BOOKS IN GERMAN

We have just put on display a rather nice library of books in German. Mostly literary, this is a well-cared-for collection, many in handsome bindings. If your collecting interest lies in the field, it will pay you to look this lot over.

Reserves Get New Programs

Two new programs are now available in the Officer Candidate School of the Coast Guard Reserve. The programs are: the three-year active duty program and the six-month active duty for the training program.

The three-year active duty program entails a six-year obligation. Graduates of this program are assigned to duty in the same manner as regular Coast Guard officers.

The second program entails an eight-year obligation. Upon completion of the six months training graduates of this program affiliate with organized training units of the Coast Guard Reserve or perform such training actively as authorized by the commandant. Classes are convened every four months. The next class will matriculate March 1, 1959.

In the event that a candidate does not successfully complete the course of instruction, or is not recommended for a commission under this program he must serve on active duty for a period of two years in an enlisted status.

He will also be required to remain a member of the Coast Guard Reserve for a period of six years from the date of his enlistment and, while a member of the Ready Reserve, to perform the minimum training requirements that are prescribed. This does not apply to candidates who previously have served on active duty prior to assignment to the Officer Candidate School.

For more information write to the Director of Reserve, U. S. Coast Guard, Post Office Box 540, Norfolk 1, Va.
