Conference headliner.

The Tar Heels enter the fray sporting a fine 5-2 record and clutching a tremendous 5-game winning streak in their hands.

The Cavaliers have won but one game this year, but that was against the powerful Duke Blue Devils. Virginia has a 1-6 record, but they have played good ball in every game.

Carolina, after losing its first two games to N. C. State and Clemson, has rolled successively over Southern Cal, South Carolina, Maryland, Wake Forest, and Tennessee.

Besides its win over Duke, Virginia has lost to Clemson, State, Virginia Tech, Army, Vanderbilt, and YMI.

The Cavaliers claim to fame, ace quarterback Reece Whitley, is still on the doubtful list for today's contest. Whitley may play but at this moment his condition is unknown.

Sonny Randle, a fine left halfback and the leading pass receiver in the nation, is the Cavalier star whom the Tar Heels will have to watch today. Randle leads the nation with 34 receptions.

Virginia is expected to throw the ball a lot today, and Carolina has been busy preparing for the Cavalier air attack all week.

Carolina's famed defensive unit comes into the game today as conference leaders by a large margin. Virginia ranks next to last in total defense.

The Cavaliers hope to puncture the Tar Heel pass defense today by filling the air over Charlottesville with footballs. Carolina has been a little lax in pass defense thus far, though no one has yet thrown a touchdown pass against them.

Virginia will have the unenviable problem of trying to stop a rugged Tar Heel offensive unit that has picked up in punch with each successive week. Speedy Moe DeCantis and Wade Smith at half, powerful Don Kiochak at fullback, and the brilliant Jack Cummings at quarterback spell trouble for Virginia.

Most of the experts have gone along with the Tar Heels and predicted a win for Jim Tatum's boys today. Some have thought, however, that Carolina may be looking ahead to Notre Dame and Duke and forgetting about the troublesome Cavaliers.

Selection Board Formalization Is Called For

Student Body President Don Furtado yesterday called for the formalization of the entire Selections Board procedure.

He urged this "formalization" in two questions:

1) Is there a need to maintain two different selection committees for men and women?

2) Is there a need for the Legislature to establish a set grading system which will be used in the future to designate the capability of each candidate?

Pertaining to the second question, Furtado said this: "In my opinion, the job of the Bi-Partisan Selections Board is to carefully interview all applicants for Honor Council positions and subsequently to make known to the student body the names of all students that they consider competent to serve on the Council."

He further said: "The Selections Board should not attempt to be overly selective nor should they set down any prior number that should be approved."

Janie Walters of the Women's Bi-Partisan Selections Board issued a statement yesterday, saying that "no set number (of candidates) was decided upon before the interviews. The number was determined by the fact that there was a natural break in the scores."

What the "natural break" was, Nancy Adams, chairman of the Women's Honor Council, could not recall.

Some controversy had been aroused because out of 45 women applying for the Bi-Partisan Selections Board's endorsement for Honor Council, only nine received that endorsement.

and certain forces in the South who had a common axe to grind. These, he added, were the northern abolitionists and southern romanticists.

Green said the misconceptions are:

1. That the southern social order consisted of only three classes of people: the planter, the poor white or poor white trash, and the Negro slave.

2. That the old South engaged only in staple crop agriculture and purchased almost all of its food and manufactured products from the free states.

3. That the South failed to keep pace politically with the North and that it was ruled by a small planter oligarchy.

Duke Weekend IDC's Target For Visiting

By NEIL MURPHY
Jim Scott, key man in the IDC's coed visiting agreement, said yesterday that "coeds will probably be able to visit social rooms in men's dormitories the weekend of the Duke game."

Scott indicated that construction necessary in men's dorms will start within a week. Dormitories will have partitions and doors installed and improvements will be made in the social rooms themselves.

USE URGED
Students have been urged by the IDC to take full advantage of the open social rooms on weekends.

Rooms will be open Friday night, Saturday afternoons except football afternoons, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Scott said, "Dorms will have to get their social rooms in good shape. Homely, livable, chairs in good condition, pictures hung, trophy cases perhaps." Several dormitories have started painting their social rooms.

Machinery will grind into crushing the final obstruction to the agreement when the construction crews go into the dorms, Scott said.

"The big thing in our way now is the partitioning."

NOTE OVERWHELMING
Scott pointed out that 874 students have voted for and only 44 against the agreement in reports from all men's dormitories except Graham and Avery.

Rules require that each man's dormitory vote at the end of the trial period if they want to continue the visiting policy.

A revision of the rules requires a dormitory officer to be present in the dormitory and available at all times.

Women will be allowed in social rooms and entry halls only during Friday 7 to 12 p.m., Saturday 2 to 12 p.m. and Sunday from 2 to 11 p.m. The rooms will be closed till 4:30 on football Saturdays.

BOARD APPROVES
A visiting board, consisting of the chairman or president of the Interdormitory Council, the Women's Residence Council, Carolina Woman's Council, Pan-Hellenic Council, president of the student body, and two faculty members and their wives; must approve each dormitory before it is opened to coeds.

Gray Poole IFC Court Chairman
Gary Poole was elected chairman of the Inter-Fraternity Council Court Wednesday night. Other officers elected include Garret Fogler IFC Court representative to the Student Council, and Bob Bender, clerk.

The court discussed trial procedure and means of making the court more effective in its function of preventing violations.

New members elected to the court at the last IFC meeting include Joe Alexander, Garret Fogler and Marshall Happer.

Student Legislature Praised By President Don Furtado For Stand Against Prejudice

Amended Form Of Greer Bill Hits Clauses

The Student Legislature Thursday night passed an amended version of Gary Greer's (SP) bill dealing with discriminatory clauses.

Greer's original bill would have deleted a legislature amendment to the NSA basic policy declaration; the amended version of his bill changes the wording of the previous amendment.

By deletion to the amendment to the NSA declaration the legislature would have denied campus recognition to any organization having a discriminatory clause in its national charter.

Before passage of Greer's bill, the amendment to this policy read: "However, while the student legislature would possibly like the removal of discriminatory clauses, we do not recommend the denial of recognition to any organization whose national charter includes such restriction clauses as to membership."

The bill passed Thursday changes the amendment's opening phrase to read, "However, while the student legislature would like the removal of discriminatory clauses, we do not recommend the denial of recognition to any organization whose national charter includes such restriction clauses as to membership."

The measure was passed by a 21-16 vote.

A bill changing the selection of jurors for the honor council was tabled for the second consecutive time as the legislators postponed debate so they might look over amendments to the bill proposed by Norman Smith (Ind.) and John Brooks (SP).

These amendments by Brooks and Smith would put teeth in the random juror selection system while improving the position of the defendant in an honor council trial.

Jurors called under the random selection system proposed in the original bill, who failed to appear would lose their right to vote in student government elections and their right to hold student government offices, unless they were excused by the attorney general.

Also under the proposed amendments the defendant's counsel could participate actively in the defense of the accused. Both the defendant and the investigator could question and dismiss any juror whom he found unacceptable.

Jurors could only serve for one session each academic year.

John Brooks' (SP) long field over bill concerning a proposed definite student government policy concerning publication of the Yackety Yack was passed by the legislature after deletion of two of its articles.

The deleted articles would have had student government made refunds to organizations already included in the Yack that paid above $50 per page.

In passing the bill dealing with discriminatory clauses, the assembly heard Davis Young (SP) speak in favor of its passage.

Young said the bill raised two questions in his mind: Would the bill have a tendency to snowball and therefore cause the administration to act and was the bill right or

Student Leader Cites Courage Of Legislation

Student Body President Don Furtado commended the Student Legislature for its action concerning a bill related to discriminatory clauses, yesterday.

He praised the legislators for "stating their opposition to discriminatory clauses and in expressing their opposition to admitting any organization into the University in the future which have clauses discriminating on the basis of race, creed or color."

"I am quite sure that the Legislature will come under quite a bit of criticism for its action, but however, I feel it should be congratulated for its courage and willingness to state its opposition to discrimination within the student community."

Pointing out that UNC has always been a leader in the South academically and otherwise, he went on to say, "the admission of Negro students to the University has come painlessly and without reaction on the part of the students."

"Regardless of their personal views on the issue of segregation, the students, the faculty and the administration of the University have recognized their obligation to the laws of the nation and have, therefore, realistically met their obligations," he continued.

"I believe that this stand on the part of the official policy making body of the students is indicative of its maturity and responsibility."

The vote on the bill was 21-16. The bill amends a resolution concerning the adoption of the National Student Association's declaration on student responsibility and rights.

The NSA declaration was presented to the Legislature last spring.

Dr. Bostian Will Resign To Be Teacher
FROM A.P. WIRE REPORTS
RALEIGH — Dr. Carey H. Bostian, chancellor of N. C. State College said his resignation, effective July 1, was entirely voluntary.

A committee composed of members of the Board of Trustees, the faculty and of the State alumni will be named by Friday to recommend a successor to Dr. Bostian.

Dr. Bostian expressed surprise at the recent action of the State Alumni Association. The association has been seeking legislation which would give State as many alumni representatives on the Consolidated University Board of Trustees as UNC.

Dr. Bostian stated to the executive committee, "I would like to say that during the time I have worked with you, I have had nothing but the best support from all of you and all the members of the board and I have had just as strong support from the alumni at Chapel Hill and others as from the alumni at State College."

"I hope that all of you will overlook any implication that those of us in the State College Administration feel there has been any discrimination from members, but they have supported State College to the limit."

Consolidated University President William Friday said he deeply regretted the loss of Dr. Bostian. "We are most grateful to Dr. Bostian for all of his actions during these five years of growth and development at State College," he added.

Dr. Bostian, 51, became chancellor on Sept. 1, 1953. Formerly he was director of instruction of agriculture and a professor of genetics at State.

Proper Leadership Lack Could Hurt South Again

A North Carolina historian warned Thursday that lack of proper leadership in dealing with the race problem could cost the South another tragic setback such as that which followed the Civil War.

Fletcher Green of Chapel Hill, Kenan professor of history at the University of North Carolina, said southerners must see to it that discrimination against minority groups is ended.

Green made his comments in the November edition of the national magazine "Current History."

PRESERVE FREEDOMS
He said fear of the Negro's new status, which has "aroused the spirit of white supremacy to a frenzy," could result in reckless actions which might plunge the region into another setback like that which followed the Civil War.

To prevent another setback, Green said, "freedom of thought, freedom of speech, and freedom of the individual must be safeguarded and preserved. Every individual must be assured of the opportunity to develop along his own bent and must not be forced to conform to any fixed mold or pattern."

He listed five "misconceptions about the South, which, he said, were deliberately created by an alliance of certain forces in the North

Mangum Ahead In Outstanding Dorm Contest

Mangum Dormitory is leading in the IDC's Outstanding Dorm on Campus contest.

Mangum has 230 points at present, according to an announcement yesterday from the Interdormitory Council Contest Committee.

In second place is Cobb Dorm with 160 points and in third place is Winston with 135 points. Alexander and Lewis are tied for fourth with 125 points. Tied for fifth place are Graham and Ruffin with 110 points each.

The standings are tabulated through the use of a point system which awards a certain number of points for such dorm activities as meetings, parties, dorm newspapers, interamurals and participation in campus events.

The present contest has been running since April and will continue through March, 1959. During March trophies will be awarded by the IDC to the top three dorms on campus. Last year's dorm winners were: Lewis with 210 points, Everett with 175 and Winston with 155.

The IDC Contest Committee reported yesterday that the dorms this year are showing greater participation in various dorm and campus events. The physical facilities have been improved because of the coed visiting agreement, the committee said.

The committee complimented student government, the University's office of student affairs and J.S. Bennett, director of operations, for aiding the men's dorm's.

A complete list of the Outstanding Dorm contest appears in the IDC office in New East Annex.
