

Booters Take 7-1 Record Into Terp Game Tomorrow

By JIM PURKS

Monday will be THE day for the Carolina soccer team.

For at 3 p.m. Monday the Tar Heels will square off against always-powerful Maryland in College Park in an important conference clash.

Maryland has conquered all its other conference foes this year, including a 7-2 trouncing of Duke, and now must get past the determined Carolina team in order to clinch another conference championship.

Carolina Has 7-1 Record

Going into the Maryland game, the Carolina squad has an impressive 7-1 record, and a 2-0 conference record, with victories over Virginia and N. C. State.

Both games were won on the home field, however, and Monday's contest marks the first time this season the Tar Heels have faced a conference opponent away.

No conference team has ever beaten a Maryland soccer team, and Maryland has thus won the championship ever since the conference was formed for soccer.

Coach Marvin Allen's team last year came close to defeating Maryland, but finally lost by a 4-2 score in Chapel Hill on a rain-drenched field.

Had it not rained, Coach Allen believes the Tar Heels could well have handed the Terps their first conference loss.

Terps Beat Tar Heels Last Year

The year previously, a driving rain again marred the Carolina-Maryland game. Playing under almost impossible conditions the two teams fought it out in College Park, and Maryland emerged with a 4-0 victory over Carolina.

This year, the Terps will face one of the best soccer squads in Carolina's history. It is a squad which, as Coach Allen said, has its own brand of confidence and team spirit which, if it holds in this contest, could well spell trouble for Maryland.

Everything will have to be played right against Maryland, Coach Allen said. There can be no lagging by any member of the team, either on defense or offense, Allen said.

Allen said he is confident the team will keep its poise and confidence. On offense, Allen said the team's give-and-go passing pattern will have to be razor sharp and that the players must not be reluctant to shoot at every chance.

BUSTS THE BUBBLE — Irish quarterback George Izo led his Notre Dame teammates to a 34-24 victory over Carolina which halted the Tar Heels six game win streak and knocked them out of contention for a major bowl bid.

and took the ensuing kick off back in 6 plays for a touchdown and regained the lead. Red Mack scooted around left end from 15 yards out for the marker and Stickle converted to give the Irish a 28-24 bulge.

Greensboro's Norm Odyniec broke the Tar Heels' back with a 56 yard dash to the Carolina 13. Although the Irish didn't score that time, the play kept the Heels in the hole for the rest of the game.

Carolina, with a 4th and 1 situation at their own 29, elected to try for a first down, but were stopped short. Notre Dame took over on downs and in six plays got their clincher when George Izo faked a handoff, then kept around his own right end for the final tally of the game. The kick was no good, but at this point the Irish didn't need it. The score, with only 5:18 left in the contest, stood 34-24 in favor of Notre Dame and that's the way it was when the final gun went off.

ACC Cross Country Meet

The climax of the 1958 UNC cross country season will be reached tomorrow when the ACC meet takes place here at 2:30 on the rolling fairways of Finley Golf Course.

The Tar Heels, fresh from a second place finish in the state meet Monday but still trying to forget a 3-4 season record, have been pointing for this one ever since the Duke loss and even long before that.

They are determined and ready, but the shadow cast by the injured knee of top man Wayne Bishop will darken their chances as it has ever since the Maryland meet. With him, the odds would be fairly good; without him, its almost as bad as the Red Sox without Williams.

Still, Carolina has captain Dave Scurlock (second last year), who should really open up on those long, level fairways, and junior Cowles Liipfert to shoulder most of the load.

If Scurlock decides to really run instead of lope and if Liipfert stays glued to his back, then both could conceivably finish in the top five.

Following these two will be a trio of sophomores that may well decide Carolina's fate. They are Bing Somers, Sonny Sweet, and gritty Bob Foxworth, who has abruptly set himself up as team darkhorse.

Scheer And Quincy Write On Justice Era

The thrilling story of a tremendous era of football is contained in a book to be published Nov. 29—“Choo Choo—the Charlie Justice Story,” co-authored by Julian Scheer and Bob Quincy.

The fabulous story of Charlie Justice, the All-American halfback of ten years ago is told with sparkle and historic completeness. Scheer and Quincy have performed a first-rate job of documenting the story of Charlie Justice of Asheville who took Carolina gridiron fortunes to unprecedented heights.

Published in Chapel Hill

It is done by Bently Publishers of Chapel Hill, Orville Campbell, president.

Scheer and Quincy have written the entire story of Charlie Justice's life, with emphasis on his football career. The book is replete with
